The late Mr. Hughes was born in Prince Edward County near Picton. His first place of residence in adult life was Port Hope where in 1855 he was married to Miss Mary Sloan, who died about two years ago. Mr Hughes in 1862 removed to Peterborough where for the last forty-six years he has been an honored and useful citizen. His business was a builder and for many years he was in charge of construction — bridges and stations —on the old Midland Railway. He was also concerned in the erection of many of the important public and semi-public structures of Peterborough, notably the present drill shed and the George street Methodist church. He was also associated with the erection of many of the business buildings that adorn George street today. Several years ago he retired from active business to enjoy the fruits of the industry and prudence of his younger years. Mr. Hughes was a public-spirited citizen and took a warm interest in the welfare of the town. The little triangular park at the intersection of Downie, Charlotte and Park streets will constitute a living monument to his public spirit. Though advanced in years Mr. Hughes personally watched and cared for it, and it is largely to his efforts that it exists in its present state of growing attractiveness. He was a member of the town council for two terms for a time a member of the Board of Education and was noted as a safe and prudent public servant.

In religion the late Mr. Hughes was a Methodist, he having been a member of that communion from the age of twenty years. He was associated with the congregation of the George street Methodist church till the establishment of the Charlotte street church of that denomination of which he was a constant, consistant and devoted member till the time of his last illness. He was a member of the Trustee Board and Quarterly Official Board since the establishment of the church and was for a time a class leader. He was in other ways actively identified with all the interests of the church and in all his church relations and relations as a citizen, worthily won the great respect and esteem of all who knew him. He was a man of strong character and decided convictions to which he gave consistent effect in all the relations he sustained, to the church his personal friends and the public at large. In politics Mr. Hughes was a Conservative but not a strong party man. He was in this as in other things, broad-minded, and regarded his political duties as requiring an exercise tending to the greatest good of the community. He was a warm friend, a good neighbor, always prompt to help in time of sickness or trouble, and in fine, in all the relationships of life revealed in practice, the qualities that constitute the highest standard of Christian manhood.

Mr. Hughes leaves behind him to mourn his loss, a family of five sons and three daughters. The sons are Andrew Sloan Hughes, British Columbia; Fred Hughes, Spokane, Washington; James Franklin, Hughes, Butte, Mont.; E. Howard Hughes, Montreal, and Gordon Bruce Hughes, Peterborough. The daughters are, Minnie, Mrs. Rev. R W Sharp, Edmonton, Alta.; Lizzie, Mrs J Colin Grant, Toronto, and Ada, Mrs. W. T. Spencer, Marshall, Texas.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 304 Park St., on Saturday afternoon, March 7th. Service at the house at 2.30. Funeral at 3.30. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

OBITUARY

Mr. A. U. Johnston received word today of the death of his aunt, Mrs George Johnston, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Wallace, in Riverside, California, on Thursday, February 27th. Mrs. Johnston's maiden name was Elizabeth Mitchell, daughter of the late Thos. Mitchell. She was born in the Township of Emily, in the year 1828. She was married to the late George Johnston in the year 1851, and after her marriage resided on Water street, until the year 1888, when she went to California with Mrs. Wallace. Her late husband was for 15 years Chief Constable of the town, and was well known throughout the county.

Mrs. Johnston leaves to mourn her loss, one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Wallace, and two grand children, Charles and Mina of Detroit, children of the late Sidney Johnston.

Mrs. Edward Green is a sister of Mrs. Johnston.

More proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures female ills.

Mrs. John Scott, 489 Grand Trunk St., Montreal, writes Mrs. Pinkham: "I was very much run down in health from a female trouble, was thin, nervous, and very weak, and suffered from bearing down pains. Indeed I did not care whether I lived or died, I felt so badly sometimes.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me of all my troubles. I gained in flesh, and am free from backache, female trouble, sick headaches, and nervousness.

"I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all women's ailments, knowing what it has done for me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Lenten Services Last Evening

Large Congregations at Anglican Churches

The Lenten services in the three Anglican churches last evening were attended by large congregations. At St. John's church, Rev. W. T. Hallam, rector of All Saints' church, Toronto, preached the special sermon. It was a forcible and inspiring discourse and was deeply interesting. At St. Luke's church, Rev. Dr. Langfelt gave the Lenten address. Tomorrow night Rev. Wm. Major of All Saints' church, will preach at St. Luke's church. At All Saints' church, Rev. Wm. Major preached last evening.

YOUNG GIRL SENT TO THE REFORMATORY

Lillian Armitage, a girl of fourteen years, was given a term not exceeding four years in the Alexandra Reform School, at Toronto, by his Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning. The girl has appeared in court on previous occasions, and her conduct on the streets and in different places has been so improper that his Worship deemed it the only advisable thing to do was to send her away. She is beyond her parents' control and is incorrigible. She will be taken away just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Review's Vanquishers Win Game Against Post Seven

Examiner Trimmed Lindsay Type Slingers by 5-2—Lindsay Didn't Score up to Half Time—Winners Had Good Lineup.

After the Examiner had defeated the Review it was generally conceded that they had a first-class team and last night they added another scalp to their collection when they trimmed the Lindsay Post seven by 5—2. And this score is no fair indication of the play, for to give the Grit rustlers credit they had it on the Mudville type slingers all the way. Josiah Craig who is generally a stonewall, made a somewhat sieve-like noise last night, and was beaten out on a couple of commonplace ones.

Had he been in form the Post would not have succeeded in finding the nets at all. From the first two minutes of play it was quite apparent that the muddy seven were in with better people than themselves and although their forwards skated and stick-handled well, the Examiner had a too systematic and aggressive lineup for them to deal with effectively. Higginbottom and the famous "Slats" Reilly worked hard for the Post, and the latter played a hard game.

At half-time the score was 3—0, in favor of the local puck pursuers. The last one was scored on a lift from cover-point by Clarke. It was the prettiest score of the night and Connell apparently didn't see it until it had landed in the nets.

In the second half Lindsay took a brace and made things interesting. They worked hard to even things up and the contest was much faster than in the initial period.

Glover at point did great defence work for the Examiner, and also figured in several nice rushes. Clarke at cover played the game of his life and was on color for the entire game. He checked and relieved cleverly and missed no chances offered. Theobald, Huston, Burridge and Henry made an effective line quartette, and were conspicuous for their good work.

Henry committed the only misdeed of the night, being given one minute for tripping. Huston was there like a duck on a pass from Henry, and shot the rubber in. Time, 10 mins, 2—0.

Clarke tallied from cover, 1 min. 3—0.

SECOND HALF.

Higginbottom scored for the Post, 3 min., 4—1.

Riley found the nets for the Lindsay newsmen. 5 mins., 4—2.

Henry rushed and shot on goal. Connell batted the rubber out but Theobald got it and scored, 5—2.

PUCKLETS

For an aggregation that has practiced so little together, the Examiner has a pretty well balanced seven.

Huston is a close, sticky player. He bores in well on the nets and is always ready to take a pass.

Henry played a fast and effective game and Theobald did good work. Burridge was on a wing and rendered effective service.

In Clarke and Glover the winners had a pair that were hard to pass.

"Slats" Reilly jumped right into the game from the start and stayed with it well. "Slats" was very anxious to win.

Chieftains Double the Score on City League Septette—Played Great Combination and Individual Game—A Speedy Bunch of Youngsters—Tally Was 4-2

Thirnbeck's Chieftains showed wonderfully good form last night when they defeated Bridgenorth by a score of 4—2. The Kids played great hockey all the time and showed a combination skill that would be hard to beat. Individually it would be hard to find seven youngsters who could set a faster clip than the Chieftains, but it is in the matter of combination play that they excel. In this respect they gave an exhibition last night that might be followed to advantage by many teams, local and otherwise, the players in which have had much more experience than the young puck chasers forming the Chieftain's hockey team.

The playing was a revelation to the spectators. When they stepped on the ice it seemed impossible that they would have a chance of defeating the Bridgenorth septette, but when they once got going their heavier opponents found them too difficult a proposition to handle.

The Chieftains had the better of the play during the entire game and the contest was not so close as the score would indicate. In fact there is much doubt as to whether the last goal secured by Bridgenorth was actually scored. The Bridgenorth umpire got himself disliked by the Chieftains over his decision, and for a time it looked as though there would be a general mix-up with the spectators expressing their disapproval of the umpire's work. Of course it is hard to state whether there is a possibility of the umpire being mistaken. Most of the crowd were of the opinion that the Chieftains should have won by 4—1. However, they managed to defeat their opponents by the official tally of 4—2, and that's doubling the score. Their showing was a pleasing surprise, and with a couple of years' experience, provided the team sticks together, they should make a mighty smart seven for the junior O.H.A.

It would be pretty hard to pick the Chieftain's particular star of last night's game, as it was really team work more than individual scintillation that won the match. As far as individual play was concerned, however, they easily had it on the heavier Bridgenorth aggregation and had they anything like the weight of the City League seven, it would have been a runaway match for the local boys. They certainly surprised their supporters, and the spectators also by their first-class article of they supplied. The defence played a stubborn and consistent game, while the forwards were right there every time and made no mistakes.

The contest was a strenuous one, and at times several players were penalized by Referee Leo Derocher, who gave every satisfaction in that capacity.

The only goal in the first half was secured by Hall, of the Chieftains, making the half-time tally 1—0. Those penalized were Belleghem, Munro and Cullen.

Fortye started the scoring in the second half, making the score 2—0.

Belleghem was boarded one minute for tripping. Conway was given the same time for the same offence. Belleghem landed the puck in the nets for Bridgenorth. 2—1.

In a mix-up around the Chieftain's goal Bridgenorth got the final goal. The umpire put up his hand to allow it and a big dispute followed. No more scoring was done before time, making the final score:—

STRATHS. WILL PLAY TRENTON

Leave for Lake Town To-morrow —Trenton Has Fast Seven

The Straths go to Trenton tomorrow to play Trenton. Trenton has a strong team and has not lost a game this winter. The locals will have to go their fastest to stay with them, on their own ice.

They have defeated this season the Kingston Intermediates, Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg and Picton, and dish up a great article of hockey.

Bankers to Play Straths. Here Monday

Great Game Promised for Inter-city Championship—Lindsay Team Will be Strong One

The game between the Bankers of Lindsay and the Strathconas for the inter-city championship will take place on Monday night at the Brock street rink. The game will be one of the best seen here in some time. The Bankers play very fast hockey and are winners of the town league of Lindsay. With the addition of Koyle and Cote of the Lindsay Midgets, they will have the strongest seven that has faced the local city league champions this season.

Arrangements were being made to have the game played tomorrow night but it had to be postponed until Monday owing to the Strathconas having to play in Trenton tomorrow night. The match with the Lindsay money counters will be looked forward to with interest, by the local enthusiasts.

QUAKERS WIN ONCE AGAIN

Defeated Grafters Last Night by 7-3 in Fast Game

The Quakers won another victory last night, when they defeated the Grafters by 7—3 in a fast and clean game at Brook street rink from 10 to 11 o'clock. The porridge men had the better of the play from the commencement, leading at half time by 3—1.

W. Rose officiated as referee and gave good satisfaction.

The teams lined up as follows;—

Grafters.		Quakers.

White	Point	Carr
Haskill	Cover	Heaslip
Staunton	Rover	Rightmey
Mann	Centre	Pratt

Number Two Team Won Feb. League Championship

A exciting game of basketball was played in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last evening before a very fair crowd of spectators. It was the occasion of the final game in the February league and every man was game from start to finish. Several changes in the line-up of the teams were necessary and the new men certainly made good. The score at half-time was 17 points to 7 in favor of team No. 2, and at full time 23 points to 21. No. 4 made a strenuous effort to even the score in the last minutes, but when the whistle blew were found lacking by only two points. The teams lined up as follows:—

No. Four.		No. Two.
Maguire,	Forward	Sutherland,
E. Best,	Forward	F. Hall
G. Martin	Centre	McCarroll
S. Laing	Defence	Ford Turner
Dinsdale	Defence	Gillespie

Referee

E. A. Frowde,

Scorer and Time-keeper

Chas. Sissons.

The scoring was chiefly done by F. Hall for No. 2, scoring 12 points and E. Best for No. 4, scoring 12 points also.

Names are coming in fast for the new league and as arrangements will be made on Friday for the forming of teams, all desiring to get into the game should sign at once.

CRESSMAN'S WON CLOSE GAME

A close and interesting game was played at Brock street yesterday evening, when a team picked from Turnbull's, R. Hall & Sons, met Cressman's, the score being 1—0. At half time neither team had found the nets.

Cressman's have a strong seven, and the showing made by the combined stores was a very creditable one, considering their lack of practice. The return game will be played next Wednesday night.

The teams lined up as follows;

Halls & Turnbulls.		Cressmans
Vinson	Goal	Titterson
Gillespie	Point	Little
Nicholl	Cover	F. Cressman
J. McNicholl	Rover	Darling
Little	Centre	Tisdale
Wilson	Right wing	Harrison

Six Day Race May be Held In Peterboro'

Mr. Geo. Stevens is making Arrangements for Event That Should be Popular.

Mr. George Stevens intends to give a big six day walking contest at the Brock street rink in the near future provided he can secure the rink for that purpose. In case the event is pulled off he will endeavor to secure entries from the different townships in the county. Mr. Stevens has announced nothing definite for publication in connection with the event but full particulars will be given later if arrangements for holding it are made.

Much Interest Has Been Aroused

Athletic Meeting at Y.M.C.A. Will be Largely attended

Great interest has been aroused by the announcement that an athletic revival is to be started at the Y.M.C.A. The meeting of the members is called for tomorrow night to organize for the coming season. Several important matters will be considered and every member, especially the younger men are asked to be in attendance. The meeting is called for 7.45 o'clock, and promises to be a most enthusiastic one.

Several men have signified their intention of taking in the fencing class at the Y.M.C.A. under Sergt.-Major Brittain. Foils and masks will be provided and the fee is $1 in advance. Here is a chance to learn fencing, which is one of the best exercises known for developing a graceful carriage of the body as well as keenness of eye and hand.

DEFENDANT'S DEATH BRINGS END TO ACTION

A Toronto despatch says: Master-in-Chambers Cartwright has given judgment dismissing without costs the action brought by Robert J. Kidd of Peterborough, formerly a clerk in the Parliament buildings, against G. N. Kidd, who at the same time was a member of the Ontario Legislature. This action was for $1000 damages, alleged to have been sustained through his dismissal, brought about by G. N. Kidd opening a letter intended for Robert J. Kidd and sending it on to his official superior.

Found Money Beneath the Sidewalk

P. C. Meharry Recovered Stolen Money on Parnell St.—Youth Appeared in Court for Theft

There is as much risk of being brought before the Magistrate when one steals from his own immediate relatives as when he commits a theft from a stranger. This was amply evidenced this morning in court, when a father had a complaint against his son for theft, and two brothers had their younger brother in court for a similar offence.

John Lasure pleaded guilty before Magistrate Dumble this morning to stealing eleven dollars and a revolver from Jas Lasure, and eight dollars from Arthur Lasure yesterday. His Worship allowed him to go on suspended sentence.

The brothers called at the police station last evening asking that the money be recovered. Consequently, the young fellow was arrested on Water street by P.C. Newhall and brought to the police station, where he told several conflicting stories regarding the money, but two of his companions gave everything away, telling where the money could be found. P.C. Meharry went down to Parnell street and found fifteen dollars and three tickets to Port Hope, concealed under the sidewalk. The money was taken from the trunks and the three youths had intended to leave for Port Hope, but were caught before they got away.

His Worship allowed him to go on suspended sentence, but said that as the two brothers had used the court for a collecting agency and had treated it with disrespect by not attending, they would have to pay the costs, which amounted to three dollars. The father paid the costs.

Girl Had Hand Badly Bitten by Big Bull Dog

Teresa Larone Victim of Painful Injury—Cut Required Several Stitches

As the result of being bitten by a bull dog yesterday afternoon, Teresa, the five year old daughter of Mr. Frank Larone, Victoria Avenue, had to have several stitches put in one of her hands. The little girl was passing along the street when the dog snapped at her and put a deep cut in one of her hands. The child screamed loudly and some persons who were in the vicinity came to her assistance. Dr. McNulty was called and put several stitches in the cut. The child suffered great pain but is better today.

The bull dog belongs to a man who resides on Victoria Avenue and it is understood that he has been notified to get rid of the animal.

Son Robbed Father's Cash Box While the Family Were Away

Isadore Vinette Appeared in Court To-day on Charge of Stealing Forty Dollars—Was Allowed to go on Suspended Sentence.

Isadore Vinette was arrested on George street last evening on the charge of stealing forty dollars from the residence of Edward Vinette, his father, on Sunday evening, February 23rd. He pleaded guilty before Magistrate Dumble this morning and was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

A week ago last Sunday night, Edward Vinette reported to the police that while he and his family were away away, his house on Lisburne street, Auburn, entered and forty dollars had been stolen from a small chest. P. C. Adams went to the place at the time, and he thought that the burglar wore shoepacks, as the tracks made in the snow looked like it.

The police have been working on the case for the past week, but a great surprise was sprung when the complainant's son was arrested, as the father's suspicions never for a moment rested on him. The money was in a twenty dollar bill and two tens. One ten dollar bill was traced to a George street grocery store where Vinette with a young girl changed it in payment for some tobacco. The young lady was seen by P. C. Newhall, and returned seven dollars to him. Vinette was consequently arrested last night and at the police station, the twenty dollar bill and a ten were found on him.

In court this morning he elected to be tried summarily and pleaded guilty. His father was present, and stated that his son had not worked all winter. He thought he had treated him pretty well and did not understand why he should steal from him. He said that his son had told him that he took it that he might get married. The old father felt the situation very keenly and wept in court.

"You ought to be sent to gaol," said his Worship to the prisoner, "but I am going to give you another chance. Behave yourself, and do not try to live off your father's hard earnings. You will be allowed out on suspended sentence, and you must report each month to the Chief of police."

Eighty Four Years Without Being Shaved by a Barber

To live eighty-four years without being shaved by a barber is the somewhat unique experience of a gentleman who is now in a local hospital. He received injuries the other day and had to be taken to the hospital. He is eighty-four years of age and had never been shaved by a barber until he was taken to the hospital. He had been shaving himself right up to the time he was taken to the hospital.

Eighty-four years on terra firma without getting into a barber's chair is a record that few can equal. Of course, for the first portion of the four score years and four it was not necessary for the gentleman to shave, but even that does not detract from the unique nature of the case.

Mr. Fred Cook is Home; Saw Big Walking Race

Mr. Fred Cook has returned home from Kansas City, Mo., where he was an interested spectator in the big six day walking contest. He was greatly surprised on reaching Peterborough not to find David Hartley here ahead of him. Messrs. Cook and Hartley travelled together from Kansas City to Chicago, but Mr. Cook had to stop off at the Windy City and the walker refused to remain over as he was anxious to get home.

Mr. Cook says that Hartley made a fine showing after the first day of the race, holding his own with the best of them. Hartley was pitted against the best walkers of the world and his showing was splendid. The Peterborough walker did great work on the last day of the race and earned the plaudits and admiration of all the spectators.

Lindsay is Committed For Trial

Man Who Neglected His Wife Near Tweed is Found Guilty by Coroner's Jury

(Special to the Review.)

Tweed, March 5.—The coroner's inquest in the case of Mrs. Richard Lindsay, who with two new born babes, was alleged to have died at her home near Jackson's Corner, as the result of neglect on the part of her husband, was held last night. The jury decided that Lindsay was guilty of criminal neglect, and the man as a result was sent up for trial at Belleville.

Lindsay had been sent for a doctor to attend his wife. He took a cow along with him to sell and succeeding in this he forgot all about the doctor, and proceeded to spend the money for liquor alone with her young son. Mrs. Lindsay gave birth to twins. The boy ran to neighbors half a mile away, but before these could reach her the neglected mother had died together with her two babes.

Senator Ferguson And Mr. Lucas M.P.P.

Will address the members of the Young Conservative Club and the public generally at the rooms of the Club at eight o'clock tomorrow (Friday) evening. The club feels greatly honored by the consent of these gentlemen to address it, and to Senator Ferguson its acknowledgements are especially due for his remaining over for the occasion. The paid membership is now over six hundred and fifty and increasing daily. It is a common occurrence for eighty to a hundred men to congregate in the rooms for the purpose of enjoying themselves in reading and the various forms of recreation, such as draughts, pool, etc., open to them while on special nights from two hundred and fifty to three hundred attend. In fact the attendance on such occasions is limited only by the capacity of the rooms. No influence of a deleterious or improper character is allowed to interfere with the well-being of the club.

WEDDING BELLS

GRAHAM—BATES

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the George street Methodist parsonage yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Mabel Bates of Manvers, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Graham of Lindsay. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson in the presence of a few intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham will reside in Lindsay.

FITZGERALD—SMITH

A very quiet wedding was solemnized this afternoon at two o'clock at the residence of Mr. Wm. Smith, 30 Aberdeen avenue, when his daughter, Miss Ettie Halton, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Walkey Fitzgerald, son of Mr. George Fitzgerald of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. A. Pogue, performed in the drawing room by Rev. Robt. A. Pogue, of St. Paul's church, in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was partaken of, and hearty congratulations were bestowed upon the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald left on the 4.48 train for Vancouver, B.C., where they will in future reside, visiting en-route, North Bay, Winnipeg, and other points.

DU RIEU—FOSTER

An exceedingly pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at seven o'clock, at the Foster Temperance House, when Miss Pearl Foster, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Du Riew, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's church, in the presence of about forty-five guests.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. T. G. Robinson, aunt of the bride, the bride entered the beautifully decorated drawing room. She was given away by her father and looked charming in a gown of grey voile over grey silk. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She was assisted by Miss Pearl Bullen, of this city, who was becomingly attired in grey silk. She carried white carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Elmer Davis, of this city.

After the ceremony had been performed and hearty congratulations had been bestowed upon the bride and groom, a sumptuous repast was partaken of. After the wedding dejeuner, dancing was indulged in, for which excellent music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Cox.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold ring set with pearls and diamonds; to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent, and to the groomsman a pearl scarf pin. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, among them being half a dozen desert knives and forks and half a dozen dinner knives and forks from the boarders of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Du Riew will reside at 205 King street.

WHERE IS HEAVEN?

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—To be free from pain is heaven. Of course we all have our likes and dislikes. Personally I don't think it is anywhere under the British flag.

AN IMMIGRANT ADVISER.

IMMIGRATION

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I do not agree with your correspondent who blames the immigrants for the crime. The mining and counterfeiting swindlers who disgrace Canada, are raised, I m sorry to say, in this country. We are too fond of the dollars.

JACK CANUCK.

THE CARNEGIE PROPOSITION

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Re the discussion on the Carnegie grant: My humble opinion is, take the money from what source it came? we will have the staisfaction of putting it to a much better use. Would Gen. Booth refuse to accept a grant from Mr. Carnegie? I don't think so. Amd no person can doubt the sincerity of Gen. Booth. The world has never seen his equal since Wesley's time.

RATEPAYER.

NOT UNDER THE BAN

To the Editor of the Review;

Dear Sir,—I notice an item in your issue of Tuesday, stating that the Sons of England were under the ban of the Roman Catholic Church.

This is unnecessary. Roman Catholics are not eligible for membership in the Sons of England.

You will find that it is the Sons of Temperance that Bishop Dowling referred to, and which was published in the Hamilton and Toronto papers.

Respectfully yours,
A SON OF ENGLAND.

WHERE IS HELL

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—We at our house have been reading the letters in your valuable paper on Heaven. Many a time I have asked where and what it is, but no one seems to know. Ministers just tell us things like a father to his young son, who is asking a lot of embarrassing question. If they won't tell us about Heaven, let them tell us about hell. Is hell real or imaginary? Is it real fire or only put in the Bible to scare us? Is it moral suasion or the real thing? An answer will oblige.

Yours, etc.

Met Last Evening—Important Business Transacted

The Trustee Board of George street Methodist church met last evening. A large number were present and much business was transacted. The pastor, Rev. E. A. Pearson was in the chair and Mr. D. W. Dumble acted as secretary. The matter of putting a new roof on the church was discussed. It was also decided to place two additional rows of seats in the church in order to accommodate those who have been unable to obtain seatings. The subject of installing electric light in the church was taken up but nothing definite was done.

Cupid Busy at Norwood; Two Pretty Nuptial Events

Two Weddings of Interest to Peterborough People—Death of One of Village's Oldest Residents.

Special to the Review.

Norwood, March 2.—The marriage took place last Wednesday morning at St. Paul's church in this village of Mr. Oliver McDonald of Alberta, to Miss Mary Ann O'Grady, daughter of Mr. John O'Grady of Norwood. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Conway, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a neat travelling suit of brown. She was attended by Miss Annie O'Neill of Peterborough, while the bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Daniel McDonald, C.P.R. roadmaster for the division.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, where a most enjoyable time was spent, and the usual wedding repast was served.

The many friends of the bride and groom unite in wishing them much happiness in their new relation. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald intend leaving in a few days for their future home in Alberta.

A quiet wedding took place at "Maple Hall," this town, Tuesday, February 25th, at one p.m. The contracting parties were Harry E. Kipbisk, contractor of Peterborough, and Miss Emma Beatrice, daughter of William H. Tucker, of the firm of Tucker Bros., of this town. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Wm. H. Peake, Methodist minister at Belleville.

A noticeable point in this matter is that Mr. Peake officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents. The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Tucker of the town of St. John's, Quebec, were among those present. The bride has grown up in Norwood, and has in many ways shown her appreciation of work calculated for the good of society, by identifying herself with those in the service of her church. Numerous and valuable presents testified to the high esteem in which she is held.

The young couple left by the afternoon train for their home in Peterborough, followed by the well wishes of their large circle of friends and acquaintances. They become members of the congregation of Charlotte street Methodist church. After March 12th, they will be at home at 513 King street, in that city.

The concert held on Friday evening, was in every way a great success, and was considered the best of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Mills deserve great credit. Proceeds amounted to sixty dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Rothwell of Havelock, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Reynolds of this town.

Mrs. A. G. Richardson and daughter Celia, of Tilsonburg, have been here for a few days. Mrs. Richardson came to attend the funeral of her brother, the late George Kempt of this town.

Mr. H. Cook of High Bluff, Man., has been visiting for the past week at the home of Miss J. Stewart, Peterborough street.

Master Gordon Mills of Campbellford, is visiting his uncle, Mr. ~~[illegible]~~ Mills.

THE LATE MRS. EATON.

In the death of the late Mrs. Wm. Stevenson, which occurred shortly before noon on Feb. 25, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of this village passed away. Deceased who had lived out the allotted span and had nearly reached the three score and ten years, had been failing rapidly in health for some time past, and for the past few days those surrounding her bedside had been hourly expecting the final dissolution. She was married to her last husband in 1860, when they came to reside in Norwood. She had therefore been a resident of the village for nearly half a century. Mr. Eaton died Sept. 23rd, 1897. The late Mrs. Eaton was a daughter of the late Alexander Eason of Otonabee, one of the pioneers of that township. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and two daughters. They are, A. J., of Toronto Junction; Wm., A., of Oxbow, Sask.; Mrs. W. H. Cuthbertson and Mrs. A. B. Harrison of Norwood.

The funeral which took place from the home of Mrs. A. B. Harrison, at 2.30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon to the Norwood cemetery, was largely attended.

Hon. Ferguson Talked About Libraries at St. Andrew's

A large and most interested audience gathered in the lecture hall of St. Andrew's church last night and the evening was spent in a most practical and profitable discussion of the free library, which is the burning question at the present time and one that means everything to the moral culture of the citizens of Peterborough for all time to come.

Senator Ferguson gave a most lucid and eloquent address on the subject of the evening and it is certainly worthy of perusal of all readers.

A number of those present took part in the discussion, among whom were Messrs. F. D. Kerr, Wm. Langford, V. Eastwood and Dr. Morrison. The Rev. J. J. Wright, BA., on behalf of the congregation, presented the thanks of the meeting to Senator Feguson and Ald. Gillespie seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

The meeting was most enthusiastic. Hon. Mr. Ferguson said he hoped his appearance before an Ontario audience would not be regarded as an apparition. A gentleman belonging to the Commons had recently described life in the Senate as a state of blissful serenity. He was sorry he could not return the compliment as regards the Commons. This reminded him of a declaration made by the late David Mills in 1875 that a call to the Senate meant a companionship with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Twenty-five years later Mr. Mills was found knocking at the door of the Senate and sitting as one of the most venerable of the patriarchs. Another gentleman —Senator McMullen, of Wellington, had described the Senate as a hospital for incurables, but the voice which was now heard from the chair was not a cry of pain. He takes his medicine with due humility, and drew his indemnity diligently. For his own part he wished the Senate was a little more serene. He could remember the time when it was, if not serene, at least dignified and judicial. The introduction of so many members of the Commons had brought to the Senate many of the back bench methods of the Lower Chamber and the speaker had all he could do to maintain decorum.

He commended the citizens of Peterborough on their determination to found a first class library. The University and even the High School were only available for the few; but the Common School and the Public Library were for all the people. He recounted a movement in his native country district which took place fifty-two years ago in the founding of a small library. Of the young men who had participated in that movement and benefited by it, one, Mr. Havthorne, became Premier of the island and afterwards a Senator. Another distinguished himself in a broad field and his name became a household word in Canada. He referred to Dr. Grant, late principal of Queen's University. A third was now addressing the meeting, and owed whatever success he achieved in life to that movement.

When Peterborough became possessed of a well furnished library, the equipment would benefit all classes of the people. On its shelves the merchant would find Canadian and other tariffs, the monthly bulletins of the Department of Trade and Commerce, our Trade and Navigations returns and reports bearing on our commercial relations with other countries. The Artisan could resort to the library and replenish his knowledge not only in labor problems but on all subjects connected with mechanical development. The railway or canal employee could get light on the many complicated questions connected with transportation, while the farmer would learn more surely to make two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before.

In general literature any person could study British history as presented from the Tory standpoint by a Froude and weigh it against the story as revealed with a Whig bias on the pages of Macaulay. Every boy and girl in Peterborough could trace the discovery, early settlement and development of the Dominion from the arrival of Cabot, Champlain and Cartier, through the struggle which ended on the Plains of Abraham, the coming of the Loyalists, the British emigration, the union of the two Canadas and the crowning achievement of Confederation.

On the shelves of such a library would be found the books of all our great British poets and the most attractive alcove in the whole place should be devoted to Canadian literature. A young country cannot hope to possess a literature equal to that of old and fully developed communities, but that is no reason why we should not value what we have. Our Kirby, Parker, Duncan, Campbell, Sangster and Gordon are an advance guard of the great army which is one day to follow.

From the present day trend of thought, discussion pro and con of the higher criticism would seem to be the all in all of religious literature, but the day will never come when such books as the Pilgrim's Progress will not be eagerly sought for and read by men and women.

Many people in Peterborough and elsewhere are wrestling with the question whether the city should accept the proffered gift from Andrew Carnegie on the ground that the money has not been honestly gotten. The churches have grappled with this question and do not appear to have strained their consciences by accepting similar benefactions. The speaker held strong views as to the immorality of much of the means used in these days in the making of money. The man, however, that rounded his hundreds of millions was not in point of principle one whit worse than his fellow who only made thousands or even hundreds by the same means. If no money but such as could be shown to be honestly made could be accepted as a benevolence, he was afraid we could build few churches and found universities, hospitals and libraries. It would be necessary to keep offerings separate on all collection plates and empannel a jury to distinguish between tainted and untainted money.

But our friends who take the other side say we should not accept the gift of an alien. In effect they warn us to beware of the Greeks who bring gifts. But almost as old an adage and a much more sensible one is—never look a gift horse in the mouth. The nations have not been in the habit of looking askance at each other in regard to matters of benevolence. Some of us are old enough to remember the benefactions of an American Peabody for the relief of the British poor which was gratefully accepted. Quite recently we have the wonderful endowments of Cecil Rhodes, for a common education of Anglo-Saxons and Teutons and the United States did not spurn the gift because it came from an Alien. Philanthropy knows no national boundary; 'no pent up Utica contracts its powers."

The gifts of a Peabody, a Rhodes, a Rockefeller and a Carnegie are after all but touches of nature which make all men kin,—

"Then let us pray that come it may,
As come it will for a' that,
When man to man the world o'er,
Shall brithers be and a' that.'

NO ASSISTED IMMIGRATION

Special to the Review.

Woodstock, March 2.—At a public meeting largely attended by members of the working classes, a resolution was unanimously passed urging the Dominion Government to cease bonuses to any agent or transportation companies or any others connected with the emigrant or immigrant societies; that all Government grants should be recalled for at least one year, and that all immigration when assisted by charitable, benevolent or reform associations be forbidden by act.

A Roman Catholic chapel at Mount St. Joseph, to cost $25,000, is to be erected.

HAND TERRIBLY MANGLED.

Mr. Ab. Wheeler, Marine and Stationary Engineer, of 145 Front St., Belleville, Ont., says: "Two months ago, while employed in a steam laundry in this city, my left hand became caught and was accidently drawn into a hot mangle. As soon as possible the machinery was stopped and my hand was extricated, but not before the flesh on the palm of the hand was literally cooked to the bone and the fingers flattened out of shape. However, quite soon after the accident my hand and arm became frightfully swollen to the elbow and the hand presented a shocking sight. No one can imagine what I now suffered and endured. Not only was it hard to bear on account of the cruel pains, but it was a great shock to my nervous system. It was some time after the injury before the cooked flesh could be removed from the palm and then only a very little at a time. As soon as all this had been well removed, healing balms were applied, but as the improvement seemed so slow I obtained permission from the Doctor for Zam-Buk to be used exclusively, as several of my men friends (having previously used it for severe injuries) spoke in the highest terms of its unusual healing qualities and urged me to give it a trial. From the commencement Zam-Buk soothed and relieved the pains and drew out the soreness. I now began to enjoy a good nights rest and sleep, as up to this time I had not had much rest or sleep either day or night. In about three weeks time the palm of my hand was nicely healed over thro' daily application of this wonderful remedy Zam-Buk, and all inflammation and swelling was thoroughly banished from both hand and arm. I feel so grateful for my cure, I shall do my best to make known to other sufferers the value of Zam-Buk as a healing balm."

MR. AB. WHEELER, Belleville, Ont.

ZAM-BUK'S WONDERFUL WAY!

Whoever watches the healing of a wound, chronic sore, or diseased surface of skin with Zam-Buk, is face to face with one of Nature's greatest wonders. The healing process thus set in motion is nothing but a phenomenon of regeneration—a natural process of replacing destroyed tissues by new ones. The antiseptic substances contained in Zam-Buk, first attack and kill off the microbes or germs that are the cause of the inflammation or disease, and then the healing ingredients proceed to build up new tissue to replace that which has become damaged or diseased. New cells appear like a builder extending a new row of houses; the whole of the wounded area is gradually overlapped; and soon it is difficult to tell where the injuries or sores have been, so perfect and complete is the growth of the new skin.

Zam-Buk has more than fulfilled the expectations of its discoverer, and many medical men to-day freely extol its merits. It possesses a wide range of usefulness, being especially recommended for eczema, psoriasis, bad legs, blind and bleeding piles, running sores, ulcers, pimples, boils, rashes, raw chapped hands, scalp diseases, dandruff, barber's rash, raw chin after shaving, chilblains, sore and aching feet, cold sores, festering sores, poisoned wounds, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, sprains, stiffness, weak ankles, swollen joints, and all diseased, injured and inflamed or irritated conditions of the skin. Rubbed well in, Zam-Buk kills muscular and nerve pains. Of all druggists and stores, 50c. box or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

FREE!

Why not start your own skin treatment now? All you have to do is to post this coupon with a 1c. stamp to the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, who will promptly send you a dainty sample box.

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

LECTURE WAS MUCH ENJOYED

Rev. Dr. O'Brien Delighted Large Audience—Miss Hallihan's Vocalism Pleased

Both as regards attendance and the excellence of the programme, the concert and illustrated lecture delivered by Rev. Dr. O'Brien of Peterborough under the auspices of the local branch of the C.M.B.A., in the Opera House on Monday evening was most successful.

Over one hundred and fifty views were thrown on the canvas, portraying objects of universal interest, in Pisan, Milan, Venice, Pagan and Christian Rome. The Rev. lecturer held the rapt attention of his audience as he pointed out the prominent feature and distinctive merits of each masterpiece of architecture, painting and sculpture, or graphically described historical incidents connected with the views presented. Dr. O'Brien certainly won golden opinions by the admirable manner in which he united delightful entertainment with a wealth of valuable information.

The musical programme was in keeping with the excellence of the lecture. Misses Gordon and Irwin rendered two instrumental duets that were well received. Miss Annie Fallon made her debut before a Port Hope audience as a vocal artist. Her true rich voice was heard to splendid advantage and gave assurance to the hope of her many friends that she will in time attain to more than ordinary proficiency.

Miss Hallihan, of Peterborough, fully realized the expectations of the audience. Her sweet well-trained voice won repeated encores that were most graciously acceded to.

The Committee in charge is to be congratulated for the success of this the first entertainment given under the auspices of Branch No. 450.—Port Hope Guide.

A particularly interesting public meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, will be held at the Y.W.C.A. tomorrow night. Mr. H. B. Collier will address the meeting on "One Hour with the Moon," and Mr. H. O. Fisk will speak on "Echoes from the Dominion Observatory," In addition Dr. Marsh will give his astronomical observations since the last meeting.

Dr. Marsh is in possession of a large number of especially fine photographs of the moon which will be placed on exhibition in the Y.W.C.A. parlors at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and will be on exhibition during the afternoon and evening.

Those attending are requested to bring more books with them as much information of a useful nature will be given, and it will be of advantage to jot down some of the points.

OBITUARY

MISS ANNIE GOODFELLOW.

Many in the city will regret to hear of the death of Miss Annie Goodfellow, who passed away early yesterday morning. She was a faithful member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church for over twenty-three years, and was a regular attendant at the Bible class.

She was a daughter of the late Robert Goodfellow, and was greatly beloved by all who knew her. She is survived by her aged mother, two sisters and two brothers, all of Peterborough. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from 614 London street, to Little Lake cemetery, and will be conducted by Rev. Robt. Pogue.

T. J. Moore, has been appointed city clerk of Guelph, and Col. White and Wm. Hart as assessors.

NOW I AM WELL
THANKS TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Eli, Manitoba.

I wish to state, for the sake of others who may be sufferers like I was, that I suffered from severe indigestion and constipation for years and that there was also womb trouble with unpleasant pains in my back which made me miserable, constantly. I tried physicians and took many remedies but I got no relief. I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say this was the first medicine that ever did me any good. "Fruit-a-tives" quickly relieved the constipation and indigestion and completely cured me of all symptoms of womb trouble. I cannot express too strongly my great gratitude to this medicine as I am as well now in every way as ever I was, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives". I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives", it is easy to take and the effect is always mild like fruit.

NO TIME TO LOSE

The ocean steamships trading into Vancouver are bringing the advance guard of Hindoos and Japanese. The Natal Act by which British Columbia is making a frantic effort to keep oriental immigration within bounds, has been as usual disallowed at Ottawa. Can legislative madness go farther? An Italian lawyer of prominence on a trip round the world, being in Montreal at the time of the recent Italian murder outbreak said that Canada should have done as the United States does that is it should have established at all points of embarkation in Europe a system of detective selection so that men and women with thoroughly criminal records could be prevented from landing here. It is monstrous that our interests have not been better protected. Bonusing immigrants is bad enough at all times but to bonus criminals is itself criminal. Canada is now suffering from being made the stamping-ground of criminals from the east, west, north and south. It seems to make no difference to the Laurier administration so long as they are able to boast of an increase in population whether that increase is of the best or of the worst. Public protests have been made time and again but the Government still keeps on. Mr. Whitney finding himself unable to act in concert with the Ottawa administration on account of their unreasonable and unpatriotic immigration policy cut aloof from them. As a consequence Ontario is at the mercy of the North Atlantic Trading Co. and other bodies equally irresponsible and equally determined to make money, no matter who suffers. It will take a long time to remedy this state of affairs. Criminalism like pleuro-pneumonia or tuberculosis will take years in time and no end of money to stamp out without taking into consideration the feeling of insecurity aroused and the loss of life and property incurred. The letter of our correspondent of yesterday is most timely. Let action be taken by the County and City Councils and the Board of Trade at once. Surely this epidemic of misdeeds is patent enough. Not a day passes without instances of the appalling increase in crime of the most savage kind. A lax government deficient in moral sense and in administrative power just as the Ross government was, is ruining this country both as to its resources and as to its appreciation of the virtues of uprightness and manliness. "Those whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." It is a well-known fact that the Japanese in the west are armed to the teeth and that they make their appeals for protection as a matter of common just. It is also a fact that it was by the merest chance that they did not "take" Vancouver at the time of the recent riots. This affair is much more serious than is generally supposed in the East.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Iceland has the record for centenarians. No other country in the world has such a large proportion of old people. Roumania is next, and probably Ireland is a close third. It cannot be said that nervous worry is the chief cause of the shortening of life in the face of these statistics.

Some little time ago we asked the Examiner if it favored a bare majority or the three-fifths clause. It did not answer. On the three-fifths clause it could talk all day but since our question respectfully and we hope not inopportunely put, nothing more has been said. Are you backing A. G. McKay or are you trying to back both horses, or are you trying to back out? Come! Out with it.

Mr. Quartermaine the efficient secretary of the Board of Trade, makes the statement that the Board's meeting re assessment was the largest in the history of the Board. Not so. The meeting concerning the opening of the agitation for the building of the T.V.C., was the largest when 500 people from outside Peterborough attended. Peterborough furnished so many in addition that the crowd overflowed into the saloons.

Do you believe in putting yourself under physical discipline occasionally or do you rest content with making the statement that you can do so if you want to? A man acquainted with the weakness and vagaries of his own will knows that occasional disciplining is the best thing for it. This is the more patent when we consider the other side of it, namely, that indulgence weakens the will. For disciplinary purposes we recommend salt herring. It is very strengthening.

Provincial politics in New Brunswick are not an easy game for the Ontario man to follow. There are some facts, however, that will help the reader to understand the situation. The Government for many years was quite non-partisan. In Mr. Blair's time, from 1883 up till 1896, the Ministerialists were a mixed flock—Liberals and Conservatives—in Federal affairs, but Blair men in the Provincial arena. That was still largely true in Mr. Emmerson's time. Of late Mr. Hazen, the Opposition leader, has been urging the adoption of party names and issues, and things have been drifting that way. There is but one Conservative, Hon. C. H. Labillois, in the Robinson Ministry, the other members being Liberals in National affairs. Mr. Hazen had not many Liberals among his following, the most prominent, perhaps, being Mr. John Morrissy of Northumberland. Mr. Joseph Poirier of Gloucester, may be set against him as a Conservative who follows a Liberal Premier in the Legislature.

Cases of this sort are not sufficiently numerous to prevent Mr. Hazen from doing in New Brunswick what Mr. McBride did in British Columbia—organize a party administration and ending the non-partisan system that has heretofore prevailed. —The Globe.

From the above it is manifest that the first chance the people of New Brunswick got to vote in straight politics they went Conservative. This is a hopeful sign. Twenty-five years is too long for any party to be in power—unless perhaps it be Conservative. At the same time we offer a prize for a lucid explanation of the Globe's summary which appears to us to be an obscure way of saying what it doesn't want to say, viz., that Pugsley "got his."

ARCHDEACON CASEY BETTER

Lindsay Post:—A letter received by Rev. Father Collins, of St. Mary's from Ven. Archdeacon Casey, who is at Virginia Hot Springs, conveys the pleasing news that the rev. gentleman's rheumatic affection is disappearing, and that he hopes to be able to return home about the end of the week. As a result of a meeting held yesterday after high mass, Mr. John Kennedy, on behalf of the congregation, was deputed to wire the Archdeacon that they would like him to remain a few weeks longer, in view of the present severe weather here.

The result is not yet known but it is felt that Archdeacon Casey's heart is with his congregation, and that he will not be willing to prolong his absence. In that event, the Archdeacon will arrive home about the end of the week.

Temperance Work Among The Lumbermen

The Womans' Christian Temperance Union held their regular meeting on Friday last in the YWCA The subject before the Union was the "Work among the lumber camps of Northern Ontario." If a census of the lumber jacks now working in Ontario camps could be taken, upwards of 2500 would be found, through our vast northland from the banks of the Ottawa to the shores of the Lake of the Woods. The lumbering interests of Ontario alone are on a scale that few realize yielding a revenue in 1906 to the Provincial treasury of nearly two millions.

If there is a spot on the face of God's earth where gospel temperance meetings are needed it is in lumber and mining camps, whether in Ontario or elsewhere. These poor fellows away from civilization, far from their homes, with no church, no wholesome moral recreation, nothing but the boarding house and the bar. No wonder the terrible effects of the drink traffic are seen on every side. It is only a small part of the great work to be done, that our WCTU missionaries can accomplish. Are we christians doing all we ought for the lumber men —the pioneers of civilization?

The saloon, the gambling house, the lost woman, the lost man, find their way into the remotest corners of the earth, while the christian worker and the church arrive after the ground has been pre-empted for the devil.

The WCTU supports two missionaries who travel from camp to camp preaching the gospel and teaching temperance. Mr Weent whose parish includes the county of Peterborough and the districts of Parry Sound and Muskoka is expected to visit our city before long, and give an address upon this work.

Miss Sproule reports that of all the camps she visited, only one, Echo Bay Company's camp, had been visited by any regular missionary of any of the churches.

California Congressmen Declare This the Only Alternative

Washington March 3.—Representative Hayes and Representative Kahn of California, to-day argued before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, in favor of the Hayes bill to gulate the coming into and the residence within the United States of Chinese, Japanese, Koreans, Hindus and others of the Mongolian or Asiatic race.

They said the only way to effectively stop the immigration of these people is by an absolute prohibition enactment. They insisted that the arts of diplomacy never would correct the evil. They agreed with Foreign Minister Hayashi of Japan, that the trouble lay with the immigration companies, who, they said, have behind them vast sums of money, with which to carry on their work.

Prize List And the Rules Were Revised

Meeting of Directors of Peterboro Fair Held Yesterday

A meeting of the Peterborough Fair directors was held yesterday afternoon in the City Council Chamber at three o'clock, when the following members were present:—Messrs. R. H. Leary, F. J. A. Hall, J. H. Garbutt, Sam Deyell, W. D. Stewart, Dr. Johnston, Jas. O'Shea, W. D. Vance, Sam Redmond and Wm. Collins, J. R. Bell, W. C. Switzer and Dawson Kennedy. The president, Mr. R. H. Leary, was in the chair. The chief business transacted was the revising of the rules and regulations and the prize lists for the fall fair. A large number of changes were made, the meeting lasting for nearly four hours.

The prize list this year will be a good one and in many instaces will excel that of last year.

Driver Was Dragged in A Runaway

Exciting Time on George St. Last Evening

A runaway on George street last evening about half-past five o'clock created considerable excitement. A Smith farmer was driving north, when near the Y.M.C.A. the horse became frightened and started off at an awful rate. The runner of the cutter got caught in the rail upsetting the vehicle and throwing the occupant of the cutter to the ground. However, he maintained his hold on the reins and the animal continued going at full speed dragging the man along on the road. The runaway was finally stopped at McDonnel st. No damage was done except that the clothes of the driver were considerably spoiled.

William Warner of Hamilton, when held up by a highwayman, turned on his assailant and gave him a sound thrashing and kicking.

DEBATE WAS INTERESTING

Judges Unable to Come to a Decision at Y.M.C.A. Last Night

The regular meeting of the YMCA. Literary and Debating Club was held last night. The attendance was not as large as was expected when so interesting and vital a subject as was under discussion. Current events were dealt with in a very able manner by Mr. Hamon who reviewed very carefully the great events of the world during the past two weeks and paid special attention to the great Anarchist outrages in Portugal and other countries giving a very interesting and minute review of the Anarchist beliefs and etc. The subject of the evening was a debate, 'Resolved that equality of opportunity is impossible under the present existing circumstances," was then proceeded with.

The affirmative was led by Mr. Geo. Armstrong, assisted by Messrs. Holmes and Martin.

The negative was led by Mr. Wm. McLaren, assisted by Messrs. Cox and Carter.

Many interesting and forcible points were scored by both sides. The chief points argued by the affirmative were:

1 That a man to be a success today must necessarily have money and influence.

2 That the poor man today under present conditions is kept down and not given the proper opportunity to advance himself.

4 Under existing circumstances rich men have control of all industries and endeavor to suppress and keep down the poor man.

The leader of the affirmative also made a very strong point of the fact that today no matter what a genius he may be unless he has money to follow up his invention it will be worthless.

The negative leader and his colleagues pointed out that every one has an excellent opportunity to make the very most of himself under the present circumstances if he would but make an effort. They brought forward many illustrations to back up their statements and endeavored to refute the entire platform of the affirmative. While the judges retired to an adjoining room to decide the debate a general discussion of the subject was taken part in by the members present. Most of the members made short speeches expressing their views on this important subject.

The judges were unable to decide for either side, explaining that so many points had been brought by both sides they considered they were evenly valued and that they decided to award even honors."

Mr. Hodgson, critic of the society then addressed the meeting and gave a clear and concise criticism of the debate enumerating the different points which had been brought out by both sides and giving many useful suggestions.

The next and last literary meeting for the season will be held on Wednesday, March 18th, when a most interesting and unique programme will be presented. It is hoped there will be a large attendance at the last meeting of the club.

CONSTITUTION WAS ADOPTED

Enthusiastic Meeting of Poultry Association Was Held Last Night

An enthusiastic meeting of the Peterborough Pet Stock and Poultry Association was held last night in the City Council chambers. Over fifty were in attendance and the constitution was adopted, clause by clause. It sets forth the aims and objects of the association, places the membership fee at 50 cents for the current year and $1.00 per year for the future, and provides that monthly meetings be held.

The president, Mr. Jas. Baptie, of Springville, was in the chair, and in addition to adopting a constitution several other matters in connection with the association were discussed. A board of directors was appointed, composed of Messrs. J. T. C. Lang, Jas. O'Shea, C. J. Hicks, E. H. White, Gardiner, R. Robson, C. Herigley, F. Holmes and G. Bickle.

Arrangements are now being made to secure a hall for meeting purposes. It is not improbable that a poultry exhibition will be held in the spring.

Sold Liquor To a Minor

Henry Smith, of Havelock, Pleaded Guilty—Minimun Fine of $10 With $6.35 Costs

Henry Smith, a Havelock hotelkeeper was fined $10 and costs amounting altogether to $10.35 by County Police Magistrate Edmison, on Monday. He pleaded guilty to selling liquor to a minor. High County Constable was the prosecutor.

Smith said he did not sell the liquor himself but as it was sold on his premises he was held responsible. The fine imposed was the minimum one.

Canadian Club Dinner To-night

Mr. W. P. Archibald, of Ottawa, Will be the Speaker of the Evening

Mr. W. P. Archibald, Dominion Parole Officer, of the Department of Justice, at Ottawa, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Peterborough Canadian Club to-night. The meeting will be held at the National Hotel and dinner will be served at 7.30 sharp. The subject of the address will be "Modern Methods of Dealing with the Criminal," a topic upon which Mr. Archibald is qualified to deal with more than any other man in Canada. His duties as parole officer bring him in close touch with many types of criminals and as the subject is one that is causing much discussion at the present time there should be a large number present to hear the speaker of the evening.

Some News From Indian River

Indian River, March 3.—The roads are beginning to get blocked pretty well, but an old saying is, if March comes in like a lion, it goes out like a lamb.

SAVINGS OF 20 TO 50 PER CENT. ON NEW GOODS

This might seem an impossible offering, but these goods were bought by us in an unusual way and at unusual prices. Some were secured from manufacturers who were frightened by the money panic; some were orders cancelled by Western dealers and left on the makers' hands; another big lot was secured from a Tapestry Curtain Manufacturer who received a large amount of insurance through an accident to the water tower on his factory.

THE INSURANCE COMPANIES HAVE PAID ABOUT HALF YOUR BILL—

Not often you get a chance to get even with an Insurance Company, but here they practically have paid half your bill. 325 pairs heavy Tapestry Curtains were secured from a maker, who, through an accident to the water tower on his factory, received a per centage of insurance on his stock. Some of them were badly soaked, but most of them are none the worse. There are three qualities in the lot:

3.00 Tapestry Curtains, 1.79

125 pairs heavy woven Tapestry Curtains, 40 inches wide by 3¼ yards long, fringed top and bottom. Colors, solid shades or two-tone combinations of Crimson, Green or dark and light Green. Regular $3.00. 14 Days Only......... 1.79

5.00 Tapestry Curtains, 2.79

125 pairs Tapestry Curtains, heavy Repp weave, 50 inches wide, 3¼ yards long, heavy fringe top and bottom. This Spring's newest designs in colors Crimson, Dark Red, Green, Olive and Rose and Green combination. Every pair perfect. 14 Days Only..................... 2.79

9.00 Tapestry Curtains, 3.75

75 pairs best silk finished Tapestry Curtains, in all the new shadings of Browns, Green and Rose, Crimson and Self Greens. Extra heavy fringed, hand knotted. Regular $7.50 to $9.00 a pair. These are slightly water marked. 14 Days only 3.75

Successful Affair Given Last Night—Brother Burns Highland Songs a Feature

A pleasing entertainment was held in the AOUW hall last night under AOUW auspices. Brother J. J. Turner, DDJ. was in the chair and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Refreshments were served during the evening by Brothers Long and Hooper. A vote of thanks was tendered the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly gave their services freely and made this "At Home" a decided success, Bro. Burns of Whitby, deserving special notice. He was dressed in his Highland costume and gave some stirring Scotch songs. Brother Burns is one of the best organizers for the AOUW. and will always be welcome to Peterborough.

The following programme was rendered;

Address by the chairman—Bro. J. J. Turner.

Wood is Scarce in Peterborough

Only One Firm in City That Has Any Maple and Beech

Wood is scarce in Peterborough. Any farmer having wood would find a trip to Cobalt a superfluity.

A farmer who was drawing some wood to this city yesterday said he was besieged from all quarters by would be purchasers who almost assaulted him in their eagerness to secure the wood. Only one firm in Peterborough has any maple and beech on hand at present. The situation will be relieved when the country roads are in a less drifted and "pitchy" condition.

The Work of Temperance League of City

Was Outlined by the President at Meeting Held Last Evening

The public temperance meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. hall last night marked another important step in the progress of temperance work in this city. The Rev. J. G. Potter occupied the chair, and after devotional exercises Mr. Hooker of Murray street, favored the audience with a vocal selection which was thoroughly enjoyed.

The president of the City Temperance League then briefly outlined the work of the temperance people as adopted in their constitution;

1. To advance with all possible speed in the enlistment of all the men in the signing of the total abstinence pledge, and that this work would be done through the different churches.

2. To undertake the liberal and systematic education of the people along the lines of temperance.

3. To assist as far as possible the existing organizations and officers who are seeking to procure a better enforcement of the law.

The president explained that some misunderstanding had been caused by the publication of names of gentlemen who had been invited to act in counsel regarding breaches of the law. It had been thought that they were to act as detectives or spies. This was rectified by the appointment of a vigilance or law enforcement committee, composed of representative men as suggested by the Toronto convention.

It was the unanimous sentiment of the meeting that the citizens generally should aid in maintaining the observance of the law and that any infraction of it should be reported to the inspector.

It was also strongly asserted that in districts where local option is being pressed that suitable accommodation should be first provided for travellers—or at least arranged for.

Messrs. Cunningham, G. W. Powell, McFadden and Moore, reported the Toronto convention and much enthusiasm was aroused by the calm and clear statements of the delegates.

At the close many added their names to the roll of the League. Any of the friends of temperance, who desire to help in the work of pledge signing and distribution of literature may forward contributions to the treasurer, Mr. A. Brown or the secretary, Mr. A. E. Cunningham.

There will be other speakers and probably a musical programme as well. Mr. Lucas is unable to attend owing to pressure of business at the Legislative Assembly.

OBITUARY

MRS. THOS. WOOD.

After an illness of some weeks' duration, Mrs. Thomas Wood, of Bensfort, passed away last evening at seven o'clock at Nicholls hospital. About two weeks ago the late Mrs. Wood was brought to Nicholls hospital where she underwent an operation which proved successful but yesterday another one had to be performed to which she succumbed. The deceased was a lifelong resident of Bensfort having been born there, fifty-eight years ago and where she resided until the time of her death. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Moncrief. She was married to her now surviving husband 37 years ago. She was a member of the Methodist communion and was a faithful attendant at the Bensfort church. She was a devoted christian and possessed many sterling qualities. She bore her long illness with patience and christian fortitude.

Besides her husband three sons and one daughter are left to mourn her loss. They are, Messrs. J. W. Wood of Toronto; Alf. E. Wood, Keene; Edgar Wood, residing on the homestead and Mrs. Perrin, of Bensfort. Four brothers and three sisters also survive her. The brothers are Messrs. G. A. Moncrief of Fowler's Corners; Thomas, of Shelburne, and John and Wm. of Bensfort. The sisters are Mrs. Ed. Finnie of this city, Mrs. Welsh of Ethel and Mrs. Morrison of Bensfort.

The funeral will take place on Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock from the family residence to the Bensfort cemetery.

Presentation to Father McColl

The officers of the local branch of the C.M.B.A., called at St. Peter's rectory last night and presented Rev. Father McColl with a cheque for a handsome sum. A complimentary address was read wishing the reverend father a most enjoyable trip to the Old Country, and a safe return to Peterborough with renewed health.

NOON TRAINS WERE MANY HOURS LATE

The blinding snow storm is again causing the railways great inconvenience. The noon G.T.R. train has not yet arrived in the city. It is stalled at Stouffville, unable to proceed further, but the snow plough is clearing the road, and it is expected here about six o'clock. The noon C.P.R. train was also very late, not arriving here until about half-past one.

Building permits in Edmonton for January and February total $500,925.

Miss Jennie Shea of Hamilton drank iodine and is in a critical condition.

Bands Didn't Play When When Pugsley Came Back

His Welcome, at Ottawa Was Very Tame.

But Crockett Got Many Cheers—"The Best Return Brought Down," Said Foster—Minister of Railways Pays Tribute to the Late Judge Killam—Annual Statement of the Intercolonial Railway.

Ottawa, March 6.—Hon. William Pugsley did not get an ovation in the House yesterday. The Opposition had a large amount of enthusiasm bottled up against the day of his return from New Brunswick and it being known that Hon. William was back in town, the left side of the House was crowded. Mr. Pugsley, however, came in unostentiously by the back door and before prayers he was in his seat.

The bottled-up applause was let go a little later when Oswald Seth Crockett, one of the conquering heroes, arrived at the proper moment. One of the Ministers was answering a question when Seth Crockett hove in sight and the rest of the official reply was lost in the general uproar, whereat Mr. Pugsley sat up and took notice. He smiled an unholy smile.

"That is the best return brought down to-day," observed Mr. Foster. Then the House proceeded.

Mr. Foster asked if the Government had any information to impart to the House in reference to telegrams from Vancouver referring to the influx of Hindoos, also as to the statement alleged to have been made by Baron Hayashi, Foreign Minister at Tokio, that contract laborers from that country were not forbidden to enter Canada.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that he could not credit such a statement in view of the assurances of Japan.

Mr. Lemieux added that he had had a visit at noon from the acting consul-general of Japan, who stated he had been advised from Tokio that in future no contract laborers would be permitted to come to Canada unless authorized by the Canadian Government.

Mr. Lennox was informed that the Government had not alienated property on the Plains of Abraham to Sir Charles Ross. Such a request had been made, but was refused.

Outlay on Rideau Hall.

A return moved for by Mr. Wilson (Lennox) was tabled. The total expenditure on Rideau Hall from 1891 to Dec. 31, 1907, was $670,541. Of this amount $133,250 was for heating and lighting, $11,262 for the removal of snow, $122,290 for construction and improvement of buildings and $26,900 for improvement of grounds. Maintenance of buildings cost $305,552 and maintenance of grounds $71,277. The total outlay in 1906-7 was $72,652. In the year 1891-92 it was $20,392. The outlay for His Excellency's traveling expenses is about $5,000 a year, on an average. For the nine months ended Dec. 1 last the expenditure under this head was $12,500.

When the House got into committee on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's bill respecting the battlefields of Quebec, Armand Lavergne (Montmagny) offered a few observations. The dominating idea of that celebration next summer seemed to be imperialism, whereas it should be thoroughly Canadian. It seemed to Mr. Lavergne that the Government was departing from the real object which was to mark the foundation of Quebec in 1608. The statue of Angel of Peace was a poor substitute, he thought, for the $5,000 a week paid to workingmen of Quebec by the Ross Rifle Co., and it was a strange idea to locate the statue here.

"Let us rather build a monument," he said, "with the words of the late Sir John A. Macdonald engraved upon it, that in this country there is not a superior race; that we are all Canadians."

The Intercolonial.

On motion to go into supply Hon. G. P. Graham rose to present the annual statement of the Intercolonial Railway. He promised by saying he made no pretence to having mastered the details of his Department. He did not propose to discuss in a general way the question of transportation, but before taking up the working of the railway he proposed to make a few remarks on the Canadian canal system.

Including the Rideau Canal, this country had expended no less a sum than $120,000,000. The business of the St. Lawrence Canal was not as large as it should be, the number of lockages in the Cornwall Canal last year being 4,217. The business of the Soo Canal amounted to 12 million tons locked through.

Welland Canal Traffic.

On the Welland Canal 31 millions of dollars had been expended to date. An elevator was being erected at Port Colborne which would be completed up to 800,000 bushels capacity this year.

It was a question whether Government ownership of elevators was a success. The present Government elevators at Montreal, Halifax and St. John were not very active.

Discussing the question of deepening the Welland Canal Mr. Graham said the present rate from Fort William to Buffalo was 1 1-2c. a bushel; from Buffalo to New York five decimal seventy cents, in all 7.40 cents. By deeping the Erie Canal it was estimated that grain could be profitably carried from Buffalo to New York for two cents.

Then by the deepening of the Welland Canal it was estimated that a rate of two cents could be given from Fort William to a port on the St. Lawrence, Kingston or Prescott, where transhipment would be made. From Prescott to Montreal the rate would be 1 3-8 cents. This would be an advantage of 1-8 of a cent over the deepened Erie Canal.

Regarding the Trent Valley Canal Mr. Graham was in favor of developing water powers there if it could be done at reasonable cost.

Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Graham then turned to the progress of work on the Grand Trunk Pacific. The only lamentable thing in connection with the Moncton-Winnipeg section was the collapse of the Quebec bridge. The proposals of the Government would be discussed when the report of the commissioners was brought down, but they all agreed that the bridge must be rebuilt on more substantial lines.

Proceeding to discuss the railway commission, Mr. Graham paid a tribute to the late Judge Killam. The powers given the board were wider than those given to any similar board. The commission had already done a great deal of work and this would be increased with the expanding of the board and widening of its powers. To illustrate what had been accomplished, M. Graham said that in 1907 there were 2,600 applications, 18,894 letters received, 1,816 orders issued, 66 public sittings and 321 applications heard. Reductions of freight rates were enumerated, such as $45 a car on pears from St. Catharines to Montreal. These were mentioned to show the practical work being done. Last year the railways carried 32 million passengers and 63 million tons of freight, while 1-4 of the population were dependent on railways for their means of sustenance.

SHOT THE COLLECTOR.

Egerton Farmer Takes Effectual Method to Get Rid of Rent Man.

Mount Forest, March 6.—Because he wanted to collect the rent Henry Arnott, a farmer of Egerton, was shot yesterday through the hand by Warden Shand. The weapon was an old military musket.

Acting Bailiff Thomas Ryan of Mount Forest and the landlord had gone out to collect the rent. Shand ordered them off the premises, holding the musket in a threatening manner. They did not go fast enough and Shand blazed away.

Dr. Perry of Conn, eight miles from here, dressed the wound, and Chief Cringle of Mount Forest set out for Warden Shand. The prisoner went along quietly and last night was in the lock-up here. He will appear at 10 o'clock this morning before Magistrate M. O. McGregor.

No Right to Do It.

New York, March 6.—When extradition proceedings in the case of Robert Caldwell, accused of perjury while a witness in the famous Druce case, came up before U. S. Commissioner Fox, representing the British Government, he said he would begin proceedings to test the validity of Justice Clark's order, sending Caldwell to an asylum.

COUNTY J.P. ARRESTED

Crown Orders Prosecution For Alleged Perjury and Fraud.

Charges Against Magistrate Woodcock of Newmarket — Sensational Development of Investigation by Judge Winchester Into Alleged Irregularities—Police Constable Also In the Toils.

Toronto, March 5.—T. J. Woodcock, police magistrate for the town of Newmarket and justice of the peace for the County of York, who has been suspended from hearing cases by the Attorney-General's Department, pending the outcome of an investigation by Judge Winchester into the administration of justice by himself and county constables, was taken into custody at High Constable Ramsden's office, Adelaide street, at noon yesterday. The arrest was made upon two warrants sworn out under instructions from Crown Attorney Corley. Detectives Mackie and Wallace made the arrest.

Woodcock was later charged with conspiracy to defraud the Province of Ontario and the County of York of the sum of $7.90.

County Constable John Savage is charged jointly with the magistrate upon this warrant. Savage was arrested at Barrie, where he is also employed as Grand Trunk constable, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the request of the Toronto police.

Woodcock was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.

The Perjury Charges.

The perjury charges arise out of evidence given by Woodcock before Judge Winchester in the present investigation. The first charge comes out of Woodcock's evidence with regard to the case of William Gray, a lad who appeared before him at Mount Albert upon two charges of theft. To both of these Gray pleaded guilty at a single hearing at Mount Albert. These facts were attested to before Judge Winchester by six witnesses. Upon Woodcock's books appeared a charge for costs of a hearing at Mount Albert of one case and a further charge of $7.90 mileage for subsequent hearing at Toronto. Woodcock testified before the judge that, after receiving a plea of guilty to one charge at Mount Albert, he had heard the second case in Toronto, when a plea of guilty was again entered.

The second jury charge arises out of a damage action by a Georgina Island Reservation Indian, Big Canoe, who brought action against one Boyd, employed by the Gooderham & Worts Co., for damage to his sleigh, which was demolished by falling through a hole in the ice made by Boyd. Woodcock heard the case and awarded the Indian $20 damages. This was paid Woodcock by the Gooderham Co., and upon Woodcock's books and from his testimony before the judge it appeared that he had paid the $20 to Big Canoe, whereas the Indian swore at the investigation that he had not received one cent of this money from Woodcock.

Conspired to Defraud.

The conspiracy charge, in which the names of Woodcock and Constable Savage are coupled, arises from the Gray case, where it is alleged that Woodcock and Savage conspired to defraud the county and province of $7.90, mileage to Toronto, it being alleged that they concocted the story of the second hearing at Toronto to secure that sum. Savage swore to the second and imaginary trial of Gray at Toronto in his testimony before Judge Winchester.

Magistrate's Career.

Magistrate Woodcock is 60 years of age. He was born in Leeds County. He started life working in the woods and carried on a lumbering business and ran a store near Mount Albert from 1875 till 1878, when he went to Newmarket, where he was employed by the G.T.R., furnishing ties. Later he entered Judge Morgan's law offices, where he remained a number of years. Since then he has filled the position of warden and county councillor. For eight years he was county auditor for the province.

Foundry Fire at Brockville.

Brockville, March 5.—There was a stiff blaze yesterday afternoon for the best part of an hour at the big factory of the James Smart Co., which made a wreck of the roof of the forging department.

An overheated shaft produced a flame which spread to the oil-soaked roof and made great headway along a row of skylights running the full length of the structure. This was blazing fiercely when the firemen arrived. Three lines of hose, under an excellent pressure, saved the day. The fire had gotten such a start that at one time it threatened complete destruction. The damage to building and contents is estimated at about $4,000, covered by insurance.

Voted It Down.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—A lively debate took place in the House of Commons on the food duties amendment, favoring a preference on colonial wheat. It was defeated by 293 to 90.

Lloyd-George aroused the Opposition to cheers by admitting the question was a live issue.

Temperance members of the Commons presented Rev. Joseph Oliver of Sarnia, Ont., with an address in recognition of his able lectures on the working of Canadian liquor laws throughout the country.

Dowager Empress In London.

London, March 5.—The Dowager Empress of Russia arrived here yesterday on a visit to her sister, Queen Alexandra. The police took extraordinary precautions for her protection.

Prohibits Canadian Hay.

London, March 5.—The Board of Agriculture has passed an order prohibiting the importation of hay and straw into Great Britain. The order takes immediate effect.

St. James' church, Brooke, just freed from debt, has been consecrated by the Bishop of Huron.

TURNOVER WAS COMPLETE.

St. John, N.B., March 5.—Full returns of the election show the Government carried only ten seats in Tuesday's election. The Opposition 31 and Independents five. Four members of the Government were defeated: Hon. W. P. Jones, Solicitor-General; Hon. L. P. Farris, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. E. Allen, Provincial Secretary; and Hon. D. J. Purdy, without portfolio.

The Independents carried Gloucester and Madawaska, the Government Restigouche, Westmoreland, Victoria and St. John Counties, while the Opposition carries the rest of the province, including St. John City.

The turnover is most complete, and as Mr. Hazen has elected all his leading supporters, he should have no difficulty in forming a strong Cabinet. In fact, his difficulty will be who to choose, and who stand aside. Many causes contribute to the Government's defeat. They had been in 25 years, and the cry, "time for a change," was popular. A road act passed two years ago proved most unpopular and lost them hundreds of votes in the outlying districts.

Mr. Hazen in his address said: "In this fight I have had the support of a large number of Liberals at the polls. I do not claim a victory for the Conservative party, but a triumphant fight in the cause of honest citizenship. The result yesterday is not a defeat for the Federal Government, but, you will pardon me, I do regard it as a great personal defeat for Hon. William Pugsley."

RAIDS OF RUBBER HUNTERS.

Berlin, March 5.—Herr Erzberger, a member of the Centre party and a clerical, spoke before the appropriations committee of the Reichstag on the colonial estimates yesterday. He cited numerous Government reports regarding the violent proceedings of the rubber hunters in German Kamerun, describing how armed parties herded the natives into their services levied requisition on the villages for food and in the name of Germany terrorized wide districts in Central Africa in their efforts to get rubber out of the country.

Colonial Secretary Derburg, speaking in reply, said the industrial demand for rubber had advanced the prices, and that consequently there had been great efforts to exploit the rich rubber producing regions in Kamerun. In many districts the Government had stopped the traffic altogether, and further regulations were being made to protect the villagers along the caravan routes from violence, especially the forcible requisition of food and the destruction of their huts.

He declared that an insurrection on the part of the natives was possible in the future, and that the Government must undertake full measures to secure their protection.

LEOPOLD BACKS DOWN.

Fearful of British Intervention Cedes Congo to Belgium.

Brussels, March 5.—The sweeping concessions made by King Leopold in the new treaty, which provides for the annexation of the Congo Free State to Belgium, are attributed to his dread of British intervention.

The King, it is declared, would rather not risk facing an international accounting of his stewardship.

An official forecast of the new treaty indicates that King Leopold not only surrenders the crown domain in the Congo, the revenues from which he has enjoyed personally, but yields also control of both the administration and the budget of the Congo to the Belgian Parliament. The Cape Ferrat properties in the south of France, which the King also throws in, were bought out of his Congo profits.

King Leopold showed his resentment toward Great Britain and the United States at a recent court ball, by displaying excessive coldness toward H. L. Wilson, the American Minister, and Sir Edmund Phipps, British diplomatic representative.

State Deputy Arrested.

New York, March 5.—Nathan Vidaver, a special deputy of the State Attorney-General, was arrested yesterday afternoon by detectives from District Attorney Jerome's office, charged with accepting $500 in marked bills from William R. Montgomery, former president of the Hamilton Bank.

Vidaver had a prominent part in the recent banking investigation in this city, and the Hamilton Bank was one of the institutions which was given attention at that time. He is 41 years old and recently was a candidate for election to the Court of General Sessions' Bench. Vidaver was arraigned in the Tombs' Police Court and held in $5,000 bail for examination to-day.

In substance, the charge is that he accepted $500 from Montgomery to use his influence with the newspapers to keep from the public the news that indictments pending against Montgomery are to be dismissed and that Montgomery is about to open another bank.

Vidaver denounced his arrest as an outrage. He said he accepted $500 from Montgomery as a retainer.

Wins Fight For Death.

New York, March 5.—John Grant, a former prize fighter, who had failed in six previous attempts to kill himself, in one of which he jumped from Brooklyn bridge, after gashing both wrists and swallowing carbolic acid, committed suicide yesterday by gas asphyxiation in his room in his brother's home in Brooklyn.

Negro Defied Mob.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 5.—Frank Johnson, a negro wanted for murder, took refuge in a barn and defied the 500 people who surrounded it, shooting three. The sheriff called out the militia, and at 2.30 p.m., the negro, under guarantee of protection, surrendered.

Victims of the Terrible Cleveland Fire Will Number 180.

School Was Overcrowded—Little Tots Were Housed In the Attic—Many Perished Within a Foot of Safety—Lady Principal Makes a Statement—Coroner Begins Investigation Into Awful Calamity.

Cleveland, March 6.—Yesterday afternoon 16 bodies had been recovered from the ruins of the Lakeview school at Collinwood. The exact number of fatalities from the conflagration is not known, but is expected to reach 180.

Firemen are still at work in the expectation of extracting more victims from the smouldering wreckage. So far 129 of the slain have been identified, but few of the others will be distinguished one from the other. Their names can be ascertained from the list of missing but which is which is a mystery that will probably never be solved. The arrangements for a great public funeral are being rapidly perfected. One monument will mark the grave.

County Coroner Dr. T. A. Burke began an investigation yesterday of the cause leading to the terrible loss of life in the school building, his work being supplementary to the investigation by the board of education and village council.

It is generally admitted that the school building was of approved fireproof construction, and that the calamity looked at from this standpoint, could not have been averted.

It is now believed that the fire did not have its origin in the furnace or from the explosion of the heating boiler, but that it must have started under the stairway leading from the basement to the first floor of the school building. The janitor, Fred Herter, stoutly maintains there was no waste or rubbish there. The officials are trying to ascertain the names of the three girls who are reported to have been in the basement at the time the fire started and who are said by the janitor to have first noticed the fire.

The janitor, Fred Herter, three of whose children perished, declares that as Wednesday was comparatively warm, he maintained the fires at a lower rate than usual. Fearing he had not sufficiently warmed the building he was on his way to open the furnace drafts when he was met by the three little girls running from the basement, who told him there was a fire below.

The school was overcrowded and quarters had been provided for the younger children in the attic. Strange as it may seem, more of the pupils escaped from this part of the school house than from any other. The children were under good discipline, they had been practiced frequently in the fire drill, their teachers without exception retained their self-possession, showing great courage in the face of imminent death, and yet more than half of these little ones died horribly because of faulty building arrangements.

The school house was two stories and a half in height, the walls being of brick and concrete. Inside it was a shed which burned inconceivably rapidly. The entire interior was a mass of smoking ruins lying in the cellar within thirty minutes after the alarm of fire was sounded.

Miss Anna Moran, the principal of the school, denies that the doors opened inward, and insists that they were never locked during school hours. She said: "When the bell rang, I and I suppose other teachers, thought it was a regular fire drill. Every child in the school has gone out over and over again from the second floor to the open air in one minute and thirty seconds. You can judge that how quickly we reached the first floor when we neared the front door, we saw the flames coming up the basement stairs and without knowing it we led those little children into the very face of the fire.

"Only one of the double outer doors was open. The other was fastened by a spring at the top. Before the janitor got it open, the children had wedged themselves into the vestibule, and the others in a panic stumbled and climbed and crowded over them. It was frightful—so near safety.

"If I could have turned my line back they would have had some chance on the third floor, but they kept coming down and we could not stop them or do anything to save them. Men from the outside were trying to pull the children out, but the crush was so tight, no human strength could clear a passageway. Dozens died within a foot of absolute safety."

Deputy State Fire Marshal Figenbaum, who made an inspection of the ruins after the fire, declared positively that the doors of the school house opened toward the inside, and that the rear door was locked when the children reached it.

Everybody is Wanted at the Big Athletic Meeting To-night

All arrangements have been made for the big members' meeting at the Y.M.C.A. to-night, when athletic organization for the coming season will be discussed. The matter of putting bowling alleys and pool and billiard tables at the Association building, will also be considered. The organization of baseball, football and lacrosse teams for the coming summer will also be dealt with.

The meeting is called for 7.45 o'clock sharp, and the chairman will clock and the chair will be occupied by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, a gentleman who has done much for amateur sport in Peterborough.

Every member of the association is asked to be on hand, especially those interested in athletics. The meeting promises to be a rousing one, and every one should be present. It will be held in the Assembly hall.

Hartley Returns From Six Days' Walk at Kansas City

Arrived in the City Last Evening—Walk Was Financially a Failure—Attendance Was Small—Hartley Was Ill the First Day—May Meet Hoagland in the Near Future.

The nine o'clock G.T.R. train last evening had among its passengers David Hartley, Peterborough's sturdy little pedestrian, who was returning home from Kansas City, where he had competed in the six days' walking tournament held in Convention Hall, under the auspices of the Missouri Athletic Club. He was greeted at the depot by a few friends, who congratulated him on his very creditable showing in the contest, in which competed the best walkers in America. Mr. Hartley was feeling rather tired after his long journey, but when the steady grind of a walk such as he took part in is considered, he is in remarkably good health. In conversation with the Review today he related some interesting incidents of his three weeks' stay in Kansas City.

WALK A FINANCIAL FAILURE.

"It was a great walk," said Hartley, "and I am well satisfied with the result, with the exception of the financial end of it. Financially it whole week each day, there was a was a distinct failure. During the very small attendance. The hall will hold fifteen thousand people, and had it been half filled it would have been encouraging to the walkers." Mr. Hartley stated that the previous week a bicycle tournament had been held, which no doubt interfered with the walking contest. Hartley came within the money, but his expenses were so heavy that on the whole thing he loses about eighty dollars. All that Hoagland, the winner of the event, received out of the walk was one hundred and sixty dollars, and some of the walkers had not enough money to take them home.

Hartley had heavy expenses. His trainer had to be paid a big price in addition to numerous other things, which all used up the money, making the trip an unprofitable one both to the walkers and to those conducting it. The pedestrians received every kindness and attention from the officials of the race and Mr. Hartley speaks in the highest terms of his treatment by them.

SOME GREAT WALKERS.

The men who finished with Hartley were all splendid walkers and in their career have competed in some big events. Hoagland, the champion of the world, is a man of about forty-two years of age, and is well built, being six feet in height. His home is at Auburn, N.Y., and he has figured in the best walking tournaments that have ever been held.

Slater is also a fine walker and a man about 33 years of age. He defeated Hoagland in a big walk one time. Messier, another good one, is a man of 30 years. All the winners were old veterans, while those who dropped out were mostly young men. Twenty-three entered the race but only six finished. Hoagland on the first day gained such a lead that he retained it with little difficulty. Messier was second at the finish of the first day, but on the second day Slater pulled up second and took six hours off Hoagland's lead. He retained the same place till the finish.

WAS ILL THE FIRST DAY.

The conditions were quite unfavorable to Mr. Hartley making as good a showing as he might have done. The weather was like May, but apparently it was too cool for Kansas City people, for on all sides of the arena were hot air registers. The floor was covered with sawdust and the extreme heat made it so perfectly dry that in walking it flew up in the pedestrians' faces. Mr. Hartley said that the first day his lips would become so parched that he had to frequently stop to take a drink. The water was not very good and about 10.30 on the evening of the first day, he was so sick that he had to retire. However, he started in the next day and on the last two days of the walk made excellent time. On the second last day he made 43 miles in ten hours and on the last day went 45 miles in nine and a half hours. Mr. Hartley was told that never before on the last day had any walker made such a remarkably good showing.

MAY MEET HOAGLAND.

Hartley stated that he thought under ordinary circumstances he could beat any of the winners in the six day's walk. A gentleman in Toronto is endeavoring to arrange a walk between Hoagland and Hartley, but as yet nothing definite has been arranged. Hartley was congratulated on his fine showing by the president of the club and his wife, and on the last lap they threw the Stars and Stripes around him. He would like to meet Hoagland. He says that his walkind days are not yet over.

A FINE CITY.

"Kansas City is a fine place," said Mr. Hartley. "The streets and buildings are very beautiful and everybody there goes in for a good time. He said that on the first Monday he was there, there were four men shot in a fight not far from where he was boarding. Such things are not minded there very much and everything goes on the same on Sunday as any other day.

Grafters' Lost to Omemee Team

Locals Were Defeated in Northern Village by Score of 7-4

The Grafters and Omemee, played in Omemee last night, the locals being defeated by 7—4. The game was an interesting one, and was witnessed by a large crowd. At half-time the score was 6—1.

Mr. Claude Sherwood of this city gave good satisfaction as referee.

A return game will in all probability be played as soon as the rink here can be arranged for.

The Grafters lined up as follows;

Goal—Conway.
Point—White.
Cover—Haskill.
Rover—Staunton.

He is going to campaign them in the Western Ontario circuit and hopes to be with them to Peterborough.

Hockey Player Was Arrested

Simcoe, Ont., March 5.—At a hockey match here last night between Vittoria and Port Dover, a regrettable incident occurred. A Vittoria player, said to be Smith, is alleged to have struck a Port Dover player by the name of Ferris with his stick, and rendered him unconscious, inflicting a bad scalp wound. Dr. Bowlby was called in, and after a while the player regained consciousness and is said to be progressing favorably today, but complications are feared. Smith appeared before the police magistrate. The case was adjourned to the 11th inst., and Smith allowed out on bail furnished by his father, a farmer, of Charlotteville.

Havelock Will Have Weird Game

Something is Going to Happen on Monday That Might be a Circus or Another Press Match

Special to The Review.

Havelock, March 6—One of the most colossal, stupendous and exciting games of hockey that ever was pulled off will take place at the Park Grove rink here on Monday night next when some of the most clever stick handlers among them, lacrosse and football players who took part in deadly struggles way back in '67, will cross swords in a bloody affray which promises to be one of the fastest and most interesting games of the season. As yet the contending teams have not picked a name for themselves, but it is reported that you will be able to tell them in the game by the names of "Winners" and "Losers."

Amongst those who are expected to get up enough courage to appear on the ice on steel are the following; J. Mainspring Fowler, D. Hemlock Butters, F. Auxiliary Boyer, C. Shaver Williams, W. Express Patterson, K. Buttonhole McKay, E. Horseshoe McMillan, T. Slipper McWilliams, P. Pills Valentine, J. Scoop Hastings, B. Wirenails Philips, A. Coughdrop Ormiston, A. E. Remnant Barrett, and S. J. Shack Cross.

At half time several of the contestants will give an exhibition of fancy skating and ice sweeping combined and all present will have a fine chance of getting a few hints on the finer points of the art.

The rink will be enlarged for the occasion so as to give the players room enough to move their feet freely.

Several of the players have been practising lately and their appearance on the ice is a sight for sore eyes and their heads seem to be too heavy and will not stay up in the air. One of the wood choppers has to put his boots on the wrong feet in order to keep from dividing into twins. Several complain that the ice is very deep, being up around their head most of the time. One of the players has found out something that the great scientists have overlooked. He says that the ice is a great magnet at least it has a great attraction for him. On Monday next it is expected that the players will see stars that scientists never dreamt of seeing.

It will not be necessary to sweep the ice at half time as it will be swept by the players during all stages of the game.

Players are prohibited from taking chairs on the ice to sit on or to hire any one to hold them up.

Any player falling more than 500 times in five minutes will be arrested for assault on the ice.

The players are all in training at present. They spent the morning in chopping wood and greedily devouring the contents of Professor Sport's latest book on "Hints to the Amateur Hockey Player." The afternoon is spent in playing shinney in the cellar, while at night when the moon has disappeared behind the clouds and most of the citizens are in slumberland, they venture out to spend a few minutes in practising how to stand up on their skates.

A carload of hockey sticks have been ordered to come by telephone and all the surgeons in Midland Ontario will be on hand in case of emergency.

The price is only 10 and 15 cents and the management committee guarantee that there will be more fun at the rink on Monday night next to the square inch than there ever was before.

There will be an hour's skating after the game and 5 minutes at half time while the players are in the hands of the doctors.

The second half will be played immediately after half time, wind and weather permitting.

Heavy Weight Wrestler Has Been Unearthed

New Man Who Has all the Ear Marks of Being a Good One

The Windsor Athletic Club has a big bunch of wrestlers working out for the championship tournament at Toronto, on March 20th and 21st. A large number of men are working out every night, and some of them show great promise. The club has unearthed a find in a big chap named Morton, who ought to go some distance among the heavyweights. He weighs near the two hundred mark, is skilful and fast. He was on the mat last night and created a fine impression.

The Windsor Club will have entries in all classes at the tournament.

COULDN'T GO TO TRENTON

Strathconas Received Word From Lake Town To-day Not to Go There

The Strathconas received word from Trenton today that the game scheduled to take place with the team in that town tonight had been called off. On account of the rink being covered with snow, and the drifted railways, making train connections in time to play the game impossible the match was called off.

HOCKEY

Midland Hockey Club are going to prosecute Randall of the Lindsay team for his intentional rough work in the closing minutes of the final game at Lindsay, the result being that Switzer, the star player of the Midland team, who is resting in a Toronto hospital, will lose the sight of his left eye. Affidavits are being gathered in that Randall, learning that there was only two minutes to play from the time-keeper, exclaimed, "Watch me get that fellow," or words of a similar effect. Randall straightway heading for Switzer, who had the puck, hooking him with the end of the stick in the eye. Randall had none too good a reputation in the junior O.H.A. series last year. Sympathy is extended to Switzer, who is the sole support of his mother. — Toronto World.

FEW FIRE ESCAPES IN OUR SCHOOLS

The frightful catastrophe at Collingwood, near Cleveland emphasizes the necessity of keeping all doors furnishing exit to school children open or unlocked during school hours. No detail of discipline can ever excuse even a partial repetition of this horror. We are informed that most of our local school buildings are innocent of fire escapes and of other extraordinary methods of providing exit in case of a panic. This state of affairs should be remedied at once. No time should be lost in making a thorough and complete investigation. The public relies upon the Board's seeing that every effort is made to provide against loss of life or injury.

CARS COLLIDED AND SEVERAL WERE INJURED

Many of Them so Seriously That They Had to be Taken to Hospitals

Special to J R Heintz & Co.

Jamestown, N.Y. March 6—A dozen or or more persons were injured, many of them so seriously that they were taken to hospitals, in a trolley car collision on the Chautuaqua Traction Co's. line between Westfield and Mayville this morning at 7.30 o'clock. At Richard's siding, a car bound from Westfield to Mayville failed to take the siding and smashed into a car bound in the opposite direction which was waiting on the main track for the south bound car to pass it on the side track. Bracks failed to work. Both motormen and both conductors were injured. Some of the injured were taken to Westfield and some to Jamestown.

Wife's Father and Husband Settled Trouble With Fists

Aftermath of Lively Fracas on George St. Monday Night Aired in Police Court—Two Men Fined for Disorderly Conduct.

The aftermath of a row that occurred on Monday night in a house on George street, between Brock and Murray streets, was heard in police court this morning. George Dormer and his father-in-law, Thos. Clarke had each to pay a fine of two dollars for swearing and otherwise being disorderly. They pleaded not guilty, but the evidence was strongly against them. There were several witnesses of the fracas and many of them gave evidence this morning, which went to show that there had been quite a mix-up in Downer's house on Monday night.

It was about half-past six when persons going home from were attracted by loud swearing, and a woman rushed out on the street in an endeavor to get some one to go in and separate two men who were fighting. The children were screaming and soon a large crowd had gathered. One witness, who was in court today, stated that Downer had Clarke down on the floor, and when he went in to see what was the matter Downer said, "Get out of here. I am running this house." Another witness, whose attention was drawn to the row, stated that one of the children came running to him, telling him that they were killing one another in the house.

It appears, according to Clarke's story, that the trouble arose over a checker board, which belonged to a grandchild of his, and which his daughter had told him to get. Downer called Clarke a "tittle tattlwe," carrying news from house to house. Clarke then said that it was a d—— lie, whereupon Downer rushed at Clarke, struck him down and choked him.

Downer's story was entirely different. "Clarke came home drunk and was swearing and cursing, calling one of the children a nasty name," said Downer. "I tried to stop him, but he made a slash at me with a knife and I put him down and shook him. There was no swearing. I've put up with him long enough and he won't come near my house again." Downer's story was corroborated by his wife.

His Worship found them guilty and imposed the above fines, stating that he would have made it heavier had they been able to pay.

New Bridge to be Built On the Deer Bay Creek

Deputation From County Council Returns From Inspection of Bridges in the Northern Part of the County.

Reeve Brown of North Monaghan, Reeve Scott and Deputy Reeve Graham of Smith, returned home last evening from an inspection of the bridges in the northern part of the county. Mr. Brown is chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council. They visited the Burleigh bridge, and let the contract of filling in the approaches to Mr. John McFarlane, the work to be done as soon as possible.

In company with Reeve Ingram of Harvey township, the Deer Bay creek bridge was also visited, and it was decided to replace the present structure with a new one in the spring. The present bridge, a wooden one, is in bad repair, and is not in safe condition. The new bridge will also be a wooden one and will be built this spring.

Speaking to the Review, Reeve Scott said that the roads in the north country were in bad condition, the pitch holes being numerous and deep.

Railway Commission to Sit Here on Tuesday, March 17th

City's Applications for Gates at Crossings and Grand Trunk's Request to Construct New Sidings Will be Considered.

City Clerk Armstrong today received word from the secretary of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada that the board would hold a sitting in Peterborough on Tuesday, March 17th. There are several matters to be considered. The city has made application for gates on the Grand Trunk at Reid street and on the CPR where it crosses Aylmer street and has also applied for permission to extend George street over the tracks at Romaine street.

This is the season of the year when

The Grand Trunk Railway has made application to put in two sidings branching off on the east side of their tacks in the vicinity of Wolfe and Dalhousie streets and also for a siding into the Matthews Company's establishment on George street, branching off from the main line near Perry street.

Several other minor matters will also come up before the board.

Any persons who have information that would be of any value to the city in connection with securing gates at the railway crossings indicated above or bearing on the other matters to be considered will confer a favor by communicating with City Clerk Armstrong or City Solicitor Hall. Information as to accidents or narrow escapes at the crossings are asked for and will be especially welcome.

All applications enumerated above were made several months ago.

Purchasers of Tickets are Becoming Somewhat Anxious

The persons who purchased tickets for the Artists' concert which was to have been held on Tuesday evening but which was cancelled, are wondering when they are going to get their money back. It is usual in such cases for the money paid for tickets to be refunded but to date no information has been forthcoming as to the whereabouts of the promoter of the concert who was the man who sold the pasteboards.

It is said that the gentleman in question is out of the city and there seems to be no one in possession of information as to where he has gone or when he will return.

Big Grain Buying Enterprise Is Being Carried on This Winter at Kendry Station

Mr. F. E. Wilson Purchasing Large Quantities of Grain at Higher Prices Than Those Given in Peterboro—Ships to Montreal, Toronto, Quebec and Other Points—Sixteen Teams at the Station at One Time Yesterday.

One of the best known farmers in the county in conversation with the Review today referred to the big grain business being done at Kendry Station by Mr. F. E. Wilson. He is daily receiving big shipments of grain for which he pays higher prices than the dealers and buyers in Peterborough. According to the Review's informant he gave 50 cents per bushel for oats, when 48 cents was the highest price paid here; 68 to 70 cents for barley when 58 cents was the price here; 85c. to $1.00 for wheat when the highest it brought here was 80 and 82 cents.

Big quantities of grain from Mount Pleasant, North and South Monaghan, North and South Cavan, and other points in the vicinity are being received daily, and before the winter is over, Mr. Wilson will have purchased over 1000 loads. What he buys is of good quality, and on account of the prices he offers he has no trouble in securing all the grain he wants. As an example of the big grain purchasing business, Mr. Wilson is doing it might be mentioned that sixteen teams were seen at the station at one time yesterday. Mr. Wilson ships to Montreal, Toronto, Quebec and other places.

All the grain is bought so readily that he finds difficulty in filling the orders.

"Great quantities of grain used to come to Peterborough," said the farmer, who gave the Review the above information, "and now the grain market in this city is by no means a good one. The business of looking into the grain prices here would make an interesting discussion before the Board of Trade."

To Fight Barber Schools; License Law May be Drafted

Union Barbers Considering a Very Important Step—Urged to Get Together in Getting Finances to Carry Out the Measure—Will be Taken Up at Local Meeting on Monday.

Mr. H. M. Gainey, secretary of the local barbers' union has received the following letter which wil explain itself:

Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America,
London, March 3.

Dear Sir and Bro.,—

After due consideration and advice received from different labor men; and also from some of our sister locals, we think it would be advisable to proceed and have Mr. J. O'Donohue labor lawyer, draft out a license law for us and try ad get it passed in Ontario.

We think that this would be the most effective wey with Barber Schools and other shops that make a practice of turning out men, trades men as they say in from two to six months. We think if we can get this law through, as no doubt we can, that prospective learners will think twice before they enter such places and pay their good money to learn a trade in two months, when the law will require them to serve three years before they can apply for a license.

Now brothers, it will cost a little money to get this law drafted up and put through but if we all join together it will be a small item to each Local.

Hoping you will give this matter your earliest possible attention and notify me as to what action you take.

I remain,
Yours fraternally,
J. E. SECKER,
Secy. Local 366

The local barbers' union meet on Monday night at Irwin's barber shop when the matter will be thoroughly discussed.

REPORTS OF TEMPERANCE CONVENTION

Were Presented at City Temperance League Meeting Last Evening

The public meeting of the City Temperance League in the Y.M.C.A. hall last evening was largely attended and an interesting and profitable time was spent. The president of the Association, Rev. J. G. Potter, was in the chair, and after devotional exercises, the delegates to the recent convention of the Ontario Temperance Alliance, held at Toronto, gave verbal reports as to the proceedings during the convention. Rev. A. H. Brace, one of the delegates, was unable to be present last evening, owing to illness. The delegates who spoke last evening were Messrs. T. M. McFadden, G. W. Powell, T. Moore and A. B. Cunningham. They referred to the encouraging progress temperance was making everywhere, and prohibition workers had much to be thankful for. Expressions of gratification were also made at the convention, for the active part business men were taking in the tight against the liquor traffic. One of the leading lumbermen of Ottawa has refused to employ men who drink, and in several other instances employers of labor are folowing similar rules. The general advance temperance is making throughout the Dominion is indeed encouraging. Prince Edward Island is a prohibition province, and in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick local option largely prevails. In Quebec 700 municipalities out of 900 are local option. Ontario is evenly balanced, but within the next year the temperance workers are confident of taking the lead.

At the convention reference was made to the excellent manner in which the Ontario Government enforced the liquor laws, but the convention was strong in its contention that the three-fifths cluse should be removed. It was the general opinion that wherever the liquor traffic prevailed it was a loss to the community.

After the reports had been heard the meeting then adjourned.

Parole System Has Been a Success As Carried Out in the Dominion

Very Small Percentage of Prisoners Released Before Sentences Were Expired Have Gone Back to Lives of Crime--Dominion Parole Officer Archibald Speaks Before Peterborough Canadian Club.

The gospel of another chance for the criminal with the exception of the one who was determined to lead a life of crime, was preached last night before the Canadian Club of Peterborough by Mr. W. P. Archibald, of the Department of Justice, Ottawa, Dominion Parole Officer. Mr. Archibald gave a concise and forcible account of the work of the Department of Justice, with particular reference to the parole system and its effects. It has now been in operation in Canada for eight years and has given splendid satisfaction. It means that all hope is not crushed out of the person convicted of crime. The criminal, or rather the man or woman who has gone astray, is given another chance to begin over again under the most favorable circumstances, and it is a gratifying means that all hope is not crushed feature that the system has resulted in the reformation of hundreds who had fallen and has not resulted in an increase in crime.

The dinner was the third one held by the Club, and took place at the National Hotel. About seventy-five were in attendance and everything passed off most successfully. The dinner was served in an excellent manner and the address of the evening was listened to with the deepest interest. "Modern Methods of Dealing with the Criminal" was Mr. Archibald's subject, and there was not one present who was not benefited by it. In addition to Mr. Archibald, Hon. Senator Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island, was also in attendance, and occupied a seat at the head table along with Mr. Archibald, Mr. F. D. Kerr, the President of the Club; Mr. D. W. Dumble, P.M., and Mr. J. H. Ferguson, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and son of Hon. Senator Ferguson. The vote of thanks to Mr. Archibald was moved by Mr. Dumble, and seconded by Hon. Senator Ferguson.

The speaker of the evening was introduced by Mr. F. D. Kerr in a few appropriate remarks.

After expressing the pleasure that it gave him to be in Peterborough and the honor he felt at being asked to address the Peterborough Canadian Club, Mr. Archibald said that this subject was one of growing importance and of vital importance to the Dominion. A study of the problems and tendencies of crime has become a necessity in the present government of a country. Last year the prison population of the British Empire was 21,500, and according to the last census the number of persons in the prisons of Canada was 1,433. There was no alarming increase in the prison population of Canada, at least during the past five years. Society could not neglect the criminal. His influence was felt in the highest and best homes in the land, and whether we liked it or not the problem of what to do with the criminal had to be considered.

Prison officials have the opportunity of studying the criminal at first hand. They notice his habits and his peculiarities and shape their treatment accordingly. The public does not have an opportunity of studying the criminal in the same manner. They have their opinion of what occurs at the trials or what is published in the daily papers. The speaker referred to the rapid reduction in the number of crimes punished by death during the past century, particularly during the reign of the late Queen Victoria. This had come with the increased enlightenment of the age and had not been followed by an increase of crime. "While it is necessaray to punish, let us correct with that punishment," said Mr. Archibald. 'We cannot make a man good by punishing him alone, but there is that hand which can be laid upon a man and make punishment a corrective agency. This is what is wanted to bring about an improvement in society and to make the world better."

"Ancient treatment of the criminal," the speaker continued, "was such as to cause untold misery and despair. Punishment was all that was looked to; the corrective phase was not given any attention. This did not work out as anticipated. Crime thrived with severe penalties. Crime flourished so much in the Old Country that the prisons were congested and penal colonies had to be established and the transportation system introduced. This had not been satisfactory, either, although there was some merit in the penal colony system, as some men turned over a new leaf and led useful lives in the new environment. But in many cases the change effected no improvement."

"We send the whole man to prison, and we found out we have to deal with the whole man," said Mr. Archibald. Criminals are not all bad or inclined naturally to crime. Many of them fall through accident or from circumstances for which they are not to blame."

Mr Archibald then dealt with the point that the man who had committed a crime was looked down upon by society. He had known judges to be censured by a certain element for showing leniency to persons convicted for various crimes. The judge knew best what to do. The public was not able to pass opinion upon cases about which it did not frequently have all the information.

Regarding prison improvement in Canada in recent years Mr. Archibald said that a change had been introduced in the work. Instead of merely punishing those convicted every effort was made to correct them, and prepare them for another start in the world. The best instructors in the various trades werer secured to instruct those committed to the prisons. If a young man came to the prison without a trade, he was taught one, so that he would be prepared to take up the battle of life when he was liberated. Labor had a beneficial effect upon the prisoners. There was some hope for the the person who went about the task set before them with diligence.

"Work is the law of all human existence," said the speaker. "Man is known by what he does. There is no shame in honest toil. Let us give credit to the man who carries the hod or who digs the sewer in the street. They both honor their manhood and their Creator by being busy."

Mr. Archibald wondered why any man should be in gaol in this country.

No man should ever be a criminal in Canada with its opportunities. No one should fall down when there was so much to live for, such great opportunity for every one.

Attention was also paid to the education of those in the prisons. Many of those sent to prison could not read or write. Education was one of the strong agencies in the reformation of the criminal, and it was given an important place in the prisons and reformatories.

"Then there is the religious side," Mr. Archibald continued. There is the religious side to every man. I do not refer to any sect or denomination. The man or woman who has lost all sense of religion was indeed very low. All honor to the ministers, priests and others who are trying to find that which is good in the man, who visit the penal institutions to hold services and cheer the prisoners. The chaplains of our prisons, although perhaps little known to the public, are doing a great work, just how great no one can estimate."

THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

Coming to the parole system, Mr. Archibald pointed out clearly how it was operated. It was based on the principle that we are not going to crush the man, we're going to try and help him. Briefly explained, the parole system is as follows:

After a person has served a portion of his or her sentence, usually between one half and two-thirds of it, he or she can write to the Department of Justice and request that they be let out on parole. The case is then investigated. The convicting magistrate or judge is written to and his opinion secured; also that of the sheriff or warden of the prison. The parole officer then goes into the matter very fully and if he finds the condiotions warrant it he will release the person who has made application first making every arrangement to see that the prisoner is not left to the world's mercy when he leaves the prison. Friends are looked up, a situation secured and every thing done to help the released one to lead an honorable and industrious life. The person on parole has to report to the police at certain times and if his or her conduct is good, the person is allowed freedom. If the prisoner on parole does not report, the matter is investigated and if there is not good reason for him or her not doing so, the person is sent back to serve out the sentence.

The parole system, Mr. Archibald said, had been in operation in Canada for eight years and during that time only thirty-three had gone back to a life of crime of the 1,643 who had been let out on parole.

Applause greeted this statement.

Sixty had to go back for failure to report, but only thirty-three had returned to a life of crime. This went to show that all those in the gaols and penitentiaries were not criminals. Many of them had fallen by accident or were tempted by circumstances for which they were not responsible.

While it was well to give the criminal every chance to reform, firmness had to be exercised, firmness without crushing out all hope. There was too much laxity in the United States as might be gleaned from the fact that last year there were 240 murders in New York city as compared with twenty-four in London, Eng., with a much greater population. For the twenty-four in London there were twenty convictions, while for the two hundred and forty in New York there were only sixty-five arrests, twenty convictions and two condemned to death.

Mr. Archibald also touched on a certain class of criminals—those who are determined to lead a life of crime. There was not much use trying to do anything with them except keep them in prison. It was almost impossible to cure them. If a man had the smallpox he would not be let out of the isolation hospital until he was cured; it should be the same with the person determined to follow a life of crime. It was too bad for society that they had to be let out of prison when their sentences expired. The speaker also touched on the class of prisoners who will not work, professional beggars, etc. The public should be careful about giving charity. Keep a close watch on the man or woman who was always around with the hand out. Very [illegible] are not deserving.

JUVENILE CRIME.

Speaking of juvenile crime Mr. Archibald said that the germs of criminality were often sown in childhood. Childhood influences were hard to counteract.

To lack of parental control might be ascribed the going astray of many who, if they had been brought up properly, would have become useful citizens. The speaker did not believe that any child was born a criminal. It was the environment of the early years that caused so many to follow paths of evil.

Mr. Archibald refuted the theory that a criminal can be picked out by his looks. There was no shape of head or lines in the face that indicated criminality or that could be taken as a guide. There were thousands outside the prison with similarly shaped heads and similarly shaped lines on their faces to those behind the bars.

In closing Mr. Archibald made a strong plea for the uplifting of the criminal and for a broader spirit of humanity in dealing with the downfallen. Especially was this desirable with criminals of youthful years.

"Let our actions be such," said Mr. Archibald, "that our country shall be known not for its gold, not for its great agricultural wealth, not for its rich mines, not for its great manufacturing industries, and unlimited possibilities, but for its men and women who are its best asset."

VOTE OF THANKS.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Archibald, moved by Mr. Dumble, and seconded by Hon. Senator Ferguson. Mr. Dumble spoke briefly on the treatment of criminals, concurring with what Mr. Archibald had said. He referred to some cases with which he had had to deal recently and by its remarks added considerably to the interest of the subject under discussion.

Hon. Senator Ferguson said he was delighted with the address of the evening. He spoke highly of the work of the Civil Service and said the public had largely a wrong conception of it. If they had heard Mr. Archibald their opinion might be changed. The Civil Service would be even more efficient if it were removed from political influences.

Mr. Archibald acknowledged the vote of thanks and the meeting wound up with the singing of the National Anthem.

DAMAGE AT STONY LAKE

Sir,—I own an island in Stony Lake, which island has been greatly damaged by the raising of the water for Trent Valley purposes. Fully thirty trees in all, which are a part and parcel of the value of the island (for denuded of trees the island loses value,) have been destroyed in the season of 1906-'07. I have complained to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and have several letters from his secretary, all of them put together give me no hope of redress. I know that some islanders have had wharfs built for them and other construction work done by the Government's employees. I had a fifty dollar wharf destroyed, but that is as nothing to the destruction of my beautiful trees.

Mr Friend, Mr. ———, advises me, in a letter received today, to write you on this matter. He will call the attention of the Minister of Railways and Canals to my complaint, which has hitherto been unheeded, and he suggests that being in Peterborough you would likely put the matter before the public in your paper.

Those who have as I am credibly informed had work done are, Knapman, Hamilton, Hall, Collins, East and others, whose names I have not obtained. I understand the work done was through the influence of Mr. Hall, M.P.

No construction work would replace my splendid pines and cedars, Nor would it give me back, when water is kept as high as in 1907, the acres of my island, kept under water, and I paid about $70.00 an acre for that island in 1902.

Yours truly,
THOMAS S. COLE.

Russia is becoming a great buyer of British-grown teas. Partly owing to the enormous increase in the quantity they are using, the price of tea at the gardens has advanced greatly during the past year, making it necessary for the "Salada" Tea Co., in order to maintain the high standard of quality for which "Salada" is noted, to advance the price of "Brown Label" from 25c. to 30c. per pound.

Some Changes in Business Circles at Railroad Town

Special to The Review.

Havelock, March 5—This week sees great changes in many of the business places in town, but it is hoped that the changes will benefit the town in every particular.

Mr. Harrison Wing of town and for several years a commercial traveller for a shoe firm in the west, has purchased the business of McMaster and Oliver at the east end. The store is at present closed for stock taking but on Tuesday, March 10th it will open up again under the new management.

Mr. F. C. Master our east end hardware merchant has seen a great increase in business and has enlarged the firm, and in future will be known as McMaster and Peeling. Mr. A. J. Peeling, the new partner in the firm is an experienced tinsmith and plumber, well known in the surrounding districts.

Mr. R. J. Carnrite has purchased the bakery business of Mr. Job Coon which has been carried on in conjunction with Mr. Coon's store. New machinery and fixtures are at the present being installed, in order to be able to supply the demand for high grade pastry and the bread will be made under the most improved sanitary conditions.

Mr. John Richards, who for the past few years has conducted a livery in town but who has lately sold his business to Mr. Tonergan has left for Frankford, near Stirling, where he will open a hardware store.

His Twenty-Fifth Annual Visit to Peterborough

Geo. Buskin, agent and missionary of the International Evangelical and Colportage Mission is making his 25th annual visit to Peterborough in the behalf of disseminating Biblical literature among the laborers and settlers in the north-west of the Dominion. More than 44,000 copies have been supplied in 23 languages and also large additional numbers have been given and not entered. 80 editions of good instructions books and tracts have been, published by the mission for use in the work in 5 languages and the second part of the Ojibway and English dictionary for the Indians is nearly completed, the two editions costing $1200. Its influence will be for much good. An attempt will be made to obtain aid from the Ontario government, it being educational. The donations of Peterborough last year in behalf of the work was $33.60 which is gratefully acknowledged. The depot is still at 202 King street east, Toronto, Ont.

Heaven and Hell Discussed By Readers of the Review

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I have been reading with interest the letters in your paper on th eheaven and hell question. What is the use of discussing where heaven and hell are when there is a doubt as to whether they really exist? It seems to me that many persons have hell on earth, while personally during my short lifetime, I have had touches of heaven. I don't like this business of calling this earth a rough old place, where the human family has been placed to suffer for a while preparatory to something better or worse to follow. The earth is filled with joy and we should all be partakers thereof.

"The earth is so full of a number of things,
That I'm sure that we all should be as happy as kings."

Yours, etc.,
METHODIST.

HEAVEN AND HELL

To the Editor of the Review;

Dear Sir,—It is interesting to read in your paper, the enquiry concerning Heaven. It is evident that some at least of your readers, and listners to sermons, doubt the authenticity of what is preached, and also, the literal rendering of Heaven is given by St. John in Revelation. It is becoming very plain that nothing but a spiritualization of scripture will satisfy the cravings of humanity. Years ago the writer listened to a story told on the subject of Heaven, which I have always thought a very practical answer to the question where is Heaven. The story was in this way. A clergyman one morning, was just getting into his cutter to be away for the day, when one of his wealthy members haled him, with the question, where is Heaven, he seemed somewhat anxious. However, the clergyman being in a hurry could not, or did not then explain.

But he said, Bro. John ———, you know that lonely widow over the hill yonder, she has a family of small children, she is without fuel, and very poorly clad. Will you be kind enough to take her a load of wood, a bag of flour, some meat and butter out of your storehouse, some groceries, and a pair of boots for each child and invite them to Sunday school. Sit down with them and the mother and read to them the 53 Chap. of Isaiah, and pray with them. I shall be home in the evening, come to my house, and I shall try and you where heaven is.

This man was not considered an active worker in the church, but he followed the rule laid down by the good pastor. On the return of the clergyman he found his inquirier in the yard waiting for him, with eyes beaming with delight, he exclaimed you need not lose your time answering my question. I obeyed, fed the hungry, clothed the poor, and prayed for the sick child, I know now where Heaven is, this has been the happiest day of my life.

Now, Sir, if your inquirers will but try this experiment of practicing what is preached, and written in the Bible, in preaching the Gospel and healing the sick, etc., they may be able to answer their own question. Practice is better than theory.

If they should find more peace and blessedness here by righteous living, they need not trouble about the conditions after getting out of here, for we have been assured by Solomon that, "in the place where the tree falleth, there shall it be," consequently the joy of Heaven will be no less hereafter. Paul says, "it is righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost." I presume he meant everywhere. As for the enquirer concerning hell, we are told like begetteth like, the above pretension reversed will bring the opposite results, anywhere, and everywhere.

"He that doeth not righteousness is not of God." I John, 3;10.

R. J. TODD.

WHERE IS HEAVEN

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I am very much interested in the correspondence on Heaven indeed. We hope that some of your correspondents will be good enough to tell us where Heaven is, or if there is any authority for saying where it is. As to where it is, I do not suppose we can at present understand. Hell is too dreadful to think about, and we need not bother about it, as we do not intend to go there. Thanking you.

Yours, &c.,

'Twas Hard on the Poor Girls

These Two Young Men Must Have Been Quitters

On Sunday last two young men passed through the village on their way to a certain residence in Douro, where two young ladies were visiting, and whom they had promised to take back to their homes in Peterborough. The day was very stormy and the roads in bad shape, but the young men managed to reach within a mile or so of their destination when they became discouraged at the condition of the roads and returned to Peterborough. The young ladies drove to the village on Monday and boarded the train for their homes in Peterborough.—Lakefield News.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL In Your Spare Time at Home

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers any you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirtwaist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

Write for particulars.

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1908.

A GREAT CHANGE

Now that the smoke of battle is cleared away in New Brunswick, the forces of Mr. J. D. Hazen, the new Conservative premier, are attending to the burial of the Liberal dead. In a house of 44, there are now ten Liberals, just enough to swear by. But this must be said in their favor, they acknowledge defeat and everywhere there is either open or secret rejoicing that Mr. Pugsley, the successor of Mr. Emmerson, the successor of Mr. Blair, has met the reward which he so richly deserves. Mr. Robinson the late premier, has suffered not only for his own sins but for those of the minister of railways and canals as well.

It will always be to the honor of the New Brunswick electorate that it refused to be bribed by federal promises, which to the extent of some thirty millions of dollars, were made to it before and on the eve of the late election. A great wave of protest is breaking against the system of government by corruption and against an immigration policy which will be sooner or later the utter ruin of a nation's heritage hewn from the wilderness by noble sires to be wasted by the greed and duplicity of those who prefer power and patronage, and the accommodation of wealth to the honor of their country and the well-being of its people.

ENFORCE THE LAWS

There is nothing, it is said, more god-like in the human race than patience under injustice. The following extract from the Globe calls attention to an instance of that character. It is a pleasure to note that passion and fanaticism do not describe all foreigners of Southern European extraction. The government should look up this case of the Hungarians and set the machinery of law going. The day of Red Tape has gone by. What we want is justice, or as near to it as we can get. Doubtful cases may be passed over excusably, but not such cases as that of last summer at Orangeville, or the one now under discussion. There is a lack of legal sympathy, if we may use the term in such cases, which is in no sense either commendable or wise:

"The case of the Hungarians who tramped from one hundred miles north of Cobalt after, as they allege, being unfairly dealt with, shows that the law should be so reformed as to be available for such men. If their story is true, we must stand the reproach of being a barbarous country in which justice must be bought."

HOME INFLUENCES

The tendency of the times is altogether too much towards leaving to the State what should be done at home. The moulding of the young is one of the most delicate and vital of all human responsibilities. To neglect encouragement of domestic life in its best and purest sense is a crime so great that it is worse than murder, for it is the cause of many murders. Why is it that home life has so degenerated in the last quarter of a century? Some say because the means of communication and correspondence have become so cheap and easy that the young seen fall into the vice, for that is what it becomes, of rushing out into the highways and coming together in places of meeting and of loafing, to the utter neglect of selfrestraint and of the virtues of home-life. Irreverence and disobedience are the godfathers of crime. The will of a boy must be guided. It must neither be broken itself or break that of others. All these are elementary truths but that does not prevent their being neglected. Vice is a creature of such frightful mien that to be hated needs but to be seen, but often seen familiar with its face, at first we pity, then endure and then—embrace. This slight alteration of the poet's words expresses, we submit, the correct idea of the condition of the very young who shrink at first, at last learn to embrace a life of crime. Many of these present day fancy schemes for saving the young, have two fundamental faults. They begin in the wrong place and at the wrong time. Under normal conditions every home broadly speaking, might be happy or at any rate, pure. The pleasure of poverty should be the sole cause of wrong-doing. Hence if we provide work or an honest means of earning a livelihood, or where necessary, assistance we have provided against the one uncontrollable enemy of domestic purity. When this has been seen to it remains for the heads of the family or their substitutes to do their duty. For the observance of this duty there can be no alternative. Rescues, shelters, paroles, reforms, aids, and contrivances of every sort are comparatively useless. The great bulk of the damage has been already done. Those familiar with child life blame the homes first and last for crime and criminal tendencies. Unless this is realized private life soon becomes a public shame. Arithmetic is not the food upon which the soul, or if you wish it, the mind feeds. There is something more in life than that. If we have discovered it why can we not apply it?

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Prof. William Clark announces a lecture on "The Ancient Mariner." It is not known whether he intends to speak on Admiral Dan McGillicuddy or Cap. Sullivan."—This is cruel.

We have known ministers even, in this riding, treat bribery as a reprehensible but somewhat amusing thing especially if openly and shamelessly avowed, which may be attributed to a confusion of ideas.

Slowly but surely the practice of swearing in public places is being done away with by the order of companies or the requirements of the law. It is a custom without one redeeming feature but age and that is now to be denied it.

In the result in New Brunswick Mr. Pugsley will find no comfort, and the lesson for the Ottawa Government is significant. — Toronto News.

While reading the above the Examiner might think of its answer to our repeated question, "Are you in favor of a bare majority in local option?"

"(1) Bribery destroys in the electorate any healthy sense of political responsibility. (2) It defrauds the incorruptible voter of his just political influence. (3) It puts a stain on party victories and political honors. (4) It places an unwelcome financial burden upon candidates. (5) It leads to the rake-off in public contracts, the evil use of patronage and the expense of graft. (6) It makes it possible for combinations of wealth, native or foreign, to influence public policy. (7) It produces an evil contagion which easily spreads from the polling booth to the legislative hall."

This is the prospectus of the non-partisan anti-corruption league of Westmoreland, New Brunswick, which did good work recently. A league for West Peterborough might do some good.

As an Ontario Liberal my sympathies are heartily with the Liberals of every province of the Dominion. I offer, therefore, to the Liberals of New Brunswick, all the best wishes and good hopes for their signal success in the present contest.

(Signed) A. B. AYLESWORTH.

In this language Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice at Ottawa, telegraphed the people of New Brunswick last Saturday. After the New Brunswickers had read the telegram they proceeded to cast their ballot, with the result that the Liberal majority of 26, was turned into a Conservative majority of 24. Mr. Aylesworth will be much in request at future provincial elections. The Conservatives will be eager to get him to telegraph his best wishes to their opponents.—The Mail and Empire.

If there was ever a flat contradiction of the Globe's statement that there were no party divisions in New Brunswick, and no federal interference, here it is. Doubtless over-confidence has betrayed that newspaper into its present silly position, but it all goes to show that if they don't look out people will not believe anything that the Liberal leaders and Liberal organs may say in the future. New Brunswick was a crusher and no mistake.

FROM HANSARD

"Mr. Lancaster.—But we have not heard one word from the Minister as to his opinion of the merits of the motion. I was not sent to this House to get into any comedies or any farces if I could help it. I represent people who vote against me well as those who vote for me, and I say publicly to the Minister of Finance (Mr. Fielding) that in the county of Lincoln he would not get ten Liberals to subscribe to the principles he has stated upon the floor of this House to-night. He says the majority of this House are to determine the sufficiency of the reasons and will not say that in his opinion the reasons given by an hon. gentleman for moving for original papers, but he will not say what he as one of the majority thinks of the sufficiency of these reasons, and will not say that in his opinion the reasons given are not good and amply sufficient. He is asking his majority to vote to sustain the position taken by his leader and himself without one word of opinion from him as to whether the documents should be brought down on the merits of the case and he is practically disfranchising all the people represented in this House not only by the members on this side, but by about 110 members on the opposite side who are not members of the Government. Do the people of this country who are represented by either supporters or opponents of the Government not want the information that the public documents of this country contain? Is the Minister of Finance going to seriously carry out what he has indicated here, whether as a threat or as a mere notice of policy, that we are to go crawling to him upon our knees as representing the people of this country, to see what we have a right to see of the public documents? As one member of this House although I am willing to be courteous and polite—and I have always been treated with courtesy and politeness by him—if he is now giving me notice that when I have occasion as representing my constituents to enquire into any matter, desiring to do so on behalf of both sides because some decent Liberals want to know hwat the truth is about the affairs of the country. I want to tell the Minister of Finance who says that the hon. gentleman (Mr. Ames) could have got his information if he had ben more courteous or time-serving or humble or crawling to the hon. gentleman and had not demanded this as a matter of right, that I will demand information in such a case, not as a matter of courtesy or of grace or of favour from the Government, but as a matter of right.

It has been said: Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. Sir, this Government has been treated very leniently by the people of this country. Ever since 1896 they have been charitably; yea, more than charitably, treated by the electors of Canada. They have been lalowed to break every pledge they ever made, to set at defiance every principle they ever announced, and now, on top of all of that, and even a short time before a general election they have the madness—it can be hardly called anything else—to come before the people and say: We will not allow you to see the documents which you have paid for—and which you own unless some member of this House comes to us—crawls to us in servile fashion—and submits a humble request for our consideration. One must wax warm on this subject. It is a matter that goes to the root of our constitution, to Magna Charta itself. Does the right hon. Prime Minister want us to send a petition to the King's representative to ask for a new constitution? For we have understood that, when a Government is chosen in this country, it is chosen as a body of trustees for the people. Why, Mr. Speaker, the Minister of Finance (Mr. Fielding) does not own the documents which he wishes us to ask for so humbly. He may think he does, but at the first opportunity the people have they will tell him that he is wrong. And that wrong is not to be set right by quoting a sentence here and there from May or from Bourinot. These sentences are not to be understood if taken alone. They must be read reasonably in the light of the constitution which is the foundation of the Parliament. I reiterate that the Government is the trustee of these documents, and that, as trustee, they must allow the peoples' representatives to have access to them at all reasonable hours.

"Mr. R. L. Borden—The Prime Minister is not giving a fair answer. I say that not in an offensive way, but I want to keep to the point. Let us not talk of general reasons, but of reasons I have read. I ask the right hon. gentleman: If these reasons had been given in the opening speech of the hon. member, would not that be a justification?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—I would go further. I say unhesitatingly that, when a member comes forward and says I could not get the information from the copies and I want to have the originals, that seems a fair and good reason for that course. But that is not the position that was taken then. I go further than the hon gentleman (Mr. R. L. Borden.)

'As a rule, when a motion for papers is made we do not challenge the motive of the members making it, but if the motion is challenged, and we say there is no good reason for bringing down the papers, then it is for the member to give reasons which will satisfy the House.'"

That is exactly what the hon. member for St. Antoine did. Let us assume that he gave no reason in the first instance—I do not agree that he did not, but let it be assumed for the sake of the argument. His motion was challenged, and then to use the words of the Prime Minister, he gave his reasons in the concluding speech. He met every condition raised, from first to last, by the Prime Minister, he gave his reasons in the concluding speech. He met every condition raised, from first to last, by the Prime Minister in regard to this case—every possible condition—And, further on, the Prime Minister says;

"For my part, the moment a member gives a good reason for the production of papers, the production of the papers should take place."

If my hon. friend (Mr. Ames) did not give good reason in the first instance, he did give good reasons in his concluding speech, to which speech the Prime Minister has not taken, and cannot take, any exception. Then, why are we delaying? Why are the Government obstructing the business of the House by the non-production of these documents? What does it all amount to? Here are nine pages out of 453. We have been debating the matter for three or four days. But in five minutes my hon. friend from St. Antoine could go to the Department of the Interior and examine these documents or in fifteen minutes, the documents could be ordered from the department and laid on the table and my hon. friend could look at them and satisfy his mind with regard to them, and we could resume the business of the House. What is all this disturbance? Why do the Government deny this right, when, in the words of the Prime Minister, it should be granted to every member who declares that he desires to see these documents in the public interest. The hon. gentleman (Mr. Ames) has declared that—he has declared that—he has declared it over and over again. He declared it the other day twice, first in his opening speech and then, with more elaborate reasons and in greater detail, in his closing speech. He declared it today in the presence of the Prime Minister. Well, we have these admissions, by the Prime Minister on behalf of the Government, of the principle, but we have exactly the opposite course of action in their dealing with the hon. member (Mr. Ames). I think that under the circumstances, my right hon. friend (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) should read over the debate and consider the principles he has laid down, and see whether, after all, he does not come to the conclusion that what has been Claimed here is the right of an individual member of parliament, asserted before his fellow members, asserted, according to constitutional principles and the law and usages of parliament, a right which has been denied without any sense of fairness or any pretense of adherence to those principles which have governed parliaments ever since parliaments first were known.

Good Home Made Bladder Cure

Old Folks Who Suffer Find Prompt Relief in Simple Home Mixture

Here is a prescription that any one can mix at home. Any good prescription pharmacy can supply the ingredients named at little cost; being composed of vegetable extracts, it is harmless and inexpensive. Best of all it does its work well, relieving even the worst forms of bladder trouble, frequent urination, backache, kidney complaint, and by its direct action upon the eliminative tissue of the kidneys, makes these most vital organs rid the blood and system of waste matter and uric acid which causes rheumatism.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist is authority for the statement that one week's use shows good results in nearly every instance, and such symptoms as lame back, frequent desire to urinate, pain in bladder and even chronic rheumatism are generally relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

The St. John's Mission will open on next Sunday morning, the 8th and continue for ten days until Wednesday the 18th. Extensive preparations have been made, all the departments of the work being fully organized and considerable public interest has been aroused in the matter. In connection with the Mission an important meeting of men interested in the work will be held in St. John's Guild room at 8 o'clock tonight.

Rev W. B. Heeney of Barrie will arrive tomorrow evening and take charge of the work on Sunday morning.

The Mission for the next two Sundays will supersede all arrangements in connection with the ordinary services.

Rev. C. E. Wilkinson, ordained on Sunday last has been added to the staff of missioners and has already begun work. Public notice of this was given last Wednesday evening at St. John's.

Fittingly Remembered

Presentation and Address to Mr. Richard Holland of Laymen Evangelical Association

A happy presentation took place on Wednesday afternoon, March 4th, at the house of Mr. Richard Holland, a member of the Peterborough Laymen's Association, who is about to leave Peterborough for Alberta. The president, ex-president and secretary of the association, called to express their regrets, when the following address was read, and a beautiful copy of the Holy Bible presented to Mr. Holland as a token of remembrance when he is far away;

Dear Br. Holland,—

It is with feelings of deep regret that in our gathering tonight we must say farewell to you, one of the oldest members of our Laymen's Evangelican Association.

Yet, when we look back and remember your work in our association for the last 28 years, your earnest appeals to the unsaved, the times when we stood side by side against opposing influences, and times when our voices were mingled with those of new born souls, our feelings are those of joy and gratitude. It is a world of change. Men must come and must go, but we hope dear brother our loss will be others gain.

Fail not wherever you are to remember our laymen's creed, expressed by the three R.s., and proclaim it wherever you are found. As a reminder of happy days gone by, and as a source of strength in failing years. Please accept this copy of God's Word, the life-giving bread, as a small token of friendship from those who remain.

Signed on behalf of the association;

Joseph Batten,
William Might.
Isaac Richardson.

In reply Mr. Holland opening the Book just received, said; "Let me read the 23 Psalm," which he did with a full heart, as he said, "These are my feelings at this moment, and no gift in this world would be more acceptable," emphasizing the sentence, "My cup runneth over."

Other Bibles had been given him, and been read with profit, but this with its clear type would not be read and may be very useful in a new home, where churches and ministers are far away.

The above presentation was arranged to take place at the association meeting last Monday evening, March 2nd, but Mr. Holland was not well enough to be present.

New Classical Master Secured

Mr. J. A. Freeman Accepts Position at Port Hope

Port Hope, March 6.—The efforts of the High School Board to obtain a classical master have at last borne fruit.

Mr. J. A. Freeman, B.A., principal of the Fergus High School has accepted the position and will commence his duties here at the close of the Easter holidays.

Mr. Freeman is spoken of as an excellent teacher. He is an honor graduate of Toronto University, and a specialist in classics. Mr. Freeman was for nine years principal of Waterton High School.

Will Start Show if He Can Get Sufficient Light

Mr. Edwards of the Crystal Says That Was the Only Obstacle He Encountered in Campbellford—Has Secured Option on Store—An Enormous Tax on the Power Plant.

Campbelford is to have a moving picture entertainment—that is if Mr. W. A. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, finds it possible to secure sufficient light for ilumination purposes. The power plant at Campbelford is taxed to its utmost, and even for the store in which Mr. Edwards intends to establish his entertainment, it is a question of doubt as to where he will be able to get enough light for the place.

The matter of supplying motive power for a picture machine with electricity is altogether out of the question, and if the show is started there gas will have to be used instead.

There is no place of entertainment in Campbelford, and the business men and citizens generally are of the opinion that a moving picture show is just what is needed.

Mr. Edwards has an option on a suitable place, and if it were not for the difficulty referred to above, would commence the work of fitting it up immediately. He says if he did have the lighting system installed under prevailing conditions, the lights would be so dim that they would afford practically no light whatever. Mayor Doxsee, of Campbellford, informed him that the only way he knew of to have the necessary light supplied was to have some of the owners of private dwellings consent to have a light or two removed from their houses. Everybody wants electric light in the flourishing little town, and the new power house will be warmly walcomed by the citizens.

Mrs. Scott-Raff Delights Her Audience; a Splendid Concert

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the Charlotte street Methodist church will very fully justify its existence if it is as successful in attaining the object for which it is organized, as it was last night in providing a delightful entertainment. The recital given under its auspices last night in the handsome school room, was a great success, especially in point of attendance, and also in the merit of varied musical and elocutionary programme so artistically presented. In the effective adornment of the hall, feminine taste was very strikingly in evidence. Above the rear wall of the platform was a very tasteful drapery of the most beautiful flags in existence, and the platform was decorated with Japanese screens and palms.

The programme prefaced with brief prayers by the pastor of the church, Rev. H. M. Manning, was opened by a sparkling piano solo, performed with spirited skill by Miss Estelle Foy of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music.

The bulk of the programme, however, was furnished by the skilful reader, Mrs. Scott-Raff of the Margaret Eaton School of Expression, Toronto, whose graceful and refined platform presence was complimentary to the graceful refinement of her elocutionary method and manner. Her style is quite and subdued, and marked by classical refinement, in selection of theme as well as presentation. Her first number—the prologue—consisted of a triple group of subjects of sweep simplicity and tender beauty, by two gifted Canadian singers, Jean Blewett and Ethelwyn Wetherald. It was in her third number, character studies, "the Revolt of Mother," and "the Lullaby," that Mrs. Scott-Raff demonstrated the skill of her refined mimicry, and charmingly tender pathos. She concluded her contributions, by the masterly reading, the "Hour Glass," a beautiful parable by W. B. Yeats, and epilogue, Kipling's "L'Envoi."

Miss Irene Mowry sang with much success a soprano solo, Mullens "Afterward," and Miss Lizzie Irwin followed by a tastefully performed violin solo. Mr. Mortimer Johnston, sang a rollicking war song in so spirited a manner, that he was compelled to respond to an encore, singing with equal success another delightful selection.

Interesting Letter From a Recent Settler in Alberta—Fine Weather and Good Water—A Fine View of the Rocky Mountains—Coal in Plenty.

We are indebted to Mr. John E. Belcher, C.E., for the following interesting description of life in Alberta. It may be of service to those intending to go there.:

"I did write you a letter which should have reached you early in the New Year conveying all sorts of good wishes to you and the ladies of your family and giving an account of our experiences in the wild and woolly west. I am sorry it was sent from you at the moment of receipt. But I will try and give you the gist of it now. I suppose you got a letter from me about July last.

"We have settled down here quite comfortably and are well satisfied with our quarters. The shack is well built and keeps us snug and warm. It is 30 ft. by 20 ft. and 8 ft. high at the eaves, and consists of a living room 18x20 and two bed rooms which are ceiled with planks and the boys roost over head. We are just going to build an addition for kitchen and more bed rooms. The boys too, are building shacks on their several quarters—the one we are on at present is William's. John's quarter is about two miles off, across the river, and is a fairly good location, having a creek on it, and is pretty easy to clear. He is going in for cattle-dairying. We hope to have about 20 or 30 acres under crop this year, and with luck, are looking forward to having made a good start.

"Did you see a notice in the papers last fall that a Bill was to be introduced into Parliament for a railway from a point on the Calgary to Edmonton line between Olds and Reed Deer to the Rocky mountain House at the junction of the Clearwater and Saskatchewan rivers? It is to follow the valleys of the Red Deer, Raven and Clearwater rivers, so that will bring it into our immediate neighborhood and will send up the value of land immensely. Our timber is mostly small poplar, so that the clearing is not too toilsome and we have no muskeg, though there is some here and there in the vicinity. Coal of good quality has been found close by, so we shall be well off for fuel. We had rather a wet summer and a snow storm set in on September 8th and lasted a week, but except for that we have had a perfect winter. We had snow again rather heavily on December 13 and 14, and then fine till about a week ago, when more snow fell and a cold wind sprang up. In the interim it was glorious the days being sunny and warm with no wind although the nights have been very cold—35 degrees below on one occasion and mostly below zero. The day temperature has been as high as 82 degrees in the sun. So you see this is a very mild winter, as was foretold by the snowstorm in September. I have not worn an overcoat all winter but then I have not been out at night at all, nor have I been out to the store. John is going to drive into Innisfail on Monday and will post this there. We have got all our furniture out here now. It was warehoused in Innisfail about 60 miles away until we heard there had been a fire at the place where it was stored, about the beginning of December, so the two eldest boys went in to bring out all that was left there. We were relieved to find that very little had been damaged, and that the piano was uninjured. This last bore the journey over the trail very well and was in good tune when it landed here. The first piano on the Clearwater. One thing that strikes one out here is the intense stillness—not a sound is to be heard and not a twig seems to move. The ice on the river is about 2 1-2 feet thick, and our water hole is kept free from ice with difficulty. We get grand views of the mountains in the distance and are thinking of re building our house on higher ground on purpose to get the view. This present house is in the valley and we do not get the mountains from here but it is convenient for the water, which is of the utmost purity. I really think I have drunk more cold water since I have been here than I have in all my life before. There is no getting any 'John Jamieson' or 'Imperial' out here, but I do not miss it. I had a wee drappie on Christmas Day. We had a fine spread on that occasion—a fine sirloin of beef with a prairie chicken—tell it not in Goth—for my wife. Plum pudding and mince pies and nuts and raisins for dessert. We laid in a good stock of meat for the winter—a beef, a mutton, and two porks—of which we have about half a beef and half a pork left. It is hanging on a beam between two trees, wrapped up in sacking to keep off the camp robbers. Game is not very plentiful here this year, so we have no venison, but a neighbor of ours, about ten miles away had some steaks from a bear that had been shot by a friend of his. We have not been troubled by coyotes at all, though we hear of them being seen in the vicinity. Our stock now consists of five horses—two mares,—2 cows and 2 calves and we hope for natural increase in the spring.

"I was sorry to hear you had such bad specimens of Englishmen in Peterborough. They evidently belong to the Ergophobists, or workshy class who I am afraid are increasing at home, owing to the teachings of the Socialists 'et hoc genus omne.' Jane will be going home for a while next fall and perhaps my wife and I will go with her, as we think the boys will be able by that time to rub along alone, but we shall be coming out again.

"With kind regards to all at Edinbro street in which the whole family join."

Yours, etc.

MARCH CANADIAN MAGAZINE

The Canadian Magazine for March contains a valuable article, well illustrated, entitled "Prince Rupert," by Cy Warman, the well-known author and journalist. The number contains also an important contribution in the shape of some unpublished letters of Governor Simcoe, with comment by Mr. W. R. Givens. The tercentenial celebration of the founding of Quebec by Champlain is observed with a review by Miss Ida Burwash, entitled "Champlain's last Journal." The number contains also the following contributions: "The McBains," and excellent short story by Mrs. Leeming Carr, a Hamilton lady, author of "Cupid and the Candidate;" "The Duck Hunters," by Bonycastle Dale; "The Disillusionment of Dodge," by Augustus Bridle; "Northern Types," by Clifford H. Easton, and "Plays of the Season'," by John E. Webber.

For the first time in twenty-five years, the revenue receipts of the inland revenue office, London, fell below $1,000 per day for the first ten days in February.

A Great Impetus to Y.M.C.A. Athletics; Splendid Meeting Last Night in Assembly Hall

Committees for Lacrosse, Baseball, Association Football and Lawn Tennis Were Formed—Petition to Directors Concerning the Introduction of Billiards and Bowling—Mr. H. R. H. Kenner in the Chair—An Enthusiastic Gathering.

New life has been instilled into the Peterborough branch of the Y.M.C.A. A great forward movement has begun. The young men of the Association are behind this movement, which is just in the nucleus, but which will beyond a doubt be pushed forward with all the vigor and energy of which the enthusiastic members are capable. For a long time it has been realized that something was lacking in the Y.M.C.A. That something is probably more concisely expressed in the one word enthusiasm. The lack of enthusiasm in all departments has been plainly evident. There is no getting over the fact that things have not been running along as lively as they should have done, and this matter was very thoroughly gone into at the members' banquet held in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium a short time ago. At that function the members and directors had a useful conference as to what was best to be done to make the local Association building more attractive and thus obtain a larger membership roll and also as to other legitimate and profitable ways of increasing the number of members.

There can be no argument against the statement that there is no reason why Peterborough shouldn't have one of the most flourishing Associations in the Province. All that has been needed has been the systematic co-operation of its members towards carrying out the work. They apparently have fully realized the necessity of getting the machinery into motion, and if what they plan is carried into effect there seems no reason why the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. shouldn't be one of the most popular factors for good in the city. A young man is naturally interested in athletics and games of various kinds. If this section of the Association work is made a success there would be, it would seem, no reason why the other departments would not be in a healthier condition.

A SPLENDID MEETING.

A very encouraging meeting was held in the assembly hall of the "Y" last night, when the advisability of forming baseball, lacrosse and Association football clubs were discussed and committees appointed to look after the formation of the different clubs. The question of the installation of bowling alleys and pool and billiard tables was also given the fullest consideration. All present showed great interest in the proceedings and the meeting was the largest one of Y.M.C.A. members that has been held here for some time.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner occupied the chair and called upon Mr. E. M. Best to explain the object of the meeting. The latter said his idea of the meeting was that it was called, not to form different athletic organizations, but to appoint committees to look after their formation. After Mr. Best's remarks Mr. George Robertson was appointed secretary of the meeting.

COMMITTEES CHOSEN.

It was moved by Mr. P. Kerr and seconded by Mr. J. D. Clarke, that a baseball club be organized and that the committee for the purpose of looking after the organization of the club consist of Messrs. Chris. Graham, E. Best and A. Froude. The selection of the committee met with the approval of the meeting and they were unanimously appointed. They were given fully authority, like the other committees chosen, to look after the formation of the club and report at a subsequent meeting.

On motion of Messrs. Roy Turner and J. Laing the following lacrosse committee was chosen;—Messrs. W. E. Wasson, G. Robertson and W. Galley.

The Association football committee elected was Messrs. R. Baker, C. E. Sisson and B. T. Huston. It was moved by Messrs. George Martin and [illegible] be the committee.

The question of having the lawn tennis courts put into shape for next season was brought up by W. Wood. All thought a lawn tennis club should be formed and suggested Messrs. E. A. Poe, R. F. McWilliams and J. D. Clarke as a committee for the lawn tennis club. The motion was seconded by Mr. J. E. Oles and was carried.

POOL, BILLIARDS AND BOWLING

Mr. Kenner said that the question of the discussion of indoor amusements was in order.

Mr. C. E. Sisson spoke for some length on this important part of the Y.M.C.A. work and heartily supporting the idea of introducing bowling and billiards.

Mr. E. A. Poe endorsed Mr. Sisson's stand. He said the expense involved in the establishment of bowling alleys and billiards would amount to $2,000, but stated the venture should prove a paying one on account of the substantial returns. It also had the effect of attracting many members and there was a need of making the local Y.M.C.A. building more attractive. The T.A.S. are trying to get a membership of 1,000, why should not the Y.M.C.A. do the same? He thought steps should be taken to see if the directors couldn't be prevailed upon to introduce billiards and bowling.

Mr. J. D. Clarke was in favor of introducing bowling and billiards and also pool. The latter was a more popular game than billiards, and easier to play.

Ex-Mayor McWilliams concurred with the previous speakers. He said the scope of the Y.M.C.A. should be widened. This should be urged upon the directors.

A PETITION.

It was moved by Mr. R. F. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. B. A. Lillie, that in the opinion of the members present at this meeting, the interests of the Young Men's Christian Association would be greatly advanced by the introduction of certain games of skill, particularly by the furnishing of bowling alleys and billiard tables, and that these games should be procured without delay.

That in order to strengthen the hands of the directors of the association in meeting these needs a petition asking for these improvements be circulated among the members of the association, and that the following be a committee to present this petition to the directors at their next meeting;—Messrs. Sisson, Poe, Cook, Lillie, and Middleton. This motion was carried unanimously.

The petition is as follows;

To the Board of Directors, Peterborough Y.M.C.A.;—

The undersigned, being members of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A., respectfully submit the following petition;

Whereas, we are of the opinion that this Y.M.C.A. has for a number of years fallen very far short of serving the purpose for which it was formed.

And whereas, we are strongly of the opinion that the installation of bowling alleys and billiard tables would very materially assist in placing the association in a prosperous and useful condition.

Therefore, we do earnestly request that the Board of Directors take immediate action in this matter, and we further pledge them our hearty and united support in making use of this equipment, to place the Peterborough Association in that position of influence in the community which it should rightfully fill.

Mr. C. E. Coleman spoke in favor of having the games under discussion introduced.

Mr. R. J. Sixden said, "he had done those things which he ought not to have done and left undone those things which he ought to have done." This was in connection with the work of the Y.M.C.A., since he had been in Peterborough. But he said he would not do so from now on. He was willing to help in the matter of finance and would do all he could to help along the good work.

MARKET GARDENS.

A feature of the recent annual meeting of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture was a visit to the market gardens of Warren W. Rawson in Arlington. The magnitude of the scale on which this work is being conducted is a revelation to one coming from the west. The plant covers some forty acres of ground. The greenhouses cover about eight acres. Some of them inclose half an acre and some are smaller.

At the present time lettuce is being grown in these greenhouses to a greater extent than any other garden plant. It is certainly a novel and pleasing sight to walk into a greenhouse covering half an acre on a cold day in December in which are growing in the most perfect form some 36,000 plants of lettuce, approaching that stage which fits them for being marketed. The vigorous and healthy appearance of the plants formed a picture that was particularly pleasing. The most perfect order is observed in planting them, so that when fully grown the ground is completely occupied. The plants are kept entirely free from the growth of weeds of any kind. Some three crops of lettuce are grown in some of these greenhouses in one year, and also a crop of cucumbers in addition. In other houses such products as parsley were being grown. The visitors were also shown immense beds in which celery was stored away for winter use. These beds were covered with a protecting roof, which was elevated two or three feet above the lettuce, and over these was a light covering of waste litter.

The productive power of land thus utilized is very great. Just imagine 36,000 plants growing on half an acre of land! When these plants are sold they fetch 50 cents to $1.50 per dozen, according to the condition of the market. Of course the expense of growing and marketing them must be very considerable, but there can be no question about the marked profit that must come from growing these products on a scale so large, writes Professor Shaw in New England Homestead.

CURL LEAF.

Spraying For Control of This Disease of the Peach.

A very important complication must be considered in spraying for blight control. This is the occurrence of another peach disease, the curl leaf. The effects of this trouble are too well known in California to need description. The control of the disease is very successfully accomplished by spraying in February or March, just before the buds unfold, but a time which is too late for blight prevention.

Treatments Given.

In the experience of 1905 the one fall spraying controlled both diseases—a most satisfactory condition. In the spring of 1907, however, a very virulent attack of curl leaf occurred, especially in the lower Sacramento valley, while the blight fungus proved somewhat less active than in the previous season.

The result of this attack is plainly shown by the results of spraying—viz, that the November or December application did not entirely hold the curl leaf in check, although as successful as before with the blight. Consequently some orchards sprayed properly and successfully for blight were badly injured by curl leaf, while others sprayed later were protected from curl leaf.

All that had been expected of the blight treatment held good when its effects were differentiated from those of the other disease, but the necessity of two sprayings rather than one for the positive control of both diseases has become evident.

Prune if possible before spraying, but do not delay the work on account of pruning.

It is recommended by the California experiment station to spray again for the prevention of curl leaf about Feb. 15, or just before the buds open, with bordeaux, 20-20-200, or lime, salt and sulphur.

The Albemarle Pippin.

The apple which has made Virginia famous at home and abroad is the Yellow Newtown, otherwise known as the Albemarle Pippin.

Whether pomologists accept the name Albemarle Pippin or persist in calling this apple the Yellow Newtown makes little difference, for it will always be known by Virginians and in the trade by the name of Albemarle Pippin. The high state of perfection attained by this apple fully merits this distinction and the almost fabulous prices often received for it. It is not usual for our growers to sell their fruit for $10 per barrel, and sometimes it brings as much as $12, $15 and even $20 per barrel, about two to three times as much as the average red apple.—Professor J. S. Phillips.

Sugar Beets.

In all cases but one at the Wisconsin experiment station the largest yields of beets and of sugar were obtained on plats receiving a complete fertilizer, with barnyard manure standing next as the cheapest application. Lime applied at the rate of 1,000 pounds per acre produced a beneficial effect on a number of fields, and in one instance a heavy clay soil required a double application to increase the yield of beets and sugar.

As a Dairy State.

California has a soil and climate so varied that all fruits, both deciduous and citrus, can be grown to perfection. All kinds of cereals are grown with success. California has also great possibilities as a dairy state.

THROW AWAY LINIMENTS

Here's the Prescription to Cure Rheumatism.

Liniments only reach the skin and the muscles directly under the skin. Now, liniments can't cure Rheumatism. They simply deaden the nerves for a time. When the effect wears away, the pain returns worse than ever.

If the bowels do not move regularly—if the kidneys are strained or weak—if the skin is dry or harsh—the blood is sure to be filled with impurities or urea. This urea is changed into uric acid which is the poison that causes rheumatism.

Now, the only possible way to cure Rheumatism is to prevent uric acid from being formed. Logically, the only way to do this is to keep kidneys, bowels and skin in good working order, and prevent the stomach from being too acid. And the only way to do this is to take "Fruit-a-tives."

These marvelous tablets of fruit juices and tonics act directly on the three great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys and skin—and put them in perfect condition. That is the only secret of their great success in curing rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

Merchant Brutally Assaulted.

Montreal, March 7.—James Watterson, of the firm of J. Watterson & Co., commission merchants, was held up and brutally assaulted while on his way to his home on Roslyn avenue, Westmount.

The man came up behind, struck a vicious blow at Mr. Watterson, rendering him completely unconscious. This took place within a few yards of the victim's own doorstep. His senseless form was discovered by several young men who were returning to their homes after a hockey match, the assailant having evidently been frightened away by their approach.

Floods In Toledo.

Toledo, Ohio, March 7.—The Maumee River has become a raging torrent, and yesterday ice caught a steel boat and jammed it into the bridge connecting the two sections of the city, moving the bridge out of position and stopping all traffic. Streets and cellars in streets near the river are flooded, and water now rising. A span is gone out of the bridge across the Maumee as a result of the jam. The men on the big steel boat were saved after a heroic struggle.

Want to Jail For Hire.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 7.—According to a statement made by Wm. Lawson of this city, he agreed to become a prisoner in the Lehigh County jail for thirty days for $90.

Lawson's mother had a warrant issued for the arrest of A. E. Swarts of Allentown, Pa., who, she claims hired her son to go to jail that he might save $500, which was a bond given for the appearance of another man named Elmer Fry, alias Freeman, convicted of perjury. After his release Lawson only got $26.

To Make Railways Liable.

Ottawa, March 7.—At the railway committee yesterday Mr. Kennedy's bill to amend the Railway Act was reported.

The amendment makes a railway company liable for damages by fire to all property along their lines.

The St. Clair and Erie Ship Canal bill was adopted. This was for an extension of time. The Windsor, Chatham & London's Railway Co.'s bill will come up a week from Tuesday.

Fire on Steamer.

She came here at full speed and signalled while yet some distance out to have the firemen ready.

A Nimble Fly.

A fly so minute as to be almost invisible ran three inches in half a second and was calculated to make no less than 500 steps in the time a man could breathe once. A man with proportionate agility could run twenty-four miles in a minute.

The Screw.

One million dollars was made by the person who patented the gimlet pointed screw.

Roman Candle Makers.

The man who makes roman candles is a hermit worker, laboring day after day in a rudely constructed hut with his nearest fellow workman too far away to be injured by explosions.

Transportation In New York.

Transportation facilities are more inadequate today than at any time in New York's history. The first omnibuses, put on the streets in 1830, came nearer to accommodating the traveling public of those days than the great network of railways do now, for the demand for transportation continually keeps ahead of the facilities provided.

Madoc are Champions of the Trent Valley Hockey League

Madoc defeated Norwood last night in Norwood by 4—3 in a hard fought game. This game gives Madoc the championship of the Trent Valley League. Mr. George Lynch, of Peterborough, gave every satisfaction as referee.

The ice was too rough for much combination play and individual work was largely indulged in.

Murphy and Wellington played great games for the winners, while for the losers Nichol, Morrow and Scott were the most noticeable.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Madoc,		Norwood.

Dale		Doberty
	Point.
Murphy		C. Pearce
	Cover-point.
Moon		Nichol
	Rover.

Will Quakers go to the West?

Players are Enthusiastic and Will go if Some Assistance is Forthcoming

If sufficient financial assistance can be secured, the Quaker football team will go to the Pacific Coast in April to play in the People's Shield matches. A meeting of the club was held last night, when the matter was discussed at some length and the players were enthusiastic regarding the trip. If some financial assistance can be obtained the team will go west and a committee was appointed to call upon several local institutions, which will likely come forward with some help. They are making the rounds this afternoon and it will be known in a day or two whether the trip will be taken.

For Inter-city Championship

Lindsay Bankers and the Strathconas Clash Here on Monday Night

The Lindsay Bankers-Strathcona game on Monday night will be the first and fastest of the season. The visitors' lineup will be a particularly strong one and will include Koyle, Sullivan and Cote, of the crack Midget seven. With this seven to buck up against the Straths will certainly have to go their fastest. With the three stalwarts mentioned above playing the Bankers will have a septette as strong as the original Midgets. They are leaders in the Lindsay Town League and as there is much rivalry between the Scugog burg and Peterborough, the match will certainly be a hotly contested one. The game will be for the inter-city championship and the Strathconas will have their strongest team.

England's Fight Against Glanders.

No horse, ass or mule may be brought into Great Britain from any other country except Ireland, the channel islands or the Isle of Man unless accompanied by a certificate of a veterinary surgeon to the effect that he examined the animal immediately before it was embarked or while it was on board the vessel and that he found the animal did not show symptoms of glanders.

The Title Lieutenant.

The title lieutenant comes from words signifying "holding the place." Thus, a lieutenant colonel holds the place of a colonel in the absence of the latter, and a lieutenant holds the place of a captain.

In 1752 Benjamin Franklin flew a kite during a thunderstorm, tied a door key to the string and let an end of the string into a common glass bottle. He thus made an electric battery. This was one of the beginnings of the electrical age.

TWINE ECONOMY.

One Ball Served a Busy Postal Employee Seven Years.

Though it handles some thousand million dollars a year, the United States government is not unappreciative of the value of small things, such, for example, as a piece of secondhand twine. Perhaps the ordinary ragpicker wouldn't regard it as a good business principle to stoop for a discarded twelve inch string when he is hurrying through the city at dawn in keen competition with all classes of ragpickers for what there is of commercial value in the ash barrels and scrap heaps. But that may be due wholly to his inability to foresee some of the future possibilities in the practice of noticing such trivial things. Similarly it may be that a certain government employee who attached himself to the New England division of the United States railway mail service six or seven years ago did not pin much faith in little dingy string pieces, for he was some grades above the trained ragpicker in the social scale. Yet he stooped to pick up such string pieces as came under his observation in the ordinary routine of his business, and it resulted in the bestowal upon him of a distinction which has not come to his companions of less economical tendencies. How much it counts toward his promotion in the service is problematical, but it has carried his name and fame with favorable comments to the attention of the United States postoffice authorities, says the Boston Transcript.

When this man reaches the next step up and his salary is increased accordingly, he will have some difficulty in dissociating his luck from the little string pieces he has picked up in his years of service, and his mind may be coached by a little justified pride in the following official paragraph clipped from the most prominent position in a recent general order of the New England division of the United States railway mail service, over the signature of his superintendent:

"A clerk in this division, appointed in 1901, with the exception of having been furnished with one ball of twine, has never made a requisition for an additional supply, having reused the twine which he saved from packages received by him."

A Fight For Moonlight.

Under the headline "A Fight For Moonlight" the Morgenpost of Berlin says: "Artists and all lovers of the beautiful are arrayed against the municipal authorities of Venice, by whom it has been proposed to illuminate the Grand canal with gas. The canal has never been brilliantly lighted except on festival occasions, but who cares! The moonlight has been sufficient. Modernism in all its forms has been at work along the waterways, and now the moon is to be eclipsed, probably because it frowns upon the motor boat. The charm of the Venetian night, the indescribable light and shadow effects, the mystery, romance and imagination lurking in the dark corners of the palace walls, all these will vanish before the loud, shrill poetry destroying light." The protest movement has taken the form of a monster petition to the city authorities, and the artists, authors and lovers of the beautiful who have signed it say that this is a "fight for Venetian moonlight."

Paris Not a Gay City.

It is a fixed idea in the mind of the average Anglo-Saxon that Paris is the gay city, the home of engaging frivolity, the spot where the grasshopper perennially chirps and dances in prosperity, defying the fabulist. The truth is far different. The visitor may figure the gay city to himself as a siren in pink, but the resident knows her as a shrewd old lady, stuffing an old stocking with fat coppers or fatter silver pieces. She is, indeed, enriching herself at the expense of her long suffering inhabitants, for "everything is becoming dearer" is the cry of the housekeepers in Paris. Articles of consumption and other necessaries have increased alarmingly in price since the year 1902. In five years bread has risen 15 per cent, beef 22 per cent, veal 14 per cent, mutton 25 per cent, pork 27 per cent, butter 14 per cent, cheese 25 per cent, fish 50 per cent, etc.—Modern Society.

A Showman's Proposal.

"Have I had many proposals?" laughed Blanche Bates when she was lately asked the question by an inquisitive acquaintance. "I should think I had! Got lots of fun out of some of them too. The most comical one I ever had was from a man who owned a traveling show. I didn't care for him one atom, but he was extremely importunate. One day he made a frantic appeal to me, using, as he thought, an unanswerable argument.

"'You'd better have me,' he urged. 'Now, think over it. Take a few days, but think over it. You know you won't have to go in the parade.'"—St. Louis Republic.

The Cute Jap.

It is the ambition of every up to date Jap to learn English at the first opportunity. At one or two of the Japanese hotels I was rather puzzled and a little flattered by the eager and almost anxious politeness with which Japanese youths offered to come for a walk with me. But I discovered that they only wanted a free lesson in English.—Strand Magazine.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The young girl who has an engaging air often has a stern papa who tends to disengage her.

If the young men had been forehanded last year and had been assiduous collectors of trading stamps, then the girls would just have to propose to them now.

It is doubtless a good thing that the weather is never sent out on approval, but many of us would prefer it that way.

People who are behind the times are out of it no more than those who are ahead of the times and are ever so much more comfortable.

It is a questionable good that comes on an ill wind.

A great many resolutions are now lying round under our feet frayed around the edges and giving other signs of being about to yield the ghost.

Probably men would be more willing to serve on juries if they knew that as an alternative their wives might be called to the jury box.

There are two reasons why the country is misgoverned—one is because some people concern themselves so much about it and the other is because other people concern themselves so little about it.

After a careful consideration of the subject the young ladies seem to have decided to let the young men know that there is nothing to it.

A Heroine.

"Wouldn't you like a title?"

"The dearest on earth."

"Afraid of the man who might accompany it?"

"Oh, dear, no. I could handle him all right. I've taken boxing lessons. That isn't it, but I don't propose to keep poor old father's nose to the grindstone all his life keeping the creature in luxuries."

Know It and Do It.

"I always do the best I can."

"And I always do the best I know."

"Ah, I see."

"See what?"

"I've heard you say that you always know a good thing."

The Plugger.

Let other people chase about,
  Build fairy castles in the air,
Or, if they are inclined that way,
  Go on a red and noisy tear.
That will not buy the baby shoes;
  That will not put you to the good.
The only certain way to win
  Is to keep silent and saw wood.

It isn't loafing in a chair
  And laying out a lovely plan
That brings success and such small things
  That comfort and console a man.
It's toying with the sawbuck's load
  And pushing gently to and fro
In steady pulse the well greased saw
  That makes your little wood pile grow.

It's gentlemen who jump around,
  Dig in a little here and there
And each day try a brand new scheme
  Who never do get anywhere.
The man who settles in one spot
  For eight hours' work or maybe more
Has quite a pile of kindling wood
  Right handy at the kitchen door.

A very few success may win
  And see their chattels multiply
By having for an asset strong
  An uncle who will kindly die.
That isn't for the multitude.
  They must adopt a different plan
And if they would attain the goal
  Must saw wood like a hired man.

Contrary Minded.

"Women may be foolish"—

"Of course they may be foolish. That's why they are not."

"Beg pardon. You interrupted me, but I don't see your point."

More Modern.

Well, if Japan finds wars are shy
  And poor its chance to shoot,
A cabinet crisis will supply
  A pleasant substitute.

His Opinion.

"How do you like my new gown?"

"It is a kind of dream."

"I consider it a perfect fit."

"Oh, it is all of that and more too."

"What?"

"Looks to me like a regular spasm."

Willing to Play Second.

"Johnny, if you do not study harder and get along better in school you will never be president when you grow up."

NEW NAVAL BASE.

Huge Graving Dock to Be Made at Rosyth, Firth of Forth.

Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, in a speech at Chelmsford, gave further details of the new naval base at Rosyth, in the Firth of Forth. He said: Along the whole east coast of England and Scotland we had not a dock capable of accommodating our great fighting ships, and the Government had decided to establish a new naval establishment in the Firth of Forth at a place called Rosyth. They had come to the concluson that this would be the most suitable place and the one most useful to the navy. There they proposed to construct, in the first place, a graving dock capable of taking our biggest ships, then a big basin and quays, which would accommodate 22 warships alongside them. With further developments 44 warships could be accommodated. Already there were considerable land defences in the Forth, and they would play a very substantial part in defence in the event of a foreign attack. It was a very serious resolution for the Government to have arrived at, but he believed it was to the advantage of the country, and he did not think that when the works were completed they would involve any very increased cost on the dockyard establishments of the country.

Go to Jail For a Dog.

After a series of Police Court actions over the possession of a collie, in the last of which they were ordered to give the dog to another claimant, William Smith and his wife of London decided to disobey the magistrate's orders and go to jail instead.

When the magistrate signed the order to send the couple to prison for contempt of court he remarked, "It is preposterous for a man to go to prison for the love of a dog and not like the action of a rational human being."

Smith's wife didn't think so, saying no martyrdom could be so painful as the loss of a good Christian collie.

Meanwhile the dog has mysteriously disappeared, but the Smiths say they will serve their time with satisfaction, knowing that the dog is to be cared for during the term of their imprisonment. The claimant whose right to the ownership of the dog was upheld by the court was equally attached to the animal.

Adult Bible Class Has Organized

Enthusiastic Meeting at St. Paul's—Officers Elected

The adult Bible class of St. Paul's church held an enthusiastic meeting last evening for the purpose of organization. Up until last evening the class had no constitution or officers, and in connection with the Adult Bible class movement among the different churches, it is the custom to have the class under a separate organization. The meeting last night was largely attended, there being about seventy members present. After devotional exercises by the pastor Rev. R. A. Pogue, Mr. Wm. Madill took the chair. A constitution for the class was ready by Mr. J. C. Shook and after some discussion was finally adopted. The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows;

Teacher—Rev. Robt. A. Pogue.
President—Mr. J. C. Shook.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. Wm. Menzies.
Rec.-Sec.—Mr. Wm. Stacey.
Fin.-Sec.—Mr. J. Robertson.
Convenor Membership Committee—Miss L. Hall.
Convenor Devotional Committee—Mrs. Walsh.
Convenor Social Committee—Miss Taylor.
Convenor Missionary Committee—Mr. Coyle Brown.

The total enrolment of the class is 145, and it is the intention to enlist new members into the work. It was decided that the contributions be given to home missions.

After the business of the evening a social time was spent and refreshments were served.

The Turnbull Co. announces that their stock is complete in ready-to-wear skirts, coats and blouses and extends an invitation to the ladies of Peterboro' to the first spring showing of these novelties on Tuesday and following days.

Labor Conditions in Peterborough

Ald. Johnston's Report in the Labor Gazette

The following account of labor conditions in Peterborough by the local correspondent, Ald. W. J. Johnston, appears in the February number of the Labor Gazette;—

Peterborough, Ont.—Since about the middle of December, outside work has been quiet, except in connection with snow removal, which has been very heavy this winter, and the cutting and storing of ice. Generally at this season of the year unskilled labor is very plentiful. It is more so this winter on account of the number of immigrants who are dependent on their daily earnings, and who came here without provision for winter. The city has procured a large quantity of stone and is giving employment to all who will work.

The board of relief and private citizens are subscribing to a fund to help the needy. The relief officer each week buys a quantity of provisions and gives them to those who are deserving.

The outlook for the balance of the winter is not very bright, as the weather is getting very cold. As many as 75 to 100 men some days ask for assistance or work. Some of these breaking stone do very well, others are indifferent whether they make a living or not. The outlook for spring is more encouraging. A lot building is being carried over.

Suddenly Expired While Sawing a Stick of Wood

James Clatworthy, George St., Found Dead in the Woodshed by His Sister About 6.30 Last Evening —Was an Old and Respected Citizen.

While engaged sawing wood at his late residence, 580 George street, yesterday afternoon, between four and half-past six o'clock, Mr. James Clotworthy expired very suddenly. Shortly after four o'clock Mr. Clotworthy went to the shed to saw some wood. His sister, who keeps house for him became alarmed at his long absence and about 6.30 o'clock, on going to call him, was shocked to find him prostrate on the floor of the shed. He had partly finished sawing the stick, when it is thought that he was taken ill and dropped dead. It is thought that in falling he struck his face upon the stick of wood, as a bruise was noticeable.

Coroner Gray was called, but on learning the facts decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The death of Mr. James Clotworthy at the age of 77 years, removes one of the landmarks of Peterborough. He came from Ireland with his parents when quite young. He was a man of education and excellent ability. For many years he was employed with the Dickson Company as clerk. Although a man of robust and powerful physique, of late years he has been the victim of chronic indigestion, which undermined his health, and was probably the indirect cause of his death. A Presbyterian in religion, and a Liberal in politics, he was a man of sterling integrity and was highly respected by all who knew him. Adam, his brother, who died about a year ago, was for many years in the Cariboo gold district. Two sisters, Mrs. Livack and Miss Agnes survive him.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the family residence, 580 George street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Proposal to Erect Stores to Adjoin New Curling Rink

Charlotte street is rapidly becoming one of the best business streets in Peterborough and lately a number of fine stores have been built there. It is understood that plans are now underway to build three stores in conjunction with the proposed new rink, the Peterborough curling rink company will erect during the coming summer on the property where the old curling rink stood before it was burned. The lot is a large one and it is proposed to put up a rink with two or three stores to the front of it. It would probably be a two-storey building, the second flat being for club rooms. The stores will be commodious and will be up-to-date in every particular. New places of business on Charlotte street would no doubt be rented very quickly as a more desirable situation for a store could not be procured. The above proposal will no doubt be heartily approved of by everyone should the curling company decide to carry it out.

The Young Conservative Club; Senator Ferguson's Able Address

The rooms of the Young Conservative Club were thronged last evening to listen to an address by Senator Ferguson of Charlottetown, P. E. I., upon the political topics of the day. Mr. Wm. Gibbs occupied the chair. The proceedings were opened by a piano solo by Mr. Wm. Green. In introducing Senator Ferguson the chairman said that few men in Canada were so well qualified to speak upon the political events of the day and he expressed the obligation which the Conservatives of Peterborough were under to Senator Ferguson for his kindness in addressing them. Senator Ferguson opened his remarks with a summary of the history of the Whitney administration since it had taken office. The people of Ontario were satisfied that they had secured an honest Government and one thoroughly capable of looking after the increasingly complicated affairs of the province. In Dominion affairs he was sorry to see a gradual decline in political morality under the Laurier Administration until at the present time it was rife with corruption and the country is at mercy of political hirelings. He contrasted the activity of the Conservatives when in office in prosecuting McGreevy and through their Premier, Sir John Thompson, in removing from office Sir Hector Langevin, who though personally untainted had permitted waste of the people's money in his department with the inactivity of Sir Wilfrid. Senator Ferguson concluded an address of an hour and a half amid prolonged applause. It was one of the best ever delivered before a Peterborough audience. Mr. Bradburn, Lt.-Col. Miller and Mr. Burnham expressed their pleasure at being present. Mr. Peter Gardiner delighted the audience with a thoroughly Scotch rendering of the famous "Tam o'Shanter." The meeting closed with the usual cheers. There will be the usual sing-song this evening.

Daring Hold-Up Attempted; Bullet Tore Through Coat

According to the story told by a young lad named Storing, living about four miles out of Tamworth, he was held up on his way home by a man who stopped his horse. Storing thought it was some one who wanted to drive and told him to get into the cutter. The stranger accepted the situation, and upon getting into the sleigh told Storing to get out, as he wanted the horse and cutter. The man drew a revolver on the owner of the outfit and threatened to shoot him if he did not get out. Young Storing seied the man's arm, and the gun went off, the bullet passing through Storing's coat. The two men scuffled in the sleigh for some minutes until the horse became frightened and started to run, when the unwelcome visitor made a jump and got away.—Hastings Star.

Married Only Six Weeks and Husband Can't Support Wife

Having been married only six weeks, a rather elderly lady, residing on College street, called on Magistrate Dumble this morning and complained that her husband was starving her. She also wanted to recover two dollars she had lent him during the first week of their married life. The lady in question was th third wife of her husband, the being over ninety years of age. The wife stated that the rent was due, and her husband told her that she had to pay it. "He told me when we married that he would give me a good home," she said, "but I haven't received a cent from him. He has my two dollars and I want to get it back," she added.

The old man evidently was looking for a home and somebody to keep him when he wedded, but the next time he wants to look for some one with more than two dollars.

The Three Fifths-Clause; An Appeal to the Examiner

The Reivew through its editorial columns has in vain asked the Examiner in the neighborhood of a dozen times for its opinion on this controversy between the leader of the Opposition in the Ontario House and Mr. Whitney, with respect to the three-fifths clause, whereby a three-fifths or 60 per cent. majority is required to carry and to repeal local option. Is the Examiner in favor

1 Of a bare majority?
2 Of a three-fifths majority?
3 Or of anything else?

The Review has not been able to extract a reply from the Examiner on this point heretofore but hopes to catch its attention by means of a double headline.

Many Attended To-day's Market

The market this morning was attended by a large number of farmers, despite the unfavorable condition of the country roads. There was much demand for the produce offered, and the usual high prices prevailed. Butter sold at 28, 29 and 30 cents per lb., and one woman asked as high as thirty-two cens. Eggs were plentiful at from 27 to 29 cents per dozen. There was very little fowl on the market. Two or three pairs of chickens were in evidence and brought ninety cents and a dollar a pair. On the outside market beef sold and five to six cents per pound, while pork brought 8, 9 and 10 cents.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

WHERE IS HEAVEN?

To the Editor of The Review;

Once a resident of Peterborough died and went to his appointed place. He was greatly pleased with all he saw there; and walked around, admiring the views that met the eye on every side.

"Heaven is a sight better than Peterborough," he said, "I used to think that there was no place like Peterborough, but Heaven's better. Peterborough is a lot behind Heaven."

"What are you talking about?" enquired a passing spirit, crossly. "This isn't Heaven."

Yours, &c,
W.A.B.

NORWOOD CONVENTION

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Would you allow me space to say just a word about the Liberal-Conservative convention held at Norwood. The chairman all through the proceedings left the conduct of the convention in the hands of the delegates: they controlled the meeting. Messrs. Andrews, Thompson, Smithson and Moore allowed their names to go before that convention—that is they left it to those delegates to say who should be their candidate. Not one of the four gentlemen objected to have those delegates decide between them,—they each and all put themselves in their hands. The vote was taken, Mr. Thompson was chosen and then, and not till then, Mr. Andrews objected to the proceedings. It seems to me that his position is illogical and unsound. Why did he put himself in the hands of the convention if he did not mean to abide by its verdict if it were against him? If he had been the choice instead of Mr. Thompson we would not have heard one word regarding the conduct of the convention.

I believe that on reflection Mr. Andrews and his friends will gracefully accept the choice of the convention and work to redeem the riding.

PETER GARDNER.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, March 7.—Union Pacific led the market to still higher prices today and the whole market did very well. The whole upward movement is being helped to a great extent by the floor element, which has found the shorts at a disadvantage and is helping profits as covering operations go on. The floor traders are quick to take their profit, and consequently this may lead to sharp reactions from time to time, when for the present it is advisable to buy the active rails for turns.

We think that Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, the Hill stocks, St. Paul, Penna., Reading, D. & H. and Atchison will do considerably better, but we would not advise staying by the long side for too great profits.

London closed soft in the American group where there was a disposition to take profits on the advance. Foreign houses had selling orders in this market to a moderate extent. The bank statement shows gains as expected. Whole statement makes a favorable showing.

CARLOAD OF CABBAGES HERE

Arrived From Black Rock Yesterday for Jas. R. Bell

The first carload of cabbages ever brought to Peterborough arrived at the CPR. station yesterday for Jas. R. Bell, the Hunter street grocer. They came from Black Rock, New York State, and those who have seen them state that the shipment is of splendid quality.

The shipment is a unique one and shows that there is a large amount of cabbage used in Peterborough.

THE DUCK HUNTERS

By Bonneycastle Dale

"The Duck Hunters," is the title of the following interesting story from the pen of Bonnycastle Dale which appears in the March number of the Canadian Magazine;—

"I see it! I see it!" he cried.

"I'll see you standin' on your head, youngster," said the driver, as he pulled up the leaping, startled team.

I had the same keen feeling on seeing the blue waters of Rice Lake gleaming through the pines for the first time, but the angling seat and sliding cameras kept me busy. So the lad had the exclamations all to himself. Spread beneath us, the island-studded lake, with its white sails and yellow rice beds, lay like a peaceful picture, but the steady, deep booming from the northern points told of a game that was not all peace for the web-footed ones. Even at that distance, the sudden darting out of a canoe, the stop, the bending over of the paddler, the swift turn and rapid paddling ashore, told of a dead bird quickly retrieved.

"He got one," sighed Fritz.

Although we begrudge no man his luck, we tell of it with a sigh. Why is it so!

There were ten miles to do—a fair wind, a fairly heavy swell and well-laden canoes. This running before the wind with lateen sails needs watchful eyes and strong, steady wrists. As we got father out from land the swells ran higher and the sail pitched up and down with sickening regularity, threatening every moment to blow off. The farther we went, the worse it got. We were in for it, and we used every trick and safeguard to get through without swamping. The canoes mounted the rollers like great white-winged birds, and swept down the lee sides like coasting sleighs. Up, up again they struggled, shipping the foamy tops fore and aft. A glance behind showed a fore-reaching line of angry toppling waves. A call from Fritz made me turn; he had let his sail draw so far ahead that he perforce lost the sheet, and the lateen stood out over his bow in most dangerous shape. Luckily, as I darted down a surging hill I managed to knock it off with a swift paddle stroke, but the action unbalanced my craft and off blew my sail. Instantly boom and spar swept in against the sides of the bow, and the water mounted into the canvas trough thus formed and poured into the canoe. While I paddled might and main to back her, I saw the lad come darting down behind me. His wet paddle glistened in the bright light for a moment, curved like a sword and struck fair on the cord that held the ring, severing it instantly. Down fell the sail and my canoe passed over it. A knot in the sheet caught in the stern thwart, and the wet canvas and spars dragged safely behind. With much bailing and more awful coasting, we sped along before the heavy wind, and never was there more grateful sound in canoeman's ears that the grating of the sand beneath our bows at the camp-ground.

The tent was up, ditch cut around the back to run off any heavy rains and the double top or cover stretched over the tent. This is an excellent device in wet weather, for then the campers can touch the tent inside without the usual stream following the fingers. The piece of sheet iron, with two pot holes cut in it, was laid over some flat rocks, many bits of dry cedar were laid away in the canvas home for kindling future fires. Logs and poles and cedar boughs made an excellent bunk to ward off rheumatism, the bane of the camper's life, for, remember, no matter how dry your tent may be above you, the dew arising from the grass inside will dampen any bed laid flat on the ground. All the curtains were closed down by four o'clock, so that the ever present mosquito could not intrude and sample the two newcomers. A hole was dug on the north side of a big rock for a minature cellar, the spring cleared out, wood gathered. A happy, laughing hour was passed at lunch, and then—and only then, although the guns had been booming out in the rice-bed enough to drive a fellow half wild—were the guns and shell boxes and cameras carried down to the canoe. We were using a twelve-bore, seven and a half pounds, and a ten-bore, weighing almost ten—too heavy a gun for anything but canoe or "blind" or "hide" work. Our load was three drams of smokeless and one ounce number six chilled shot for the twelve-bore, and four drams and an ounce and a half number six for the ten. A card and two black edge wads were put over the powder, and well rammed home if black, lightly set if smokeless, and a card wad just firmly set over the shot. Personally, I prefer brass shells—a little more bother, but better killing qualities. Three dozen decoys that did not roll or glitter with paint and varnish, twelve-foot anchor lines, and two-ounce lead anchors were provided.

In the big canoe was the old telescope, a most successful thing if a add duck hunters 1st bird dall a mile out in the lake, for it saves many a paddle after a wing-tipped bird. Fritz in the bow paddled with never a "tump" on the thwart—that tell-tale noise. The drumlike canoe resounds and spreads its deep, bumping paddle noise over fully two miles of calm water, carefully instructing every duck that you are coming. The guns were laid, ready cocked, or safety slide over, if hammerless; mine, in the stern, was prevented from pointing at the bowman by a folded oil-skin laid on the middle thwart, with the muzzle just at the gunwale, so that no brushing rice or weeds could push it in. Many an accident would be averted if minute and constant care were paid to those dangerous playthings, guns,

The six foot double cedar canoe swept almost noiselessly through the thin cover; but when the full standing rice was reached it rasped and screeched on the sides of the craft like fine nails on tin. Fritz, his second year out, incessantly grabbed his gun at every jumping coot, mudhen, rail or crake. Finally a bittern jumped from right under the bow. "Tack" sang his hammerless, and the bird sailed rapidly away in the chasm the lad had rent in the air. Very sheepishly Fritz looked back; but it was kinder not to look that way; he had had punishment enough for shooting at a poor, harmless bird.

As we neared the rice bed that I intended us to shoot from, we saw an Indian's canoe slowly emerge from the thick rice. The redman was bent so low that his chin touched the gunwale. Foot by foot the canoe crept ahead, the short paddle was worked almost altogether under water. Some hundred yards in front of the silently advancing craft I saw two black ducks, and made out through the glass that both were asleep. Then I saw a brown head reach over the side of the canoe and grasp the rice stalks; the paddle was discarded and foot by foot the crafty hunter drew his canoe ahead by underwater holds; then the brown hands stole abroad. The old gun was slowly grasped; the hunter gradually sat erect, a fearful rattling "bang" echoes from the great wild rice beds, and two poor black ducks passed out asleep.

Sitting in the canoe, hidden by the tall, waving wild grain, we silently watched the flight. The black ducks were starting to come home to the feeding grounds. Two passed along the front of the bed a hundred yards out. I sounded the low nasal "quack."; instantly the two birds, evidently this year's young males, turned and swooped down to find the gossuping female in the rice. A low whisper warned Fritz not to move. They passed over within ten yards. The big camera was ready. I saw them in the clear, full-size finder. A touch of action, a clang of the machine and the birds were mine photographically. I heard Fritz mutter something about leaving the baily camera at home and getting more ducks. Just then, splash, splash, quack, quack, and there sat two big pintails in the decoys. Up with an odd gabbling noise they jumped. My hands were full of cameras. Fritz hastened their flight by discharging both barrels without an aim, and then claimed he had hit them because one of the birds jumped at the report; so would you if an unexpected enemy popped up so uncermoniously and banged away at you.

A flock of blue-bills came along in their steady, graceful flight. I tried the "purr-it" the Mississaugas had taught me—a purr of the tongue on the roof of the mouth. At the third call the bird nearest me left its position at the end of the line and swung in. One by one the other eight turned and looked and followed. Circling to the wind, they dropped gracefully into the decoys, and sat there as still as if made of cedar themselves—scared, poor birds, in danger, and they know it. Then one edged out, passing each decoy with stretched neck and startled eyes; the others followed, and just as they passed out of the decoys the good old camera took them all. Fritz said it was a banged shame to let nine fat ducks swim out right from under a fellows' nose. But the rules are so written in this camp that a photographed duck is safe—with thanks.

"Here's your chance, Fritz," said I, as two big black ducks were heading up the beds. As they passed, I "quacked," beat my fingers lightly on the gunwale—the Indian's imitation of the duck stretching up its neck and calling, and then beating its wings. Again I called and tapped; they saw the decoys. I felt sure the lad would miss them, so I raised my camera for a picture. A fraction of time before I pressed the action, I heard the sharp report of his gun, and to my astonishment saw the reflected bird in the mirror in my camera start to fall. So I broke my word while it was still fresh on my lips and photographed it, saw it killed, and finally ate it.

Out behind the decoys before the sun rose, when the dim forms of the ducks swimming through the decoys were located only by the ripples; in fogs, when the birds loom up as big as geese; when the flight of marsh blue-bills was on and they swam in and sunned themselves along the shores, waddling out on to the wild rice straw-strewn edge and oiling and preening their feathers, all unconscious that my machine was concealed in the wire grass ten feet away and that I was carefully examining them from the bank top, a press of the bulb, and a part of the duck-edged shore was mine.

One day, late in the season the lad and I were lost in the beds during an hour's heavy fog. Many odd things happened. Once we stopped and looked at a flock of blue-bills feeding apparently a hundred yards away. Fritz said in common tones, "I wish they were in range," and up jumped the birds. We paddled over to the lily roots they had been feeding near, and the entire flock had been within twenty yards all the time. Again the fog fooled us later on. We had thrown our decoys out of the rice, and had accepted one chance, killing a couple of black ducks. The lad grasped my arm and hoarsely whispered, "Two, swimmin' in." I could just make out their heads in the fog. We sat there cramped, strained and uncomfortable, not daring to make a motion, hardly daring to breathe. For fully ten minutes those dark objects hovered on the edge of the decoys, then a wisp of air parted the fog for an instant and we saw that we had been intently watching the two wads of our charge from the last shot. Thus does the fog fool the duck hunter. Many days of rare enjoyment the cameras and guns gave us, days when the air seemed alive with ducks, days when they were as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth; but we always managed to kill enough to keep the oven busy. Oh, the birds that boy missed! He wants me to add mine to the list, but there is no room. Day after day the migrating hosts arrived; night after night they took up their long journey, and the hours of darkness were filled with the rustling of wild ducks' wings. At last, as a parting souvenir, they gave my hidden camera an excellent picture of a pair of handsome marsh blue-bills swimming along the marshy edge of a lonely island.

The petition was largely signed last night after the meeting.

PRESENTATION TO ORGANIST

Miss Edith Hall Honored by Fairview Epworth League

After a very interesting meeting of the Epworth League on the evening of March 3rd, the members and adherents of Fairview Methodist church presented their retiring organist, Miss Edith Hall, with a handsome oak 'secretary' and the following address;

Dear Friend and Co-Worker;

It is with feelings of deepest regret that we the members and adherents of Fairview Methodist church, have heard of the severance of your connection with us as organist.

During the time in which you have so completely filled one of the most essential and indispensable positions in our church here, your devotion to duty, forbearance and self-sacrifice, have been worthy models for all engaged in any active work for the Master.

We recognize that such inestimably valuable services cannot be repaid with this world's goods, but we ask you, as a slight token of our appreciation, to accept this 'secretary' trusting that its presence may in coming years, be an emblem of departed days and pleasant associations of 1907-8.

As a congregation, we heartily join hands in wishing you uninterrupted happiness and success in a long life of continued usefulness.

Signed on behalf of the people of Fairview.

G. F. METTZLER, Ph.D,
MRS. S. ROSBOROUGH,
J. S. PARKER,
Pres. E. L.
JOHN E. ELLIOTT,
Supt. S. S.

Miss Hall very feelingly replied in a few words of hearty thanks, laying particular stress upon the fact that the pleasure derived from the work itself was, in itself, ample reward for any sacrifices she had made.

The meeting closed with the personal expression of many good wishes.

Bad Roads in North Country

Travellers Have Hard Time in Reaching Lumber Camp

Mr. J. F. Lillicrap, accompanied by Mr. J. E. Kelly, drove back to the lumber camp of the Lillicrap Tate Lumber Company last week and report having had a pretty hard trip. The camp, of which Mr. Wm. Simpson, is the foreman, is situated about four miles north of Apsley, and the two men had a rather unpleasant experience in reaching it. They left here on Wednesday morning, and reached the camp that evening. The roads were in a very bad shape, and it was nearly impossible to keep on them in a great many places, several times the men having to unhitch the horses and pull the sleigh out of the deep snow. The return trip was made on Thursday, the roads being in a little better shape by that time.—Lakefield News.

YOUNG MOTHERS

A mother who is in good physical condition transmits to her child the blessing of a good constitution; sickly, ailing mothers, the reverse. The tiny babe brings to her a living responsibility. At such a time too great care cannot be taken to build up the mother's general constitution, and restore her feminine system to a healthy, normal condition. The greatest assistance that any woman can have in accomplishing this all-important work is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. M. Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"I was greatly run down in health, suffering from a weakness peculiar to my sex. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was not only restored to health but am the proud mother of a fine baby girl. I wish every sick and ailing woman would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

Mrs. Paul Oliver, of St. Martinville, La., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I suffered from the worst form of female troubles, and the doctor said I could not get well without an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I have the sweetest little baby girl. I will never cease to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1908.

THE EAST RIDING

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice in the Review an item on party candidates. In that item the editor insinuates that some candidates sought the office, while others did not. Now, sir, as one of the candidates it is a known fact throughout the riding that I have been asked repeatedly to be a candidate for the Local House and in convention have been given the unanimous choice and given an hour to consider this matter. At the last convention a certain man came up in full force seeking the convention and so manipulated the delegates and with the aid of a certain clique which controlled the meeting, managed to be chosen with delegates enough, sitting by ready to vote him out.

Then, sir, who are the wreckers? These are men who come up and thwart unbiased public opinion and though Mr. Smithson appeared to accept his defeat with good grace, he is responsible for this statement that with the two candidates in the east so close together both are defeated.

Now, sir, as to the wreckers. Public opinion seems to be that Mr. Burnham obtained his nomination by an unfair manipulation of the delegates and Mr. Garvin states that he was turned down dirty and public opinion thwarted. Now, sir, public opinion is a winner at the polls when the ballots are counted and I am much mistaken if Mr. Burnham and Mr. Thompson on that day will not only be blown over but will be blown over and snowed over and under, where real wreckers ought to be.

Yours,

"A PARTY CANDIDATE."

Norwood, March 3, 1908.

The above letter sent to and published in the Examiner was not sent to the Review and therefore was not published in it. We publish it now, however, as no doubt the writer of it wishes to reach the Conservative party. We do not at all agree with the writer in his attitude of hostility and disappointment since he did not utter one word of protest in his address to the convention just before the balloting and after the credentials committee had reported and after all matters of election and procedure had been left to and finally settled by the convention. Moreover after the balloting when the result was known Mr. Smithson moved to make the nomination of Mr. Thompson unanimous and this was done by a standing vote not only of the whole convention (Mr. Andrews, his son and one other excepted) but by the rising of the audience as well so that fully five hundred men endorsed the convention's selection of Mr. Thompson. What more can any man ask than that? What could be fairer? Mr Andrews's quarrel is with the convention if with anybody. Mr. Andrews's friends and the result by the ballot showed that he had forty of them, voted with the others to make Mr. Thompson's nomination unanimous. There is no getting away from that fact. The reference in "Party Candidate's' letter to Mr. Garvin and Mr. Burnham are untrue.. Mr Garvin stated in Mr. Andrews's hearing, from the platform, in a powerful speech to the convention that he would give his heartiest and warmest support and co-operation to Mr. Burnham, of whom he spoke in the kindliest way. Again we appeal to the testimony of the convention. Mr. Garvin has repeatedly expressed himself in this way and has denied publicly and emphatically that there is any split in the Liberal-Conservative party in Peterborough. That ought to be enough. Mr. Burnham wishes us to give his emphatic denial also to the charges made against himself personally and goes so far as to say that he neither asked nor sought to influence any delegate or elector either prior to or during the meeting of the convention which nominated him. People know Mr. Burnham too well to believe that he would lend his countenance to devious and improper ways. We made no charge of impropriety against Mr. Andrews but we did deprecate his extreme resentment. The convention was an exceptionally large one and its ruling must be allowed as final.

THE Y. M. C. A.

At a meeting of the members of the Y.M.C.A. held last evening it was decided to ask the directors to add bowling-alleys and billiard-tables to the equipment of the gymnasium. The meeting was a large one and may be said to fairly represent the opinion of the Association. There are three considerations in connection with this proposal which must necessarily be taken into account. Firstly the financial—can the directors command the necessary funds? Secondly its general advisability. This point has been settled in all large cities where the forms of amusement suggested have long been permitted in connection with Y.M.C. associations, and similar institutions.

Thirdly the present tendency to go behind in revenue. This is the most pressing consideration, probably of all. From a general summary of Y.M.C.A. affairs and from opinions expressed at the meeting there can be no doubt that something will have to be done. We are quite sure that public opinion will be fully with the directors in an advanced and necessary policy of this kind. The present policy has proved its impossibility and this, in itself is the vindication, if one is essential, of the new proposition.

WHY THE CHANCE WAS LOST

Under the caption and somewhat captious heading, "Why was the chance lost?" the Globe states the case fully and clearly, if case there be, against Mr. Whitney re the power question. The prime minister replied fully to this question when he said that his legislation gave the municipalities the opportunity to act if they had wished to do so. Both the Globe and the Telegram seem to think that he should have sent word to the municipalities of the chance open to them before Mackenzie took advantage of it. We submit that this would be stepping outside the arena of government altogether. Indifferently made use of, such an action on the part of an administration might lead to interference and grave governmental improprieties such as the tyranny of the majority recently exemplified at Ottawa. It will not do for the State to reduce its constituent parts to the condition of a kindergarten! No doubt the replies to Mr. McKay's questions now on the order book will clear the affair up. There is no question of lack of wisdom up to the point of transference by the Ont. Dom. Co. to Mr Mackenzie. Did Mackenzie snap an advantage which Mr. Whitney should have reserved for the municipalities? That is the question.

The following is the Globe's statement:—

"At a critical moment, only the other day, the chance came to the Government of Ontario to solve for Toronto and the western municipalities the vexed power problem by putting under public auspices and on exceptionally favorable terms the control of development and transmission now held by Mr. William Mackenzie. The fact of that chance is common knowledge, not only in Toronto, but in Ottawa and yesterday the leader of the Opposition in the Legislature put on the order paper a series of questions which must elicit such definite and adequate information as the people of Toronto and of western Ontario ought to have.

Premier Whitney has not, by any means disposed of his own or the Government's responsibilities in the electric power question either by his statements in the House, or by his declarations at the banquet on Monday night. What he says about the Electrical Development Company's proposals of last year may be true. That is not the essential point. What about the proposals made last month by the representatives of the bondholders?

It is said with unmistakable directness that Major St. Aubyn, representing the British bondholders, made to the Premier a proposal involving control of the entire Electrical Development Company's plant and transmission line, an offer subsequently made to Mr. William Mackenzie and accepted by him. This statement is made in Toronto by responsible men who have opportunities for very direct information, and who are not unfriendly to the Whitney Government the other day in Ottawa, and published on the authority of a gentleman closely associated with Major St. Aubyn, then on a visit to the Governor-General. Premier Whitney's declaration at the banquet on Monday night admitted the fact of a proposal of some kind, but was so remote and vague as to create the suspicion of something concealed. Quite plainly so enormously important matter cannot be allowed to pass.

The importance of this matter cannot easily be exaggerated. The control of the Electrical Development Company's plant, were it in the hands of the Government, would mean public control of the entire electric power situation not only for Toronto, but for all western Ontario. The capacity of that development plant at Niagara Falls, is equal to Ontario demands for electric energy in the Niagara zone for a generation. It would mean independence of all American companies at Niagara, and would carry with it absolute control of rates. Then the transmission lines to Toronto and Brantford would make the Hydro-electric Commission's project an immediate success. And the admittedly favorable contracts with the two great consumers in Toronto which such control carried would have made the Toronto situation a public monopoly under conditions of exceptional advantage. And all this was involved in Major St. Aubyn's proposals made on behalf of the British bondholders. Why was it rejected?

Or if Premier Whitney and his Government were unwilling or unable to take advantage of so great a chance to solve the power problem and serve the municipalities from Toronto to Windsor why did they not advise the civic authorities of Toronto of the chance? Toronto could have handled such a proposition. It was a chance the value of which the dullest member of the City Council has shrewdness and sense enough to appreciate. The terms accepted by Mr. Mackenzie would, in view of Toronto's deliberate policy of municipal operation, of both distribution plant and street railway service, have been doubly advantageous to the city. Why was this proposal by Major St. Aubyn, or the bare possibility of such an offer, kept secret by the Government until it was too late to serve the interests of the city? Is this Premier Whitney's method of helping the municipalities? Can that lost chance even yet be recovered? These are questions vital to the solving of the power problem. They cannot be bluffed aside."

EDITORIAL NOTES

One of the most cheering signs of the times is the movement among the churches in Canada and the United States to take a more active part in the broad field of social and civic affairs, hitherto considered as outside the scope of their endeavors.—Montreal Witness.

Obstruction.—Obstruction is necessary when a Government refuses information concerning the public expenditure. The question of the cost to the country is secondary to the principle involved. —Toronto News.

Had Sir Wilfrid granted Mr. Borden's demand for original documents and had nothing come of the Opposition's search, Sir Wilfrid could have blamed the Opposition for extravagance and his position would be immeasurably stronger, certainly not weaker, than it is now. But the obstruction, after all was not by the Opposition, but by the Government, which "obstructed" the Opposition in their performance of a plain and elementary duty.

"There was never any refusal of documents of any kind."—The Globe.

We have been publishing, as our readers are aware, and will continue to publish, extracts from Hansard, the official report of parliamentary debates. Between the statements of Sir Wilfrid and his Ministers therein contained and the above extract from the Globe we leave our readers to choose. Who is responsible for this falsehood? The following reply to Mr. Ames, from the Minister of the Interior, from Hansard, was before the Globe at the time, and we cannot acquit it of an intention to gloss over the difficulty, deliberately:—

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 3rd inst., in which you state that you are desirous of examining the original applications and tenders in connection with timber berths 824, 1,062, 1,107, 1,108, 1,117, and 1,212.

"In reply I beg to state that it is a rule of the department not to allow the examination of the files by others than officials of the department whose duty it is."—Hansard.

Crows are Here, Spring Coming

Appearance of the Black Fellows Greeted With Delight

Poets may write about the beautiful sentiment of the "swallows coming north again" and of the returning of the robins, but few of them sing about the joy of the crows coming back once more. It appears to the average man that the crow does not receive his share of attention considering that he calls around before the swallows and the robins have ever thought about starting for the north.

Crows put in appearance in Peterborough and as forerunners of spring have been hailed with delight.

The robins can come on any time now.

Arrangements are all Made

In Connection With Parochial Mission—Men's Meeting at St. John's

There was a large attendance at the meeting of men in St. John's school house last night. Many matters of importance in connection with the parochial mission were discussed and final arrangements made.

Arrangements were also made for the street services to be opened tonight at eight o'clock opposite the post office.

RHEUMATISM IN THE BLOOD

Cure it by Enriching the Blood With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There is only one way by which rheumatism can be cured. It must be treated through the blood. Liniments and outward applications may give temporary relief but they can't possibly cure the trouble. And while you are experimenting with liniments the trouble is every day becoming more firmly rooted in the system and more difficult to cure. The poisonous acid that causes rheumatis must be driven out of the blood and you can only do this by making new rich, red blood through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Chas H Lumley of Brickford, Ont., is one of the best known farmers in Lambton county. About three years ago, while Mr. Lumley was engaged in threshing he became overheated, and this was followed by a severe chill that started the rheumatic pains. Mr. Lumley says; "I did not think anything of it at the time as I was accustomed to being exposed to all kinds of weather. As a result I was unable to go about next morning. I had severe pains in my arms and legs which I treated at first with the usual home remedies. As these did not help me, and the trouble was growing worse, the family doctor was sent for but he did not have any better success. He told me I was suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, and there can be no doubt about it as I was confined to my home about four months before I was fortunately advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I sent for a supply and it was not long before I found they were helping me, and by the time I had taken a half dozen boxes the trouble had entirely disappeared. In other respects the pills also greatly improved my health and I never felt better in my life than I have since taking them. I therefore most cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to other similar sufferers."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make cures of this kind after doctors and common medicines fail because they actually make new blood. They don't cure the mere symptoms. They go right to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why this medicine cures anaemia, indigestion neuralgia, palpitation of the heart and the headaches and backaches brought on by the ailments that fill the lives of so many women with misery. Do not take any pills without the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around the box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

The Rev. A. H. Brace will occupy his own pulpit on Sunday. The special subjects for the last nine Sundays, will be chosen with a view to consolidating the work which has absorbed his attention during his successful pastorate. Subjects for tomorrow will be, Morning, "The Christian at Work," and this evening, "When is a Preacher at his Best?" The last Sunday will be reserved for a farewell sermon.

To Commence Work on No. 1 Section Soon

Cobourg, March 7.—Messrs. Larkin and Sangster of St. Catharines, who have taken the contract for section No. 1 of the Trent Valley Canal, have already visited Trenton, and it is learned that they intend to proceed with the work with men and teams without delay. The section is a very heavy one, and includes the construction of three dams and three locks. In length, commencing at Trenton bridge and ending in deep water, it is five miles. This firm built section No. 2 of Simcoe-Balsam Lake division of the Trent canal.

AMUSEMENTS

"DRIVEN FROM HOME"

The Royal Alexandra Company, presented "Driven from Home" at the Grand Opera House last night to a fair-sized audience. Owing to the illness of one of the company "Our Scotch Lassie, Jessie Brown," which was billed, could not be put on but the announcement was made that it would be presented this evening. The different roles were well taken and the audience was pleased. There was a matinee this afternoon.

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN IN "THE AWAKENING OF MR. PIPP"

There are comedies and comedies, but few there be, that can boast of a story, especially is this true of the so-called musical comedy. In this respect the play above named, which will be seen at the Grand next Thursday, is a departure, for the story of "Mr. Pipp" is the back-bone of its popularity as an entertainer, that is when the story is developed by that past master of fun, Charley Grapewin. Possibly the best scene of the play is Mr. Pipp's "The Morning After," for its very touch meets a response in the breast of every man in the audience who has ever indulged in a "time" is so natural and realistic, for Mr. Grapewin makes you experience that dark brown taste and feel the head away beyond the normal proportion, and then when the hilarious Pipp tries to rise from his bed and finds that the world will not stand still, then it is that you realise the art of the comedian. Anna Chance, who will be seen as "Mrs. Pipp," gives excellent support to the star, as does also the same company with which Mr. Grapewin was surrounded last season.

The Cause of Shortage in Local Wood Supply

A local wood dealer informed the Review today that the shortage of wood at the present time was due to the mild weather during December. The people burned wood at that time instead of coal as is done when the weather is cold, with the result that there is a shortage of wood for the months when it is largely burned, March and April. The conditions this year were unusual and the wood dealers are placed in a bad position.

The majority of the wood burned in Peterborough comes from Stony Lake. A large number of men are working there now, getting out supplies for next season. The woods along the shores of the lake are not being depleted, the wood being cut two or three miles from the shoreline.

Nearly all the farmers residing in that part of the county get out some wood for the local market every year. It is about all they have to do during the winter months and it adds to their income considerably.

Local Man Secures His Without Paying for It

System May Become Popular When its Merits Become More Widely Known.

"Sampling the Samples" would be an appropriate title for an essay, that one man in Peterborough could write if his inclination bent towards literature. He has had experience in sampling samples of tea and has evidently mastered the cup that cheers but does not inebriate without paying for it.

It appears that some fellow who was aware of the fact that samples of tea were being left at Peterborough residences and hit on a scheme to get his tea without expense. A day or so after he had seen the tea man leaving his samples at the houses along a street, he called at each residence and enquired for the samples that had been left. He gave the information that he had been instructed to collect the tea that had been left. If he was told that the sample had been used he departed without further adieu. If the tea had not been used he took it with him and when he called at one house where the Review secured this information he had several pounds collected. It can be readily understood how soon he would have a good supply by calling at fifty or sixty houses where he knew samples had been left.

Looking for One Pedlar Police Located Another

One cannot peddle goods in Peterborough without a license, and in this connection a story is told of a little incident that occurred a short time ago. The city clerk had been apprised that a man was going about the city selling silk goods of a somewhat expensive nature. The peddler had a letter of introduction from a minister at Kingston, and found it very helpful in gaining admittance to homes where the ordinary pedlar would receive the cold shoulder. The police were informed that the man was peddling without a license, and the officers of the law set out to bring him to time and the purchasing of a license. They were given a clue and worked assiduously for several days. At last they apprehended the man wanted and had him summonsed to police court. When the city clerk went to make out the papers in connection with the case, he found that the police had a pedlar alright, but not the man he had told them about, but another one. Pedlar No. 1, had apparently left the city and the police located another one who was selling goods without paying anything to the city. He paid his thirty dollars and took out a license.

Street Services To-night Great Preparation for St. John's Parochial Mission

Will Commence To-morrow Morning—Sketches of Minister Who Will Take Part in the Work.

St. John's church seems to be in the limelight just now, and public interest has been largely aroused in connection with the widely advertised parochial mission opening tomorrow morning. There is a good deal of curiosity abroad as to how the work will be tacking. In view of this interest the Review gives a few particulars regarding mission clergy.

REV. W. B. HEENEY.

Rev. W. B. Heeney who will take charge tomorrow, is an Irishman, who was educated in Montreal. He had a career of unusual success at Christ church, Belleville. He was then called to a church in Newport, Long Island, but feeling discontented with life under the American flag, returned to Canada. He was immediately appointed rector of Barrie, where an entire transformation has taken place in church work through his good offices. Mr. Heeney was appointed travelling secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew some years ago, and has visited Peterborough in that capacity. He also preached at St. John's dedication festival, last November.

REV. C. ENSOR SHARPE.

Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe is a graduate of Oxford University, and a highly cultivated and deeply spiritual man. He was naval chaplain at Esquimalt, B.C., for some time. On the removal of the British squadron, he went to Toronto on the invitation of the late Rev. King, and was appointed on the staff of St. Thomas church, of which the late Mr. King was rector. On the latter's death, he was made rector.

MR. SALISBURY LLOYD.

Mr. Salisbury Lloyd is a Welshman by birth. He was several years a clergyman in the Free Church of England, but gave up his connections with that church on conscientious grounds. He joined the Church of England, and gave himself up to mission work in this country. He was actively identified with the great Welsh revival. He is an evangelist of some power.

REV. F. C. BARBER.

Rev. F. C. Barber is an Englishman. He was for many years connected with mission work in Liverpool, and other great centres in England, acting as lay evangelist. He came to Canada to engage in mission work, and was ordained some time ago in Toronto.

REV. HAMILTON R. MOCKRIDGE.

Rev. Hamilton R. Mockridge, is the youngest son of Rev. Dr. Mockridge, late rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, and who has four sons in the ministry.

Rev. Mr. Mockridge is a young man of much promise and comes as assistant to Rev. C. E. Sharpe.

REV. C. E. WILKINSON.

Rev. C. E. Wilkinson was ordained last Sunday at St. John's. He has rendered very valuable assistance during the preparatory work for the mission. He will give an address on the Monday afternoon service at 4.15 o'clock.

During the next two Sundays the mission will supersede ordinary services and arrangements at St. John's.

While the mission will be conducted on definite church lines, it will be evangelistic in character, and everybody will be warmly welcomed at all services which will be held daily. The services will be very simple and direct in character, in which everybody can easily join.

SELECT SERVICES.

Tonight one of the preparatory services will be conducted opposite the post office on Hunter street at 8 p.m., and afterwards at the corner of George and Murray Streets, and at the corner of Simcoe and George. Rev. J. C. Davidson will conduct the opening meeting and give the addresses.

8.30 a.m.—Holy Communion.

10 a.m.—Morning Prayer.

11 a.m.—Litany and mission service.

3 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible class.

7 p.m.—Evensong.

7.30 p.m.—Mission service and sermon.

A Case of Smallpox in Cobourg

Local Man Left to Attend Patient in That Town

There is a case of smallpox in Cobourg and yesterday afternoon Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons., shipped one of their tents to the lakeside town. Last evening, Mr. W. H. Andrews of this city left on the nine o'clock train for Cobourg, where he will attend the gentleman who is stricken with the disease. Mr. Andrews has had a wide experience in cases of this kind, having attended a local gentleman who was quarantined in Jackson Park for several weeks. He has attended several smallpox patients and understands the care of them thoroughly.

57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers—To be major, Capt. G. W. Bennett, vice A. Stevenson, promoted.

Young Lawyer May be Candidate

Is Mentioned as Liberal Nominee for West Peterborough

It is rumored that a young but well-known Liberal lawyer is being pressed to accept the Liberal nomination for the Legislative Assembly in the West Riding of Peterborough. He is a man of high character and exceptional ability, and although no one expects him or anyone else to win against Mr. Bradburn, he could do much to restore the morale of his own party in the riding and to prepare it to take its position once more in the patriotic councils of the nation. It is generally conceded that something of the sort is a necessity unless defections from the party are to continue to increase.

BANANAS MAY ADVANCE IN PRICE SOON

The reported shortage of bananas in Jamaica is a matter on which local fruit men have little information yet, but all agree that, if by any means the Jamaica supply is curtailed the price of bananas to the people of Peterborough will be increased, and the supply decidedly curtailed. The nature of the fruit will not permit merchants to take any chances and big stocks at high prices simply means that much loss is sustained because the people will not buy bananas at 30 to 40 cents a dozen.

The people of Peterborough consume yearly about 150 cars of bananas. Each of these cars contain from 400 to 500 bunches, with from 10 to 15 dozen on a bunch. The prices for the most part are regulated by the quality and the supply, and the fluctuations are pronounced in their character. The supply of bananas can be procured at Santa Marta, Port Limon and Costa Rica, and the price ranges in the neighborhood of $2 to $2.50.

Port Hope Has Company Which Isn't a Company

Port Hope has a gas company, which isn't a company, and the town owns the bulk of the capital stock therein.

Away back in 1857, on Feb. 26th, of that year, the Port Hope Gas Company was incorporated for half a century. That half a century elapsed last year. The original charter, it seems, has been long since lost. The early books have gone too. At any rate nobody noticed that the charter had expired. Nobody thought about it. Then the fact came out by accident and the company in which the town owns 678 1-2 shares, learned to its dismay that it has been doing business since Feb. Feb. 26th, 1907, without a charter.

There was considerable doubt as to how to proceed. It was feared that if a new application for a charter were to be made, the town's share in the concern would be wiped out. Finally, it was decided to ask the Legislature to revivify the old company and legalize its transactions since the charter expired. This decision resulted in a bill which Mr. Preston of Durham, introduced in the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature. Mr Mulvey, the Assistant Provincial Secretary, was called into consultation. He did not favor the bill in its present form. The trend of legislation he pointed out, is to impose regulations upon such companies and he advised that the concern in question be subjected to modern restrictions. As these are not embodied in the old incorporation, he thought that the company should take out supplementary letters patent and thus place itself under new regulations.

In order that the bill may be redrafted so as to comply with this form of procedure rather than a revivifying of the old charter it was referred to Mr. Mulvey, who will consult with its promoters. These will see that provision is made for the safety of the town's stock.

ROYAL ALEXANDRA STOCK CO. HAVE DIFFICULTY AND DISBAND

"A stock company divided among themselves must surely fall," is very applicable in the case of the Royal Alexandra Stock Co., which has been playing a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House. The company have disbanded and as a result they will not play to-night. The reason of this is on account of differences among them, which evidently could not be amicably settled, and they decided to discontinue the performances.

It was a disappointed crowd that waited at the Opera House for the doors to open for the matinee this afternoon, when they learned that there would be no play. Earlier in the week some of the actors and actresses had threatened to quit the company and last night on account of trouble among them the play did not commence until a quarter to nine. What this theatrical troupe intend doing is not known.

Col. Young, of Kingston, D.O.C. for military district No. 3 is in the city today and is registered at the Oriental. This morning he inspected the equipment of the 57th regiment and this afternoon visited the quarters of the 24th Field Battery, where he performed a similar duty. Everything was found in first class condition, and the Colonel's report will no doubt be highly satisfactory.

Essayist Was Unable to Come

Miss Margaret Ward who was to have read an essay at the meeting of St. Peter's Literary Society last night was not able to be present and the meeting was postponed until March 20th. Miss Ward was in the country and the storm made it impossible for her to reach the city. A large number had gathered at the hall and a short musical programme was enjoyed.

AMUSEMENTS

The plan for the house for that inimitable comedy "Con the Shaughraun," will open at the Grand Opera House on Saturday morning, 14th inst., at ten o'clock. The cast has proven itself worthy of the best traditions of P.A.S. dramatic work and will give as its rehearsals indicate, a finished and faithful representation of this fine emotional play.

COMMERCIAL FAILURES

February business failures in Canada numbered 154, and involved liabilities of $1,032,803. In February, 1907, the figures were 105, and $719,351, and in February, 1906, 98, and $652,365. The United States failures for the month were heavy. They totalled 1,621, with liabilities of $27,064,571. In February, 1907, the returns were 924 failures, with a defaulted indebtedness of $10,283,779.

Commercial failures this week in the United States as reported by R. G. Dunn & Company, are 349, against 336 last week, 356 the preceding week, and 171 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 36, against 38 last week, 48 the preceding week, and 27 last year. Of failures this week in the United States, 140 were in the East, 119 South, 83 West and 63 in the Pacific States, and 146 report liabilities of $5000 or more, against 136 last week. Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for February are $13,364,280 against $5,056,647 for the same period the previous year.

Were Guests of Their Teacher

Mr. W. Galbraith Entertained Sunday School Class Last Evening

Mr. W. Galbraith entertained his Bible class of young ladies of the Charlotte street Methodist church at his home, 544 Charlotte street, last evening. The time was pleasantly spent in games and music. A song competition was held and proved to be very interesting. Each one was given a name of a song which they had to illustrate on a blackboard, and the one who guessed the largest number correctly was given a handsome prize. Miss Marie Hopkins was the lucky competitor. After refreshments were served the gathering dispersed, having spent a most enjoyable time.

GOOD CONCERT AT HAVELOCK

Peterborough Artists Pleased Those in Attendance

The concert in the Opera House on Monday evening under the auspices of St. John's church, was poorly attended, but the programme presented by the different artists was excellent. Miss Julia Choate, violinist, of Peterborough, was the favorite with the audience and her selections were received with great enthusiasm. Mr. Bert Harvey, comedian, of Toronto, was the fun-maker of the evening, and his comic songs were well put on and well received. Mr. J. Harry Sarver, and Miss Carrie Reesor were heard to advantage in solo numbers. Mrs. Wm. Culligan, of town, was the accompanist for Mr. Harvey, and that gentleman states that she is one of the best accompanists that has ever played for him.—Havelock Standard.

We teach everything from measuring to finish in the correct making of ladies' and childrens' garments and guarantee perfect satisfaction. If you do not wish to be a professional dressmaker, the cost is so small that you can well afford to take it up if only for your own use. Why spend your time at a dressmaking shop, where you do nothing but hem, sew on hooks and eyes, overcast and then after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. You can come and try for a few days and if course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilege to stop as there is no pay in advance. You certainly would not loose anything by trying.

Charge for full course is only $10.00, including a perfect fitting chart or we will teach a short Shirt Waist course for $1.00, either during the day or evening. We have been requested by a number of ladies in and around Peterboro', to teach another class this winter, as after March we go West again.

We will teach at Peterboro' from March 12th to March 20th. Hours for day class 8.30 to 5. Full information will be given by seeing us at Oriental Hotel on Wednesday, March 11th, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Girls Now Discover That the Marriages Were Real

Trouble Over Ceremonies Which Were Performed at What Was Called an Affinity Ball.

A New York despatch says:

There were thirty anxious girls in Bath Beach and Coney Island, yesterday, who were wondering whether they were really married or only wedded in fun as they supposed.

The reason for their agitation is that the marriages were performed by Philip Perry, who is a sure enough notary, and he made the certificates out in regular form on the regulation blanks that had been supplied for the purpose.

This isn't the worst or most confusing feature of the matter, according to the girls, for some of them, according fully into the spirit of the evening, were married four or more times, after securing a divorce from James Griffin of Coney Island, who posed as the divorce judge. He was very accommodating to all who applied.

Mrs. Josephine McSweeney, the pretty young wife of a tenement house inspector, living in Warehouse avenue, Coney Island, earned the prize a silk umbrella, as the most married woman of the ball. She was married and divorced fourteen times.

Miss Burke became almost hysterical when Henry Kowski, a Coney Island business man at the ball, appeared at her home to announce that she was really and truly his wife. She ran to her father, who first laughed, and then looked puzzled. He said at last that a lawyer ought to know and the legal status of the matter, and Miss Burke went to see the family attorney.

To Protect the Schools the Question in the Legislature

Provincial Government Will Investigate Ontario's Buildings.

Toronto, March 6.—Premier Whitney announced in the Legislature yesterday that the estimates would be brought down either to-day or Monday. As the tuberculosis debate was set for to-day it is probable that the budget will not be disclosed until the first of the week.

The House worked steadily through the order paper, and finished a good deal of routine business.

Mr. Harcourt asked the Minister of Public Works if he had a bill in mind for the better regulation of exits in schools and public buildings. He had a bill in preparation himself, but thought now that the Government should deal with it.

Hon. Mr. Reaume said the Cleveland matter had attracted the attention of the Department of Works, and the Department intended to take it up.

Hon. Mr. Matheson remarked that all the doors on schools and public places of entertainment in the province were required to open outwards. The danger at cinematograph performances was from the celluloid fibres which burst into flame if a spark ignited them. The State of Massachusetts required the apparatus to be enclosed in an iron box and the operator to have passed an examination. The Government had it in view to amend the legislation by a special enactment.

A Financial Arrangement.

In reply to Mr. McCoig the Attorney-General stated that the amount of money under control of the accountant of the Supreme Court of Judicature of Ontario on Dec. 31, 1907, was $2,514,267.68. This consisted of bank deposits bearing 3 per cent. interest, $278,919.75; Ontario municipal debentures $950,645.96; certificates of the University of Toronto, $428,088.50; Ontario mortgages, $767,780.24; Manitoba mortgages, $311,350; Manitoba mortgages, $677,585. All except university certificates were invested through the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, which guarantees the payment of principal and interest.

The court received on investment marked at 3 1-4 per cent, 3 1-2 per cent., 4 per cent., 4 per cent., 4 1-2 per cent, and the difference between the rates payable by the borrower and the above rates was received by the Trusts Corporation for its services. To suitors 3 1-2 per cent. was paid on invested bonds, but to litigants when money was paid into court with a defence, as a security for costs, as a security for debt, or costs to stay execution, as a deposit for sale and for other temporary purposes the interest allowed was two per cent. after the money has been in court six months.

The company paid all commissions, cost of managements, and all other outgoings and expenses besides guaranteeing the prompt payment of all principal and interest on every investment. A readjustment of rates payable to the court had been under consideration for several months and negotiations to that end were still pending.

Game Protection.

The bill to amend the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act was reported after some discussion in which A. C. Pratt took a prominent part in settling the conditions under which decoys might be used.

Mr. Smith (Sault) complained about insufficient game protection in the north country. One man at $50 could not cover 600 miles. Mr. Gamey agreed that not sufficient money was spent for game protection, and that the game was recklessly slaughtered.

Hon. Frank Cockrane stated in reply to Mr. McMillan, that Charles Burns was a homestead inspector at Parry Sound; that he received $900 a year, and the Government was not aware that he was a prospective candidate for the Legislature.

Italian Consul Describes Senator's Attack as Absurd

The unenviable notoriety which the Italian murders have brought to Montreal precipitated a debate in the Senate at Ottwaa last night, in the course of which a violent protest against Italian immigrtaion was made by Senate rCleran, while the Hon. R. W. Scott criticised police methods in Montreal, and attributed the wave of crime to the fact that Montreal abounded in drinking houses more than any city in Canada.

Exception to this latter statement, so far as it applied to Italians, was taken by Dr. Lionello Scelsi, the new Italian Consul in Montreal, with whom a Witness reporter had a conversation this morning.

DRINK NOT THE CAUSE.

The Consul said drinking had absolutely nothing to do with the stabbing and shooting affrays. The Italians did not drink whiskey or strong alcoholic liquors, and the light wine they drank did not inflame the blood. The only explanation of the crime that he could give was that the men were inherently bad, and that a certain law was passed some months ago making the carrying of the knives or stilettos an offence punishable by a very long term of imprisonment.

Senator Cleran's remarks were shown to the Consul, who laughed scornfully. A man who says that the change in Italy within the past thirty years has been for the worse, and that the country is infested with murderous men who fear neither God nor man, is simply making an exhibition of his ignorance. He knows absolutely nothing about Italy, or he would know there is no comparison between the conditions thirty years ago and now. His remarks are too absurd to talk about.

AN ITALIAN LAWYER'S VIEWS.

A distinguished Italian lawyer from Naples, who from motives of prudence, begged that his name should not be disclosed, is visiting Montreal just now, and accorded an interview to the Witness. He strongly favored the adoption by the Canadian Government of the method of selecting immigrants used by the United States Government, which maintains a bureau of inspection at Naples.

Probably one-third of the Italians who come here,' said he, 'are criminals who are wanted at home in Italy, and it is surely to the advantage of the Canadian Government to do as the Americans do, and inquire into the record of the immigrants. There should also be a money qualification, such as there as there is on entering the United States, and the immigrants should again be searched and inspected by Italian detectives before landing.

It is my idea also that many crimes are committed because the Italians read about other crimes in the Italian papers published in America which are full of nothing else.

MURDER FOLLOWS SUGGESTION.

On this theory of suggestion, Chief Carpenter had also a word to say. It was the only feasible explanation, he said, that could be given of the sporadic outbursts of crime which occur in different cities. One murder follows another in quick succession, said the chief, because there are always a certain number of people fully primed to do murder. They only need the suggestion.

Perhaps you have heard that the Whitechapel murders were suppposed to have been brought about by the dramatization of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Whether they were or not, it is certainly the case that the suggestion is often all that is necessary to prompt a murder or a suicide, and I have not the slightest doubt that it has a great deal to do with the crimes of the Italians.—Montreal Witness.

PRESSMEN MEET.

Jubilee of Canadian Association Being Celebrated in Toronto.

Toronto, March 6.—The fiftieth annual meeting of the Canadian Press Association brought a large number of newspaper men to the city yesterday. They gathered at the Temple Building and after having been welcomed by J. T. Clark, the president, an approved satisfactory report was presented by the executive. The paying membership numbers 356, an increase of 19, and there is a balance in the treasury of $1,931.63.

Nominations resulted in the election by acclamation of D. Williams of Collingwood as president; W. M. O'Beirne of Stratford, as first vice-president; J. B. Mackay of Toronto as second vice-president and J. R. Bone as secretary-treasurer.

A. E. Bradwin of Galt and J. H. Cranston of Toronto were nominated for assistant secretary-treasurer. The following were the nominees of the executive: H. B. Donly, W. E. Smallfield, C. W. Young, W. M. O'Beirne, L. H. Dingman, W. J. Taylor, J. P. Jaffray, J. A. Ewan, F. H. Dobbin, A. E. Bradwin, W. Ireland and M. A. James.

CRAWLED TWO MILES.

Vancouver, B.C., March 6.—Carrying his severed right leg with him, Daniel Stetson, a handlogger, crawled through two miles of bush to tidewater at Toba Inlet, got a boat and rowed another two miles down the coast to the logging camp before finally collapsing.

He was working alone Monday when caught by falling timber. It crushed his right leg into a shapeless mass, practically tearing it off, and Stetson completed the work by cutting the shreds of skin which remained. A man of iron determination and courage and although bleeding to death he retained consciousness, laboriously made his way through the bush to the coast. Foot by foot he crawled over the logs then got into the boat and managed to reach a small camp two miles away. Then he collapsed and died the next morning.

Government Will Act.

Toronto, March 6.—Premier Whitney yesterday received a deputation urging the Government for increased efforts in the fight against tuberculosis. Judge Barron of Stratford remarked that there were five persons died from consumption to one through intemperance and added that people were going crazy over temperance in Toronto.

"The Cabinet will sit down to a full and thorough—not a formal and perfunctory—handling of the problem, and, personally, I will do all in my power to comply with the aim of your petitions; not, mark you, with their specific suggestions," said the Premier. "We will inaugurate preliminary steps of some description leading to such a permanent course of conduct as, in our opinion, will be the best means to aid in driving this great and terrible scourge from the land."

For Church Union.

Brockville, March 6.—The Brockville Presbytery took a step towards church union by appointing a committee to confer with the Methodist district meeting, with a view to uniting weak congregations of Presbyterians and Methodists within the bounds of the presbytery. This action was taken following a report recommending some action to stop the wasteful drain of money spent in maintaining weak charges. The falling away in membership was attributed to larger numbers in the rural district settling in the Canadian west.

Injured in Box Factory.

Brockville, March 6.—A. W. Dickinson, foreman in a box factory at Rensselaer Falls, was brought to an Ogdensburg Hospital suffering from painful and serious injuries. He was passing under the main shaft when the nut of a set screw caught his clothing near the shoulder and whirled him over the shaft several times before the cloth gave way, so he fell to the floor. His right leg was broken and the instep of his foot badly crushed. The shaft was making 300 revolutions per minute.

President Fallieres' Trip.

St. Petersburg, March 6.—A visit to Russia this summer by M. Fallieres, President of France, is regarded in diplomatic circles as a practical certainty. He will also return the visits of the monarchs of Sweden and Norway, and also pay a visit to Copenhagen. He will be escorted by a squadron of warships, which will go to Cronstadt as on previous occasions.

Lancashire Labor Troubles.

London, March 6.—Serious labor troubles are still threatening in the Lancashire cotton trade and among the engineers of the northwest coast. Notices were posted yesterday threatening a lock-out of 80,000 cotton operatives in the Colne and Nelson districts.

Men Refused to Work.

Vancouver, March 6.—The city is arranging to close down its relief station, where a couple of hundred men have lately been housed and fed, because it has been shown that on several occasions men have refused to labor at $2 per day.

Strangled Herself.

St. Catharines, March 6.—Mrs. A. G. Sangster, aged 45, wife of the superintendent of the Hamilton Cataract Power Co. at Decew Falls, was found dead in her room yesterday, having strangled herself. She leaves three children.

ELOPED FROM TORONTO.

Providence, R.I., March 6.—Eloping from Toronto with Theresa Moquin, a 22-year-old French maiden, Col. Victor Ward, 74 years old, the oldest living confederate army officer, former governor of Kentucky and on the staff of President Jefferson Davis of the confederacy, reached here yesterday, believing they had outwitted the relatives of the girl, who they say are following them.

Col. Ward is one of the best known men of the south. He called on Governor Higgins and introduced his wife. Considerable mystery was thrown around the party by two detectives who acted as a bodyguard.

House Blown Up.

Brantford, March 6.—Mrs. Joseph Smith was painfully burned about the hair, face and arms yesterday morning by a gas explosion at her home, Darling street.

It is believed the explosion was caused by gas leaking from the street main into the cellar, which ignited when Mrs. Smith started to go down cellar with a lamp, which she lit on the way.

The explosion blew out the side of the house, which is frame, breaking the windows, springing the floor, and partly raising the structure off the foundation.

Smuggling Not Illegal.

Detroit, March 6.—Harry Payne of Windsor, under indictment here for bringing a Chinaman into the United States unlawfully, was released. The point raised by former United States District Attorney Wilkins, who was Payne's attorney, that the rowboat in which Payne brought the Chinaman over was not a "vessel" within the meaning of the statute, was sustained by Judge Swan.

Mutiny of Ship's Crew.

St. John, N.B., March 6.—Thirteen members of the crew of the Government steamer Lansdowne mutinied Wednesday evening, alleging ill-treatment and complaining that their pay was delayed. They were promptly paid and dismissed, but the steamer was prevented from sailing until a new crew can be engaged.

School Burned at Sturgeon Bay.

Greenbay, Wis., March 6.—A telephone message from Sturgeon Bay says that the principal school building there was burned yesterday. Loss, $60,000; insurance, about $32,000. No one was hurt. The building provided quarters for the high school and the first, second and third ward grammar schools.

C.P.R. Appointments.

Montreal, March 6.—The announcement is made of the appointment of William T. Payne, superintendent of Canadian Pacific Railway Co.'s Trans-Pacific service, to be manager, with headquarters at Yokohama.

Victims of Coal Gas.

St. Thomas, March 6.—Masen Laut, an M.C.R. brakeman, is dying, and his wife is seriously ill as the result of escaping coal gas.

Extending Rural 'Phones.

Brockville, March 6.—Rural telephone service in these united counties is making great progress. Wednesday night at Mallorytown another rural company was organised with the following officers: President, Dr. A. Judson; vice-president, E. Mallory; secretary, F. H. Mallory; directors, Eli Tennant, P. J. Purvis, William S. Ferguson, J. Haffie, Charles Tennant.

Took the Pledge for Forty Days

Sermon Leads Many to Total Abstinence for a Time

Following a very powerful sermon preached at St. Ann's church last evening by Father McPhail, every man and woman in the immense congregation took the total abstinence pledge for the forty days of Lent.

Father McPhall took for his text: "Woe to you! that rise up early in the morning to follow drunkenness, and to drink till the evening, to be inflamed with wine," Isaiah, chapter v., vs. 11.

Drunkenness, said Father McPhail, is a deadly sin, a curse that has decimated families, ruined the workinng classes, made murderers and home-wreckers.

"Drunkenness is doubly terrible because it not only kills the body but destroys the soul and its influence extends beyond the grave! It is a sin that alwyas brings other sins in its wake. By it the Ten Commandments are broken and the Precepts of the Church ignored. Drunkenness is a curse to the state, filling the prisons and insane asylums. It is a cancer on the social body. It destroys the God-given prerogatives in man. It enfeebles the health and shortens life. Experience has proved that intoxication exhausts and weakens the frame, however great the physical strength may naturally be."

Father McPhail appealed to the temperate to take the pledge during Lent as an act of reparation for the sins of drunkenness in the parish during the past year. As an act of charity and an example to the weak he exorted them as loyal and devout children of the church to set this example and to join in the great work.

The sermon lasted an hour and at the end of that time the congregation numbering two thousand took the pledge.—Montreal Star.

Palmists Wreck Homes; Separated Many Couples

Hamilton Detective Makes Some Startling Statements—Crusade Against Fortune Tellers.

Hamilton, March 5.—Wm. Huckle chief of the International Detective Bureau, today sprung the first of what he promises will be a series of sensations that will set Hamilton by the ears, when he made public some facts of a crusade on fortune-tellers palmists, and others of that ilk, whom he declares has been reaping a golden harvest in the city. In support of his story he produces a mass of evidence in the shape of signed statements and affidavits by people whose names and addresses he gives, and who he declares are prepared to come forward when the police make a move. He claims he was forced to make public the facts shown by the police commissioners in taking the matter up, and issuing an order for the police to rid the city of fortune-tellers.

GROSS IMMORALITY.

"I have a list," he said, "of 60 homes in Hamilton that have been wrecked through fortune telling, in many cases the husband being separated from the wife, and engaged couples severing the tie that bound them. I have sworn evidence to prove that the grossest immoralities have been committed in different places in the city under the guise of psychic reading and so on."

Nine months ago, Mr. Huckle says a prominent King street business man who, separated from his wife, and whose home was wrecked through fortune-telling, came to him, and he decided then and there to drive this evil from the city.

STARTED A PETITION.

Several weeks ago Mr. Huckle circulated a petition calling on the police commissioners to instruct the police to clean the city of fortune-tellers. This was signed by 150 prominent citizens, including lawyers, doctors and minister. Six weeks ago, he says, he went to Crown Attorney Washington and showed him the sworn affidavits of two witnesses, made before William Bell, commissioner, of the law firm of Crerar & Bell. These documents are in Mr. Huckle's hands, and make some shocking revelations.

The crown attorney, he says, advised him to go to Police Magistrate Jelfs.

After being bounced from the magistrate to the commission and back again, Mr. Huckle became annoyed. The commission refused to hear any evidence in the matter.

Mr. Huckle says that when he found the commissioners assuming this attitude he decided to fight. If the commissioners will not receive a deputation of prominent ministers, who are prepared to go before the board, he says he will hold a public meeting and see that the startling evidence he has is given full publicity.

A GIRL'S TESTIMONY.

Mr. Huckle produces two sworn affidavits by Edward Leslie and John Boden, residents of Hamilton, made before Commissioner Bell, and which make some shocking revelations. He has several statements from different people signed in the presence of Mr. Harry Larkin, 82 Park street south, and John Tierny, making equally shocking exposures. One of those is from a girl. At one of these places she declares she was brutally attacked by the clairvoyant, who only released her after she had threatened to jump out of the window and surrender her purse containing $1.35.

The officer has a score of useless trinkets which he says foolish people paid as high as $5 for. One of these is an ordinary piece of skin, which the victim was told was the skin of a Hindoo banshee.

AN ADVERTISING FALLACY

Many avertisers have a somewhat mistaken idea of the functions of advertising. They consider that the mere purchase of space in an advertising medium and the insertion of an advertisement should forthwith bring them in a great deal of business—in fact enough to justify them in saying that advertising pays. When their attempt does not have this immediate result, they at once come to the conclusion that advertising does not pay.

A business man, who runs a trial advertisement in a medium for a single insertion, hopes thereby to get returns from every reader of the paper. When only one or two answer, instead of being gratified, he is disappointed. He forgets the dozen or so more, who noted his advertisement, but who, by reason of the indolence of human nature, neglected to reply at once, and gradually forgot about it. There was no second insertion to quicken the memory and no third insertion to stir them up. The effect of the advertisement was lost on them.

Then there is another aspect of the case. Looking from the reader's standpoint he sees one firm advertising spasmodically, and another firm advertising regularly. What is his natural conclusions as to the merits of the two houses. Undoubtedly he will be led, perhaps unconsciously, to attribute greater solidity and progressiveness to the firm which uses space regularly. This is a psychological fact. It means it pays to advertise regularly, whether the advertisement can trace direct results or not.

Again, an advertiser who asserts that advertising does not pay, oftentimes has only himself to blame. There is a way to advertise well and there is a way to advertise ill. It is for the advertiser himself to make his publicity tell. Do not be inclined to blame the medium and blame advertising in general. Rather ask if you are obtaing the best possible effects in the composition of your advertisement, both literary and typographical.

Many arguments can be brought forward to support this position. Persistency is needed in advertising as much as in anything else if success is to be attained. Others have succeeded, and it has been through continuous effort. Therefore, before condemning advertising, give it a fair and reasonable trial.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

Smith Township Residents Honored by Their Friends

On Monday evening of last week, the members of the Young Canadians, LOL. and a number of friends assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Boyce, in Smith. A few pleasant social hours were spent and after supper had been served a presentation was made, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Friends—It is with regret that we learn of your approaching departure for the golden west, and we have met here this evening to present you and your worthy helpmate with coat and pair of gauntlets, as a small token of our esteem. We sincerely hope you will prosper in your new home, and if we should never meet again on earth, we shall all meet at the last day on the golden shore where there will be no parting.

Signed on behalf of Young Canadians, LOL. No. 1335.

J. J. BICKELL,
F. ROSBOROUGH,

The address was read by Mr. F. Rosborough, the presentation being made by Mr. J. J. Bickell. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce were completely taken by surprise, but in a few feeling terms, thanked the donors for their kindly expression of good will. The departure of Mr and Mrs Boyce for Alberta on Friday, will be regretted by their large circle of friends, and all wish them every prosperity in their new home.

Mrs. W. J. Biggins, an aged widow, of Clinton, was found dead in her house.

Protestant alliance

In an interview Canon Webb-Peploe, Prebendary of St. Paul's, London, referring to the resolution passed by the Protestant Alliance in Protest against the action of the King in going to the memorial service at St. James's Roman Catholic Church, said he thought the resolution was badly drafted, and it was not clear whether or not it was actually addressed to the King. If it was addressed to His Majesty, he was afraid it would be considered by some as a direct insult—even treason, and a resistance to His Majesty's rights. Undoubtedly every Protestantt of the Church of England would be grieved that the Sovereign had attended in public a mass for the dead, because that was in direct Opposition to their own faith. He (Canon Webb Peploe) was quite aware that similar things had been done in foreign countries by our representatives in order to show sympathy with sufferers and those in affliction, but that did not imply acceptance of the faith held by the majority in those countries.

Canon Webb-Peploe added that any judgment passed on His Majesty's action was misplaced and unbecoming, for he did not believe the King had the slightest intention of expressing any adhesion or admiration for the doctrines of the Church of Rome. However, he himself should have thought that the service of St. Paul's Cathedral would have been ample to express, through the Sovereign, the nation's sympathy towards the nation's sympathy towards the Portuguese people.—Montreal Star.

BEVERLY OF GRAUSTARK

CHAPTER III.

A PONDEROUS coach lumbered slowly, almost painfully, along the narrow road that skirted the base of a mountain. It was drawn by four horses, and upon the seat sat two rough, unkempt Russians, one holding the reins, the other lying back in a lazy doze. The month was June, and all the world seemed soft and sweet and joyous. To the right flowed a turbulent mountain stream, boiling savagely with the alien waters of the flood season. Ahead of the creaking coach rode four horsemen, all heavily armed; another quartette followed some distance in the rear. At the side of the coach an officer of the Russian mounted police was riding easily, jangling his accouterments with a vigor that disheartened at least one occupant of the vehicle. The windows of the coach doors were lowered, permitting the fresh mountain air to caress fondly the face of the young woman who tried to find comfort in one of the broad seats. Since early morn she had struggled with the hardships of that seat, and the late afternoon found her very much out of patience. The opposite seat was the resting place of a substantial colored woman and a stupendous pile of bags and boxes. The boxes were continually toppling over, and the bags were forever getting under the feet of the once placid servant, whose face, quite luckily, was much too black to reflect the anger she was able otherwise, through years of practice, to conceal.

"How much farther have we to go, lieutenant?" asked the girl on the rear seat plaintively, even humbly. The man was very deliberate with his English. He had been recommended to her as the best linguist in the service at Radovitch, and he had a reputation to sustain.

"It another hour is but yet," he managed to inform her, with a confident smile.

"Oh, dear," she sighed, "a whole hour of this!"

"We soon be dar, Miss Bev'ly. Jes' yo' mak' up yo' min' to res' easy-like, an' we'— But the faithful old colored woman's advice was lost in the wrathful exclamation that accompanied another dislodgment of bags and boxes. The wheels of the coach had dropped suddenly into a deep rut. Aunt Fanny's growls were scarcely more potent than poor Miss Beverly's moans.

"It is getting worse and worse," exclaimed Aunt Fanny's mistress petulantly. "I'm black and blue from head to foot, aren't you, Aunt Fanny?"

"Ah cain' say as to de blue, Miss Bev'ly. Hit's a mos' monstrous bad road, sho 'nough. Stay up dar, will yo'?" she concluded, jamming a bag into an upper corner.

Miss Calhoun, tourist extraordinary, again consulted the linguist in the saddle. She knew at the outset that the quest would be hopeless, but she could think of no better way to pass the next hour than to extract a mite of information from the officer.

"Now for a good old chat," she said, beaming a smile upon the grizzled Russian. "Is there a decent hotel in the village?" she asked.

They were on the edge of the village before she succeeded in finding out all that she could, and it was not a great deal, either. She learned that the town of Balak was in Axphain, scarcely a mile from the Graustark line. There was an eating and sleeping house on the main street, and the population of the place did not exceed 300.

When Miss Beverly awoke the next morning, sore and distressed, she looked back upon the night with a horror that sleep had been kind enough to interrupt only at intervals. The wretched hostelry lived long in her secret catalogue of terrors. Her bed was not a bed; it was a torture. The room, the table, the—but it was all too odious for description. Fatigue was her only friend in that miserable hole. Aunt Fanny had slept on the floor near her mistress' cot, and it was the good old colored woman's grumbling that awoke Beverly. The sun was climbing up the mountains in the east, and there was an air of general activity about the place. Beverly's watch told her that it was past 8 o'clock.

"Good gracious!" she exclaimed. "It's nearly noon, Aunt Fanny. Hurry along here and get me up. We must leave this abominable place in ten minutes." She was up and racing about excitedly.

"Befo' breakfas'?" demanded Aunt Fanny weakly.

"Goodness, Aunt Fanny, is that all you think about?"

"Well, honey, yo'll be thinkin' moughty serious 'bout breakfas' 'long to'ahds 'leben o'clock. Dat li'l tummy o' yourn'll be pow'ful mad 'cause yo' didn' "—

"Very well, Aunt Fanny, you can run along and have the woman put up a breakfast for us, and we'll eat it on the road. I positively refuse to eat another mouthful in that awful dining room. I'll be down in ten minutes."

She was down in less. Sleep, no matter how hard earned, had revived her spirits materially. She pronounced herself ready for anything. There was a wholesome disdain for the rigors of the coming ride through the mountains in the way she gave orders for the start. The Russian officer met her just outside the entrance to the inn. He was less English than ever, but he eventually gave her to understand that he had secured permission to escort her as far as Ganlook, a town in Graustark not more than fifteen miles from Edelweiss and at least two days from Balak. Two competent Axphainian guides had been retained, and the party was quite ready to start. He had been warned of the presence of brigands in the wild mountainous passes north of Ganlook. The Russians could go no farther than Ganlook because of a royal edict from Edelweiss forbidding the bearer approach of armed forces. At that town, however, he was sure she easily could obtain an escort of Graustarkian soldiers.

As the big coach crawled up the mountain road and farther into the oppressive solitudes Beverly Calhoun drew from the difficult lieutenant considerable information concerning the state of affairs in Graustark. She had been eagerly awaiting the time when something definite could be learned. Before leaving St. Petersburg early in the week she was assured that a state of war did not exist. The Princess Yetive had been in Edelweiss for six weeks. A formal demand was framed soon after her return from America requiring Dawsbergen to surrender the person of Prince Gabriel to the authorities of Graustark. To this demand there was no definite response, Dawsbergen insolently requesting time in which to consider the proposition.

Axphain immediately sent an envoy to Edelweiss to say that all friendly relations between the two governments would cease unless Granstark took vigorous steps to recapture the royal assassin. On one side of the unhappy principality a strong, overbearing princess was egging Graustark on to fight, while on the other side an equally aggressive people defied Yetive to come and take the fugitive if she could. The poor princess was between two ugly alternatives, and a struggle seemed inevitable. At Balak it was learned that Axphain had recently sent a final appeal to the government of Graustark, and it was no secret that something like a threat accompanied the message.

Prince Gabriel was in complete control at Serros and was disposed to laugh at the demands of his late captors. His half brother, the dethroned Prince Dantan, was still hiding in the fastnesses of the hills, protected by a small company of nobles, and there was no hope that he ever could regain his crown. Gabriel's power over the army was supreme. The general public admired Dantan, but it was helpless in the face of circumstances.

"But why should Axphain seek to harass Graustark at this time?" demanded Beverly Calhoun in perplexity and wrath. "I should think the brutes would try to help her."

"There is an element of opposition to the course the government is taking," the officer informed her in his own way, "but it is greatly in the minority. The Axphainians have haled Graustark since the last war, and the princess despises this American. It is an open fact that the Duke of Mizrox leads the opposition to Princess Volga, and she is sure to have him beheaded if the chance affords. He is friendly to Graustark and has been against the policy of his princess from the start."

"I'd like to hug the Duke of Mizrox," cried Beverly warmly. The officer did not understand her, but Aunt Fanny was scandalized.

"Good Lawd!" she muttered to the boxes and bags.

As the coach rolled deeper and deeper into the rock shadowed wilderness Beverly Calhoun felt an undeniable sensation of awe creeping over her. The brave, impetuous girl had plunged gayly into the project which now led her into the deadliest of uncertainties with but little thought of the consequences.

The first stage of the journey by coach had been good fun. They had passed along pleasant roads, through quaint villages and among interesting people, and progress had been rapid. The second stage had presented rather terrifying prospects, and the third day promised even greater vicissitudes. Looking from the coach windows out upon the quiet, desolate grandeur of her surroundings, poor Beverly began to appreciate how abjectly helpless and alone she was. Her companions were ugly, vicious looking men, any one of whom could inspire terror by a look. She had intrusted herself to the care of these strange creatures in the moment of inspired courage, and now she was constrained to regret her action. True, they had proved worthy protectors as far as they had gone, but the very possibilities that lay in their power were appalling, now that she had time to consider the situation.

The officer in charge had been recommended as a trusted servant of the czar; an American consul had secured the escort for her direct from the frontier patrol authorities. Men high in power had vouched for the integrity of the detachment, but all this was forgotten in the mighty solitude of the mountains. She was beginning to fear her escort more than she feared the brigands of the hills.

Treachery seemed printed on their backs as they rode ahead of her. The big officer was ever polite and alert, but she was ready to distrust him on the slightest excuse. These men could not help knowing that she was rich, and it was reasonable for them to suspect that she carried money and jewels with her. In her mind's eye she could picture these traitors rifling her bags and boxes in some dark pass, and then there were other horrors that almost petrified her when she allowed herself to think of them.

Here and there the travelers passed by rude cots where dwelt woodmen and mountaineers, and at long intervals a solitary but picturesque horseman stood aside and gave them the road. As the coach penetrated deeper into the gorge signs of human life and actvity became fewer. The sun could not send his light into this shadowy tomb of granite. The rattle of the wheels and the clatter of the horses' hoofs sounded like a constant crash of thunder in the ears of the tender traveler, a dainty morsel among hawks and wolves.

There was an unmistakable tremor in her voice when she at last found heart to ask the officer where they were to spend the night. It was far past noon, and Aunt Fanny had suggested opening the lunch baskets. One of the guides was called back, the leader being as much in the dark as his charge.

"There is no village within twenty miles," he said, "and we must sleep in the pass."

Beverly's voice faltered. "Out here in all this awful"— Then she caught herself quickly. It came to her suddenly that she must not let these men see that she was apprehensive. Her voice was a trifle shrill and her eyes glistened with a strange new light as she went on, changing her tack completely: "How romantic! I've often wanted to do something like this."

The officer looked bewildered and said nothing. Aunt Fanny was speechless. Later on, when the lieutenant had gone ahead to confer with the guides about the suspicious actions of a small troop of horsemen they had seen, Beverly confided to the old negress that she was frightened almost out of her boots, but that she'd die before the men should see a sign of cowardice in a Calhoun. Aunt Fanny was not so poised and imperious. It was with difficulty that her high strung young mistress suppressed the wails that had long been under restraint in Aunt Fanny's huge and turbulent bosom.

"Good Lawd, Miss Bev'ly, dey'll chop us-all to pieces an' take ouah jewl'ry an' money an' clo'es an' ev'ything else we-done got about us. Good Lawd, le's turn back, Miss Bev'ly. We ain' got no mo' show out heah in dese mountains dan a"—

"Be still, Aunt Fanny!" commanded Beverly, with a fine show of courage. "You must be brave. Don't you see we can't turn back? It's just as dangerous and a heap sight more so. If we let on we're not one bit afraid they'll respect us, don't you see, and men never harm women whom they respect."

"Umph!" grunted Aunt Fanny, with exaggerated irony.

"Well, they never do!" maintained Beverly, who was not at all sure about it. "And they look like real nice men —honest men, even though they have such awful whiskers."

"Sh! Don't let them hear you," whispered Beverly.

In spite of her terror and perplexity she was compelled to smile. It was all so like the farce comedies one sees at the theater.

As the officer rode up his face was pale in the shadowy light of the afternoon, and he was plainly very nervous.

"What is the latest news from the front?" she inquired cheerfully.

"The men refuse to ride on," he exclaimed, speaking rapidly, making it still harder for her to understand. "Our advance guard has met a party of hunters from Axphain. They insist that you —'the fine lady in the coach'—are the Princess Yetive, returning from a secret visit to St. Petersburg, where you went to plead for assistance from the czar."

Beverly Calhoun gasped in astonishment. It was too incredible to believe. It was actually ludicrous. She laughed heartily. "How perfectly absurd."

"I am well aware that you are not the Princess Yetive," he continued emphatically, "but what can I do? The men won't believe me. They swear they have been tricked and are panic stricken over the situation. The hunters tell them that the Axphain authorities, fully aware of the hurried flight of the princess through these wilds, are preparing to intercept her. A large detachment of soldiers is already across the Graustark frontier. It is only a question of time before the 'red legs' will be upon them. I have assured them that their beautiful charge is not the princess, but an American girl, and that there is no mystery about the coach and escort. All in vain. The Axphain guides already feel that their heads are on the block, while as for the Cossacks, not even my dire threats of the awful anger of the white czar when he finds they have disobeyed his commands will move them."

"Speak to your men once more, sir, and promise them big purses of gold when we reach Ganlook. I have no money or valuables with me, but there I can obtain plenty," said Beverly, shrewdly thinking it better that they should believe her to be without funds.

The cavalcade had halted during this colloquy. All the men were ahead conversing sullenly and excitedly with much gesticulation. The driver, a stolid creature, seemingly indifferent to all that was going on, alone remained at his post. The situation, apparently dangerous, was certainly most annoying. But if Beverly could have read the mind of that silent figure on the box she would have felt slightly relieved, for he was infinitely more anxious to proceed than even she, but from far different reasons. He was a Russian convict who had escaped on the way to Siberia. Disguised as a coachman, he was seeking life and safety in Graustark or any out of the way place. It mattered little to him where the escort concluded to go. He was going ahead. He dared not go back; he must go on.

At the end of half an hour the officer returned. All hope had gone from his face. "It is useless!" he cried out. "The guides refuse to proceed. See! They are going off with their countrymen. We are lost without them. I do not know what to do. We cannot get to Ganlook. I do not know the way, and the danger is great. Ah, madam, here they come! The Cossacks are going back."

As he spoke the surly mutineers were riding slowly toward the coach. Every man had his pistol on the high pommel of the saddle. Their faces wore an ugly look. As they passed the officer one of them, pointing ahead of him with his sword, shouted savagely, "Balak!"

His only thought was to get away.

It was conclusive and convincing. They were deserting her.

"Oh, oh, oh! The cowards!" sobbed Beverly in rage and despair. "I must go on! Is it possible that even such men would leave"—

She was interrupted by the voice of the officer, who, raising his cap to her, commanded at the same time the driver to turn his horses and follow the escort to Balak.

"What is that?" demanded Beverly in alarm.

From far-off came the sound of firearms. A dozen shots were fired and reverberated down through the gloomy pass ahead of the coach.

"They are fighting somewhere in the hills in front of us," answered the now frightened officer. Turning quickly, he saw the deserting horsemen halt, listen a minute and then spur their horses. He cried out sharply to the driver: "Come, there! Turn round! We have no time to lose!"

With a savage grin, the hitherto motionless driver hurled some insulting remark at the officer, who was already following his men, now in full flight down the road, and, settling himself firmly on the seat, taking a fresh grip of the reins, he yelled to his horses, at the same time lashing them furiously with his whip, and started the coach ahead at a fearful pace. His only thought was to get away as far as possible from the Russian officer, then deliberately desert the coach and its occupants and take to the hills.

CHAPTER IV.

THOROUGHLY mystified by the action of the driver and at length terrified by the pace that carried them careening along the narrow road, Beverly cried out to him, her voice shrill with alarm. Aunt Fanny was crouching on the floor of the coach between the seats, groaning and praying.

"Stop! Where are you going?" cried Beverly, putting her head recklessly through the window. If the man heard her he gave no evidence of the fact. His face was set forward, and he was guiding the horses with a firm, unquivering hand. The coach rattled and bounded along the dangerous way hewn in the side of the mountain. A misstep or a false turn might easily start the clumsy vehicle rolling down the declivity on the right. The convict was taking desperate chances and, with a cool, calculating brain, prepared to leap to the ground in case of accident and save himself, without a thought for the victims inside.

"Stop! Turn around!" she cried in a frenzy. "We shall be killed. Are you crazy?"

By this time they had struck a descent in the road and were rushing along at breakneck speed into oppressive shadows that bore the first imprints of night. Realizing at last that her cries were falling upon purposely deaf ears, Beverly Calhoun sank back into the seat, weak and terror stricken. It was plain to her that the horses were not running away, for the man had been lashing them furiously. There was but one conclusion—he was deliberately taking her farther into the mountain fastnesses, his purpose known only to himself. A hundred terrors presented themselves to her as she lay huddled against the side of the coach, her eyes closed tightly, her tender body tossed furiously about with the sway of the vehicle. There was the fundamental fear that she would be dashed to death down the side of the mountain, but apart from this her quick brain was evolving all sorts of possible endings—none short of absolute disaster.

Even as she prayed that something might intervene to check the mad rush and to deliver her from the horrors of the moment the raucous voice of the driver was heard calling to his horses, and the pace became slower. The awful rocking and the jolting grew less severe, the clatter resolved itself into a broken rumble, and then the coach stopped with a mighty lurch.

Dragging herself from the corner, poor Beverly Calhoun, no longer a disdainful heroine, gazed piteously out into the shadows, expecting the murderous blade of the driver to meet her as she did so. Pasloff had swung from the box of the coach and was peering first into the woodland below and then upon the rocks to the left. He wore the expression of a man trapped and seeking means of escape. Suddenly he darted behind the coach, almost brushing against Beverly's hat as he passed the window. She opened her lips to call him, but even as she did so he took to his heels and raced back over the road they had traveled so precipitously.

Overcome by surprise and dismay, she only could watch the flight in silence. Less than a hundred feet from where the coach was standing he turned to the right and was lost among the rocks. Ahead, four horses, covered with sweat, were panting and heaving as if in great distress after their mad run. Aunt Fanny was still moaning and praying by turns in the bottom of the carriage. Darkness was settling down upon the pass, and objects a hundred yards away were swallowed by the gloom. There was no sound save the blowing of the tired animals and the moaning of the old negress. Beverly realized with a sinking heart that they were alone and helpless in the mountains, with night upon them.

She never knew where the strength and courage came from, but she forced open the stubborn coach door and scrambled to the ground, looking frantically in all directions for a single sign of hope. In the most despairing terror she had ever experienced she started toward the lead horses, hoping against hope that at least one of her men had remained faithful.

A man stepped quietly from the inner side of the road and advanced with the uncertain tread of one who is overcome [illegible] He was a stranger and wore an odd, uncouth garb. The failing light told her that he was not one of her late protectors. She shrank back with a faint cry of alarm, ready to fly to the protecting arms of hopeless Aunt Fanny if her uncertain legs could carry her. At the same instant another ragged stranger, then two, three, four or five, appeared as if by magic, some near her, others approaching from the shadows.

"Who—who in heaven's name are you?" she faltered. The sound of her own voice in a measure restored the courage that had been paralyzed. Unconsciously this slim sprig of southern valor threw back her shoulders and lifted her chin. If they were brigands they should not find her a cringing coward. After all, she was a Calhoun.

The man she had first observed stopped near the horses' heads and peered intently at her from beneath a broad and rakish hat. He was tall and appeared to be more respectably clad than his fellows, although there was not one who looked as though he possessed a complete outfit of wearing apparel.

"Poor wayfarers, may it please your highness," replied the tall vagabond, bowing low. To her surprise, he spoke in very good English. His voice was clear, and there was a tinge of polite irony in the tones. "But all people are alike in the mountains. The king and the thief, the princess and the jade live in the common fold." And his hat swung so low that it touched the ground.

"I am powerless. I only implore you to take what valuables you may find and let us proceed unharmed!" she cried rapidly, eager to have it over.

"Pray, how can your highness proceed? You have no guide, no driver, no escort," said the man mockingly. Beverly looked at him appealingly, utterly without words to reply. The tears were welling to her eyes, and her heart was throbbing like that of a captured bird. In after life she was able to picture in her mind's eye all the details of that tableau in the mountain pass—the hopeless coach, the steaming horses, the rakish bandit and his picturesque men, the towering crags and a mite of a girl facing the end of everything.

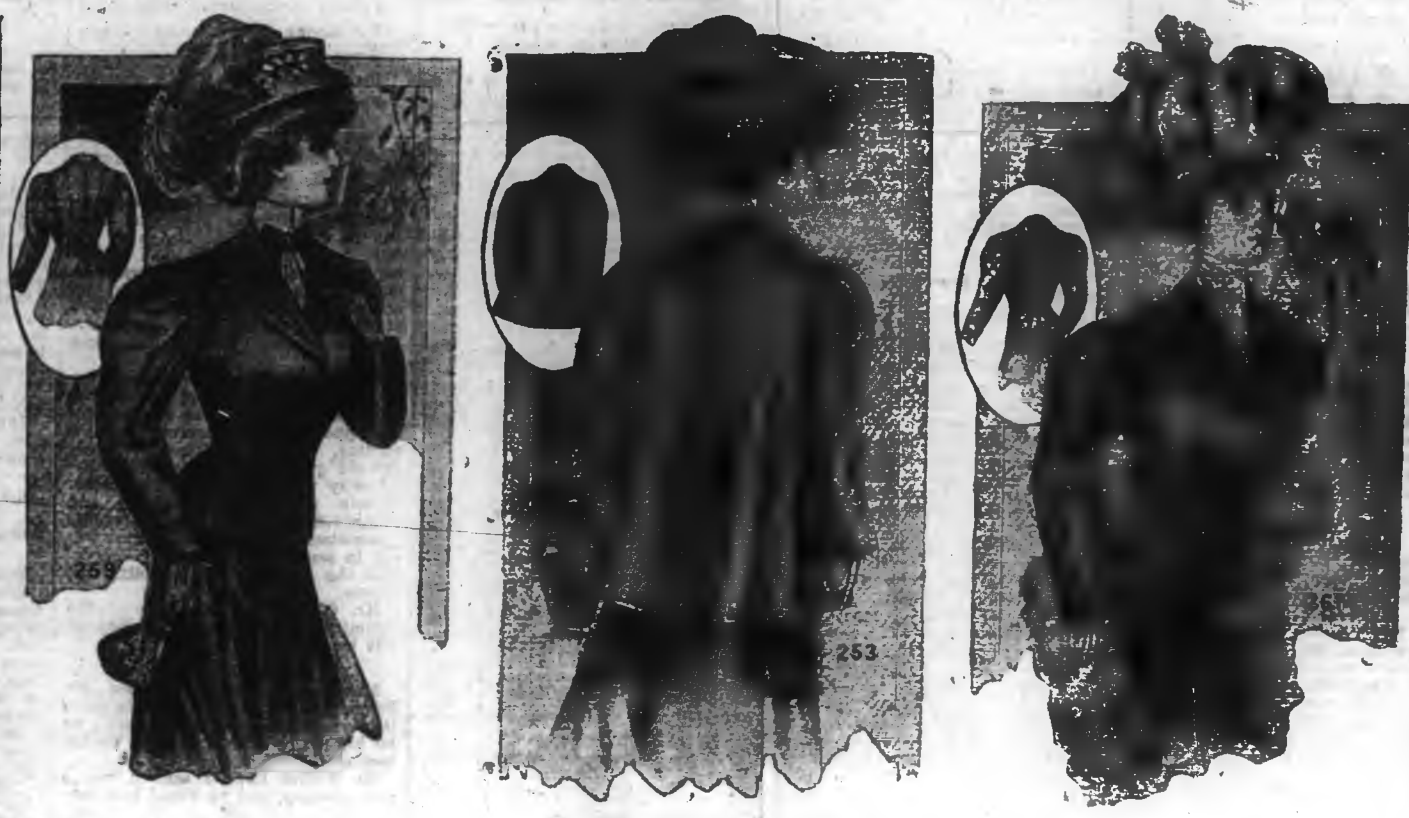
THE LATEST CREATIONS FROM WOMEN'S REALM



LATEST SPRING MANTLES.

NEWEST IDEAS IN BLOUSES

White Goods the Favorite—Tailored Waists for Ordinary Wear—Short Sleeves Still Most Popular for Dressy Occasions

The local drygoods stores are all showing their importations of materials for spring. The main interest of the lady who shops these days is the question of wash blouses, as between seasons this is always an important item of a lady's toilette. In reply to inquiries as to styles and popular materials for this season the following information was gained.

White is the supreme favorite for the spring and summer of 1908. Everything is white and generally all white, without even so much as a suggestion of colored stripe or figure, and this holds good for the most severely tailored morning blouse, and most fluffy of lingerie waists. Checked or cross-barred materials lead in the fabric designs, and these wear much better than stripes, because stripes rot, while the cross-bar checks the breaking of threads in the stripes it crosses. The few checked or barred dimities, laws and batistes come in a great variety, the checks varying in size from an eighth of an inch to the inch itself, though the medium size is by all odds the smartest. Very few piques are offered, as madras has almost entirely superseded pique. Imported percale in white plain, cross-barred or figured, is popular and costs twenty-five cents a yard.

TRIMMINGS IN SQUARE LINES.

The woman who designs blouses is a busy person, for the fashionable woman demands infinite variety in blouses. This season she will tell you that square lines are the smartest in applying trimming and shaping blouse yokes, stole effects, sleeve caps, etc. Also you will find that while the elbow sleeve is used as of yore on fluffy, lace-inset lingerie waists (the sort that bring gray hairs to the head of the average laundress and bills to their owner), for the useful waist the long sleeve is back—and most of us are really ready to welcome it. For shirt waist suits and heavy tub waists to wear with two-piece cloth or linen suits, the sleeve must be long. This is 1908's hard and fast rule.

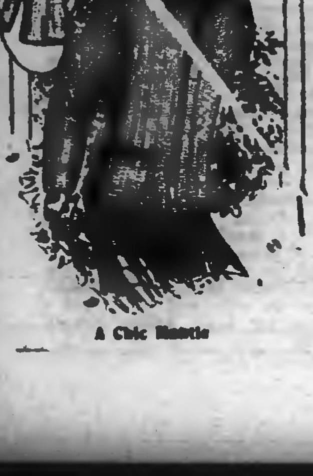
You can take your choice between the regulation shirt sleeve with deep or narrow cuff to be worn with links or the shaped cuff which runs almost to the elbow, which may be made of tucked material or alternate strips of material and lace insertion. In most of the designs shown, both the long and short sleeve are given but the wise woman will instantly decide in favor of the long sleeve for ordinary waists. The short sleeve, thanks to a vigorous campaign on the part of French man-dressmaker, is being relegated to its correct use, for evening wear, when gloves meet it at the elbow.

Girdles used to finish off the tailored waists are distinctive. They must be narrow, carefully fitted to the figure and may be of linen interlined with butcher's linen, heavily stitched and finished with a pearl buckle or of leather to match the skirt worn.



A Chic Mantle

TAILORED CLOTHES.

A Way to Successfully Press Coats and Skirts.

It costs a dollar to have a skirt sponged and pressed, and dollars for the most of us don't grow on every bush. Yet it is impossible to look well groomed unless the costume shows signs of being well cared for.

Although it is hard work to do one's own pressing, the girl who has more time than money may be willing to spend some strength for the sake of keeping her clothes in order. The girl who undertakes the task should own a skirt board, of which one end should be perfectly squared, a sleeve board, a seam board, a heavy and medium iron and a small one, with one end slightly turned up. A tailor's goose is a good thing to have, but it is so heavy that the average girl cannot manipulate it. So the heavy iron must be made to take its place.

This last is used mainly for pressing the bottoms of skirts. When one has been caught in the rain the skirt should never be worn again until well pressed, especially at the bottom. No matter how handsome a dress may be, if wrinkled by the rain it is unsightly.

All mud spots having been removed, the skirt should be put wrong side out over a skirt board and a few inches of the bottom thoroughly wiped with a wet cloth. A dry cloth should then be laid on, and the heavy iron, moderately hot, should be applied while the skirt is held taut and smooth. The weight of the iron will hold it down at one end, and the left hand should draw it at the other. After the entire skirt has been treated in this way start over again with a moderate iron, this time possibly without any cloth intervening. It will be found that the material will be of uniform dampness all around. Iron smoothly and unremittingly until absolutely dry. Very often mere pressing with a moderate iron will be found sufficient for the rest of the skirt, as it is the bottom which suffers most on account of its thickness.

Frequently if a dress of thin material is wrinkled mere hanging up smoothly in the damp night air will repair the evil. Better yet it is to fold it smoothly and lay it away in a trunk for a time. If necessary to really press, however, wipe lightly one breadth at a time with a wet cloth and iron with moderate heat, always passing from hem to band with the grain of the goods, never from band to hem and never across. If this injunction is not followed the set of the skirt may be entirely altered. It may be found too short all around or of uneven length. One mother is accustomed to give such order as the following: "Iron the white skirt for width, but the blue one for length." Which means that the blue one must be ironed with the grain of the goods, while across the grain is best for the white goods.

Largest Lightning Conductor.

The largest lightning conductor in the world is on the Lugspite weather station in Bavaria. It runs down the mountain side for three and a half miles to a lake.

Roads of France.

There are in France 23,656 miles of national routes, which cost $308,975,000 to build. There are also 316,898 miles of local highways, built at a total cost of $308,800,000, of which the state furnished $81,060,000 and the interested localities $227,740,000.

Hair Growth.

It is a peculiar fact that with most men the growth of hair is greater on one side of the face than the other. It is said that hair always grows more thickly on that side on which we are stronger.

EMBROIDERY MOTIFS.

How Fashionable Irish Crochet Dress Trimmings Are Made.

STAR PATTERN INSERTION.

The Motifs Are Joined Into Attractive Bands by Sewing Three of the Picots of Two Points Together Where They Meet.

To make the favorite Irish crochet lace in attractive designs for blouse or dress trimmings follow these directions:

Ch., chain stitch; d., double stitch; t., treble stitch; p. c., padding cord.

Star Pattern Insertion.—The motif of this very pretty design will be found most useful, whether joined together for insertion as illustrated or used singly, as in Fig. 1. In this case it is either appliqued to the material or inserted. The materials employed for the design were No. 42 Irish lace thread, white No. 10 padding cotton and a fine crochet hook. The patterns are equally suitable for silk and linen.

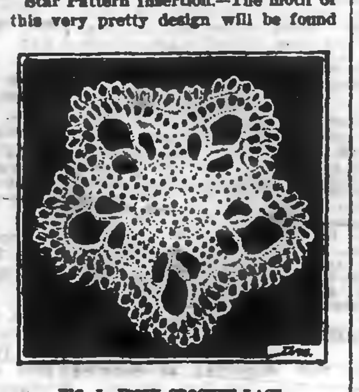


FIG. I—IRISH CROCHET LACE.

To make the motif, wind the p. c. twenty times round a small mesh. Into this tiny ring of p. c. work 25 d. closely: First row, 2 d. into each stitch on ring. Second row, 1 t. into each of last row. Third row, 1 d. into first t. of last row, 2 d. into next t., 1 d. into next, then 2 d. into every alternate stitch, and 1 d. between to end of row. Fourth row, 15 ch. fasten to fourth stitch of last row, 15 ch. fasten to next fourth d., 1 d. into each of next 5 d.; 15 ch. fasten to next fourth stitch, 15 ch. fasten to next fourth stitch, 1 d. into each of next 5 d. and repeat three times. Fifth row, 10 d. into first loop, 10 ch., fasten to top of second loop, 10 d. down side of this loop, 1 d. into each of 5 d., and repeat all around. Sixth row, 1 d. into each d. all round and 10 d. into each top loop. Seventh row, 1 d. into center of first 5 d., 2 ch. 1 t. into second stitch on loop, 2 ch. 1 t. into every second stitch all round, putting 1 d. into the center of each 5 d. between the points. Eighth row, 1 d. 5 ch. 1 d. into each space of 2 ch. all round.

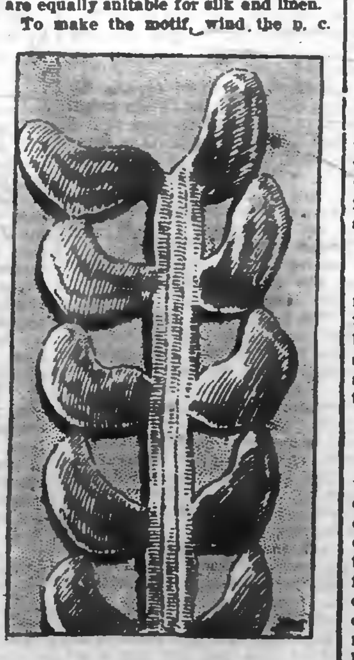

FIG. II—MOTIF FOR APPLIQUE.

To make these motifs into insertion join the points in the manner illustrated by sewing three of the picots of two points, where they meet when placed together, on the wrong side neatly and securely. Two points at one side of the motif and one at the other must be joined in this five point star.

To make Fig. 2 take four long strands of padding thread and fasten the thread to one end with 1 d. Twist the p. c. round to form a ring and work 40 d. into it. Join the first and last stitches, 25 d. over p. c. Pull the p. c. to keep these stitches as close as possible. Leave the p. c. Turn and work 1 d. into last stitch and 1 t. into each stitch to end; 2 d. into next two on ring. Turn; 1 d. into last t. and 1 t. into each t. to top, 1 d. into first d. and 2 d. over the p. c. Turn and work 1 d. over p. c. into each stitch of last row, and 2 into next two on center ring. Repeat seven times, joining the first 5 d. over p. c. to the preceding leaflet by taking up the stitches of that leaflet. Fasten off the p. c. securely on the back of the work and cut off ends of thread.

House Plants.

Be careful not to overwater them.

To find out if they need water rap the side of the pot with your knuckles.

If it rings clear and sharp, the plant needs watering.

If there is a dull sound, the soil is already moist enough.

Let the soil get fairly dry before wetting it again.

The Golden Hole.

The Hidden Secret mine in Australia yielded $200,000 of gold in a few days and was sold for $2,500,000. It was then called the Golden Hole. The entrance was sealed and a stock company formed with $3,750,000 capital. When it was reopened the mine proved to be a pocket. All the gold was gone.

Lemon and Water.

While lemon and water is an admirable drink for any one who is not troubled with overacidity, care must be taken that it is not too strong. A slice or two of lemon, or, at the most, a half lemon, is quite enough for a tumbler of water.

A New Perfume For the Bath.

A deliciously refreshing perfume for the bath is the salts of genuine eau de cologne. A tablespoonful, or possibly double the quantity if one likes the odor especially strong, put in the bathtub makes the water soft and delightful to use. Eau de cologne is marvelously refreshing at all times, and this extract of salts in the bath will do much to take away the fatigue of a long day or start one off in the morning invigorated and more than ready for the day's work.

The various toilet waters are all delicious for the bath if used in small quantities, but none can equal this new salts of eau de cologne.

The Wrong Profession.

Client—Didn't you make a mistake in going into law instead of the army?

Lawyer—Why?

Client—By the way you charge there would be little left of the enemy.—Sacred Heart Review.

FOR SMALL KITCHENS.

Practical Furnishings That Affect Comfort of the Entire House.

The condition of the kitchen may affect the comfort of an entire house, for if cook is not good tempered the family is apt to know it by the dishes she sends to the table. For this reason if for no other it is the part of policy to make the woman's workroom as convenient and attractive as possible, and much may be done with the pantry.

Shelves covered with rubber cloth not only look well, but are more easily kept clean than if bare or covered with paper. The cloth can be wiped over with a damp rag and made perfectly fresh, whereas wood requires the use of soap and more thorough drying. Paper rumples and turns to allow dust or crumbs to get beneath.

Whatever is decided upon should be so cut as to hang over the front shaped into scallops. This is a pretty finish and also prevents the stuff turning up to become a dust trap.

A tack at each corner, front and back, is sufficient to hold and should not be driven in as far as the head, for it is then more difficult to pull when the time arrives to remove the covering.

Vegetables, such as potatoes, onions and the like, frequently kept in a kitchen pantry are apt to attract bugs if not carefully looked after. The best receptacles for such eatables are galvanized iron pails, which will not warp or fall apart and from which the dirt is easily washed. The objection to having vegetables cleaned when they come into the house is that water will often cause them to decay before they can be used.

If, as is the case in some summer houses, there is no pantry, more effort will be required to make shelves in the kitchen look well and be neat. Old window shades will do both of these. To accomplish this cut the roll from a curtain and measure it the length of the shelves.

Fasten the brackets to the shelf so that a white curtain tacked to the roller will hang close at either side and overlap it about one inch. Fasten a ring to the slat in the hem of the curtain to pull it down and raise by, and you will be surprised to see how long you can keep it clean and how nice it will look.

If you want the cupboard dark to help in keeping out flies, use a dark colored curtain outside of the white one and tacked with it to the shelf and roller. This makes a very neat little cupboard and is easily kept clean, as the white curtains only require to be soaked a few hours in warm suds and then boiled, rinsed, dried, pressed and returned to the shelves clean.

If the shelves and the walls behind them are painted white, the paper may be dispensed with, and the care of the cupboard will be much less, as the changing of paper is more bother than wiping off the shelves with a cloth wrung from suds.

Cretonne is sometimes used for the shelves and is very pretty for the purpose, especially if there is a small stand with a sewing basket or book on it and an easy rocker with cushion of the cretonne near it. This is, of course, for the kitchen where there is plenty of room to sit in comfort, an unusual thing these days.

Experience in England shows that in towns supplied with soft water the death rate is 19.2, while in towns that has a supply of hard water it is only 16.5.

WITH A PERKY LITTLE BOW

How the Chic Touch is Given to the Tailored Shirt Waist—Quaint Bows Made of Small Handkerchiefs With Colored Border

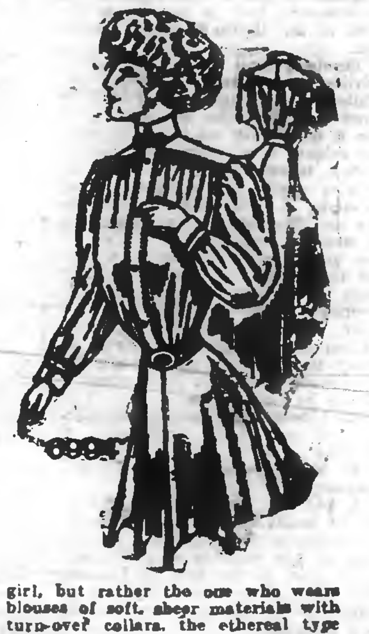
The trimming and accessories of a garment are, in these days, of vital importance. They make the costume chic or otherwise. For instance what is the tailored shirt waist without its perky little bow at the throat? So let us talk about these easy little bows first. Each week the shops seem to offer dozens of new varieties, and I can find no more alluring way of spending a spare hour than wandering from one shop to another and peering into the glass cases where these neck bows are kept. Most of them can be duplicated perfectly by the home sewer.

Among the newest short bows are those made of Roman striped ribbon. This costs about thirty-five cents a yard, but it is new, and that is worth much. If your shirt waist is white you can select some very garish colorings, such as ribbon with yellow for a foundation color, striped with several blues, grays, lavenders, etc. But if your blouse is made of dark blue silk, for instance, then your tie of Roman ribbon must have dark blue for the predominating color, with only rich blending shades for stripes. If the ribbon does not go around the neck, three-quarters of a yard is ample. These are not small, but rather wide bows.

WINDSOR TIES FOR GROWN-UPS.

The old-fashioned Windsor ties, so much worn by children, also find a place among the grown-ups finery. These ties are almost always made of surah silk, and the newest ones are embroidered at the ends in contrasting colors. I saw some very dainty Windsor ties this week made of pale silk, the ends embroidered with large white silk polka dots; blue ones with circle feather stitched in corn colored silk; dark blue ones with tiny red fleur de lis, etc. Some of the new Windsor ties are very narrow, about three inches in width, with scalloped ends.

Let me say that these Windsor ties, with their soft, rather flowing ends, are very becoming to a certain type of girl—not the stiff, tailor made girl, but rather the one who wears blouses of soft, sheer materials with turn-over collars, the ethereal type of girls with fluffy hair and dreamy eyes.



Quaint little bows to be worn with wash waists are made from small handkerchiefs with colored borders and flowered corners. Some of these are made with just the four points of the handkerchiefs cut off on the bias at each corner, and used to form double pointed ends—the middle bound tightly together with a crushed piece cut from the centre of the handkerchief. Others have a straight half of the handkerchief side plaited and finished off at the top with a bow of the other half. These handkerchiefs can be purchased at any department store for about twelve cents each, and one or two of them worked into your box of neckwear will lend great variety to your shirt waist bows.

Just at present plain satin and straw hats are trimmed with huge bows of wired all-over lace and net. This is a fashion that I do not recommend to the girl with few hats. It is an easy method of trimming a hat, indeed, so easy that the fashion will become frightfully common within a month or so, especially in large cities. If you have an old hat which you want want to freshen up, and do not want to buy a lot of new trimming for it, then an ecru lace bow, wired, will help you out. These bows have no ends; they consist of six large loops, three on each side.

Leader of Government Says There is Nothing to Conceal

Premier Whitney Will Supply Full Information on Power.

Toronto, March 7.—"I would suggest that my hon. friend frame his motion so as to include every possible phase of the situation, to make it as complete as it is possible to make it, and as wide and as far as it can be made to reach, and present it on Monday. I shall be prepared to reply with full and complete and, I trust, satisfactory information."

Such was the statement of Hon. Mr. Whitney in the Legislature yesterday in reference to the series of questions propounded by Hon. A. G. MacKay relative to an alleged offer or offers received by the Government from the Electrical Development Co. or a representative of its bondholders prior to the time Mr. William Mackenzie secured a controlling interest therein.

The Prime Minister's statement was made after an interchange between the leaders, in the course of which Mr. MacKay had adopted a suggestion to amend the form in which he secured the information from a question to that of a motion for a return.

The interest of the sitting centred on the two and comprehensive series of questions the Opposition leader proposed to put to the head of the Government, both in relation to the work of the Hydro-Electric Commission.

"Surely a limit to the question of privilege is here reached," began Mr. Whitney, with a smile. "As I understand procedure the test of a question is whether or not it can be made the subject of a return. Unless the subject is one permitting a concise reply a motion for a return should be made. I quite understand the desire and the right to get information as soon as possible, but if there is any unjustifiable waiting for returns the Government will not only complain, but will be obliged if attention is drawn to the matter."

Mr. Whitney added that the information Mr. MacKay sought would fill about two volumes of journals, but if he made his motion for a return, it should be forthcoming.

The Liberal leader said he was quite satisfied and would move again on Monday.

Mr. MacKay then put the following questions:

(1) Did any representative of holders of bonds issued by the Electric Development Co. interview the Premier or any member of the Government prior to the 26th of February last, when Mr. Wm. Mackenzie obtained a controlling interest in the said company?

(2) If so, was any suggestion, proposition or offer made by the said representative to the Government or any member thereof looking to the acquiring by the province or the city of Toronto of all the property of the said company or of a controlling interest in the said company?

(3) If the interview was not along the said lines, what was the nature and result of said interview?

(4) What was the date of the interview?

(5) Did any letter or memorandum pass between the said representative and the Premier or any member of the Government?

(6) Did the Premier immediately make known to the mayor of the city of Toronto, or to any other member of the City Council the nature of the said interview and the terms of any such suggestion, proposition or offer?

(7) Did the Permier or any member of the Government do anything whatever towards bringing the said representative and the City Council into conference on the subject?

(8) If not, why not?

"It would be utterly impossible for me to answer these questions in any satisfactory way as they stand," declared Mr. Whitney. "It would take a speech of 40 minutes to answer the third enquiry alone."

He added the suggestion that these questions also be transferred to a motion, and then declared his desire that they should be wide and comprehensive, and his preparedness to deal with them.

In response to a question from Mr. Labrosse (Prescott) Hon. Mr. Cochrane said the greatest depth reached by the Government as yet in the mining operations on the Gillies' limit was 140 feet.

Ontario will spend $7,501,875.67 in 1908, according to the estimates brought down in the Legislature yesterday.

The actual expenditure of the province for 1907 was $7,714,249.61, so there is over $200,000 margin for the supplementary estimates yet.

Expenditures and Estimates.

The summary of the gross estimated expenditure for the year (the actual sums for last year following in each instance), shows the provision for civil government, $537,546; 1907, $502,833; legislation, $233,450; 1907, $223,327; administration of justice, $629,704.84; 1907, $579,598; education, $1,600,364.94; 1907, $1,359,105.81; public institutions' maintenance, $1,160,777; 1907, $1,056,862.78; agriculture, $533,263; 1907, $490,317.84; colonization and immigration, $58,000; 1907, $52,024.46; hospitals and charities, $349,161.18; 1907, $338,011.70; maintenance and repairs of Government and departmental buildings, $104,355; 1907, $95,336.40; public buildings, repairs, $67,825; capital account, $714,926; 1907, $422,222.02.

Last year the appropriation for public buildings was $706,620, but $284,000 was unexpended; public works, repairs, $29,775; capital account, $168,786; 1907, $160,264.68 (last year the appropriation was $198,750, but $38,000 was unexpended); colonization and mining roads, $488,053; 1907, $316,906.39; charges on crown lands, $512,6000; 1907, $541,827.61; refunds account, $38,939.71; 1907, $42,760.28; miscellaneous expenditure, $273,850; 1907, $243,665.12. Of the total $6,130,110.67 is charged to current expenditure, $883,712 to capital account, and $488,053 for colonization and mining roads, designated "other purposes."

AFTERMATH OF DISASTER.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 7.—The body of Miss Katherine Weiler, one of the two teachers who lost their lives in the Collinwood school fire, was positively identified yesterday by a dentist, who established the identification through her gold-filled teeth.

The body of Rosetta Machnich, a former pupil in the school was identified also, by her shoes.. When Mrs. Machnich was positive of the identification, she fainted upon the charred body of her child.

Twenty-three victims are still unidentified.

So far 167 bodies have been recovered. The list of missing now tallies with the number unidentified, which would indicate that all the bodies have been found, and that the total death list will stand at 167.

In fully 100 cases the funerals will be individual. The first funeral was held yesterday morning. Others followed throughout the day. In some instances the services were grouped with five to ten bodies in one church.

The unidentified will be buried on Monday, according to present arrangements. The expenses of these funerals, together with the funerals of children whose parents are not in financial condition to meet the burden, will be borne by public subscriptions, which are growing larger every hour. Already thousands of dollars have been raised. In addition to this a bill has been introduced in the State Legislature, appropriating $25,000 for the relief of the needy fire sufferers.

German Sympathy.

Berlin, March 7.—Chancellor Von Buelow has sent the following cable message to Baron Speck Von Sternberg, the German Ambassador at Washington.

"Express to the Mayor of Cleveland my sincerest sympathy in connection with the school catastrophe."

Trust Official Suicides.

Detroit, Mich., March 7.—Enwood T. Hance, first vice-president of the Union Trust Company of this city, and former postmaster of Detroit, shot and killed himself yesterday in his home here. Friends say that he had been greatly depressed over his own financial affairs for some time. Mr Hance was born in Wilmington, Del., 56 years ago, and came to Detroit in 1879. He was admitted to the bar, and in 1889 was appointed postmaster. When the Union Trust Company was organized he was made secretary and later vice-president.

The suicide came just at the eve of a two or three months' vacation, with salary, which the officers of the company were planning to give him.

Arrested for Husband's Murder.

Indianapolis, March 7. — John Grubbs, colored, who was charged with the murder of William Colwan, near Rushville, Ind., has confessed that Mrs. Colwan assisted him in the crime.

He says she threw her arms around her husband's neck while he struck Colwan with a hatchet.

Sentenced for Stealing Ore.

Cobalt, March 7.—Steven Balls and John Hartman, who were arrested on a charge of stealing a quantity of silver from the Kerr Lake Crown Reserve, pleaded guilty here yesterday before Magistrate Hartman and were sentenced to eighteen months each in Central Prison.

KAISER RAISES STORM

Writes Letter Concerning British Navy and Public Are Angry.

Lord Tweedmouth Says Missive Was Purely Personal—Demand That It Be Produced In Parliament—Mr. Asquith's Explanation — Says It Had Nothing to Do With Naval Estimates.

London, March 7.—An outburst of anger against Emperor William on the part of the British public, equalling that caused by the German Emperor's famous letter to President Kruger at the beginning of the Boer war, has followed the announcement made yesterday morning by The Times, that Emperor William had attempted to influence the British naval policy by a secret correspondence with Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty.

The Germanophobe party, which never was stronger than now, immediately jumped to the conclusion that Emperor William was trying to meddle in the most vital matter in Great Britain's national interests by underhand methods, and the public at first shared that view, and Parliament, the newspapers and the diplomats had the greatest sensation they had enjoyed for many a day.

According to one version, Emperor William's letter to Lord Tweedmouth gave exhaustive details of the comparative strength of the navies of Great Britain and Germany, and basing his opinion on this comparison the Emperor said he thought the German fleet could not be considered more than one-fifth as strong as that of Great Britain. This being so, Emperor William thought Great Britain had no need to fear any rivalry in naval supremacy from Germany, and that consequently there was no need of any increase in the shipbuilding program of Great Britain.

The matter was considered so serious that Lord Tweedmouth broke his customary reticence, hastening to say: "The letter from the German Emperor is purely a personal communication, and there is no reference in it to the British naval estimates."

Lord Tweedmouth visited the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and conferred with the Liberal leaders. The Cabinet met afterward. It had been announced at first that Herbert Henry Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would make a statement concerning the matter next Monday, but the public was so excited and so many members of Parliament had given notice that they would ask questions in the Lower House about the correspondence that the Cabinet decided something must be done at once.

Mr. Asquith, therefore, appeared in the House of Commons at the close of its sitting, and made a brief statement to a crowded House, elaborating, amid profound silence, Lord Tweedmouth's explanation, that the correspondence was purely personal.

These explanations only stimulate curiosity and criticism, instead of appeasing them, and a strong demand is heard everywhere for the publication of the letters. Nothing else will satisfy the British public, and probably this will be done eventually.

In the meantime the newspapers are saying that he should make any statements regarding the British navy that he desires to make through the regular channels, and they are criticising Lord Tweedmouth because he did not immediately place the letter before the Cabinet. The Government is in an awkward position now to handle any critical international question, because King Edward is on the continent, and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Prime Minister, is too ill to be consulted on official matters.

BROTHERS FOUGHT WITH AXES.

Montreal, March 7.—A telephone message was received in the city yesterday stating that a brutal murder had been committed in a lumber camp near St. Faustin.

It appears that two brothers named Martel, who were at work in the camp, during a spree held in celebration of "Leo Jours gras," became intoxicated and quarelled. A fight with axes followed, in which one of the two was killed and the other badly wounded.

MATCHING KING MANUEL.

German Princess Victoria Named as an Eligible Bride.

Lisbon, March 7.—The report that Emperor William of Germany will visit Lisbon this spring started the rumor here that arrangements were being made for the marriage of King Manuel, who came to the throne last month, through the assassination of his father and brother, and Princess Victoria, only daughter of Emperor William.

The early marriage of King Manuel is regarded as a necessity of state, but it is understood that the English party at court is opposed to a German alliance.

Statue to Shakespeare.

London, March 7.—The committee which has in charge the movement for the "World's Tribute to Shakespeare," and of which the Princess Louise is the head, have decided upon the erection of an architectural monument and statue, to be completed on the 300th anniversary of his death. It is estimated that the memorial will cost about $500,000, competition for which will be thrown open for all English-speaking nations.

Prisoner Is In Danger.

St. Petersburg, March 7.—The two specialists who on Thursday examined Nicholas Tschaikovsky in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, where the Russian revolutionary patriot is awaiting trial, have turned in their report to the Government. They declare that the prisoner is in danger of a complete nervous and physical breakdown if the present prison regime is continued.

MABEL ALLEN GOES FREE.

Young Girl Acquitted of Burning Barns—Jury Out Three Hours.

Toronto, March 7.—After three hours' deliberation the sessions jury last night acquitted Mabel Allen on a charge of burning the barns and outbuildings of Jacob Hopkins, a Mount Albert farmer. There was almost a demonstration in the court among the large crowd who waited to hear the girl's fate. One man remarked: "I was sorry for the horses that were burned, but that is all."

Judge Winchester charged the jury briefly but, if anything, against the accused.

The address of counsel for the defence was not long. Mr. Fitch pointed out that the tracks leading to and from the barn were smaller than those which would be made by the feet of the girl. After saying that Hopkins himself had said that he could think of no reason why the girl should set fire to the buildings, he dwelt upon her wrongs at Hopkins' hands.

He closed saying: "I ask you to believe this girl against one hundred men like Hopkins."

Mr. Drayton pointed out that the girl had the strongest of motives and that she had admitted to bearing a revengeful feeling toward Hopkins.

"But I don't want you to decide that because there was motive there was guilt," said he.

Arson was a crime of stealth and evidence of it must be circumstantial. The girl had threatened just this act. She had admitted that she had perjured herself at the preliminary hearing.

"I don't want to defend Hopkins," said the crown attorney. "I have just about the same opinion that each of you has of such men, who are going about with girls young enough to be their daughters. Hopkins perhaps deserved what happened, but that is not the point."

Quebec Bill is Passed In the Dominion House

Eleven Conservative Members Vote Against Appropriation.

Mr. Foster Curious About Ross Rifle Factory — Condemns Government For Giving Away Site on Historic Ground—W. F. Maclean Supports the Grant—Cheers Greet Member For St. John, N.B.

Ottawa, March 7.—The entry of Dr. Daniel, one of the New Brunswick heroes, was duly noted by the Opposition. The member for St. John City walked majestically down the floor and in answer to the cheers of his colleagues he waved his hand. Coming to the aisle where he turned to make his bow to Mr. Speaker, he accompanied that gesture with a wave of his hand in the direction of Mr. Pugsley opposite. The whole House laughed.

The principal business of the afternoon was the passing of the Quebec battlefields bill. Eleven members of the Opposition voted against the third reading. Dr. Reid (Grenville) raised the old question of the rights of the minority to see original documents. Certain papers were ordered and brought down in the public accounts committee. When the committee was not in session the members were denied the privilege of inspecting the papers.

Mr. Oliver said any order of the committee would be respected; beyond this he would not go.

Foster Again Threatens.

Mr. Foster desired to have the Prime Minister say if the whole question was to be gone over again. As for himself he refused to be at the behest of that committee.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was a new question, and he would look into it.

The Quebec battlefields bill was again taken up in committee of the whole. Mr. Foster asked about the Ross rifle factory. In the first place, how did it come to pass that the factory ever got a place on the sacred plains of Abraham? Sir Frederick Borden explained this. It was a matter of convenience, both to the Ross people and the Government. The manufacture of cartridges was carried on in that vicinity, and it was considered advisable to have the two institutions close together.

Armand Lavergne (Montmagny) wanted a guarantee that this Ross factory would be located some place in Quebec. The Prime Minister said this discussion was premature. It might not be necessary to take the rifle factory at all.

Mr. Foster condemned the Government for giving away the site. It would cost a vast amount of money to expropriate this land.

Mr. Blain (Peel) observed that many leading citizens of Quebec protested against the establishment of the Ross factory on this site.

This, said Sir Frederick Borden, was the kick of a disappointed golf club.

Mr. Lavergne revised history. The battle did not take place on this ground.

Dr. Reid (Grenville) said it was well-known that the Ross rifle had not given satisfaction. If the Government bought out the Ross Co. it could not compel the company to build elsewhere.

Mr. Northrup (Hastings) said we had made a present of the land to the Ross Rifle Co., and now proposed to buy it back.

A Faculty For Giving.

Dr. Sproule said the Government had a faculty of giving things away. The House ought to have an intelligent estimate of the cost of this scheme.

Mr. Blain disapproved of the bill, which, he declared, was hasty legislation, while Dr. Barr opposed the double object of the vote, and announced that he would vote against it. At the beginning of the session it was whispered around that the Ross Rifle Co. was going to unload on the Government.

Champlain, Canada's Hero.

W. F. Maclean (South York) heartily endorsed the proposal. He pointed out that subsequent Parliaments were not bound to vote any further sums of money, and every dollar to be voted would be subject to scrutiny of Parliament. He would vote for the bill in so far as it was proposed to commemorate the memory of Samuel De Champlain. He was the real hero of Canada. The visions which he saw were realised in later years by Sir John Macdonald, and Mr. Maclean regarded Champlain as the historical precursor of the late Premier. These two men, one French, the other English, represented two races in this country, which were welded into one by the battle of the Plains of Abraham. Mr. Maclean believed that the people would willingly vote this money. There was only one race in Canada, and he did not care what their origin was. "I say," said Mr. Maclean, "that it is because we are sons of Canada that we join together in commemorating the foundation of our country and in commemorating, if we must, any event, even a battle, if it tended to the consolidation of the country and perpetuation of the ideas we have at heart. I believe the people of Canada from one end to the other will endorse this proposal to commemorate the battleground and the foundation of this country."

Col. Sam Hughes approved the bill, and the committee reported.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was anxious to have the bill given its third reading. There was not a moment to lose, he said.

Haughton Lennox (Simcoe) objected, but consented to the immediate passing of the bill after stating his objection, which was that he did not want to be held up by the Ross Rifle Co. and bled white. He agreed with the proposal to adequately celebrate the tercentenary of Champlain.

Sir Wilfrid made it plain that any further appropriation would be entirely within the hands of Parliament, and Mr. Foster thought this assurance was satisfactory.

Mr. Lavergne moved to strike out thec lause providing for the appointment of representatives on the commission of colonies of the United Kingdom contributing $100,000. The amendment was lost on division, and the third reading carried. On the formal resolution a few Conservatives asked for yeas and nays. The vote was 91 to 11.

Messrs. Alcorn, Henderson, Wilson (Lennox), Blain, Barr, Jackson (Elgin), Christie, Herron, Lalor, Owens, Staples were the Opposition.

PULPWOOD GROWING SCARCE.

Canadian Press Association Seriously Discuss the Situation.

Toronto, March 7.—Many important matters, including the preservation of Canada's pulpwood, postal regulations, the libel law and the formation of a national press association were discussed at the closing meetings of the fiftieth annual convention of the Canadian Press Association yesterday.

In regard to the pulpwood situation the following resolution was passed:

"That the Canadian Press Association place itself on record in the strongest possible terms in recommending the Government to take without delay such action as will conserve the spruce forests of Canada in the most effective manner; and that no arrangement relating to the pulpwood and paper export of Canada be entered into with any foreign country until such time as the representatives of this association shall have had the opportunity to place before the Government or a commission the views of the publishers of Canada."

E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., Kingston, advocated an amendment to the libel laws by which the writer of an anonymous article should be made co-defendant in a libel suit or, in the report of a speech, the speaker should be made a co-defendant and a jury should be allowed to apportion the damages between them. The executive committee will draft a list of proposed amendments to be submitted to the Attorney-General.

The association will visit the Agricultural College at Guelph to-day.

TRIAL FURTHER DELAYED.

McCraw Who Was Sentenced to Death to Face Jury Again.

Montreal, March 7—The second trial of Wallace McCraw for the murder of one Sclater at Grand Anse some two years ago, will, it appears, be further delayed, as some of the most important of the witnesses cannot be found, while others are too far away to be got at just now.

This, however, sounds strange in view of the fact that the authorities have had several months to look after all concerned in the trial. Two years ago Sclater was murdered in cold blood by someone, who killed him in his tracks with a rifle ball.

Mrs. Sclater, the widow of the victim, and one McCraw were arrested and tried at Three Rivers for the crime. The woman was declared not guilty, and it is said that Lord Strathcona, who had known the woman's father as a Hudson Bay officer, furnished the money to put up a fine defence.

Be this as it may, Mrs. Sclater was a free woman, and the trial of McCraw, the alleged accomplice, took place, resulting in his condemnation and sentence to death.

The Court of Appeals, however, found irregularities in the trial, and the accused was given a new trial, which opened at Three Rivers yesterday. An adjournment took place for two weeks.

FLASHLIGHT CAUSED SCARE.

Paris, March 7.—King Edward arrived here last evening from London Sir Francis Bertie, the British Ambassador to France, met him at the station and escorted him to a private hotel. Although he is traveling incognito as the Duke of Lancaster, King Edward will visit President Fallieres before departing for Biarritz to-day.

He witnessed the production of Paul Bourget's "Divorce" last night. Owing to the world-wide activity of the anarchists recently, exceptional precautions have been taken to safeguard King Edward. The police and detectives had a scare at the hotel where the King is staying, when an enterprising photographer set off a flashlight at the curb as the King alighted from his motor car.

Roumanian's Wife Killed.

London, March 7.—The Allan liner Sardinian, which sailed Thursday, has on board eighty Roumanian Jews. While the party were traveling through Holland, en route to England, the wife of one of the emigrants was killed by falling out of the train. The husband with ten children is with the party.

Drunken Man's Crime.

Avon, Conn., March 7.—Coming home in a drunken stupor, John J. Lynch, 30 years old, shot and instantly killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Dittman, then shot and fatally wounded his wife, and finally put a bullet in his head, killing himself instantly.

HOUSE WORK

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden. It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. W. Barrett, of 602 Moreau St., Montreal, who writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse.

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it made me strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Irish Are Not Satisfied With Terms of the Treaty

Arbitration Treaty Between Britain and U. S. Opposed.

Nature and Scope of Treaty Unknown as Yet—Petitions Sent to Washington Expressing Fear of War In Which Britain Will Join Japan—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Quoted—Ratification Jeopardized.

Washington, March 9.—Irish opposition, which, it is asserted, defeated the arbitration treaty negotiated by United States Secretary of State Olney and Lord Pauncefote twelve years ago. now menaces the new arbitration treaty which has been evolved by Secretary Root and British Ambassador Bryce.

Already the United States state department has been deluged with remonstrances and protests from Irish patriotic organizations all directed against the new convention.

Moreover, this opposition has developed before anything specific as to the nature and scope of the new treaty has been made than officially.

There has been nothing more than a reference to the subject in the British Parliament and some statements in explanation based upon that declaration in American newspapers. So the protestants are in the singular position of directing their fire without knowledge that there is any enemy, for it may be that the new convention is drawn upon lines that free it from the objection made to the Olney-Pauncefote convention. In that case, it was alleged that America stood in danger of losing territory as the result of an adverse arbitration.

In the present instance, while the rule of the state department prevents the publication of any details, it is the understanding of the officials of the state department that the same objection would not be, for the limitations are so narrow that there is no danger that questions involving the integrity of territory can ever be drawn into arbitration against the will of the United States Government.

The protests so far received at the state department also show a lack of understanding of the nature of the treaty which binds Great Britain and Japan. In the protests, fear is expressed that America will find herself confronted by a combined British and Japanese fleet in the event of any serious issue between the United States and Japan. Indeed, some of the petitions quote from a speech by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, Jan. 28 last, a prophecy that such a combined fleet might some day to expected to drop anchor in Vancouver harbor.

But as the British-Japanese compact is understood at the American state department, there is no obligation whatever upon Great Britain to support her ally with arms except in the remote contingency that a third nation should undertake to possess itself of Japanese territory.

Therefore the officials are quite convinced that the opposition to renewing the treaty is based upon a wrong conception of conditions.

But they are nevertheless apprehensive that through ignorance the ratification of the treaty may be jeopardized.

Like Oil on the Waters; China Has Made Apology

Expresses Deep Regret For Hauling Down Japanese Flag.

Will Reply Later as to Seizure of Tatsu Maru — Ultimatum From Japan—Demand Release of Vessel and Punishment of Those Responsible—May Possibly Lead to War—Activity at Japanese Seaport.

London, March 9.—The statement was made at the Japanese embassy here yesterday that China has expressed deep regret for hauling down the Japanese flag on the Tatsu Maru, and has promised to punish the officials responsible for this act. It was further stated that China had promised to reply later concerning the seizure of arms.

Tokio, March 9.—The difficulty which seemed about to embroil Japan and China arose over the seizure by Chinese warships of a Japanese mercantile steamer—the Tatsu Maru—in Chinese waters, just outside Macao harbor and escorting her to Canton on the charge that she engaged in an attempt to smuggle arms and ammunition into China. To add to the irritation, the Chinese commander hauled down the Japanese flag and ran up the Chinese dragon ensign in its stead.

The Japanese Foreign Office lodged a strong protest with the Chinese Foreign Board demanding the immediate release of the Tatsu Maru, the punishment of the officials responsible for her seizure, and the payment of a full indemnity. Action was demanded within a "reasonable time." In case of default or postponement it was stated that Japan would "take immediate action." Quite irrespective of the merits of the case, the Japanese Minister maintained that the seizing of the steamer and the hauling down of the Japanese flag was an insult to Japan, even though it was the outcome of a misunderstanding. He therefore insisted on an apology and reparation, and refused to accept mediation.

There has been no indication of the period of time that Japan will await China's reply. The Associated Press is informed at the Japanese Foreign Office that it is presumed that Yuan Shi Kai will require three or perhaps four days for consultation with the Viceroy of Canton in the consideration of the entire affair. Consequently a decision may be reached before March 10 or 11.

What action Japan will take in the event that she decides immediately to take "independent action" is a matter of speculation in diplomatic circles in Tokio. It is believed that it is entirely improbable that Japan will make an effort to re-take the Tatsu or send warships to Canton waters. While war is regarded as most improbable, the naval base at Sasebo is extremely active.

It is announced that a part of the first squadron will leave port March 14. The armored cruiser Chiyoda suddenly left port Saturday night. Coaling is proceeding rapidly, and a number of torpedo-boat destroyers have already coaled. Enormous supplies in storage at Sasebo are being hurried aboard the vessels.

MUST STAND TRIAL.

Judge Commits Man Who Shot Runaway Burglar at Granby.

Granby, Que., March 9.—Thomas Robinson, accused of firing the fatal shot that killed the unknown man on Feb. 26, at Granby, came before Judge Mulvena of Sherbrooke Saturday morning. Robinson said he had no intention to kill or injure, but was running with the rifle to make the man surrender.

Judge Mulvena committed him for trial, saying:

"Had you shot this man when he was threatening you would have been in a different position, but you were over 100 yards away, and he was fleeing and was shot in the back. The law gives you power to stop a man committing a felony by any reasonable and less violent means if it is not liable to cause death or grievous harm. Under the circumstances, although intentions show you were not trying to kill, it may be a culpable offence. I can not do otherwise than hold you responsible. A sympathetic jury may acquit you."

He was allowed bail.

Couple Found Dead.

Denver, Col., March 9.—Harry Adler, clothing salesman, 40 years of age, shot and killed his divorced wife, Miss Grace Nottingham, 27 years of age, in a room in the Waldorf Hotel last Wednesday night and then shot himself to death. The bodies were found Saturday. The pair were married in Los Angeles on Jan. 12, 1896, and the woman obtained a divorce in Denver a year ago.

Before her marriage Miss Nottingham shot and killed Edward Murphy, a railroad fireman, at Avona, Col., where she lived with her parents. She pleaded self-defence, but a jury found her guilty of involuntarily manslaughter and she served one day in jail.

Threatened "Uncle Joe."

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Hiram Maine, 64 years of age, was arrested Saturday on a warrant sworn out by William L. Fletcher, United States postoffice inspector, charged with writing threatening letters to Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the House of Representatives, and Congressman Jesse Overstreet of Indiana. These letters have continued at various times for nearly two years.

COAL PLANT DESTROYED.

Glace Bay, March 9.—The Dominion Coal Co.'s big washing plant, near Morden Junction, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday.

Early in the afternoon Foreman McLeod noticed flames shooting up through the roof. It caught presumably from a spark from the chimney. Only himself and two other men were in the plant. Their efforts were of no avail and telephone calls were sent into Glace Bay.

Special trains conveyed the local brigade with apparatus to the scene. By this time the flames were practically in complete control. All that could be saved was the biquette plant, and a small part of one of the trestles leading to the Morden washing building.

The machinery at the plant is all ruined, and 800 tons of slack coal was burned, and eight coal cars on sidings were destroyed. The loss is placed at from $75,000 to $100,000, with the insurance about two-thirds of this amount. The plant employed 48 men. It will be rebuilt, but the work and the getting of machinery will occupy some months.

A previous fire did about $15,000 damage, but temporary arrangements were made a few days ago to resume washing.

Drove Into Creek.

London, March 9.—A drowning occurred about two miles from here on the fourth concession of Tilbury, when Verville Bernias, aged 13, lost his life.

The boy was driving along the road near the culvert bridge, where the river has overflowed its banks, when he drove into the creek and was caught by the current and swept under the ice.

He tried to escape by getting on the horse's back. The ice was dynamited for considerable distance, but no trace of either the boy or the horse was found.

Decrease In Immigration.

London, March 9.—(C. A. P.)—Col. Lamb of the Salvation Army says a striking change was apparent this year compared with 12 months ago in respect to the popular rush to Canada. While applicants for facilities for emigration were still very numerous, few had the daring to go out on speculation. A second contingent will be sent to British Columbia in May.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

TUBERCULOSIS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—When I come into a Canadian town I go looking and looking and looking, but never find it; it's not there. The pity that we have not the wisdom to learn. If I have any money there are plenty of banks. Sometimes I get insured or go for a walk if the street cars allow. But it is slippery and you never know what's in the way. You can't get anything you require unless you are rich.

"AN IMMIGRANT ADVISER."

WHERE IS HEAVEN?

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I would like to say a few words in reply to this question. If your two correspondents and others of like sentiments, do not believe that the Bible is the infallible revelation of the Will of the Great Creator and Father of all mankind, Eternal, Immortal, Invisible, an unerring record of God's past dealings with His creatures, and of the things that shall be hereafter, he can know nothing of Heaven or hell or God, or whether he has anything united to his body that distinguishes him from the beasts that perish, he is simply an agnostic, and before he can be persuaded of anything about Heaven, he must accept the teaching of Holy Scripture as the infallible truth. The Gospel of Christ is not a complete revelation, for in it we are told that here on earth we know only in part, we see through a glass darkly, not until after the Judgment of the Great Day, shall we see face to face and know even as we are known. And so with regard to Heaven, the description given of it in the revelations is highly figurative. The place wherever it is is not literally paved with gold, nor each gate of the city a single pearl, nor are there creatures full of eyes before and behind. Under these metaphors lies hidden the truth expressed elsewhere, "Eye hath not seen or ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man to conceive the things that God hath prepared for them that love Him. The ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. God shall wipe away every tear from their eyes and death shall be no more neither shall there be mourning, no crying, no pain anymore. With regard to hell the description of it in the Scriptures is in the manner of figuratives, and nothing further has been revealed to us of the life of the world to come, except that the state of the penitent and believing will be indescribable happiness and the condition of the impenitent and unbelieving, inexpressible misery.

Faithfully yours,
EDWARD SOWARD.

APPLY THE LASH

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The speech of Mr. Archibald, Dominion Parole officer, on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the local Canadian Club, has aroused general interest. In moving the resolution of thanks Mr Dumble, K. C., took occasion to show the necessity of whipping in many cases where both adults and children commit crimes, or offences suitable to that punishment, Mr Dumble's position is very strong. A commission recently appointed in New York City to decide on the question of flogging children, have made a report to the effect that a very large proportion of the replies received by them from principals of schools and pedagogues are strongly in favor of a re-introduction of whipping in case of necessity in schools. The old maxim "Spare the rod and spoil the child," was considered obsolete a few years ago and was superseded by a fad to the effect that children would always yield to kind treatment and that whipping brutalized them. This theory has been disproved not only in the case of children, but in that of adults. Whipping is the one and only punishment that certain forms of moral delinquency are in terror of. This is well-known. The day is gone by for the sacrifice of experience and the safety of our nearest and dearest to the whims and emotional fancies of a lot of theorists. The complete downfall of our present day childhood is due to this silly sentimentalism. Many a man will tell you that when he grew up he realized how often he needed a good flogging when a lad. People who have themselves been whipped for lying and various other forms of impropriety such as selfishness, meanness, greediness and deceitfulness, etc, will bear testimony to the advisability of applying the rod. Like all other good things, it may be carried to excess. I am not suggesting excessive punishment, of course, but I do think properly done it is a prime essential. I have seen and felt the good of it, Criminologists and the police all agree as to the necessity of applying the lash in cases of indecent assault.

PATERFAMILIAS.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I have seen a good deal about the Carnegie library and thought that the agitation ought be kept up until we get a grant either from Andrew Carnegie or somewhere else. I do not agree with some who say that we do not need a public library. We, the mechanics, labourers and in fact the poor, need a public library badly. This city ought to be ashamed of its position to-day. A fine new Collegiate and Normal school nearing completion and not one step towards a Public library. Now, I have not seen in public print this proposition. And before making it I wish to say I am only a mechanic and not in any way interested in this suggestion. The old Bank of Montreal building I believe is for sale and I have it on the authority of one who is high in an official position in our town, that this can be bought for from $7,000 to $9,000, and another $2,500 or $3000 would fit it up as good as the best for a city of this size. There would be enough in the Nicholls bequest to more than pay for this property and leave something over towards an endowment fund. And I don't think that it would take more than $1,100 to run it. As to caretaking of this building, that official could take care of the library and town buildings, and not have two officials, which would be necessary if the building was erected anywhere else.

The artisan and laborer and their families need the use of a public library more than anyone else. They cannot afford to buy what books they want and the present library has not a good selection of the best authors. Cheap literature is not always the best, and anything else is far beyond the means of the average workingman. I agree with a recent writer that some, if not one, of them could easily build a good library and not feel it. Let them take some of the money they are using for anything, but a profitable investment, and build a good public library and I am sure that many of their shortcomings would be entirely forgotten.

Yours sincerely,
CHIC.

Game of the Season To-night; Straths vs Lindsay Bankers

The ice at Brock street rink is in excellent shape for the game tonight between the Lindsay Bankers and the Strathconas. The Bankers have a very strong team and are winners of the Lindsay town hockey league. They are determined to defeat the local city league champions and in addition to their regular line-up which is a formidable one, in itself, will be further strengthened by Koyle, Sullivan and Cotey of the crack Midget aggregation. They will set a lightning clip and it will keep the Straths busy to hold them. The latter however, will put their speedy city league team on the ice and an argument worth while is sure to result.

This will be the last and best game of the season and no one should miss it. The puck will be faced at 8.15 sharp and the crowd should be a particularly large one.

The game will be refereed by Ernie Ford who has the reputation of being a fair and efficient official. The prices of admission are 15c and 15c which should ensure a record crowd. The Lindsay team will be accompanied by a bunch of rooters and the old time friendly rivalry between the two towns will be much in evidence.

The teams will line-up as follows;

Lindsay		Strathconas
	Goal
Main		Wilson
	Point
Koyle		Barber
	Cover
Green		Ferguson
	Rover
Sullivan		Dusty
	Centre
Cotton		Ray

Cotey		Weatherston

C.G.E. Seven Won From Ackermans'

Ackermans and a team from the CGE clashed in a close game on Saturday, the latter winning by 1-0. No goals were scored by either team in the second half.

W. Ross refereed in a capable manner.

Ackerman's lined up as follows:
Goal—Gosselin.
Point—Guerin.
Cover—Logan.
Rover—Ackerman.
Centre—Loomis.
Right—Godfrey.
Left—Robertson.

CURLERS DIDN'T GO TO KEENE

Baseball at the Pacific Coast

Spokane, Wash., March 9.—Baseball enthusiasts in the Northwest will see on of the best seasons in the history of the game this season from the standpoint of the number of teams playing, and there is every indication the rivalry for supremacy on the diamond will become so keen that players on regularly organized teams can command alost any kind of salaries in addition to the many other fat perquisites that often come the way of favorities.

There will be teams in all classes from D. to .. besides a large number of independent leagues and scores of colege, association, high school and junior and intermediate clubs. The Pacific Coast League will be composed of Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Butte, Vancouver, Victoria, Bellingham and Everett. The Twilight League of Western Canada, with Medicine Hat, Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, may play another season, and here is to be a Tri-state League composed of Boise, and Weiser, Ida, Baker City and Pendleton, Ore., and Walla Walla, Wash.

The Trolley League will have Colfax, Rosalia, Palouise and Pullman, Wash., Moscow and either Coer d'Alene or Lewiston, Ida. There will also be a league in the Gray's Harbor country, composed of Cosmopolis, Hoquaiim, Montesana and Aberdeen, while in the "panhandle" of Idaho there is talk of organizing a league to include Coeur d'Alene, Sandpoint, Spirit Lake and Newport.

HOCKEY

The Canadian Cordage and Auburn teams played on Saturday the latter winning by 2-1.

Sporting Comment

The Hackenschmidt-Gotch bout, billed for April 3rd, in Chicago, seems to be nothing but a money maker. On form Gotch looks like easy meat for the Russian lion.

The game tonight between the Straths and the Lindsay Bankers should be a very fast one. The price of admission is 15 cents for gentlemen and 10 cents for ladies and a large gathering should be on hand to witness the contest. The puck will b efaced at 8.15 sharp and Mr. George Lynch will referee.

CHAS. BURKE SENTENCED IN MORNING

Robber of Purser's Store Will Know His Fate To-morrow—Trial of Stanley Gorman

To-morrow morning at 11 o'clock Charles Burke, the robber, convicted of the burglary of Purser's store at Buckhorn on November 5th, 1907, comes up for sentence. Burke a short time ago, was convicted by his Honor Judge Weller, who will pass sentence upon him. On account of the boldness of the robbery and Burke's long criminal career great interest has been credited in the case.

Stanley Gorman also comes up for trial to-morrow morning on the charge of theft. Mr. G. N. Gordon will appear for the defence and Mr. E. R. Wood for the prosecution.

C.M.B.A. Gives Present to Rev. Father McColl

Pleasing Event at St. Peters Rectory on Thursday Evening—An Address Was Read

On Thursday evening a delegation of members of the local branch of the C.M.B.A. waited upon Rev. Father McColl at the Rectory, and presented him with a purse of $50 and a complimentary address. The address was read by Bro. P. M. Leahy and the presentation was made by Bro. Richard Sheehy. The address was as follows:—

To Rev. Father McColl:

Dear Father,—We are assembled here tonight for the purpose of giving expression to our apppreciation of your services, and the high esteem which we entertain for you as a man and a priest of God, working faithfully and nobly for our spiritual and temporal welfare.

We are proud of our priests, and we are proud of you as one of them, and our rector, and we find words inadequate to give expression to the high esteem in which your priestly character has placed you.

Whether in the pulpit or on a public platform a sense of security and pride seizes us that commands our attention to receive from you advice well seasoned with unselfish thoughts.

And why? Because you have acquired that rare virtue given to man to possess the luxury of doing good.

It is with regret that we learn that the duties of your office have undermined your physical forces and your health to such an extent as to compel you to give up work for some months.

We do hope and pray that Almighty God will bestow upon you "His Kindly Light" to choose the proper mode to wait you back to health again and that we again in the near future will have the pleasure and benefit of your ministration.

Kindly accept this small gift; forget the paltryness of its worth; think of the spirit in which it is given, with the hope that you will return to us with renewed strength and vigor.

Signed on behalf of the members of Branch No. 30, C.M.B.A.,

JOHN TROMBLY,
President.
P. M. LEAHY,
Rec.-Secretary.

FATHER McCOLL'S REPLY.

The presentation was made by Bro. R. Sheehy, after which Rev. Father McColl replied in the following words;—

Mr. President and members of the C.M.B.A.—Your visit here tonight and your handsome gift is a pleasant surprise, and I assure you I appreciate your kindness and generosity. The C.M.B.A. is one of our good Catholic societies, and it is a great pleasure to possess your good-will and esteem.

I am looking forward with great pleasure to my trip across the Ocean, and feel confident it will make a new man of me. The years I have spent in Peterborough have been very pleasant ones and each day only adds to the good opinion I have of you.

You assure me of your appreciation of the priests of the parish, as well as of myself. I thank you for these kind words and realize that the progress which the parish has made is due to our united efforts, as we all work together as one man.

NOTES OF THE DAY

Mr. J. C McArthur, senior partner of the firm of McArthur, Corneille & Co, of this city, died suddenly this morning.

The new British Licensing bill proposes to wipe out one-third of the licenses of the country within twenty years, and leaves the issue of new ones wholly to the option of local voters. It is meeting with a storm of denunciation from Mr. Balfour and the brewing interests.

BLACK HAND RAID BANK.

Results In Revolver Duel In Which One May Die.

New York, March 9.—Repulsing a daylight attempt of the Black Hand to rob his bank Saturday at the point of a gun, Pasquale Patti, who conducts a large banking and exchange business in the Italian quarter on Elizabeth street, in a pistol duel, in which his son-in-law, Louis Cartiar joined, shot Francesco Pellatro, alias Guiseppe Sapio, who is dying in a hospital with five bullet wounds in his body, as a result of his attempt to hold up the bank. A second man, Michele Dognostino, whom the police believe is an accomplice of Pellatro, was arrested while running from the bank after the shooting.

For fourteen years, Patti told the police, he has constantly defied Black Hand terrors, and only a month ago the front of his bank was blown out by a bomb and $40,000 scattered in the street, which was saved by prompt work on the part of the banker.

The closing hour of the bank was near at hand and the streets in the neighborhood were teeming with people returning from a half-holiday's toil, when Pellatro entered Patti's bank. Patti was talking with his family, when Pellatro, drawing his revolver, declared his intention of killing the banker. Quickly seizing a revolver on the shelf, Patti opened fire on Pellatro, while on the other side of the bank, Louis Cartiar, who conducted the branch postoffice station in the institution, drew his revolver and also began firing. Pellatro fell to the ground with five bullet wounds in his body, while Dognostino was caught running from the bank.

Pellatro told the coroner that he went to kill Patti, but fire no shots. The police have been unable to find Pellatro's revolver.

Patti is held by the police pending further investigation of the affair.

CLASH BETWEEN MEMBERS.

Disgraceful Episode at Closing Session In B.C. Legislature.

Victoria, B.C., March 9.—The House prorogued Saturday after seven weeks' session, in which it passed 61 bills, the most notable being the British Columbia Immigration Act, the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, making an agreement with the new trans-Canadian railroad for terminal facilities at Prince Rupert, and the university bill, for the establishment of British Columbia University.

The final session was marked by a most disgraceful scene in wrangling over the G.T.R. agreement. The Kaien Island deal of three years ago was introduced in the discussion and Hawthornthwait, the leader of the Socialists, declared that "the Liberals had swallowed themselves." John Oliver (Liberal) declared Hawthornthwait had deliberately argued from false premises, and the Socialist again bounded up and hurled back the accusation with another to the effect that Liberals had deliberately misrepresented the position of the Socialists in the Kaien Island deal during the last election. The Liberal leader demanded the withdrawal of the statements, but he replied: "Not until Oliver withdraws his." Mr. Ross (Nanaimo), who was chairman in committee, repuested the Socialist leader to withdraw his statements, but the request was made in vain. Twice within the last week the member for Nanaimo had refused to obey a ruling of the chair, said the Liberal leader. If the dignity of debate was to be upheld, this should be stopped.

Ship Broke In Two.

San Francisco, March 9.—The schooner Czarina, which arrived yesterday from Pirate Cove, Alaska, brought news that the schooner John F. Milton, which sailed from San Francisco Nov. 23, for Bear Harbor, Alaska, was driven ashore during a gale Jan. 8, at Ivaterck Peninsula, Unimak Island, and was broken in two.

Ten of the crew died of exposure, and it is believed that 25 survivors are still on the peninsula. Two of the crew put out in a dory for assistance, and arrived at Sandpoint, after six days' hardships. The lightkeeper at the island pressed the schooner Martha into service and despatched it to the scene of the wreck.

Up to the time the Czarina sailed the Martha had not returned.

Boat Went Over Dam.

Pittsburg, March 9.—Three lives were lost Saturday night when the tow boat Stella Moren, with two flats of coal, went over dam No. 2, on the Monongahela River at Port Perry, Pa., and sank in 20 feet of water.

The Moren was about to enter the lock when the strong current, due to the high water, swung it around and before it could be controlled, the vessel and flats was swept over the dam and completely wrecked. One man was caught between the lock wall and the boat and crushed to death. The rest of the crew, numbering ten men, were thrown into the river.

Deficit at Fort William.

Fort William, March 9.—There is a deficit of $800 in the accounts of the municipal 'phone system, and it is possible the commission may advance the rates.

The present rate is, business $30, and residence $15.

Strike Ends.

Montreal, March 9.—The Dominion Textile Co.'s strike has come to an end by the operatives deciding to return to work, the company promising to investigate the charges against the foreman. The hours of labor will be revised.

Yankee at King Victor's Court.

Rome, March 9.—King Victor Emmanuel yesterday received in private audience William Dean Howells, the American novelist, entertaining him in a most cordial manner for half an hour.

William Warner of Hamilton, when held up by a highwayman, turned on his assailant and gave him a sound thrashing and kicking.

OTONABEE

From Our Otonabee Correspondent.

Otonabee, Tuesday, March 8.—A very pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Gervin, Otonabee, about thirty-five couple took supper and passed the remainder of the night very pleasantly by playing games and dancing. It was one of the best nights of the season. The crowd gathered from Douro, Otonabee and Peterborough. The music was provided by W. Conroy and —. Gerwin, while the organ was sounded by, Dalton Johnston and Thomas Heffernan, the floor managers being John Gervin and James France. A very big crowd was invited from Salem, but did not appear as usual, as the nights of sport being too many for them.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

THE SEASON OF MOURNING

There seems to be a revival in religion amongst the thinking people of the city. It is usual for people, as statistics the world over show, to resort to the consolations of religion in times of financial stress and worry. The world seems hollow then and but "a fleeting show." The mockery of deceit, humbug, pretence, fraud and the like, appears in all its stalking gauntness. What is it that keeps so many from taking advantage of the consolations of religion in good times. It is, we submit, because a thought an idea in short—faith, cannot be demonstrated. There is nothing to complete the logical syllogism in God. He must be presumed just as many another self-evident truth must be, and, a presumed or assumed. If then God is God, He must be in touch with His creation. It is not difficult to assume that. That He has a purpose in a still more easy assumption. If God has a purpose it is much easier still to assume that he is benevolent and being benevolent mankind can appeal to Him with certainty. Our very instincts teach us these things. Missions are for the purpose of bringing home to mankind more impressively the need, the surpassing beauty and satisfaction of trying to realize this. Periodical purifications are much better than none. It may seem wise to be always what we ought to be, but this seems to be the lot of but a few. The least we can do is to answer the call to think—if not to repent. There is a time to mourn as to rejoice, and this is the most fitting season, for was it not at this time that Jesus prepared for His martyrdom in our behalf?

The Turnbull Co. announces that their stock is complete in ready-to-wear skirts, coats and blouses and extends an invitation to the ladies of Peterboro' to the first spring showing of these novelties on Tuesday and following days.

Scene from "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp," the big comedy success at the Grand next Thursday. Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10.

The Awakening of Mr. Pipp; Their Appearance in Montreal

Clever Work by All Artists—One Laugh From Beginning to End.

The Montreal Star of March 3rd, has the following to say of the recent appearance of Charley Grapewin in that city;

"The annual visit of Charley Grapewin and his clever company in 'The Awakening of Mr. Pipp,' gave an evening's undiluted entertainment to the patrons of His Majesty's last evening. The house was packed, and throughout the progress of the performance every sally of Mr. Grapewin and his supporters met with appreciation from the audience. In the second act every feature of Mr. Pipp's was the signal for an outburst of merriment, and each sentence brought a laugh with it. The fidelity of Mr. Grapewin's impersonation was thoroughly appreciated and enthusiastically rewarded.

As Mrs. Pipp, Miss Anna Chance did some clever work as the sorrowing wife, who discovers her husband lapse after a year of total abstinence on his part. Mr. Grapewin, especially in his songs, recalls vivid recollections of the manner and methods of Raymond Hitchcock, whom he closely resembles.

"The company is large and capable, and the performance goes with a dash that knows no let-up from the beginning of the performance to the fall of the curtain. Everyone works hard, and everyone helps materially in the success of the evening's performance, which has clever lines, bright music and sprightly dances. The company includes a large number of pretty girls, who wore charming frocks and look as if they were enjoying themselves."

Young Ladies' Handsome Present To Their Spiritual Adviser

Fifty Dollars in Gold From the Sodality of St. Peter's, Accompanied by an Appropriate Address.

The members of the Young Ladies' Sodality held a meeting of unusual interest Sunday afternoon at St. Peter's Cathedral, where they gathered to the number of about one hundred and fifty to take a temporary farewell of their spiritual adviser, Rev. W. J. McColl, who intends sailing on the 14th inst., for Naples, and to wish him "bon voyage." Rev. Father McColl, who has always been most zealous in his eforts in the interests of the society, was met at the altar railing by the officers of the Sodality and the following address was read by the secretary, Miss K. M. McGrath;—

Rev. W. J. McColl, Spiritual Adviser the Young Ladies' Sodality of the B.V.M., Peterborough;—

Reverend and Dear Father,—The Young Ladies of the Sodality of St. Peter's, feel that they cannot allow this opportunity to pass by without expressing to you in some slight way at least, their sentiments of sincerest gratitude and appreciation for the friendly and unselfish interest you have always manifested toward their society, and to wish you "God speed" on your proposed trip.

While we feel the inadequacy of words to convey to you the sincerity of our appreciation of your good work we beg of, you to believe that we consider the success of our Sodaily due largely to the stimulus of your many good words and instructions, and we trust and pray that God will see fit to spare you to St. Peter's for many, many years to come. Our feelings on this occasion are of a two-fold character—regret that we should be deprived of your valuable assistance and co-operation for several months; and gladness that your heavy duties and responsibilities are to be temporarily lightened, and that you will have a chance to recuperate your health and enjoy a well deserved rest.

We feel sure that, in your travels, whether to your own dear Land of the Heather, or to the sunny south, your parishoners will daily share in your prayers, and you may feel certain that we shall not cease to petition our Divine Maker to speedily restore your strength, and vitality and to send you safely back across the seas to Canada.

We offer you this little gift as a token of our esteem and love, and trust that you may find it useful, and, should it be the means of bringing you any pleasure or comfort on your journey, we hope your mind will turn with kindly thoughts and rememberance towards the donors.

Signed on behalf of the Sodality of the B.V.M.

MISS L. DEANNARD,
President.
MISS K. M. McGRATH,
Secretary.
Peterborough, Ont., March 8, '08.

Miss M. A. O'Connell, the treasurer, then presented Father McColl with a beautiful boquet of flowers, in the centre of which were five large cala lillies, and attached to the stems of each lily were two five-dollar gold pieces—in all fifty dollars. The presentation was certainly a unique and appropriate one as the lily is an emblem of the society.

The occasion proved quite a surprise to Father McColl, who, after thanking the young ladies for their beautiful, as well as substantial, gift, and also for the good wishes and kind thoughts expressed in the address, said that he did not by any means consider his work in the society burdensome and that he thought the good work of Sister St. Edward directress and the healthy co-operation of the members were responsible to a great extent for the success of the Solality. He spoke of the different kinds of work done by religious communities, viz., the active and the contemplative, and he pointed out that the Sodality combined these two, and that therein lay a great deal of the strength and usefulness of such a society. He complimented the members on their faithfulness to their society and their persistence in carrying out its rules and regulations, and said that, while he always looked to the young ladies of St. Peter's to maintain the standard of true Christian womanhood, he was in a special manner pleased with the members of the Sodality.

He then spoke of his proposed trip and referred to it as a real pleasure, as it combined all three elements of pleasure—anticipation, realization and retrospection. He was certainly looking forward to it with a great deal of interest; he felt sure he would thoroughly enjoy it, and that, when it was over, he would look back upon it and its associations with a great deal of delight.

Wealthy Ontario motorists or those coming from the other side of the line, are said to have no dread of a fine, so a bill is to be introduced in the Ontario Legislature making the penalty of overspeeding, prison, without the option of a fine.

Concluding Arrangements For the Religious Census

The work of preparation for the house to house visitation is progressing favorably. Notice has been sent to all the visitors giving directions as tto where they are to report on Wednesday, the eleventh.

The work will be done on the afternoon of that day between one o'clock and six, and it is hoped that all the people of the city will co-operate by doing what they can to make the work as easy as possible for the visitors. It will greatly help if in each house at least one member of the family will remain at home to receive tthe visitors when they call. They are giving their services freely, and we bespeak for them a kindly reception and a hearty response to their questions.

A meeting of all the supervisors and visitors will be held in the Y.M.C.A. lecture hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, at which definite instructions will be given as to the methods of filling in the record cards and other details. At this meeting Mr. Yellowlees will be present for the purpose of explaining how the work has been done in other places, and anticipating difficulties that may arise. It is very important that all should be present at this meeting.

ABOUT IBSEN

Lecture on Friday Afternoon to Explain His Works—A Doll's House and Hedda Gabbler Made Clear

Mrs. Sarah E. Dunbar, who will lecture on 'Ibsen' at the Grand Opera House at 3 p.m. on Friday, March 13, knows more about the literature of the drama than any other person in America. This statement is supported by students of literature, speakers and writers.

Mrs. Dunbar comes here to shed more light on the life, hopes, ideals and works of this great Norwegian dramatist, colleague and intimate friend of Grieg, the composer, who died a few days ago. She knows her subject thoroughly, having discussed it from lecture and Chautauqua platforms in all parts of the country. Her lecture is absolutely without cost and is both entertaining and instructive.

Part of her time Mrs. Dunbar devotes to readings from Ibsen's best known works, "A Doll's House," and "Hedda Gabbler." She considers Ibsen's works in much the same as does a chemist who analyses the compound which he has in hand at the time. She points out new beauties in them to those who have read his works; to those who have thought Ibsen gloomy, gruesome and horrible, she brings a great light. Her recital of his ideals clears away many of the false impressions some people have of Ibsen's works.

The public is invited to attend the lecture which will be without cost, Arthur D. Aiston, manager of Miss Jane Corcoran who comes to the Grand Opera House Saturday matinee and night and the theatre management acting as hosts.

OBITUARY

MARTHA HAYNES

The death occurred on Saturday afternoon at the residence of her son-in-law, 480 Sherbrooke street, of Martha Haynes, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was 85 years of age, and was born in England. She had lived in this country for a number of years.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Russell, 480 Sherbrooke St., to the Little Lake cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

The J. C. Turnbull Co. will make a special showing of new spring novelties in ready-to-wear millinery, untrimmed shapes, flowers etc., Tuesday and following days, and are now prepared to execute early orders for trimmed millinery.

Vicious Dog Sent to the Country

Robert Biggs was charged at the police court this morning with harboring a viscious dog, that a few days ago severely bit the little daughter of Mr. F. Larone, Victoria Avenue. Mr. Biggs stated that he had sent the dog to the country. Mr. Dumble also ordered that Mr. Biggs pay the doctor's bill, and enlarged the case until next Monday to allow a settlement. It was necessary to have several stitches put in the wound and the doctor has had to attend the child on three occasions.

WAS MARRIED AT VANCOUVER

Nuptials of Mr. T. P. Nicholson Formerly of This City

Many friends in Peterborough will read with interest the following item from the Vancouver Daily Province of February 22nd, referring to the marriage of Mr. P. T. Nicholson, who was advertising manager for A. Cressman some time ago;—

"A pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ church yesterday, when Mr. P. Thomas Nicholson, of the Woodward Department Stores, and Miss Louie Grant, daughter of Mr. J. B. Grant, Hamilton street, were made man and wife. Rev. C. C. Owen was the officiating clergyman. Miss Ruby Hutchins was bridesmaid and Mr. Wm. Woodward was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will reside in the Muir apartment house on Seventh Avenue, Mount Pleasant, and Mrs. Nicholson will be at home to her friends after March 1st."

Policeman Had Strange Caller

While sitting in the police station yesterday morning P.C. Adams was visited by a rather unique caller. He was attracted by a noise in the police station corridor, and, upon going to find out what was the matter, was surprised to find a weasel. After chasing it around for a few minutes the policeman finally struck it with his baton and killed it. How the little animal got in there is a mystery.

Opening Day of the Mission; Many Hear the Addresses

Great Spiritual Awakening in Connection With St. John's Church—Rev. W. B. Heeney, Rector of Barrie, Was the Special Preacher Yesterday.

The Parochial Mission of St. John's Church, of which so much has been said during the past few weeks, opened yesterday morning. The mission will close a week from next Sunday and meetings will b eheld every day during that period. The attendance in the morning was very large and a hearty service was held. Rev. W. B. Heeney, of Barrie, was the speaker at both services and made a decided impression upon the congregation. He did not preach a regular sermon, but gave more of an informal address and at different periods of which the congregation sang several mission hymns.

He said in his opening remarks that the mission was not a breeze that was passing over the congregation, but the object was to make an everlasting impression upon them, and the effect, he hoped, would never pass away. He chose the words, "Of righteousness of temperance and of judgment" as a suitable text and brought forth the grand life of the brave apostle, St. Paul, as an example to his hearers. He showed how St. Paul, when taken to prison by the Roman soldiers, stood up alone for the religion he was preaching. Then the Roman law was the ruling force of the world, but three hundred years later the Gospel was a stronger power than the Roman law had ever been. Paul stood alone at first, but he did not stand in vain. The speaker told of having been in an office in Montreal at one time and saw a picture of the Rocky Mountains hanging on the wall. Underneath was written the words "These shall pass away." These words were true, not only the mountains, but the whole earth would pass away. He appealed to the congregation to accept Christ as their master to-day and go out into the world and stand for His name. He also brought forward very strongly the necessity of a man purifying his life. In New York the gambling had existed had a strong effect on the stock markets of the world and it lay with each individual soul to stop this evil. To-day there were people living who shunned the idea of a last judgment; such people were existing in a fools' paradise. The day has passed when ministers of the Gospel preached hell fire and they were now preaching the judgment. He pointed out how many people kept putting off religion until a more convenient season, but he mentioned several instances where the more convenient season never came.

In concluding his remarks he made once more a strong appeal to the congregation to confess Christ as their saviour and start life anew.

At the evening service the seating accommodation was taxed to its utmost and the enthusiastic manner in which the large congregation entered into the service augurs well for the spiritual success of the Mission being held there. After the regular Evensong of the Anglican church, Rev. W. B. Heeney, rector of Barrie, took charge and conducted the Mission service. The entire congregation remained and joined heartily in the singing of the familiar mission hymns. Rev. Mr. Heeney is an interesting and thoughtful speaker and in his discourse last night made a strong appeal to those present to lead a christian life and to take up some active work for Christ. He based his remarks on the words found in the 28th verse of the 21st chapter of St. Matthew's gospel, "Son, today, go work in my vineyard". Prefacing his sermon, Mr. Heeney urged upon the people the necessity of each one co-operating in the work of the Mission in order that it might be a success. God depended on each one to do his part and inasmuch as it lay within their power, they were expected to do something in uplifting men to Christ.

The preacher began his address by referring to the fact that at the present time, many churches were weak and at carrying on the work laid down for them. The reason of this, he said, being because the members did not concentrate their lives to Christ and were disobedient to the command, "Son, today go work in My Vineyard." "What success would an army have if half her men were asleep?" asked the speaker. The same applies to the christian church. "The day you step out to do something for Christ, that day you will be blessed in your church work, in your business and in your home life." To the unbelievers the reverend gentleman urged them to accept Christ as the only true Saviour. Every man and woman should be enlisted in God's army, to work for Him and carry out His blessed command.

"What have we been doing with the life entrusted to each one of us?" asked the speaker. "Most of us have lived for selfishness and the wordly pleasures that surround us," he said, 'and forget that each one must account for his or her life."

The preacher was glad that the church of England was obeying the command by going out into the slums of the city and preaching the Gospel to those that were in spiritual darkness. If christian people accept Christ, then they should serve Him. Serving Christ is serving one's fellowmen and giving out to them the Gospel.

The motive of this blessed service is love. Then, to parents, the speaker impressed upon them the necessity of training their children in spiritual things and exercise a loving influence. "Many men and women find time for playing bridge and attending the club but not to properly teach their own families," said the preacher.

In conclusion, the reverend gentleman pointed out the joy of the service for Christ and he also addressed a word of warning to those who are idle and who are living for the pleasures of the world alone. "Do not let your life end in the mere quest for pleasure, but rather in the joy of knowing that you belong to Christ," were his concluding remarks.

NOTES OF THE MISSION

The atmosphere is devotional and wholly informal, the clergy not using their official robes and making free use of informal prayers.

At the morning service after the processional hymn, the rector came to the front of the congregation who stood while he read the official mandate of His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto, commissioning the different to them to use such forms of service Missioners and giving his permission as they might choose in their discretion in harmony with the spirit of the church of England in Canada. The solemn reading of the mandate was deeply impressible, the rector then retiring to divest himself of his official robes after which he took a place in the congregation. Mr. Heeney after formally accepting the charge on behalf of the Mission, ascended the pulpit and began his address.

Rev. W. B. Heeney leaves tomorrow morning for Barrie. He announced last night that he would be glad to discuss any matters with individuals in the vestry after the services.

Work Being Done by Army in Montreal

Adjt. Bloss of That City Addressed Large Audiences at Local Barracks Yesterday

Special services were conducted at the Salvation Army barracks yesterday and on Saturday evening, Adjt. Bloss of Montreal, being present. The attendance at all the services was very large, every available seat being taken. Last night's meeting was undoubtedly the best that has been held at the barracks for some time. The newly organized Songsters' Brigade took part in the singing last evening, and the band also rendered several fine selections. The adjutant's address was "Getting rid of Jesus," and it proved to be very interesting and productive of much good. Adjt. Bloss stated the work of the Army was going ahead rapidly in Montreal, and open air services can now be held where a few years ago it was impossible. Two new halls are being opened at Point St. Charles and in the east end. At present there are five Salvation Army corps in Montreal. Fifteen thousand dollars has been expended on Alexander Hall, fitting it up as a poor man's hotel. About three hundred men can now be accommodated and are given a good home.

The Army in Montreal, also intend to conduct a salvage sale. In this way, they intend to buy second-hand clothing and furniture, and sell it out again to the poor people.

The work in Quebec is also making great advancement and the workers there are meeting with much success.

Capt. Bloss returned to Montreal today at noon.

Worth of a Man Was the Topic

Interesting Dicourse by Secretary of St. Catherines Y.M.C.A.

Mr. H. A. Pearson, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at St. Catharines, spoke at the 'Y' here yesterday, to the men's meeting. There was a good attendance and much interest. Mr. Pearson started with a comparison of the sun, moon and stars, as compared with the earth, and chose as his text, one of the verses of the Psalms of David, where after studying the heavens the psalmist writes "What is man that thou art mindful of him." The speaker told of the great distance of the sun and stars away from the earth and of their great power of heat and light and of the immensity of the universe and then compared the earth as being so small and of so little significance that it would be hardly missed among the numberless planets. When we think of the Master hand that created this universe, it was no wonder the Psalmist wrote what is man that Thou art mindful of him and yet we hardly realize the value of a man. Men sell themselves for very small things, a few dollars worth of pleasure will buy some people a little money will buy others, a paltry position will buy others, buy their souls or their honesty or their character and yet what would a father sell his son for, or a mother her child. Nothing would buy her love for her child or would a father sell his son for all the world, yet men sell themselves for evil and become slaves to Satan and there is no way to become free only through the blood of Jesus Christ. No one can be a slave to Christ and it is only by His power that any man can be made free. An appeal was made for any men who felt the bondage of sin to go to the Saviour for power to become a free man.

Miss May Laing sang a solo with good expression and was much appreciated.

A class of young men meet tonight at 7 o'clock for the study of personal christian work. Any christian man invited.

Local Regiment May Take Part in Big Quebec Camp

There is a probability that the 57th regiment, Peterborough Rangers, may be one of the corps to compose the big camp at Quebec during the tercentenary celebration at Quebec next August. Twenty thousand men are to be mobolized for drill purposes and to be on hand to participate in the celebration and the welcome to the Prince and Princess of Wales who will visit Canada.

It has been reported that the 57th regiment will be one of the regiments to compose the camp although there is no definite information on the point available at the present time. Word from headquarters is expected at an early date and if the local volunteers are to be given the trip preparations will be commenced at once with that object in view.

Look Out for the Armenian With Supposed Sore Hand

A foreign gentleman, apparently an Armenian, is in the city, and has a hard luck tale to tell. The story he spring seems a very probable one, that of having a wife and family to support in his native country, and he claims that he has not the wherewithal to send them. His right hand is swathed in bandages, and he says he got it crushed between a couple of cars while working on the railroad. He says he has been out of work for some weeks and came here from Tweed.

Those who are in a position to know claim that he has no claim to charity whatever, and that he is simply working a hoax on these gullible enough to believe him. It is said there is nothing whatever the matter with his hand and that he is simply looking for "easy money." Any who aret roubled by him would do well to ring up the police, who will take the impositor in charge. He gives the simple name of John, and speaks very poor English. He is described as short and stout and by no means bad looking.

Dragged Behind Sleigh; Girl Had Narrow Escape

Had it not been for the timely action of Mr. Jack Curtis, driver for the Dominion Express Co., on Saturday afternoon, a little girl about ten years old, would no doubt have met horrible death. The little girl had jumped on a farmer's sleigh going up George street. When near the C.P.R. station she went to get off but in doing so, her coat caught in the sleigh and she was dragged along the street car track some little distance before the sleigh was stopped. The farmer, having his back to the girl, was not aware of the danger she was in. Mr. Curtis, who happened to be driving by noticed the awful predicament the girl was in, and jumping off his sleigh stopped the farmer's horses. Mr. Curtis stated that the girl had a narrow escape from being run over by a street car coming up the street.

The little girl received a rather severe shaking up but otherwise was not seriously hurt.

Extraordinary Proceeding; Why Was This Change Made?

Ottawa, March 6—The western timber limits enquiry was resumed in the public accounts committee this morning. G. U. Ryley, former chief clerk of the timber and mines branch of the interior department was the first witness. He explained the method of receiving tenders. They came to his office and were forwarded to the land commissioner.

"Who opened them?" asked Mr. Ames.

"I do not know," said the witness, "I only know they went to the land commissioner."

"Who is that?"

"Formerly Mr. Turriff; now Mr. Greenway."

Mr. Ryley offered to explain that for 20 years up to 1902 he and Mr. Kris, the secretary, used to open tenders. Then the system was altered, and the tenders went to the land commissioner. He did not know who was with that officer, when tenders were opened.

That finished the enquiry for today respecting the limits and Mr. Ames got through motions for the production at a future meeting of details of the purchase of certain limits by T. A. Burrows, M.P., brother-in-law of Mr. Sifton; by A. W. Fraser KC., Ottawa, and the Imperial Pulp Company of Winnipeg. — Hamilton Spectator.

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together, any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

AN INQUIRY NEEDED

The Laurier government has gone from bad to worse in its immigration propaganda. The very powerful and nonpartisan arraignment of that policy which we publish in another column will go far to wake up those who have taken a merely languid interest in this important matter. At the bottom of the whole difficulty lies the original intention and aim of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to help the GTP. out of its perplexities. That gigantic corporation backed by the GTR. whose interests have thereby been most unwisely imperilled is doing all it can to put the burden of the trouble upon the shoulders of the country. This wily policy the usual "slick" game practised by this great generation of money-grabbers is pressing hard upon the government. A child would have foretold one would have thought just what has taken place. Certainly Mr. Borden and his assistants did their best to warn the country at the time. But the electors disregarded the warning and Sir Wilfrid wilfully ignored it hence the financial magnates were able to bring pressure to bear, the importation of cheap labor was allowed in British Columbia, and the financial crisis was brought about by the necessity of a greatly increased payment by the Dominion government. Sir Wilfrid boasted that Canada would have but thirteen millions to pay all told and she has had to pay thirty millions already. A more calamitous congeries of difficulties and dangers has never confronted a nation of such a small and scattered population. Sir Wilfrid might as well face the trial now, and institute a fair, candid and conclusive public inquiry into the whole matter.

FINANCE

We are indebted to Mr. Vincent Eastwood, local manager of the Royal Bank, for a copy of W. J. Bryan's "Commoner," of which he is the editor and proprietor. It contains a full report of a banquet given Feb. 7, to Mr. Bryan, by the Economic Club of New York City. The speeches were by Bryan, Andrew Carnegie, Lyman J. Gage, President Baker of the First National Bank, and other leading financiers. It was a very remarkable dinner, and the speeches were no less so. In the course of his remarks Mr. Bryan said;

"It was the deposit of western and southern reserves in New York that caused the stringency to spread throughout the country," and further on, "If our finances had been conducted as they ought to have been there would have been no stringency." The sum and substance of the speeches may be said to be the general desire for an "elastic currency," for something that will "give" a little when a strain is on and not be so inelastic as to remain rigid and unyielding or to break and throw the financial world into confusion.

Prosperity is dependant upon demand. An artifical stoppage of demand as in the case of the hugging of reserves means simply that the machinery of trade having been stopped, trade itself is at a standstill. Any means whereby the machinery of trade can be made less dependant on the manipulation of financiers and more dependent upon and responsive to the wants of the people who own the money, viz., the makers of it, will be welcome. It is due to this inelasticity of currency that a misstep by the government is so serious and paralyzing.

WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

The Examiner of Saturday evening, March 7th, 1908, had a column-long editorial upon the action of the Executive of the East Riding Liberal Association in calling together the Liberal conventions for the Legislature and the House of Commons for the same afternoon. In order to impress upon the Liberal party the necessity of listening to the Examiner's warning against doing so that paper seeks to draw illustrations from the similar action of the Conservative party recently at Norwood. On behalf of the Conservative party of the East Riding we undertake to say that no one regrets that the two conventions (provincial and federal) were called for the same afternoon. No trouble arose over the circumstance at all. On the contrary we are of opinion that it is much the best course for people will not come a long way twice when once will and ought to do.

The Examiner opens with the following remark;

"The Executive Committee of the East Riding Liberal Association has seen fit to call a convention for the nomination at the same time, of candidates to contest the constituency in the Liberal interest for both the Provincial Legislature and the House of Commons. With this course of action the Examiner does not agree and there seems to be several good reasons why such a course should not be adopted. It would be far preferable to have called a convention for the single purpose of nominating a candidate for the Provincial Legislature, since, after the local elections which will without doubt be brought on well in advance of the Dominion contest, there will be ample time for the nomination of a candidate for the Commons election."

'In regard to the wisdom of making one nomination at a single convention there are good reasons for adopting this course. There are many electors in the East Riding whose varying attitude towards Provincial and Dominion questions, respectively, would permit them to attend a convention and take part in nominating, and pledging their support to, a candidate selected to contest the riding for the Provincial Legislature, in the Liberal interests, who would not feel so free to take part in nominating and pledging their support to a Liberal candidate for the Dominion House."

This is a "knock" for the Dominion House surely. But the following remark (with which we all quite agree) is in direct contradiction of what the Examiner says above, re. friction, etc.;

"Where two candidates are in the field, both will be expected to, and will certainly, take a part in both contests."

Why shouldn't they. Why! The most "commentable" part of the article however, is its raison d' etre. What is it all about!

THE ART TRIUMPHANT

The recent case in Pennsylvania of one man's substituting himself for another in pleading guilty to a charge of perjury for a small cash consideration, serves to bring to mind the really abstract nature, after all, of law and its administration. The sacrifice of the scape-goat is historical. In the case under consideration a well-known "character," who had no reputation to lose, was secured for the sum of $20.00 to fill the position, unpleasant, it is true, of scape-goat for the man who was bound over to appear and answer to the charge. The scape-goat received and put in 30 days. He was clearly not the man wanted, and now the question arises, "Can a man do this?" If he can the great problem of punishment is solved in the western world. This plan of procedure has long been in vogue in China, where for a small payment a man to be executed can easily obtain a substitute. In the last analysis the real amount of the punishment administered in the amount paid by the real culprit to the substitute. Until this amount equals the amount of the sentence imposed, the punishment inflicted falls just so far short. One thing in its favor, however, is its popularity, and popularity covers a multitude of shortcomings.

The old treatises on Finance have given way to new treatises on Currency. There is wealth enough, but the medium of exchange is for some reason not quite right. It is in fact a case of "Wealth, wealth, everywhere, but not a bit of it handy" A man getting a monopoly of drinking water in Peterborough in 24 hours would be rich. So is the same with money. the basis of the medium of exchange by means of which we exchange our different forms of wealth for each other.

Speaks Highly of Nickel Theatres

Cheap theatres as missions for the young of our city, the man that turns the crank operating the moving picture machine is a missionary to the young men of Battle Creek, and the illustrated song artist a gospel singer in disguise.

That is the way Chief of Police Farrington, of Battle Creek, Mich., has sized it up. That the five-cent theatre has done more to discourage and diminish drinking and crime in this city was another declaration made by the tall boss of the city blue coats.

"Yes, sir, by gorry," said Farrington. "I honestly think that these nickel shows have really done more to prevent drunkenness and drinking in this city than all of the sermons that were ever preached.

"Before we had them with us, what was a young fellow going to do for amusement? There was the saloon or the billiard hall inviting him in. One was about as bad as the other. He naturally got to drinking just to pass away the time, and he soon fell into the habit of hanging around saloons, meeting bad company, and before long he had gone wrong.

"Now look at the difference. For ten or fifteen cents a young fellow can get a whole evening's entertainment, and he can go home with a level head and wake up in the morning without a sick headache and a bad taste in his mouth. And the young fellow can take his girl to one of these cheap shows and it does not cost him his whole week's pay to do it, either. And every one of the cheap theatres here put on a show that could not offend the most fastidious. They also keep the farmer who comes to town out of the saloons.

"The saloonmen of the city do not like to see these cheap shows doing business there. Every one of them complains that it takes money out of his pocket, and I would not be surprised to see several saloons close up here as a result of the inroads made on their income by the cheap theatres. I like them. I wish we had more of them here. My officers would have fewer drunks to look after."

Notes of Royal Astronomical Society; Meeting To-night

Mr. H. M. S. Cotter of the Hudson Bay Company Likely to be Present—A Distinguished Visitor—Discovery of New Planet Reported to Dr. Marsh.

A most interesting and important meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held tonight in the YWCA. building. Mr. A. E. Collier's address on "An Hour with the Moon," promises to be very entertaining and instructive.

Mr. H. O Fisk will speak on 'Echoes from the Dominion Observatory". In addition Dr. Marsh will give his astronomical observations since the last meeting.

Those attending are requested to bring more books with them as much information of a useful nature will be given, and it will be of advantage to jot down some of the points

A VISITOR OF DISTINCTION.

It is likely a distinguished personage, Mr. H. M. S Cotter, of the Hudson Bay Company, at Fort Chimo, Ungava, will be present. Mr. Cotter is visiting his brother in Toronto. He is a personal friend of Rev. Dr. Marsh of Springville, president of the Royal Astronomical Society, the latter having met him in Labrador when he was there in 1905. He will be the guest of Dr. Marsh when he comes here.

Mr. Cotter was at Northwest River, Labrador, for some years, living in the same house that Lord Strathcona lived in, when he was a factor of the Hudson Bay Company at Dogburst River. About two years ago he was promoted to the important station he at present holds at Ungava

A cablegram has been received at Harvard College Observatory, Cambridge, Mass., from Kiel, Germany, stating that a planet had been discovered by Melotte of Greenwich Observatory. There is the possibility of the planet being a satellite. It has been observed for eight days.

The cablegram was as follows;

Jan. 27th—Right ascension, 9 hours, 46 minutes, 12 seconds; declination; plus 18 degrees, 2 minutes 34 seconds. Feb. 28—Right ascension, 8 hours, 31 minutes, 32 seconds declination; plus 19 degrees, 10 minutes, 13 seconds.

It is visible in a large telescope. Peterborough won't see it. The message telling of this discovery of sage telling of the discovery of the planet was sent to Dr. Marsh.

This picture shows, though rather limly, Mrs. Dick Lindsay, who died alone in her miserable home in North Hastings while her husband was off on a drunken spree. The children in the group are Mrs. Lindsay's seven children, and the photo was taken in February, 1907. At that time Reeve Bowlby and Rev. James Binnie, of Tweed, acting under instructions from Dr. Kelso, took the children away from the parents and placed them in the home at Toronto. When these women went to the miserable shack which the Lindsays called home they found them in a most miserable condition. Although, in the middle of winter, the children were clothed as shown in the photo, some barefooted, and at night they crawled like rats through a hole in the floor, and slept huddled together on a few rags under the hovel.

Lindsay, who is a big, able-bodied man, is one of a family of nineteen brothers, and they are nearly all shiftless and worthless. The family is notorious in North Hastings wild country, where they live in squalor with seemingly no ambition to better themselves. This history of these people and the story of their present mode of life could only be parallelled by the "poor white trash" of the Southern States."

Work of Local Photographer is Recognized

Several Pictures are Reproduced in Leading Photography Journal

The current number of the "St. Louis and Canadian Photographer," published at St. Louis, contains eight pictures from the studio of Mr. Louis Mendel, of Peterborough. Each month the journal indicated devotes considerable space to specimens of the work of some prominent photographer, and Mr. Mendel is to be congratulated on being recognized in this manner.

Cuts are made from the photographs and a page is given to each cut. Being printed on good paper, they show up well although many of the fine points of the photographs are lost in the reproduction.

Orangemen Have Annual Supper

Splendid Entertainment and Oyster Supper at Alnwick—Over 200 in Attendance

The Orangemen's annual oyster supper and entertainment, held at Alnwick on Thursday, was the most successful one ever given under the above auspices. Mr. Robertson of Roseneath, made a splendid chairman.

There were over 200 in attendance from various places and the proceeds of the supper amounted to seventy dollars. Guests were present from Chemong, Hiawatha, Roseneath, Keene and other points. A feature of the occasion was the presence of the fife and drum band from Keene Lodge, and the Alnwick West End String Band.

A short address was given by Rev. Mr. Dupraw of Roseneath, and an excellent vocal and instrumental programme was rendered.

DEVOTED TO EDUCATION

Services at Charlotte Street Methodist Church Yesterday

Educational services were preached at Charlotte street church yesterday by Rev. G. R. Clare, of Millbrook, Rev. H. M. Manning exchanging pulpits with him. There were large congregations both morning and evening and two forcible sermons were preached. The educational work of the Methodist Church was clearly outlined, and it is understood that there was a generous response to the the appeal for assistance.

FROM HANSARD

From Hansard, Jan. 28, 1908;—
JAPANESE IMMIGRATION

Mr. R. L. Borden (Carleton, Ont). Before you leave the chair I desire to address a few remarks to a subject that has already been discussed at considerable length in this House during the present session. My hon. friend the Postmaster General has lately returned from a mission to Japan, and he delivered in this House a week ago today a very eloquent speech, giving us an account of the result of his mission. My hon. friend always speaks gracefully and eloquently, and perhaps some of us might have entertained the wish that on that occasion there had been a little less eloquence and a little more information. He found himself constrained, no doubt for good reasons, to circumscribe considerably the information he gave on certain points which are of very material interest and importance to the people of this country at the present juncture.

I do not in the least desire to be understood as reflecting upon the hon. gentleman in that regard, because, if one principle is to be more insisted upon than another in international dealings, it is that confidences of the character alluded to should be respected. I am alluding to this for the reason that the action and attitude of the present government have brought the affairs in relation to Japan into such a condition that what would otherwise be necessary and desirable information was denied, and necessarily denied, I presume, by my hon. friend, the Postmaster General, to this House on that occasion. The hon. gentleman took great pains to justify the good faith and courteous attitude of the Government and the people of Japan, and so far as his remarks in that regard are concerned, I entirely concur in what he says. The Government of Japan negotiated this treaty with Canada at our instance. As I shall show later on, they were not asked to accompany that treaty by any stipulation or proviso which should reserve to the Parliament of Canada control of immigration from Japan into this country. This government went to Japan and asked Japan to permit Canada to accede to that treaty absolutely and without reserve, and it was upon that appplication that the government of Japan entered into the convention of 1906 which accorded to the citiens of Japan absolute and full right and liberty to enter and travel and reside in this country. The hon. gentleman has referred to a so-called tacit understanding between the government of this country and the government of Japan. He has also alluded to assurances given on behalf of the government of Japan to the government of this country with respect to the restriction or even the prohibition of immigration from Japan to Canada, and he has declared to the House, speaking for the Government in that regard that this tacit understanding and these assurances have been absolutely and perfectly carried out in good faith by the government of Japan. In that regard he does absolutely justify the government of Japan, but it seems to me, that, that, having regard to the condition of affairs which had prevailed in this country during the past twelve months, when he justifies the Government of Japan he condemns the government of which he, himself, is a member."

IS WORTH SAVING

Put it in Some Safe Place for it May Come in Handy.

Here is a simple home-made mixture as given by an eminent authority on Kidney diseases, who makes the statement that it will relieve almost any case of Kidney trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease. He states that such symptoms as lame back, pain in the side, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night; painful and discolored urination, are readily overcome. Here is the recipe; try it:

A well-known local druggist is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, and often overcome the worst forms of Rheumatism in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rheumatism by forcing the Kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and system all uric acid and foul, decomposed waste matter, which cause these afflictions. Try it if you aren't well. Save the prescription.

ROD AND GUN

Hunting takes the pride of place in the March number of Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor at Woodstock, Ont. From the fascinating sport of cariboo hunting in Newfoundland we are taken to deer stalking in the Gatineau Valley, hunting on a Quebec preserve, a successful hunt in Muskoka; while an unsuccessful one in New Brunswick proves that hunters are sometimes prepared to tell of their failures as well as to boast of their successes. The CPR. Wolf Hunt is told about while a bear hunt is also described. These papers are varied by an excellent one on the Bloodhound, and the thoughtful and poetical address before the Canadian Club at Toronto, entitled, "The Protection of the Wild and the Things of the Wild," by Cy Warman is given in full. Some rough backwoods experiences show the reality as compared with the glitter of the life on the frontiers of civilization though the latter must retain its attractions for many men. Good illustrations are a feature of this number and the departments are all abreast of the other contents of the magazine, making it creditable alike to the publisher and the Dominion, the attractions of which from a sport loving point of view it presents to the world.

SAVINGS OF 20 TO 50 PER CENT. ON NEW GOODS

This might seem an impossible offering, but these goods were bought by us in an unusual way and at unusual prices. Some were secured from manufacturers who were frightened by the money panic; some were orders cancelled by Western dealers and left on the makers' hands; another big lot was secured from a Tapestry Curtain Manufacturer who received a large amount of insurance through an accident to the water tower on his factory.

THE INSURANCE COMPANIES HAVE PAID ABOUT HALF YOUR BILL—

Not often you get a chance to get even with an Insurance Company, but here they practically have paid half your bill. 325 pairs heavy Tapestry Curtains were secured from a maker, who, through an accident to the water tower on his factory, received a per centage of insurance on his stock. Some of them were badly soaked, but most of them are none the worse. There are three qualities in the lot:

3.00 Tapestry Curtains, 1.79

125 pairs heavy woven Tapestry Curtains, 40 inches wide by 3¼ yards long, fringed top and bottom. Colors, solid shades or two-tone combinations of Crimson, Green or dark and light Green. Regular $3.00. 14 Days Only......... 1.79

5.00 Tapestry Curtains, 2.79

125 pairs Tapestry Curtains, heavy Repp weave, 50 inches wide, 3½ yards long, heavy fringe top and bottom. This Spring's newest designs in colors Crimson, Dark Red, Green, Olive and Rose and Green combination. Every pair perfect. 14 Days Only...................... 2.79

9.00 Tapestry Curtains, 3.75

75 pairs best silk finished Tapestry Curtains, in all the new shadings of Browns, Green and Rose, Crimson and Self Greens. Extra heavy fringed, hand knotted. Regular $7.50 to $9.00 a pair. These are slightly water marked. 14 Days only 3.75

WEAKNESS
Foe of the Aged.

Right now, to-day, is the time to look for better health. If you use Ferrozone you'll find it. Ferrozone is a grand blood renovator, makes the vital fluid rich, red and nutritious. By strengthening the blood, a current of life is sent into every nook and corner of the body that puts stamina and staying power into all weak organs.

A complete restoration to the health and spirits of youth is within the reach of everyone that uses the food tonic Ferrozone. You can hardly afford to miss the benefit of such a strength-giving medicine. Hadn't you better try it?

FERROZONE

It is impossible for any one to be weak or nervous if they use Ferrozone. It possesses the power to kindle new vitality and strength in systems of people almost dying of weakness.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, a wonderful rebuilder, far famed for its lasting cures.

You'll never know what real good health means until you have used Ferrozone, which contains more actual nourishment and strength-giving elements than you can get in any other way

As a blood purifier, nerve-strengthener, and appetizing tonic, Ferrozone has positively no equal.

Ferrozone is sold by all dealers in 50c boxes, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

The Design Was Defective and the Construction Faulty

Finding of Commission on Quebec Bridge Disaster.

Government Had Nothing to Do With Oversight—Engineers Are Responsible—Financial Weakness of the Quebec Company — Fatal Delay While Experts Were Considering What Course to Adopt.

Ottawa, March 10.—The report of the Quebec Bridge Commission was laid on the table yesterday afternoon by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

It declares that the collapse of the bridge was due to errors of judgment of the designing engineer, P. L. Szlapka, and the consulting engineer, Theodore Cooper, whose ability, says the report, "was tried in one of the most difficult professional problems of the day and proved to be insufficient for the task."

The specifications were unsatisfactory in that unit stresses were higher than any established by past practice. The steel used was of good quality, but serious defects were fundamental in the design and the failure of the company to appoint an experienced bridge engineer as chief engineer was a great mistake.

The commission was composed of Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal; John G. Kerry, C.E., of Montreal; and Prof. John Galbraith, C.E., of Toronto University. The members of the commission were appointed on Aug. 30, the day following the accident, and the taking of evidence was begun in Quebec on Sept. 9. Subsequent sittings were held at Ottawa, New York, Phoenixville and Philadelphia.

The report goes fully into the history of the Quebec Bridge Co., contracts entered into with the Phoenix Bridge Co., and the employment of Theodore Cooper of New York as consulting engineer. The engineer of the Quebec Bridge Co., was W. A. Hoare and the chief engineer of the Phoenix Bridge Co., John Sterling Deans.

The commissioners find: (a) The collapse of the Quebec bridge resulted from the failure of the lower chords in the anchor arm near the main pier. The failure of these chords was due to their defective design.

(b) The stresses that caused the failure were not due to abnormal weather conditions or accident, but were such as might be expected in the regular course of erection.

(c) The design of the chords that failed was made by P. L. Szlapka, the designing engineer of the Phoenix Bridge Co.

(d) This design was examined and officially approved by Theodore Cooper, consulting engineer of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Co.

(e) The failure cannot be attributed directly to any cause other than errors in judgment on the part of these two engineers.

(f) These errors of judgment cannot be attributed either to lack of common professional knowledge, to neglect of duty, or to a desire to economise. The ability of the two engineers was tried in one of the most difficult professional problems of the day, and proved to be insufficient for the task.

(g) We do not consider that the specifications for the work were satisfactory or sufficient, the unit stresses in particular being higher than any established by past practice. The specifications were accepted without protest by all interested.

(i) We do not believe that the fall of the bridge could have been prevented by any action that might have been taken after Aug. 27, 1907. Any effort to brace or take down the structure would have been impracticable owing to the manifest risk of human life involved.

(j) The loss of life on Aug. 29, 1907, might have been prevented by the exercise of better judgment on the part of those in responsible charge of the work or the Quebec Bridge and Railway Co., or the Phoenix Bridge Co.

(k) The failure on the part of the Quebec Bridge & Railway Co. to appoint an experienced bridge engineer to the position of chief engineer was a mistake. This resulted in a loose and inefficient supervision of all parts of the work on the part of the Quebec Bridge & Railway Co.

Essex County Terrorized.

Windsor, March 10.—Essex County has suffered from a series of petty robberies the past month. Thieves have visited Maidstone, Ruthven, Essex and other places. Postoffices and general stores have been favorites with the robbers.

At Essex thieves entered the home of Mrs. Harry Daykin and chloroformed her while they ransacked the house. The latest place visited is Stoney Point, where the general store of Emmanuel Desmarais was entered and two hundred dollars worth of goods taken. The burglars had a wagon to take away the plunder. Provincial detectives and county officers are completely baffled at the many jobs pulled off.

Saskatchewan Legislature.

Regina, Sask., March 1.—April 2 has been fixed as the date for the opening of the Saskatchewan Legislature. Premier Scott who sails from the old country on March 11, is expected to arrive here about the 24th.

Twenty Firemen Hurt.

Chicago, March 10.—A score of firemen were injured, three perhaps fatally, by a fire which destroyed Apollo Hall, a three-storey structure at 260-262 Blue Island avenue early yesterday. The damage was $85,000.

Naval Captain Suicides.

Seattle, Wash., March 10.—Daniel J. Ainsworth, commander of the revenue cutter Rush, committed suicide in the bathroom of the vessel by shooting himself in the head.

Blacks Have Revolted.

Antwerp, March 10.—Mail reports received here from the Congo Independent State declare that the Lessages and Dechares blacks on the upper Sanga River, in the French Congo, have revolted. The French director has been taken prisoner. There has already been several engagements.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

Committee of Eight Members Appointed in Legislature.

Toronto, March 10.—A committee of eight from the Legislature, consisting of five Government representatives and three from the Opposition, will be given charge of the Redistribution measure. This announcement was made in the Legislature by the Prime Minister, Hon. J. P. Whitney, yesterday.

Hon. Mr. MacKay moved his 13-part order asking returns relative to the operations and results of the Hydro-Electric Commission.

"I may tell my hon. friend," said Hon. Adam Beck, "that we have been working day and night to bring this information down to suit his convenience. It is consequently surely not unfair to ask him to give some reason for his motion."

"I am ready to acknowledge," responded the Liberal leader, "that the information in the opening questions occasioned more work than I had intended. But I desire to have the information before I discuss the matter."

"There is no objection to the motion," spoke up Hon. Mr. Whitney. "But the hon. Minister for London bespeaks the surprise that I feel, too, that the hon. gentleman opposite in making his motion has advanced no good reasons in the public interest why the information should be given, or what use is to be made of it."

Hon. Mr. MacKay—"I want to ascertain where the Hydro-Electric Commission is at in the matter of reaching practical results. The province has paid it $75,000 of public money. That in itself is enough reason for asking."

Hon. Mr. Beck—"Surely the hon. gentleman does not object to the expenditure, after urging us to spend $10,000 additional in investigating producer gas. I may tell him that we have the information he urged us to spend that sum for, and we got it at one-quarter the amount he wanted us to pay."

Mr. Whitney—"Hear, hear."

Mr. Beck asked that the motion carry, and immediately laid the returns on the table.

The return gives the names of 71 municipalities who applied for power. It states the procedure under which the bylaws were submitted. No estimate was given as to the cost of local distribution plants. Only one contract—that with Ottawa—had been finally entered into between the commission and a municipality.

Hon. Mr. Whitney asked Mr. MacKay to allow his motion relative to the Electrical Development Co. to stand till the morrow. "I was totally unable to-day," said the Prime Minister, "to get the return prepared. As soon as the House adjourns I propose to bar the door of my room and get at it."

Hon. Mr. MacKay asked as to the progress of the Redistribution Bill.

"The form of the bill is entirely new," said the Prime Minister, "It inaugurates a new departure. In a great majority of cases the constituencies will remain unchanged, and the number likely to be changed has decreased. It is probable that a committee of eight members will be appointed, five from the Government and three from the Opposition. The schedules are now practically ready."

"Will the redistribution be based on the census of 1901?" asked Mr. MacKay.

"There has been no official authority since," replied the Prime Minister.

Army Emigrants Arrive.

Vancouver, March 10.—The special Salvation Army train, carrying five hundred immigrants, has arrived, and 160 reached the coast Sunday. "There are 64 more application than we could fill," said Lieut.-Col. Howell yesterday morning, "and locate the right class of people for this part of the world, and if we get a fair chance we will solve the Oriental question in the most practical manner. Sixty single women were brought out and placed where wages range from $15 to $25 per month. We could have handled and disposed of as many more. All we ask is fair play and not too hasty judgment."

Too Much "Lovey Dovey."

Chicago, March 10.—Six kisses a day are the limit for Ora M. Leedom. He promised Detectives Stark and Johnston, who arrested him for deserting his affectionate wife, that he would stay with her on that basis. They found him in Springfield, Ill., where he went several weeks ago. "It's a case of too much 'lovey dovey' business," said Leedom on the way back from Springfield. "My wife—she was married once or twice before—is a good woman and a fine housekeeper, but is too strong on the love business to suit me."

How Mr. Scott Explains.

Montreal, March 10.—Hon. Mr. Scott has written the Montreal City Council, declaring that he had been misquoted in part, that he had not criticized the police force unfavorably and that he had intended no disrespect to the city except as regards the Italians.

The Secretary of State could not retract what he had said as to the quantity of saloons.

Crew Rescued at Sea.

Port Fayal, Azores, March 10.—The crew of the Norwegian barque Glinat, Captain Larsen, were landed here yesterday by the British steamer Tredegar Hall, Captain Williams, after having been rescued at sea from their vessel, which was in a sinking condition. The Glinat was not destroyed.

To Protect the People.

St. Catharines, March 10.—The City Council last night decided to at once prepare a bylaw to fully regulate all churches and other public buildings with a view to protecting citizens against injuries in case of panic or fire.

Cheers For Alfonso.

Madrid, March 10.—King Alfonso was given an enthusiastic and patriotic send-off last night by large crowds on his departure for Barcelona.

In St. Petersburg seven terrorists, among them an Italian journalist, were sentenced to death.

LETTER KEPT SECRET

Mr. Asquith Declines to Publish Kaiser's Correspondence.

Says It Was Private and Personal—Sir Edward Grey Was Consulted—Lord Rosebery Scores The Times—[illegible] the Nation Has Been Made Look Ridiculous—Mr. Balfour Endorses Cabinet.

London, March 10.—The hope that the letter sent last month by Emperor William of Germany to Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, in which, it has been charged, His Majesty attempted to influence Great Britain's naval legislation, and the British Minister's reply thereto would be made public for the edification of the people, was quickly dispelled by Herbert H. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

In a couple of curt sentences Mr. Asquith, who was acting as Premier, told A. J. Balfour and his other questioners that he had nothing to add to his statement of Friday, and that so far as he knew Lord Tweedmouth had nothing to add to his declaration, beyond the fact that immediately on the receipt of Emperor William's letter the First Lord of the Admiralty showed it to Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, who agreed with the recipient that the letter had no official character, and should be treated as a private communication.

A question from Amelius R. M. Lockwood, a Conservative member of the House, as to whether it was possible for a communication on such an important question to be regarded in any way as private, drew a still curter "Yes" from Mr. Asquith, and when he was asked to give the House of Commons an opportunity to discuss Lord Tweedmouth's conduct, the acting head of the Government maintained a chilly silence.

Lord Lansdowne, leader of the Opposition in the House of Lords, twitted Lord Tweedmouth with not being able to keep his own secrets. He said that about as much privacy appeared to have been attached to this correspondence as usually was attached to the private view at the Royal Academy, that marked the commencement of each season, but he said he had no idea of pressing the First Lord of the Admiralty to depart from his decision not to make the letter public. He thought the letters might be regarded as the kind of communication that could pass verbally at a meeting between a foreign sovereign and a British Minister without any suggestion of impropriety.

The feature of the session in the House of Lords was a speech by Lord Rosebery, who had the Prince of Wales in a seat beside him. The former Premier made an attack upon the "yellow" journalism of England, with special reference to the inferences drawn by The London Times from the letters.

"We have witnessed," Lord Rosebery said, "the whole world drawing the absolutely insane inference that the German Emperor was attempting to influence Lord Tweedmouth to cut down the naval estimates and check the increase of British armaments. This country has been placed in an unseemingly ridiculous position, and I am quite sure the idea mentioned never entered Emperor William's head or the head of any educated person entitled to remain outside of a lunatic asylum."

Witnessed Execution at Sing Sing.

Sing Sing, N.Y., March 10.—Antonio Strolo, an Italian, who killed a man in Van Cortlandt Park, New York, for the purpose of robbery, went to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison yesterday with a smile.

Strolo killed Antonio Terselli, whose face was literally slashed to pieces. There were thirty-six stab wounds in his body.

Three New York assemblymen witnessed the execution. It is said that a bill is being prepared for presentation to the Assembly which provides for the abolition of capital punishment.

Schools In Canada.

London, March 10.—(C. A. P.)—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Reginald McKenna, president of the Board of Education, informed Mr. W. Redmond that he did not think the Canadian system, under which rates were allocated for educational purposes between public and denominational schools, would solve the difficulties in Britain. He promised, however, to secure information on the point.

Socialism Splits Church.

New York, March 10.—Socialism, preached from the pulpit every Sunday morning by Rev. Dr. John D. Long, has resulted in more than one-half of the original members and congregation of the Parkside Presbyterian Church, on Lenox road, a fashionable section of Flatbush, withdrawing and joining other churches.

Argentine Elections.

Buenos Ayres, March 10.—The elections came to an end yesterday and the final results show that the Government has triumphed throughout the entire republic. A working majority in both Houses of the Federal Legislature assures confirmation of the Parliamentary policy.

Guelph Woman Badly Burned.

Guelph, March 10.—Mrs. Mason threw a bag into the stove yesterday. It burst into flame and she was enveloped. Her hair and eyebrows were burned off, and her arm painfully scorched. She will survive.

To Purify Elections is Now to the Fore at Ottawa

Mr. Aylesworth's Bill Introduced in the House of Commons.

All Contributions to Campaign Funds to Be Made Through Statutory Agents—Circulation of False Statements About Candidates to Be Punished—No Aliens to Take Part in Elections.

Ottawa, March 10.—The introduction of a couple of Government bills was the principal business of the Commons yesterday afternoon. During the proceedings Messrs. Fowler and Ganong, who had been absent in New Brunswick for the elections, were welcomed by Conservatives with a vigorous thumping of desks.

The total amount expended on exhibitions outside of Canada since the Government took office was $1,568,140, Mr. Brodeur informed Mr. Armstrong. He was also informed by Mr. Oliver that 620,000 acres of Indian lands had been sold since 1896, the amount received being $625,567.

Mr. Aylesworth introduced his bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. In examining the present act the Minister of Justice said he was unable to suggest any substantial betterment whatever. Complaints that had been heard had to do with the administration of the law. The Minister of Justice said he had examined the bill of Mr. Alcorn and that introduced in the Ontario Legislature by the Attorney-General and had received from each some important suggestions. The measure he was introducing was one he had drawn up four or five months ago, and it had, therefore, received due consideration.

The principal clause had to do with election fund contributions. He proposed that all contributions be made to and through the statutory agent, who will be required to make returns to the returning officer of the amount and source of all contributions. Any other contributions will be illegal. It was proposed to prohibit contributions by any company.

Another clause deals with the circulation of false statements regarding the personal character of a candidate, adequate punishment in such cases being provided.

Handbills and other matter regarding election matters must show the name of the printing office. The intervention of aliens in election matters is prohibited. There is provision for publication of polling booths and nomination papers will be required to contain an address for service of person nominated. Other amendments deal with the form of oath and proper preparation of the voters' lists.

Another provision which he had taken from Mr. Alcorn's bill was that no mark which a deputy or official may make on a ballot may void the ballot. Mr. Aylesworth cited the Wentworth case, when a polling division was thrown out because the D.R.O. had placed a mark on each ballot. The man who pays money or takes money as a bribe will be disfranchised and disqualified from holding office for a period of eight years. This is in addition to punishment provided by the present law. There is also a strong penalty for the man who tampers with the ballot.

Mr. Bergeron thought there should be a prohibition against double voting. He believed also that all elections should take place on the same day.

Mr. Aylesworth also introduced a bill to amend the Exchequer Court Act. The old act provided for the appointment of a substitute during the illness of a judge. In the case of the late Judge Burbidge, Judge Taylor took up his work, but on the death of the former there was no authority for Judge Taylor continuing in office. The amendment proposed to give authority to the temporary incumbent to close up any matters before the court and to confer general authority on the registrar of the court to transact routine business.

Mr. Martin (Queen's, P.E.I.) provoked discussion by introducing his resolution for papers in respect to the construction of a tunnel between the mainland and the island. The tunnel, he said, was like the spirit of MacBeth, which would not be quieted, and it would annually recur till justice was done. The resolution offered opportunity to the Prince Edward Island members to urge upon Government this great work.

Chased by Timber Wolves.

Port Arthur, Ont., March 10.—Twenty ravenous timber wolves kept Tom and Patrick Murphy, trappers, up a slim tree in Silver Mountains all Friday night. The thermometer was below zero, and the men were without overcoats. Two shots had failed to scare off the leaders of the pack, and the men had to hurry so up the tree that Tom tore off part of his clothes.

Before the wolves scattered in the morning the men shot nine of them, for which they collected here yesterday a bounty of $125.

Stopped Jail Delivery.

Guelph, March 10.—A jail delivery was prevented here yesterday by the alertness of a son of Warden McNab, who overheard a signal given by one of the prisoners.

Six men under the leadership of John Cox, awaiting removal to the Central Prison, were found to have dug a hole under the wall with iron taken from the cell cots. The delivery was about to take place when discovered.

To the general surprise, the award for the design of the new County Council Hall, London, has gone to an unknown architect, Mr. Ralph Knott, who is only 29 year of age. The cost will run into millions of dolars, and the competitors included all the English architects, and many Continental ones.

BIG POWER PROJECT.

850 Foot Dam In Vermont to Serve Parts of Three States.

Brattleboro, Vt., March 10.—The construction of a big dam across the Connecticut River is now under way, with the expectation of turning the waters of New England's greatest river into New England's biggest electric plant.

By means of the dam it is proposed to distribute the electric power within a radius including parts of three states. The power here is believed to be the largest developed water power in New England. The cost of the dam will be more than a million dollars.

The height of the dam, including its flush boards, would be 34 feet. The power house, which will be built of solid masonry, will extend from the Vermont shore 250 feet out into the river and will be a part of the dam. Beyond that there will be a spillway 600 feet long, making an 850 foot dam.

DYNAMITE KILLS FOUR.

More Lives Sacrificed on Transcontinental Construction Works.

Kenora, March 10.—A disastrous dynamite accident occurred at Gordon Bros.' Camp, North Kalmar, Ont., on the Transcontinental Railway, causing the instant death of an Englishman, Herbert Dunn; an Austrian, Nicholas Kak. and an Italian, Nio Tachquau.

Foreman Jacob Kobji was re-drilling a hole which was thought to have been exploded successfully, when unfortunately the accident happened.

The injured foreman and two others were brought into the hospital suffering from terrible wounds. On the danger list one named Visdar has since died.

A DUEL IN PRISON.

Combatants Had Stolen Money to Come to Canada.

Marseilles, March 10.—(C. A. P.)—Two Turks, who were arrested here for stealing money to go to Canada, were placed in the same cell. During the night they quarrelled and fought a duel. In the morning one of them was found stabbed to the heart.

Ontario Troops For Quebec.

Toronto, March 10.—"I shouldn't wonder," said Brigadier General Otter last night, when asked whether the military camps at Niagara, Barriefield and London would be omitted this year in order that the men might be taken to Quebec to take part in the tercentenary there in July. Nothing had been definitely decided as yet, he said, and the commanding officer of the district had received no instructions to that effect.

A mobilization of the militia east of Winnipeg at Quebec is a project that the department of militia is now considering. It would no doubt add greatly to the picturesqueness of the celebration.

The regiments of Toronto are already making preparations to send contingents, and it is thought that about 1,500 will go from Toronto.

Toledo Icemen Released.

Toledo, March 10.—Judge Brough in Common Pleas Court yesterday, issued an order releasing from jail R. C. Lemmon, R. A. Beard and Jos. Miller, the icemen sentenced to six months' imprisonment for violation of the anti-trust laws.

The men had served thirty-seven days. The motion for suspension of sentence was made last week, and there was also presented to the court a petition that counsel for the prisoners and the prosecuting attorney agreed the court that authority to suspend sentence. It was admitted that the families and business of the prisoners needed them, and that they had been sufficiently punished.

To Regenerate London.

London, March 10.—Inspired by the success in Wall street last October, the Bishop of London made an appeal to the city yesterday which he hopes will largely augment his fund for the spiritual regeneration of the metropolis. The meeting which was well attended, was held in St. Michael's Church, Cornhill. Among those present was the Lord Mayor of London.

The service, the bishop said, had its origin in the Wall street service of last year. He had been challenged to rally his own men as he had rallied those of New York, and the present great congregation was the outcome.

$6,000 Fine For Rebating.

Buffalo, March 10.—Judge Hazel, in the United States court, gave his decision yesterday in the case of the Mutual Transit Co., which was convicted at Elmira in January last of the charge of giving rebates to the Camden Iron Works upon shipments of pipe from Emaus, Pa., to Winnipeg, Man. Judge Hazel said that as this was a primary offence of the corporation, the motion for a new trial should be denied and a fine of $6,000 should be imposed. A stay of execution for 60 days was granted.

System Is a Farce.

Vancouver, March 9.—Judge Grant declared yesterday in passing on the Japanese naturalization papers that the present notarial system in Vancouver was a farce. Applicants pay money, but the purpose they know not, many believing they are making a declaration to entitle them to go to the United States.

Schmitz Fights For Freedom.

San Francisco, March 10.—That former Mayor Eugene Schmitz was unlawfully convicted of extortion and sentenced to five years in prison was reaffirmed yesterday by the State Supreme Court.

Yesterday's decision also applies to Abraham Ruef.

Convent Burned.

Quebec, March 10.—Fire destroyed the convent at Cape St. Ignace yesterday. The three hundred pupils escaped without injury.

With every prospect of attaining its object, the Free Trade Union is about to appeal for a special campaign fund of £50,000.

Successful Tea Held at Eden Church

Special to The Review

Mount Julian, March 9.—The tea and literary entertainment for Eden Methodist church on the 28th of February was a success socially and financially. The bad state of the roads did not prove as detrimental as was feared and a good crowd was present to enjoy the fine supper and excellent programme of the evening.

Our pastor, Rev. H. C. Garbutt, was the chairman and although disappointed by unavoidable circumstances of the support of Rev. G. Nickle and Rev. Marks proved a host in himself and added much to the pleasure of the audience.

A pleasant feature of the programme was the presence of the choir of Zion church, Dummer, who favored us with several choice selections.

The proceeds amounted to $47.50 and besides that a subscription of $50.00 was raised and both will be devoted to the erection of a driving shed for the church in the near future.

Rolling Mills Will Re-open

Belleville Citizens Hear Welcome Piece of News

Belleville, Ont., March 9.—The best piece of news the citizens have received arrived on Saturday in a despatch stating that the litigation in connection with the rolling mills had been adjusted and that just as soon as the plant could be put in shape operations would begin.

This good news will affect about three hundred skilled men who have been out of work since the mills closed nearly a month before Christmas.

Former employees, most of whom came from out of town, have remained, thus showing that their faith was not misplaced.

PORT HOPE'S EXPENDITURE

Support of Poor and Needy Costs Over $400 per Month

The Benevolent Society is dispensing aid to a great number of the needy ones of Port Hope, and it will no doubt be surprising to many of our citizens to learn of the expenditure which is made each week by this society for provisions.

At the first regular meeting of the Council, held Jan. 20th, a deputation from the Benevolent Society was present and informed the city fathers that they had been giving aid to the immigrants and would like to know if the Council would reimburse the Society for the same. The Society at that time thought the expenditure would be about one hundred dollars per month and they were assured by the members that the Council would be responsible for all the expenditure made in this direction.

Every Friday afternoon the Benevolent Society meets and grants aid to a large list of needy ones. Speaking to Secretary Gray, on Saturday, the Guide representative learned that last week's orders amounted to nearly ninety dollars. The provisions consisted of seven and a half tons of coal, one cord of wood and twenty-five dollars in groceries. This, Mr. Gray says, is a weekly occurrence, so it will be readily seen that instead of the expenditure being one hundred dollars per month it is nearly four times as much. The private subscriptions received by the Society is used for this purpose but as the fund is not very large the town is likely to be saddled with a large bill before spring.—Port Hope Guide.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

A representative of the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World has been investigating free rural mail delivery in the United States. So far as he has been able to learn the accusation that the whole system is merely a Republican 'machine' for vote getting is unfounded. Since 1904 the appointment of carriers has been under the National Civil Service Commission and politicians have had nothing to do with it whatever. In the early years of the experiment, from 1897 to 1907, political meddling was common, but now the system is too big for politics. Its growth has been enormous. Five-sixths of the territory suitable for rural delivery service is now supplied with it and 18,000,000 people enjoy its undoubted advantages. The cost of the whole service in 1907 was $27,000,000. The postal deficit was about $6,000,000, while in 1897, before rural delivery began, the deficit was over $11,000,000.

MARKET REPORTS.

LONDON, March 9.—London cables are steady at 10½c to 13c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9c to 9¼c per lb.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, March 9.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 74 car loads, composed of 1579 cattle, 107 hogs, 130 sheep and lambs, 76 calves and over 100 horses.

Exporters.

Exporters were quoted at $4.60 to $5.20 per cwt., the bulk going at about $5. But it must be remembered that a lot of light cattle were bought for export. 36 cattle, weighing 1200 to 1270 lbs. each, were reported by J. L. Rowntree as being bought for export at prices ranging at $4.60 to $4.90.

Butchers.

Selected butchers', of which there were few, sold at $4.75 to $4.90; good butchers', $4.50 to $4.65; medium, $4.25 to $4.40; common, $3.75 to $4.10; cows, $3 to $3.75; canners, $1.25 to $2 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

The bulk of the milkers and springers offered were of common to medium quality. Some of the cows offered looked to have good milking qualities, but they had little or no flesh on them, not having been fed properly. Prices ranged all the way from $27 to $60 each, the bulk of the best selling around $40 to $45 each.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at $4 to $6.50 per cwt., the bulk of them being of very poor quality.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep sold at $4.75 to $5 per cwt.; lambs at $6 to $7.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Gunns, Limited, report selects at $5.10 fed and watered, at the market, and $4.80 to $4.85, f.o.b., cars, at country points, to drovers.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 9.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 7, were 2743 cattle, 1577 sheep and lambs, 3005 hogs, and 431 calves, while the supplies for local consumption to-day consisted of 1000 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 1700 hogs and 200 calves. There was no actual change in the condition of the market for cattle, as compared with a week ago, except that the feeling was steadier as supplies were fully 400 head smaller and the quality of the stock on the whole was much better than it has been of late, in fact a large percentage of the offerings consisted of good to choice beeves. Altho supplies were smaller they were ample to fill all requirements, as the consumption of beef during the Lenten season always decreases some. There were a number of buyers present, including some from Quebec, and as they wanted some stock the demand was good and an active trade was done. Choice beeves sold at 5c to 5¼c; good, at 4½c to 4¾c; fair, at 3¾c to 4c; common, at 2¾c to 3¼c, and inferior, at 2½c to 2¾c per lb. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade in cattle slow and noted a decline in prices of ½c per lb., as compared with a week ago, American steers being quoted at 12c to 12½c, and Canadians at 11½c to 12c per lb. The market for sheep and lambs remains quiet, owing to the limited supplies coming forward. The demand is good from local buyers and prices are firm. A few small lots of choice lambs sold at 6½c to 6¾c; good, at 6c to 6¼c; fair, at 5½c to 5¾c, while choice sheep brought 4½c to 4¾c; good, 3¾c to 4c, and culls, 3½c to 3¾c per lb. The season for calves is now on and it is expected that within the next week or two supplies will increase materially. The demand is good for all fair to choice stock offered and sales were made at $3 to $8 each. A somewhat firmer feeling developed in the local hog situation this morning on account of smaller offerings and prices were a trifle higher than last Wednesday. The demand from local dealers and packers was good and an active trade was done, with sales of selected lots at $5.75 to $5.90 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 9.—Cattle—Receipts, 2800 head; active and 10c to 15c higher; prime steers, $5.65 to $6; shipping, $5 to $5.65; butchers', $4.50 to $5.50; heifers, $3.50 to $5.25; cows, $3 to $4.25; bulls, $3.25 to $5; stockers and feeders, $3.25 to $4.50; stock heifers, $2.75 to $3.25; fresh cows and springers, choice, steady; others, $2 to $3 lower, $18 to $52.

Young People Have Social Evening

A social evening was enjoyed by the young people of Knox Church last evening. Miss Aggie Carr occupied the chair and an interesting little programme was given. Misses Ruby Carr and Geraldine Montgomery gave a well-rendered instrumental duet and Mr. W. A. Greenslade gave a vocal solo which was much enjoyed. A banjo selection was given by Mr. F. Clarke and Mr. Duncan Campbell gave a vocal solo in his usual excellent manner. During the evening a number of fine lantern slides were shown of Canada.

Charley Grapewin, People's Favorite

Will be Here on Thursday in the Big Fun Show "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp"

After a week in Toronto and a week in Montreal, Charley Grapewin comes to the Grand next Thursday night in that hilarious comedy, "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp." Peterborough has been fortunate enough to be included as one of the one night stands which Mr. Grapewin is playing in Canada. The Russell Theatre Ottawa, gets Mr. Grapewin for Monday and Tuesday nights; Kingston, Wednesday; Peterborough, Thursday, and Hamilton, Friday and Saturday, from which place Mr. Grapewin's company jumps across the line for his annual tour of the American cities. Judging from the big advance sale, which opened this morning at the box office, the Peterborough public intend taking advantage of Mr. Grapewin's visit. Those who have not yet booked their tickets will do well to secure them as early as possible as the management expect a bumper house on Thursday night.

A Religious Census to be Taken To-morrow

Final Meeting for Preparation Will be Heard To-night

A religious census of the city will be taken to-morrow between one and six o'clock. The arrangements have practically been completed but a final meeting of the supervisors and visitors will be held this evening at the Y.M.C.A., at eight o'clock, at which definite instructions will be given as to the methods of filling in the record cards and other details. At this meeting Mr. Yellowlees will be present for the purpose of explaining how the work has been done in other places and anticipating difficulties that may arise. It is very important that all should be present at this meeting.

CHARLES BURKE'S HEAVY SENTENCE; GETS TEN YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY

Desperado Who Robbed Store Tenacious to the last—Clings to Story About Being in Norwood on Morning of Robbery—"An Inveterate Liar" Said His Honor Judge Weller—Conclusion of Unusually Interesting Case.

"Have you anything further to say?"

This was the first question Judge Weller asked Charles Burke, the convicted robber of Purser's store at Buckhorn, when he stood in court this morning preparatory to receiving his sentence. Burke stated he had not.

He asked his Honor if he had received his letter and the latter stated he had this morning. It was the third letter Burke had written to him, and in it is was stated that the prisoner admitted he had not registered as Bancroft at a Norwood hotel. He stated he had when he last appeared before the court. Burke, however, stuck to his statement that he was in Norwood on the morning the Buckhorn robbery was committed.

His Honor sai dhe had received a great deal of information concerning the prisoner and had thoroughly investigated his statements concerning his being in Norwood. He said he could arrive at no other conclusion than that Burke had not been in Norwood at the time he stated he was although he might have been on a previous occasion. He placed no weight whatever on what Burke said, and referred to him as an "inveterate liar."

He had always been engaged in the worst criminal matters. During the past twelve years he had been in prison a great deal. His Honor stated Burke was a clever young man but his talents had been wasted. He had associated in Toronto with thieves and was a confirmed criminal. The sentence that could be imposed upon him was imprisonment for life and flogging with the "cat."

His Honor had been considering whether or not the "cat" should be administered to the prisoner during his confinement. Had he committed any violence whatever on the young women in the store at the time of the robbery he would have seen that Burke received the "cat" in a way that he deserved.

"There is no possibility of reforming you," said his Honor.

Burke stated he had no friends to work in his behalf and was thus handicapped.

"I was in Norwood at the time I said I was," he stated, "and will prove it yet. It is the truth if I never should leave this spot."

In his last letter to his Honor, Burke stated he had eight aliases. He said on account of his career of crime his own name was useless.

His Honor dwelt on his long criminal career and said there was no hope of working any reformation in his case.

He then sentenced him to ten years' imprisonment in Kingston Penitentary.

"Thank you," Burke humbly remarked when the sentence of the court had been passed upon him. There was no bravado in the remark and it appeared as though he said it simply for something to say.

Death Follows Blood Poison; Bite From Cat Proves Fatal

Sudden Demise of Mr. Roland W. Tivey, Jr. Last Evening at St. Joseph's Hospital—Funeral Will be Held Tomorrow.

With shocking suddenness came the death of Mr. Roland W. Tivey, eldest son of Mr. Roland Tivey, Sr., Stanley avenue, East City. He passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital last night after an illness of only a few days. About ten days ago he was bitten on the fingre by a cat. At first little attention was paid to the wound as it was not very painful and no serious results were anticipated. However blood poisoning developed and on Saturday Mr. Tivey was removed to the hospital where everything that medical aid could do, was done but despite this the poison spread rapidly through his sytem and resulted in his death as stated above.

The late Mr. Tivey was 42 years of age and was born in Prescott. He came to Peterborough with his parents about twenty years ago. For the past four years he had been engaged on railway construction in New Ontario, and was home on a visit here when his death occurred.

Besides his parents two brothers and four sisters are left to mourn his loss. The brothers are Albert of Englehart, and Sidney of Calgary, Alta., and the sisters are Mrs. J. J. Howden, Mrs. T. H. Adams of this city; Mrs. E. D. Story of Ottawa, and Miss Alice Tivey, residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence, Stanley avenue, to the Little Lake cemetery.

It is learned that the next few weeks will see several important changes on the east side of George street, between Hunter and Brock streets. It is stated that after May 1st the Commercial hotel will be moved from its present quarters and opened in another part of the city. The reason for this is that the owners of the block intend converting it into business stands, stores, etc. The site is a splendid one for this purpose and the property would no doubt draw big rent. Business stands are at a premium on George street, and if this change is made the block would not be long without tenants.

Many will regret the closing of the Commercial House at its present stand as it has been well conducted and was noted for the orderliness that always prevailed there.

The hotel lease expires on May 1st and a definite announcement of the proposed changes will then be made.

St. John's Mission is Proving Very Successful

Two Powerful Addresses Given Last Evening by Rev. W. B. Heeney—Large Number Were in Attendance.

Yesterday was the second day of St. John's Mission. Services were held at 10 a.m. 4.15 and 8 p.m. At the afternoon service Rev. C. Wilkinson delivered an interesting address on "Prayer" and among those present were a large number of the boys and girls of the Sunday School.

At the evening service a large congregation listened with intense interest to two of the most powerful addresses ever heard in St. John's church by Rev. W. B. Heeney, of Barrie. The "Abundance of Life" and the "Abiding Presence of Christ," were his subjects. A number of popular hymns were sung with enthusiasm led by Mr. Gliddon's full orchestra.

At the beginning of the service Rev. Dr. Langfeldt gave an interesting address. He said the church had been kept back by the low worldly standard of the members, and the prevalence of formalism. This was one of the determined attacks upon these difficulties and he felt sure that the best possible results would come from it. Right relations with God depended somewhat upon our right relations with men and these relationships should be attended to by everyone. He hoped that the whole body of the people would give strong co-operation to rise to these higher things.

After the singing of a hymn the Rev. W. B. Heeney delivered his first address from the chancel steps. He said there was a certain type of life upon hospital beds but that it was a life of a low ebb as proclaimed by the wan faces and other signs. In the same way there was a certain modicum of life in Christian churches but it was not, unlike the life on the hospital beds, the spiritual powers being at their lowest point. In graphic and telling language the speaker depicted the powers which could be obtained if the souls were in a right relation with God. He concluded by appealing to all to see that their part was not left undone in this matter. They could not, however, obtain God's gifts without coming into the ranks of active service and wearing the uniform given by the King. Christian service was not for some few well-disposed persons but must be actually shared in by everyone in active communion with God. It was the sine qua non of the Christian life. This has been the line taken by Mr. Heeney all along in his inspiring addresses and he worked it out to its logical conclusion last night.

His second address was on the 'Abiding Presence of Christ,' who was man's companion and guide, not only in the church but outside it. Again the great difficulty was the lack of co-operation on the part of most christians who did not welcome the guiding hand so kindly offered and did not care for the personal fellowship with an ever present Lord.

At the close of the service a large meeting of workers was held where the present position of things was fully discussed and arrangements made for the vigorous prosecution of the present campaign.

Services will be held tonight at eight o'clock.

The Lesson of the Horror at Cleveland

(Special to the Review.)

Toronto, March 10.—The lesson of the recent Cleveland horror has not been lost upon the Ontario Educational Department, and the Minister has sent circulars to all inspectors requesting these officials to see that schools in their districts are properly equipped with fire escapes and that the doors open outwards. This will apply to all schools more than one storey in height. The minister's action was the immediate result of a report on the McKough school in Chatham, which is several stories in height, and which has no fire escapes.

HIGH WATER.

The water in Lake Ontario is higher than it has been for twenty-two years. The report of the United States Lake Survey shows that it is 246.73 feet above tide water, New York. This is eighteen and one-half inches higher than the average for January for the past ten years. It is nearly three feet higher than in January, 1896, and three and a half inches higher than last year. With heavy ice in the St. Lawrence, high water for this lake for the coming season is predicted.

Presentation to Archdeacon Casey

Lindsay Parishioners Honor One They Love Well

Lindsay, March 9th.—When it became known among the parishioners of St. Mary's a few days ago that Venerable Archdeacon Casey, their highly esteemed pastor, had recovered his health after a stay of some weeks at Virginia Hot Springs, and that he would be with them on the following Sunday, there was unbounded joy manifested, and steps were at once taken to exhibit in a tangible form, the high place occupied by the Archdeacon in their esteem. The measures then set on foot had their culmination yesterday after high mass. Just as the people were about to disperse after the final prayer, a deputation of gentlemen advanced to the sanctuary rail, where Father Casey was standing, and presented him with an address and a wallet contining a handsome sum in gold.

Archdeacon Casey made an appropriate reply.

After the testimony was in County Crown Attorney Wood stated there was no case established, his Honor dismissing the charge. Mr. G. N. Gordon apeared for the defence.

Letters to The Editor

WHY NOT A K.C.?

To the Editor of The Review;

Sir,—Will somebody tell me why Mr. Daniel O'Connell is not a K. C.? Has he refused it? Mr. O'Connell is not of my way of thinking, but he is a whole-souled upright man, conscientious as well as clever and now that his party is in power at Ottawa, he ought to be decorated. He no doubt could get it by asking, but he is not that sort and therefore deserves it the more. Hoping to hear, &c.,

Yours,
CITIZEN.

AWAITING MORE LIGHT

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of last evening, I notice with a great deal of pleasure that we have one in our midst who seems to be in possession of sufficient moral courage to undertake the spiritulization of the Scriptures for our benefit. Now that Mr. Seward has shown that the references in the Bible are figurative, and not the real thing, I would like the following explained:—Gen. 2 ch. 7 v. Is this a figurative man, in the man. Again, Gen. 4, 16, is this Cain the first born of a real man or is all symbolic,

Does Mr Seward mean that all reference to materialism, is but symbolical expressions.

For instance, see Acts 1, 11. Is Jesus to come again as a figure, or as the real man? Paul says in Heb. 9, 28. So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto Salvation. Perhaps the reference of a general judgment, may be figurative, and if so what is the reality. Awaiting more light,

I am sincerely yours,
R. J. TODD.

FIRE ESCAPES FROM SCHOOLS

To the Editor of The Review;

Dear Sir—Do you not think that it is time the parents of the children attending the schools of this progressive city see that there are some means of escape from our schools in case of fire, besides just the stairs where the children go up and down to their rooms.

After reading in the papers of the horror at Cleveland last week and at Montreal some time ago should be enough to set any one seriously thinking of what would happen in case a fire should break out in any one of our schools.

As far as I can see and find out none of them have any fire escapes.

Now, any old factory or new one is compelled to have fire escapes by law, but our children, it seems, are neglected and denied a means of safety.

Take the new King Edward school, a fine building, but what chance is there for a child on the second or third floor to escape if a fire should start on the ground floor. None except to fly or jump.

Also our fine new Collegiate Institute, no fire escapes, what a shame!

I think who ever is to blame should try to have things remedied as soon as possible or possibly they think our children are all angels which no doubt they are, but I don't see any of them growing wings yet.

I, as a taxpayer would like to hear some others give their views on this question.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, if you can present these views before the public,

Respectfully,
A RATEPAYER.

Farewell to Rev. Father McColl Presentation of Purse and Address

Reverend Gentleman Given a Purse Containing $500 in Gold—Rector's Good Work is Referred to by Many Speakers.

The Knights of Columbus rooms were well filled last evening with the Knights and their friends who had assembled to present Rev. Father McColl with an address and a most substantial gift on the eve of his departure for Europe in search of health. Of late Rev. Father McColl has been unable to take his regular duties and being threatened with a physical breakdown has been recommended to seek the restoration of his accustomed health abroad. Mr. John Corkery occupied the chair. Dr. McNulty read a well worded and highly complimentary address and Mr. LeBrun made the accompanying presentation.

In replying, Rev. Father McColl dwelt upon the pleasant relations which existed between himself and his congregation and the citizens generally. Peterborough had increased in population, extent and general prosperity and the clergy of St. Peter's cathedral acting under the kindly inspiration and control of Bishop O'Connor had done their best to meet the demands made upon them. He thought it a matter of justifiable pride that the school in Murray street had been succeeded by the present handsome and commodious edifice. In every department of the ecclesiastical administration of the diocese the watchword had been efficiency. He acknowledged with pleasure the active and intelligent co-operation of the junior clergy. They were zealous and energetic in the performances of their duties which made parish work both pleasurable and profitable. The sentiments of the address were of course exaggerated. He was entitled to no such encomiums as there expressed and knew that they partook of the usual latitude of such [illegible] at this present. The parting reminded him that he could if necessary, lengthen his stay, but he hoped that the salubrity of the air and the freshness of the scenes of the old lands would do much both for mind and body, that he would be with them again in a few months. (Long-continued applause.)

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor acknowledged the kind words of Rev. Father McColl respecting himself, and the latter's constant efforts to develope and improve the work of the diocese. It was a heavy task but had been well and lovingly done. His felt on observing Father McColl's inability to perform his regular duties that it was necessary for him to take an immediate rest. When the laymen representing the congregation called upon him with the same purpose in view he had been glad to find that the people concurred in his views with respect to the necessity of a holiday for their rector that he might recover his wonted health by rest and change of scene. It was no doubt gratifying to Father McColl to find the regard of his congregation expressed in such a sincere and affectionate manner but he could assure them that Father McColl deserved all that had been said of him. (Applause.)

Rev. Father McGuire, representing the [illegible] parish in the diocese as he described it, made a very pleasant reference to his brother clergyman and some amusing remarks that evoked much merriment.

Rev. Father Phelan made an eloquent and feeling speech concluding with a fervent wish for the speedy restoration of Father McColl to health.

Hon. J. R. Stratton said that he was an old friend of Father McColl and knew him to be a trustworthy and reliable man and after all there was nothing worthier of admiration than trustworthiness and reliability. He wished Father McColl a pleasant trip and restoration to health.

Mr. Burnham concurred in the general sentiments and good wishes respecting Father McColl.

Rev. Fathers Kelly and Galvin for the curates spoke pleasantly of their relations with their rector and wished him an affectionate 'God speed.'

Mr. Daniel O'Connell spoke eloquently of the aspirations and high principles which formed the ideals of the Knights of Columbus. Charity and brotherly love were always foremost in their minds. He thanked Father McColl, their spiritual adviser for his able co-operation in the work of their society.

Mr. L. M. Hayes, KC, made a pleasant reference to the guest of the evening and added his good wishes.

Messrs. O'Connor, Michael O'Brien and Perkins also spoke.

Ald. Phelan recited the 'Julie Plante' and Mr. LeBrun sang the immortal war song of the French, the "Marseillaise."

A very pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King.

The address read was as follows;

Reverend and Beloved Father;

It was with feelings of the deepest regret and sympathy that we recently learned of your inability through failing health to fully and actively continue in the discharge of your parochial duties. Realising fully how zealously you have applied yourself to the work of the parish, and how splendidly your various undertakings have been crowned with success, we feel that you have justly earned a respite from the anxiety and care necessarily associated with your efforts on our behalf, and now, on the eve of your departure for a more salubrious clime, we are gathered together here in the hopes that we may in some measure impress upon you the kindly and grateful feelings of appreciation that dwelt so deeply in the hearts of every one of us. During your residence in our midst we have come to realize the fervor and sincerity of your piety, the sterling value of your executive ability, the broad liberality of your opinions, the charity that o'er mantles all your actions. Each succeeding year of association and intercourse has served but to increase the power of our affection and devotion.

"Time but the impression stronger works,
As streams their channels deeper wear."

To particularize and dwell upon your various undertakings would serve but to illustrate for how many reasons we have cause for gratitude. Our spiritual, intellectual and social life have in turn come under your sway, have been tempered with keen discernment and now rest on a firmer and more elevated basis than ever before. In a special manner your solicitude seems to have been attracted towards the young—your endeavors to surround them with the more gentle accomplishments—to early associate with their general education the refining influences of elocution and music, will, we feel in due time bear fruit and tend to the cultivation of high and noble ideals.

So much that pertains to our advancement and uplifting has received your special thought and love that nothing seems to have been sacrificed—nothing but your own personal comfort; unmindful of needed rest and negligent of the constitutional strain your manifold energies still kept pace with the ever-increasing demands of the parish, until your natural reserve of strength was so far encroached upon as to seriously jeopardize your stat eof health, but this we trust and pray will soon be restored to its pristine vigor, and and pray also that for many years to come you may be spared to labor amongst us.

And now, Dear Father, our dearest wish is that you may travel far away from care and worry, seek some quiet haunt, there to indulge your reveries, enjoy the luxury of wandering thought, and build, not chapels or churches, but air castles undisturbed. This purse we ask you to accept as coming from grateful hearts. In your absence from our midst we trust and pray that you may enjoy that happiness and peace of mind that surpasseth all understanding, and returning home again, invigorated in mind and body, may continue to the guide of our earthly destinies and so fulfill our hopeful expectations.

Harry Phelan.
H. LeBrun.
Richard Sheehy.
F. P. McNulty.

It is understood that the purse presented to Rev. Father McColl last evening in the Knights of Columbus rooms, contained $500.00 in gold.

An Address on "Books We Read"

By Mr. H. A. Pearson of St. Catharines at Geo. St. Epworth League

Last night was literary evening at the regular meeting of the George street Epworth League and an interesting and profitable time was spent. Mr. Garnet Galley occupied the chair and opened the meeting. The feature of the evening was the address on "Books We Have Read," by Mr. H. A. Pearson, secretary of the St. Catharines Y.M.CA. In his remarks Mr. Pearson referred to poetry as the highest type of reading. During the evening a male quartette, consisting of Messrs. F. Miles, H. Mallory, S. Gray and C. Picard gave a selection, and Miss Irene Mowry also rendered a vocal solo which was much enjoyed.

Two Excellent Addresses at the Meeting

Of the Royal Astronomical Society Held Last Evening

A most interesting meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, of Peterborough, was held last evening in the Y.W.C.A. hall, when only a fairly large number were present. Mr. H. M. S. Cotter, of the Hudson Bay Co. at Fort Chimo, Ungava, who was expected to be present and give an address, was unavoidably absent. Rev. Dr. March, of Springville, president, was in the chair, and opened the meeting by giving his astronomical observations since the last meeting. He said that those having their watches corresponding to C.P.R. time to-day at five minutes to twelve you will find the sun directly south, with an altitude of 41 degrees, 40 minutes, above the horizon. To-day at six minutes to three, Venus can be seen with field glasses, directly south. It will be a little white spot, 68 degrees above the horizon. Jupiter will be visible to-night at seven o'clock, 65 degrees, 48 minutes, above the horizon. Saturn is behind the sun and will not be visible until July. Uranus will be visible on the first of April, while Neptune can also be seen to-night at seven o'clock, 67 degrees, 40 minutes above the horizon.

The business of the evening consisted in a number of communications being read, chief among them being one from Commander Parry, the Arctic explorer, who the Society had written to regarding a visit to this city. From the letter received such a visit would be impossible, as he required $250 for each evening. By the resignation of the secretary, Mr. Lowry, it was necessary to appoint a new one, Miss E. Foy, being the unanimous choice of the Society.

"Impressions of the Dominion Observatory," was the subject of an interesting talk by Mr. H. O. Fisk, who visited Ottawa about a week after Dr. King's lecture before the Society here. Mr. Fisk spoke very highly of the cordial reception he received from Dr. King, who gave up an afternoon in showing him through the Observatory and answering all the questions he desired to ask. The Observatory is a very fine building and is entirely fireproof. Above the front door is a large clock dial and above the clock is a large dome. On entering the building Mr. Fisk met Dr. King, who invited him into his private office, where the principle of having everything fireproof was further carried out in the furniture. A visit was then made to the library, where many excellent works on astronomy are kept. The photograph department was something wonderful. It was a splendid gallery and most complete. Mr. Fiske stated that he had often wondered how so much information could be collected in order to draw the maps and charts, but was informed that a large amount of it was obtained with the assistance of the camera. The camera was almost as indispensable to the surveyor as was the transit. The speaker next referred to the equatorial telescope, describing it in detail. Mr. Fisk then described the clock and machinery rooms, stating that in every room electricity was used on a large scale. Mr. Fiske concluded by saying that anyone going to Ottawa should visit the Observatory.

Mr. H. B. Collier in his address on "An hour with the moon," stated that with a pair of opera glasses certain dark spots were visible and Mr. Collier drew a diagram and drawing the different spots gave the names as they are represented in astronomy.

The meeting then adjourned.

MISS QUINN WRITES ABOUT MISSION WORK

Some Extracts From Interesting Letter Received in the City

The following extracts from a letter written in Wuhu, China, by Miss Quinn will be read with interest by her many friends in Peterborough:

"I thought I would let my Peterborough friends know that I have had a change of appointment and am now on my way to Tsing-Yang. I will be in charge and have two ladies with me who have been in China for a year. There is a little church and a fine opening for work. I will live in a Chinese house—a drawback as far as rest is concerned. It was a great surprise to me but I am very thankful and will on the whole have it easier than I had it in the Boys' School.

We had a little revival in their school and are trusting in the Lord for a further outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Last week a blessed revival took place in Wuchi, and there was one in Nan-King in the Girls' School So we are encouraged to press on."

Miss Quinn says she will soon send one of her circular letters and wishes that her Christian friends here will remember her in prayer and also her work in Tsing-Yang.

Cutter Badly Damaged in a Runaway

Mr. J. T. O'Connell's Horse Made Very Exciting Run This Morning

The horse of Mr. J. T. O'Connell, the Hunter street real estate agent made an exciting run through the city this morning. Mr. O'Connell was making a call in the north end of East City and leaving the horse standing at the gate while he went into the house, the animal took fright and started off. Going at a mad gallop it went down Mark street, turning at Hunter street, running as hard as it could go until it reached Mr. O'Connell's office where it stopped. The cutter was somewhat badly damaged, and will require considerable repairing before it can be used again.

The Canadian "Little Demon"

Arthur Edmunds, the Toronto boy who has been earning all kinds of laurels in New York the past few years, is at the Star this week, with his physical culture, wrestling and boxing stunt. Edmunds is out with a challenge to wrestle or box any 126-pound man in the city. While in New York he beat Young Otto, knocked out Jack Dorman twice and made Bert Keyes, who got a draw with Tommy Murphy, quit. He also boxed two six-round bouts with Abe Attell. In wrestling he won from Young Roeber in 40 minutes and defeated Joe Nealon, of London, England last Thursday in 7 minutes.

Profitable Time at Epworth League

An interesting meeting of the Epworth League of Mark street Methodist church was held last evening when a large number were present. Miss Howson occupied the chair and opened the meeting. The chief feature of the evening was a visit from three members of the evangelistic band of the Y.M.C.A. Messrs. E. M. Best, Dr. Middleton and W. Warne were present and gave short addresses. The evening proved very profitable and one of great spiritual benefit to those present.

Deputations Will Wait On the Two Governments

City and County Uniting in Asking for Aid to Build Bridge for Indians—County Deputation Will Request That Norwood Model School be Maintained

Nine members of the County Council, headed by Warden Thompson, and accompanied by the County Solicitor, Mr. E. A. Peck, leave tomorrow morning for Toronto, where they will wait on the Ontario Government and request that the Model School at Norwood be maintained and not done away with, as has been announced is the policy of the government regarding all Model schools in the province. They will also ask for Government assistance to improve a colonization road in Harvey township; and also to assist in building a floating bridge between the Chemong Indian village and the Ennismore shore.

In connection with the latter, Ald. Phelan and Ald. Elliott will accompany the deputation as representatives of the City Council. The city is backing the county in requesting government aid for the construction of the bridge for the Indians.

On Thursday another deputation from the County Council will go to Ottawa to ask the Dominion Government to construct the piers and operate a swing on the proposed bridge between Chemong Village and the Ennismore shore, as is done by the Government in connection with all the swing bridges in this district. Ald. Phelan and Elliott will accompany the deputation to Ottawa, as representatives of the City Council. In this matter the city is uniting with the county.

Horse Broke Hip in Runaway; Was Shot This Morning

Last night between seven and eight o'clock a horse belonging to Mr. Wm. Morris, a local cattle buyer, slipped near the corner of Lake and George streets, overturning the cutter in which were a son of Mr. Morris and two young ladies. The three occupants of the cutter were thrown out on to the road. The horse became frightened and ran away, continuing its gallop up George street until it fell in front of the Chinese laundry on George street, opposite Howden's butcher shop.

The animal had its hip broken and was taken to Dr. Johnston's veterinary surgery on Chambers street. It was kept there during the night and when it was found that it was impossible to do anything for it, it was shot this morning.

Six Kisses a Day Enough; Plight of Chicago Husband

Chicago, March 9.—Six kisses a day are the limit for Ora M. Leedon. He promised Detectives Stark and Johnston, who arrested him for deserting his affectionate wife, that he would stay with her on that bais. They found him in Springfield, Ill., where he went several weeks ago.

"It's a case of too much 'lovey-dovey' business," said Leedom on the way back from Springfield. "My wife—she was married once or twice before—is a good woman and a fine housekeeper, but she's too trong on the love business to suit me.

"No, I'm not a chilly guy or anything like that, but I don't want a woman kissing me all the time. When I come home from work in the evening I like to sit down and read the papers. My wife would want me to hold her hands and say foolish thing.

"A fewa days before I jumped out of town some actresses down in New made a hit with a kiss that lasted 45 seconds. When my wife read about that in the papers she said she could beat it with one hand tied behind her back.

"The only fault I had to find with Annie was her loving nature. I'll agree to go back and live with her if she'll only cut out the kissing business. I don't mind a little kiss now and then, but I draw the line at more than six a day."

Rush to the West is Again in Evidence in Peterboro'

The "Way of the West," is apparently pleasing to a large number of the people of Peterborough city and county. At any rate many are following Horace Greeley's advice, and are leaving for the prairie country.

The reduced settlers' rates on the C.P.R. are now in force and every Tuesday until th eend of April, excursions will be run to the West. Mr. McIlroy, th elocal ticket agent of the C.P.R., states that they are being largely patronized. A large number left Peterborough today and the rush is not yet started. It is rather early yet as the majority of fortune seekers do not leave until the end of March or in April. There is fully as many going as last year, and 1907 was almost a record breaker. The people of the east have apparently plenty of faith in the western country, more so in fact than in thei rnative heath.

Many westerners who came east on excursion tickets during the Christmas holidays are now returning home as their tickets will expire in the near future. Every train for the west at the present time is heavily loaded and the rush will be greater as the next few weeks pass.

TIME-HONORED CUSTOM PROHIBITED

An order has been issued by Mr. D. McNichol, vice-president of hte C.P.R., calling the attention of trainmen to the instructions regarding swearing and the use of obscene language on trains. An anti-swearing campaign was started by Mr. George Wright, of Halifax, who wrote both to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and the Minister of Railways, suggesting that notices be placed on the cars of the C.P.R. and I.C.R., forbidding the use of language whose unwholesomeness is likely to create a feeling of disgust among persons who are at all sensitive as to the proprieties of speech. Mr. McNichol is reply to this says that employees of the C.P.R., are not only instructed to refrain from swearing or using obscene language, but had been ordered to see that language of an offensive or annoying character is not used by passengers.

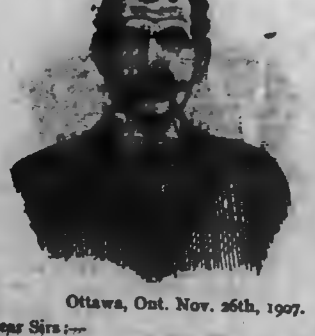
NO MORE RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HIM

Christopher D. Graham is a well known citizen of Ottawa—formerly in the City Hall and largely instrumental in forming the Ottawa Hunt Club. Mr. Graham's voluntary testimonial as to the great benefit he received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" will carry conviction.



Ottawa, Ont. Nov. 26th, 1907.

Dear Sirs:—

I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism for a long time — pains in my shoulder and joints practically all the time. I tried various treatments without benefit and then I was recommended by a friend to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes of the tablets and now, for a long time, I have been entirely free from all rheumatism and rheumatic pains.

I wish to state, also, that I suffered from haemorrhoids, or piles, for years. I used all kinds of ointments and treatment and nothing did me any good, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives" for my rheumatism I am entirely cured of these dreadful piles. (Sgd) C. D. GRAHAM. 149

"Fruit-a-tives" — or "Fruit Liver Tablets" are sold by dealers at 50c a box —6 for $2.50—or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

SIR WILFRID DOUBLES THE BONUS

What can have possessed the Laurier Government and especially Sir Wilfrid to bonus European or any other immigrants at double the rate per head which has all along been set upon them! We have been paying $2.50 per head to the North Atlantic Swindle Co., for adults, and $1.25 for children. No matter who or what they are—whether lame, halt, blind, diseased or dying. Surely this was bad enough together with a lax quarantine. Now, however, Sir Wilfrid has doubled the bonus. This is a little too much. We cannot say that it is altogether unexpected for of late we have made ready to expect anything. At the same time it is a crying shame that to fill up the Canadian labor market with cheap labor, the good money of Canadians should be used. The G.T.P. is slated to ruin the G.T.R. which is security for it so far as such security goes but why should it be allowed to ruin the Dominion of Canada! We began the rush to the down grade by the immigration swindle, both on the east end west in aid of the G.T.P., and now forsooth that the east has been largely cut off as a source of supply further inducements must be held out to the rag-tag and bob-tail of Europe. This, sure enough, is the financier's age, the age when the grafter and the grabber is allowed a free hand in despoiling the public domain while the hardworking, thrifty mechanic and agriculturist is made to pay for it. One hundred and thirty millions of an annual expenditure! Five millions lost in the Quebec bridge blunder! A trade that that is crawling up slowly and laboriously—not half so fast as that of Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Egypt, Germany, France, etc. — is the foundation upon which all this gigantic superstructure of extravagance and plundering is built. Some readers may say that these are strong words. We ask any fair-minded man if they are in reality half strong enough.

VERY AMATEURISH

The Examiner persists in calling in question the "editor" of the Review. This is very amateurish. The Review has uniformly addressed itself to "the Examiner" when it has had compliments to pay, and not to the "editor" of the Examiner. Then again the Examiner persists in stiletto-like pinpricks references to Mr. Burnham and the convention. Its "dark" insinuations will bring upon its head even a worse avalanche than overwhelmed it recently if it does not stop this. A fair warning is a fair warning and "friends" won't save it next time. With regard to the "bare majority" we acknowledge the Examiner's answer in favor of it at last.

SPRING

Technically spring begins with the first day of March, but really it begins with December 22nd of the preceding year, when the sun, having reached the winter solstice appears to turn in his gleaming way and come rapidly earthwards. It is impossible for the heart of nature to resist the wooing of the mighty orb. Birds, beasts and man alike respond to the awakening influence of spring. The lengthening days foretell the glowing period of summer, the period of fruition, the time of food-gathering and of making ready for the winter sleep; Suicides decrease in number as the opening year advances, but the tragedies of life increase when the summer solstice is past and the deepening shadows fall. What a feast there is in the contemplation of nature and of the wonders of the Heavens. Even more is the heart of man, which contains all these, worthy of study and contemplation.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The disinclination of the government at Ottawa to produce original papers suggests the presence therein of original sin.—Hamilton Spectator.

There used to be a saying to the effect that "Eternal vigilance was the price of liberty." Now, however for 'vigilance' read "publicity."

Our Police Court report shows that the owner of a dog that bit a little girl, was allowed to send the dog to the country. This is surely a mistake. That the owner paid the doctor's bill is a matter of course. If the dog bites again, as it surely will, the responsibility therefor should be placed on the shoulders of those who allowed it to escape.

The following bill is now before the Legislature and is likely to become law:

5a. No motor vehicle shall be run or allowed to stand upon any public highway in a town, township or incorporated village or police village during Tuesday, Thursday or Saturday in any week, or between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Sunday.

In view of the feeling aroused on account of the inefficiency of the fire appliances in connection with the burning of the school at Collingwood, Cleveland, Ohio, a word of commendation might be given Ald. Johnston's action as chairman of F. W and L Committee in fighting for and finally succeeding with the concurrence of this year's council in getting a full complement of horses and drivers at the fire station in Peterborough as well as of complete equipment of apparatus.

Sir Richard Cartwright used to stigmatize the Senate as a hospital for broken-down Tories. If that is so he ought to be in it for it was only when he was found to be useless by Sir John that he got riled and left the Conservative party. As a mixer and muddler he excelled and beyond a few good jokes, such as that of the lions and the jackals, in which he referred to his Grit friends as the latter he has pursued an inoffensive life.

PROOF!

That Zam-Buk Grows New Healthy Skin

The unique power belonging to Zam-Buk for growing new healthy skin when it has been destroyed by injury, disease or operation is illustrated by the recent experience of Mr. J. Schofield, of 467 Hamilton Road, London, Ont. He says; "A friend of mine (Mr. William Ball, of London), was severely and terribly burned through an explosion of kerosene oil. He was taken to the hospital where he suffered intense pain. The wounds refused to heal, and the doctors decided to resort to skin grafting, and I consented to have some skin transplanted from my legs to his body. Although this was done on several occasions the skin refused "to take" until Mr. Ball heard of Zam-Buk. From the time he applied Zam-Buk, new healthy skin began to grow. I then used Zam-Buk for the places on my leg from which the skin was removed, and I am glad to report that new skin has grown, and therefore consider Zam-Buk the best skin food I have known."

Zam-Buk builds up new tissue in a way that is not possible with ordinary preparations. For healing eczema, running sores, cuts, bruises, burns, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, itch, chapped hands and diseases of the skin it is without equal. All druggists and stores sell it, 50c. a box or post-paid from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

General Elect. Rate is Now 7

Directors Deem it Prudent to Reduce Dividend

Toronto, March 7.—The directors of the Canadian General Electric Company met on Saturday to pass the report for the meeting of shareholders, and to declare a quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent. This places the stock on a 7 per cent. basis. Dividends at the rate of 10 per cent have been paid for nine years. In 1898 the dividend was 8 per cent., and in the following year a bonus of 2 per cent. was paid. Since then the rate has been straight 10 per cent. It is said that the reduction in the rate was not prompted by any decrease in the company's earnings, but because the directors deemed it prudent, in view of the uncertain industrial conditions, to reduce the dividend in the meantime. One director stated emphatically that the outlook for the company was very good, and that the action taken was merely a precautionary move to guard against possible developments in the manufacturing situation. Later in the year, he thought, the full dividend might be restored. There has been some selling of General Electric as the result of uncertainty as to the continuance of the dividend, and the price of the common stock dropped ten points in February, a broken lot selling below 90 on Friday. The shareholders meet this month.

News From Ottawa; Note the Coincidences

Ottawa, March 10.

Conservatives in the public accounts committee continue the quest into dark operations respecting timber limits. Original papers, obtained with great difficulty, threw light on tree transactions brought before the committee on Thursday by Mr. Ames. As more than half the morning was occupied by MacDonald, McLean and other Government supporters trying to head off inquiry, the investigation was hampered, though it went far enough to disclose remarkable coincidences.

The three limits, all very valuable, were captured by the Imperial Pulp Company, the mysterious corporation which eludes all attempts to find out who, what and where it is. In two competitions the Company bid in its own name and in the third obtained the limit in the name of A. W. Fraser, by whom it was assigned to the Company.

NOTE THESE COINCIDENCES

In all three cases the successful tenderer did not use the form which the department furnished and did not mention the amount offered but enclosed cheques which the department held to represent the amounts.

In all three cases the amount so enclosed was in two separate cheques.

In all three cases the amount of the two cheques was only a little higher than the second highest tender.

In all three cases one of the cheques was a fraction higher than the third highest tender.

The chances are not one in a thousand that such a complete set of coincidences would occur by accident.

But if the representative of the Imperial Pulp Company had knowledge of other tenders; if on learning of the third highest offer he prepared and had marked a cheque a little higher; if afterward on learning that a later tender, higher than his had gone in he added another cheque, making the offer again a little the highest, there would be no mystery.

A BEAUTIFUL DEVICE

Here are details of three cases;

Berth No. 1413, Tenders

Imperial Pulp Co.	$31,573
H. and R. Macdonald	31,161
James Ross	17,010

With three lower tenders. The Imperial Pulp Company mentioned no price but sent two cheques one for $17,575 and the other for $14,000. If the Macdonalds had not tendered at the last moment, the larger cheque would have secured the limit by a small margin. After the Macdonald tender was in the two cheques were just enough to do the trick.

Berth No. 1122, Tenders

A. W. Fraser, —Imperial, Pulp Co.	11,000
E. A. MacLeod	10,025
J. H. Lamont	4,000

There were two cheques one of $6,000 and one of $5,000 making the successful bid. The $5000 cheque was sufficient until MacLeod's tender was in and then the two together were required.

Berth No. 1058, Tenders

Imperial Pulp Co.	500
Crafts and Lee	350
R. B. Ferguson	310

The successful tender was represented by two cheques one of $350, which would cover the Ferguson bid, and another of $150 which captured the timber.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Conservatives of West Northumberland Select Their Candidates

Cobourg, March 8—The Liberal-Conservative Association for the West Riding of the County of Northumberland met yesterday and elected the following officers for the current year:

Honorary Presidents, George Guillet, George Mitchell, J. T. Mulholland, A. G. Hewson, Frank M. Field, K.C., and Lieut.-Col. Rogers; President, Capt. Hugh McCullough; Vice-President, Dr. Fairbanks; Local Vice-Presidents, Town of Cobourg, John L. Grosjean; Township of Hamilton, John H. Davidson and Robt. Cruickshanks; Township of Haldimand, L. O. Matthews, Rice Honeywell and W. Couch; Township of Alnwick, Christopher Roberts and Wm. Brown; Secretary, D. Ewing, Cobourg.

The meeting was well attended and great enthusiasm prevailed. With C. A. Munson, Mayor of Cobourg, as the candidate for the Dominion Parliament and H. D. Burgess barrister, as candidate for the Ontario Legislature, the riding will be carried in the Conservative interests at the next elections.

"Hungry Year" is Recalled

A Cobourg despatch says;—The suffering and privation of some of the newly-arrived emigrants to our country recall the traditions of the "hungry year" handed down to us from past generations. In 1787 only a few years after a number of United Empire Loyalist families had settled in the Bay of Quinte district, and a few farther west in the county of Northumberland the crops failed altogether and the winter that followed was more inclement and severe. The snow was unusually deep, and the deer, upon which the settlers depended largely for meat, became thereby an easy prey to their rapacious enemies, the wolves, while men were perishing with hunger. The late Hon. Henry Ruttan, a gentleman for years prominently known throughout this district, in an address before the Agricultural Association at Kingston in 1849, alluded as follows to this trying time;—"A great scarcity of provisions prevailed for two or three years consecutively, in consequence of failure in the crops and what brought on the famine or scarce year was the almost entire destruction of the deer by wolves. The snow lay upon the ground from December until April at a depth of from four to five feet. In the month of February of the last of these years a gentleman whom I knew intimately sent all the way to Albany, in the State of New York, a distance of more than two hundred miles, for four bushels of Indian corn, and this was brought all that distance by two men on snowshoes. It then took some time to accomplish the journey, and a part of the corn was necessarily consumed by the men on the return trip. The residue of this precious cargo was pounded into meal in the hollow stump of a tree, and formed a staple article of food for the family."

Mr. Asquith told a deputation from the Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress that the government were attempting to start a really practical scheme for old age pensions. He added that he did not think a scheme could be founded on a contributory basis.

What is Happening at Mount Pleasant

Some Peterborough People Visit There—Other News of Interest

Special to the Review.

Mount Pleasant, March 9. — Mr. Beatty Fee, who has been ill for some time, is convalescing nicely, and we hope to see him about again in his usual position.

Postmaster McLean was at Toronto the week before last, purchasing his spring goods.

A week ago last Friday evening, the young folk of our village and adjacent rural districts, held a most appetizing oyster supper in the Temperance Hall. After the inner man had been satisfied, a mental feast followed in a well rendered programme.

FROM HANSARD

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION

"Mr. Borden;

Tokio, December 23, 1907.

Monsieur le Ministre,—

In reply to your note of even date, I have the honor to state that although the existing treaty between Japan and Canada absolutely guarantees to Japanese subjects full liberty to enter, travel and reside in any part of the Dominion of Canada, yet it is not the intention of the Imperial Government to insist upon the complete enjoyment of the rights and privileges guaranteed by those stipulations when that would involve disregard of special conditions which may prevail in Canada from time to time.

Acting in this spirit and having particular regard to circumstances of recent occurrence in British Columbia the Imperial Government have decided to take efficient means to restrict emigration to Canada. In carrying out this purpose, the Imperial Government, in pursuance of the policy above stated, will give consideration to local conditions prevailing in Canada, with a view of meeting the desires of the Government of the Dominion as far as is compatible with the spirit of the treaty and the dignity of the state.

Although, as stated in the note under reply, it was not possible for me to acquiesce in all the proposals made by you on behalf of the Canadian Government, I trust that you will find in the statement herein made proof of the earnest desire of the Imperial Government to promote by every means within their power the growth and stability of the cordial and mutually beneficial relations which exist between our countries. I venture to believe, also that this desirable result will be found to have been materially advanced by the full exchange of views which has taken place between us, and it gives me special pleasure to acknowledge the obligation under which I have been placed by your frank and considerate explanations regarding the attitude and wishes of your government.

I avail myself, &c., &c.,
(Sgd.) TADASU HAYASHI,

The Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux,

'Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor for Canada, Tokio.

Well, let us analyze this letter and see what there is in it. First, there is the full assertion of the full right and liberty of Japanese subjects to enter, travel and reside in Canada. Second there is the statement that it is not the intention of the Japanese government to insist upon the complete acknowledgment of its rights when that would involve a disregard of the special conditions prevailing in Canada from time to time. Who is to be the judge of these special conditions? Is it the government of Canada, or the government of Japan? We are absolutely in the dark as to that. Why should special conditions in Canada, which ought to be the subject of regulation by the parliament and government of Canada, be a subject of appeal from this government to the government of Japan? Yet, that is the condition to which the affairs of this country have been brought by the adoption of this treaty without proviso.

Thirdly, he declares that the Japanese government has decided to take efficient means to restrict emigration to Canada so far as compatible with the spirit of the treaty and the dignity of the state. Who is to be the judge of these matters? Is it the government of Canada or the government of Japan, and what are the efficient means which are to be taken to restrict immigration? Are they to be efficient in the judgment of the government of Canada, or, are they to be efficient in the judgment of the government of Japan?

Fourthly, he declares that for this purpose the Japanese government will give careful consideration to local conditions in Canada. So that local conditions which should be the subject of observation, consideration and enactment by our own government and parliament have been transferred, by means of this treaty to the Japanese government, which graciously promises that it will, in future, for the purposes alluded to, give careful consideration to local conditions in Canada. Now, I repeat, Mr. Speaker, that, by the action of the government in this regard, Canada has handed over to Japan that control of immigration which Canada herself ought to exercise, that the regulations governing immigration in future are to be Japanese regulations, that the control and policy are to be Japanese and that in case of difficulty our remedy and our only remedy, outside of the abrogation of this treaty, is by appeal to the Japanese government from time to time. The government of Japan can change its policy tomorrow. A new government might come into power within three months in Japan and that government might repeal every law on the statute book, in Japan with respect to the restriction of immigration. It might abolish every limitation which has been enacted by the present administration and we could, in three or four months be exactly back in the same position as we were before the Hon. Postmaster General went to Japan."

Sir Howard Vincent has again presented in the House of Commons his bill to have the definition "Made in ——" on foreign imported goods, replaced by the words "Not British." Sir Howard Vincent's contention is that labels like "Made in Germany" only serve to advertise foreign goods.

WORK ON THE TRENT CANAL

Contractors are Getting Ready for Season's Operations

Work has been commenced on the Trent Valley Canal at Trenton. Larkin and Sangster, of St. Catharines, have the contract for the first section, which extends up the River Trent from Trenton to about Glen Miller. They have 1,000 men at work now, for the most part engaged in excavating. A Peterborough firm of contractors has the section from Glen Miller to Chisholm's Rapids. Mr. Sam McClellan has the contract for the boarding houses and offices and is at work on them. The contractors have their own horses on the work, and two carloads of machinery have already arrived.

At Glen Miller men are clearing the land of trees. Between four and five millions will be expended on the first three sections.

Baseball Talk That Will Interest the Local Fans

Midland League Prospects Are of the Brightest Nature—Peterborough Will Have a Brand New Team—The Outlook in the Other Towns.

With the hockey season drawing to a close and the birds starting to come north again, baseball talk is coming to the front. Last season was the most successful in the history of the game in Peterborough, and although there were a few who were not exactly satisfied, still it will not be denied that the game boomed as it never did before. The attendance at the Midland League matches, especially towards the close of the season, surpassed any previous record in this city and there seems little doubt but that 1908 will eclipse last year in interest and attendance at the games.

The annual meeting of the Midland League will be held on Good Friday at Cobourg and arrangements for it are now being made. It is likely that the wrench will be applied to the constitution and considerable tightening done. It is also probable that a residence rule will be introduced in order to prevent players being brought in when it was considered necessary that a team needed bolstering and also to keep men from jumping from one team to another, when the financial inducements were sufficient.

It is learned that the league will be made up of six teams, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Oshawa and Lindsay. Port Hope will again have a strong nine and hopes to retain the silverware. Cobourg will have an even stronger team than last year, while from the Oshawa camp comes the news that the baseball magnates there are already at work and are hotfoot after the championship for 1908. Players are already being brought in and a surprise will be sprung on the other teams in the circuit. Not much is yet known about Bowmanville's prospects but the enthusiasts there will no doubt benefit by last year's experience and have a strong nine on the diamond. Lindsay is also an unknown quantity, but it is hoped the Scugogville promoters will wake up to their opportunities and get into the game. Lindsay once was a good baseball town and the embers can no doubt be fanned into flame again.

"Art" Johnston will again be in charge of the Peterborough aggregation and intends piloting them to the top of the league. It is understood that he already has his team selected and that they will start working out as soon as the grounds are in shape. While the personnel of the team has not yet been given out it is learned that few of last year's players will be available, in fact it is likely that the team will be a brand new one. It will be strong in all departments and those on the inside state that it is good for the pennant.

Further particulars will be given out at a later date.

Bankers Took Sudden Revival and Made Whirlwind Finish

When Score Was 8-1 Against Them and With Nine Minutes to Play Ran in Five Straight—Strathconas Showed Splendid Form—The Most Interesting Game of the Season.

The game last night between the Lindsay Bankers did more than a great many theatrical attractions do:—it lived well up to its advance notices. It was announced as the best game of the season and it is quite safe to say it was. From beginning to end it was very fast and exciting. The biggest surprise of the local hockey season was sprung by Lindsay's great revival in the latter portion of the game. With only nine minutes to play and the score 8-1 against them the money counters scored five straight making the final tall 8-6. The Straths, however, set a clip that was much too fast for the visitors who were unable to hold them at all. Koyle, the redoubtable point man didn't get any chance whatever to shine in the first half. He made many attempts to score and while it must be admitted that his rushes were brilliant he was too closely watched and checked to get in with any of his dangerous shots on the nets. In the second half he did some clever work and scored two of the Bankers' goals in succession. He played a good solid game at point but found a great deal of trouble in endeavoring to stop Ray of the Straths, whose showing was an exceedingly good one. The latter excelled himself at all stages and was the greatest goal getter on the ice. His individual rushes were a feature of the game and he did his best work of this season. The way he got around Koyle on a couple of occasions called for expressions of much enthusiasm on the part of the spectators.

The game was late in starting, but lost time was certainly made up for by the speed displayed, when the game got going.

From the first bell it was a lightning grind and the dash with which the play was started aroused the spectators to a high pitch of excitement at once. During the initial period the teams never lagged and kept the fast pace right up to half time.

In the second half they slowed down a little but in the latter portion of the half they went faster than ever.

The Bankers appeared to be hopelessly beaten when the score was 8-1 against them and the sudden turn they took was altogether unlooked for. They certainly travelled when they got going and the forward line which had been outclassed all along seemed to have new life in them and hammered around the nets in great style. Koyle also assisted materially in the bombardment of the Strath's citadel in hope of helping the team overcome the lead. But the locals had got away with too big of majority up to the time that the Lindsay septette took the brace and on the play of the night well deserved the victory.

The Strath's forward line did better team work last night than they have done at any previous match this year and showed good combination at times. They were superior individually to the Bankers' line and as a rule beat out their checks quite easily. Green, Koyle and Newton, the latter two the point and goal men, of the 'Midgets' formed a fine defence and every one of this trio was right on during the whole game. Green, at cover has improved wonderfully since he played here in the city league. Newton in goal played a good game and blocked several sure looking ones.

Ferguson was playing an effective game for the Straths up to the time he was hurt.

Weatherstone and Dusty played hard and fast games.

McMillan also did good work on his wing.

Mr Len. Dobson handled the bell in approved Washbornian style and gave every satisfaction as referee.

After a few minutes' play Dusty scored on a neat play. He kicked the puck before landing it in the nets, however, and the goal didn't count. On a good combination play McMillan secured the first one. Time, 10 minutes. 1—0.

It just took Dusty 1 minute to land the next. 2—0

Ferguson unfortunately had his nose broken and was forced to quit. Watson went off to even up. Ray made a fine rush and looked dangerous, but Green tripped him and was benched for two minutes.

Weatherstone got too rough and was allowed two minutes' rest. Weatherstone bowled Koyle over on a body check and had to take the fence for a minute. Conway got Lindsay's first. 5 min. 2—1.

Green was penalied a minute for a heavy body check. The prettiest rush made at the rink this season, and one that reminded one of the days when Harold Armstrong did his famous long jaunts, was torn off by Ray. He dashed from behind the Strath's goal to the enemy's nets and scored, beating out the entire Lindsay forward line and defence. 5 minutes. 3—1.

SECOND HALF.

Dusty was given two minutes for hooking Green. Ray scored in 3 minutes. 6—1.

Koyle and McMillan mixed it up a little and were sent to the penalty box for two minutes each. Ray scored again. 4 minutes. 8—1.

Three minutes later Koyle found the Strathcona nets on a neat individual play. 3 minutes. 8—2.

Koyle got the next in two minutes. 8—3.

Cotton did the necessary in 1 1-2 minutes. 8—4.

Cane notched Lindsay's fifth. 3 minutes. 8—5.

Conway scored the last goal of the night. 1 1-2 min. 8—6.

The teams lined up as follows;—

To Honor the Veteran Keeper

Guardian of Fort at Chambly Will be Remembered by Citizens

Citizens of Chambly, Que., assembled Tuesday night at the Grand Hotel to organize for the celebration of the seventieth birthday of Mr. J. O. Dion, the keeper of the old French fort. The meeting was presided over by Mr. E. P. Benoit, which Mr. E. P Bertrand acted as secretary. Unanimous opinion was expressed that the part which Mr. Dion played in the erection of the Statute of de Salaberry, executed by Mr. Louis Phillippe Herbert, the French-Canadaian sculptor, also in the preserving of the old fort, which would have fallen in ruins but for his care, as well as in the collection of many precious historical documents of ancient date, deserve the gratitude of the people. It was accordingly decided to remember the keeper of the fort at the occasion of his seventieth anniversary with a generous gift of money, and all friends, those of the locality, as well as those from outside, were asked to contribute.

All correspondence and contributions should be addressed to the secretary-treasurer, Mr. P. B. Benoit, of Chambly. The presentation will be made at Fort Pontchartrain, Chambly, on the 22nd of March, at 8 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Dion's friends are cordially invited to take part.

The organization in charge of the celebration is composed as follows;—Honorary presidents, Messrs. V. Geoffrion, M.P.; M. Perrault, M.L.A.; Abbe C. M. Lesage, of Chambly; and N. Dubois, principal Jacques Cartier School, of Montreal; honorary vice-presidents, Messrs. G. Peppin, mayor of Chambly Basin; P. A. B. Loiseau, mayor of Chambly Canton, and A. Brunnelle, mayor of the parish of Chambly; president S. T. Willett; vice-president Mr. S. D. Martel; secretary, P. B. Benoit.

The directors are Messrs. Dr. C. W. Glen, Dr. L. O. Baregevin, Dr. L. S. Taupier, E. P. Bertrand, M.P.; G. N. Duncharme, banker; P. A. [illegible], superintendent of the Chambly canal; L. Demers, secretary-treasurer, of Chambly Canton; J. Trudeau, secretary of the Chamblay canal; Chas. Allard, R. H. Bartholomew, contractor; J. Owens, J. Bouchard, engineer, and E. Bernier, electrician.

Alleys Will be Best in Canada

Good progress is being made on Joe Hay's new bowling alleys in the old opera house block. They will be ready in about ten days and will be largely patronized. Experts who have seen them state that the alleys will be as good as any in Canada as no expense is being spared to make them up-to-date in every particular.

The alleys will likely be opened with a game between the Review and Examiner bowling teams.

HOCKEY

The Bell Telephone team and the Grafters were to have played last night, but the latter seven did not show up.

The Crescents defeated Matthews last night at Brock street rink by 10 goals to 1. For a juvenile team the winners made a remarkably good showing.

It is now almost a settled thing that Peterborough Ladies' hockey team will play here next Tuesday evening. See posters Monday morning.—Lindsay Post.

William Warner of Hamilton, when held up by a highwayman, turned on his assailant and gave him a sound thrashing and kicking.

For Benefit of Children's Aid

Special Entertainment at the Crystal on Thursday

On Thursday afternoon from two to six o'clock a benefit entertainment for the Children's Aid Society will be given at the Crystal. The programme will be an unusually good one, including special features. Full particulars concerning it will be announced tomorrow. The admission will be 10c for adults and 5c for children.

Presbytery in Session To-day

Many Ministers and Elders in Attendance—Much Business Being Transacted

A meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough, is being held today at St. Paul's church, Rev. J. S. McFarlane, moderator presiding. Others present, are, Revs. D. A. Thompson, clerk, Hastings; A. E. Reeves, Campbellford; H. Peckover, Omemee; G. A. McLennan, Norwood; A. McLeod, Brighton; Jas. Skene, Baltimore; Wm. Johnston, Millbrook; Dr. Marsh, Springville; D. D. McDonald, Keene; Robt. A. Pogue, Peterborough; Wm. Beattie, Cobourg; P. W. Currie, Warsaw; J. H. Sterling, Havelock; D. A. McKenzie, Centreville; H. C. Abraham, J. G. Potter, and Elders Wm. Cock, Rich. Mickoll, J. Smith, A. McNaughton, J. McIntosh, Wm. Fowler, T. Spiers and J. C. Shook. Rev. Mr. Brokenshire of Buffalo, N.Y., was present, and Revs. J. R. Webb and E. A. Pearson were visitors. Among the business transacted was the nominating of Dr. J. B. Wilson of Winnipeg, to the chair of Church History and Practical Theology of the Presbyterian College at Halifax.

It was also decided that according to the remits of the General Assembly, to aim at raising the salary in augmented charges to $900, and deputations were appointed to visit all congregations in Presbytery not coming up to minimum stipend.

A grant of $100 was made to Rice Lake congregations and the services at Stewart's hall will be carried out according to previous arrangements.

Congratulations were passed to the congregations of Colborne, Grafton, Springville and Omemee on reaching the minimum stipend.

The call from Grafton was withdrawn. A communication was read from Rev. W. H. Brokenshire for readmission to the Presbyterian church. This was received.

The Presbytery adjourned at noon and resumed again at two o'clock.

NEW SCHOOL

Caughnawaga, March 9.—The ratepayers of S.S. No. 4 held a special meeting to consider the erection of a new school on last Wednesday. Stormy and all as the day was they made a fairly good turn out and decided to erect a modern school this coming summer. The school will be about 26x40, of sand lime brick with colored mortar. There will be seperate doors on the end—one for the boys' entrance and the other for the girls; also a private room in which maps, globes, etc., may be kept; two cloak rooms fitted with mirrors, washstands, etc.; automatic single seats, library case, clock, bell tower. The basement 8 feet high of stone. The building will be heated with a furnace. Inspector O'Brien of Peterborough, was present and expounded the Tory school law and was greatly instrumental in making the evening a success. The trustees went to Peterborough on Saturday and employed an architect who together with the inspector, were requested by the trustees to have the school excell No. 6 in every way, regardless of cost.

The appreciation of the public is the final test of merit. This is the reason "Salada" Tea has the enormous sale of over eighteen million packets annually. If you do not use it, The "Salada" Tea Company, Toronto, will send you a sample. State whether you use Black, Mixed or Green and the price you usually pay per pound.

Killed by a Train.

St. Catharines, March 9.—George Lamburn, an employe of the Kinleith Paper Mills, died at the General and Marine Hospital yesterday as the result of an accident on the Grand Trunk Railway Saturday night. It is supposed he was struck by an express train due from Toronto about 7 p.m. He was hard of hearing and had passed the station earlier in the evening on his way home, three miles westerly along the track. The body was found in the station yard in a mangled condition.

U. S. Crooks Invade West.

Winnipeg, March 9.—John King and Charles Parsons, two crooks, with a bad record south of the line, were sentenced on Saturday to three years in Stoney Mountain Penitentiary for playing a confidence game on farmers at the C.P.R. depot, by which they got $30. The city police have been busy lately rounding up American "bad men," who have been driven across the boundary by hard times.

King Manuel Recovering.

Lisbon, March 9.—King Manuel and the Queen Mother Amelia held their first public reception at the palace Saturday. It passed off without accident.

King at Biarritz.

Havelock Sees the Twin Sisters of Peterborough Press Game

(Special to the Review.)

Havelock, March 9.—"Here they come Oh here they come!" This was the cry that burst from several hundred throats at the Park Grove Rink on Monday night at eight o'clock as the gladiators forming the all star teams made their appearance on the ice to do battle for their name and money. The cry grew louder and louder and floated to the village, turning it into consternation, the residents not knowing who were coming. The players' blood chilled and their feet shrank so they could turn around in their boots and look at themselves.

Mr. Harold Mathison officiated as referee, and when the two teams got lined up in battle array they were as follows;

Winners.		Losers.
	Goal
Ormiston		Muldoon
	Point
Boylin		Warren
	Cover
Fowler		Barret
	Rover
Williams		McMullen
	Centre
Voyer		Butters
	Right
Patterson		McWilliams
	Left
Culligan		Vanalstyne

The Losers take off their hats—what's left of them—to the Winners, the score at the end of the game being 4—3 in favor of Auxiliary's side.

Although brooms and a football would have been more appropriate, the management decided to allow the players to show up in regular style, although hockey sticks are a little more expensive than brooms.

If this is the close season for suckers, the fish inspector should prosecute the winners as every time the losers tried to score, they would fill the nets with them.

Clipper was there and although the ice was quite soft, he still contends that it was hard. When he was not laying on the ice, star gazing with two or three men on top of him, he was getting up or falling down.

Auxiliary and Hemlock gave a helping hand to their respective sides when ever the rubber came within range of them which consisted of about two feet on all sides of them.

The management could not have the rink enlarged for the occasion but as the players were up in the air most of the time, they got plenty of air.

The game was a curious mixture of hockey, shinny, harpooning and Clipper McWilliams. Clipper played a game of hockey and ice sweeping combined and carried out the terms of his contract in a highly creditable manner which won the high praise of the spectators as he went through each act.

The dead march was played as each team made a rush. When Remnant appeared in uniform the rooters sang, "Every little bit helps."

Main Spring was there with a stick and when he was not hugging the fence, he was bending the other team's shins a few hard ones.

The game had a very striking resemblance to the slow train passing through Arkansas.

Pills was on deck and had to take several rests by order of the referee for wood chopping. He thought he was at the old job of pounding pills but they were hard ones.

Culligan and Williams played a fast game for the winners, but managed to keep their skates from getting warm by occasionally taking a rest.

McMullen and Warren for the losers tried hard but could not make the rubber take to the net.

The whole matter was a joke, even the ice cracking with merriment at the spectacle.

Talking about fouls, I believe some of the players must belong to the poultry association.

There were no lemons to make lemonade at half time, so one of the players kindly jumped into a pail of water and thus provided lemonade for the crowd.

Well, to say the most of it, it was a good game, fast and exciting and resulted in the close score of 4—3. Many of the old shinny players of '67 who took part in the game, promise to win fame in hockey. Those present had a good chance to get some pointers on the game at a small cost.

The great drama or comedy is now over. The admission was 10 and 15 cents to all parts of the house. The curtain went up at eight o'clock, and the players immediately after. The rooters for the losers were provided with waterproofs, so they could weep to their heart's content. No one was allowed to throw lemons on the ice as there were 14 there anyway.

Ira Hicks neglected to mention that the terrible disaster that happened to the players in the game in his forecast of national calamities for the year.

It was very cold for the losers last night just three above zero.

The evening was the most eventful since Jack Frost came down from the north. It was the fastest, most exciting, most scientific, and funniest game of the season. It was a sure cure for all illness and would make a stone wall laugh.

QUEBEC'S TEMPERANCE PROGRESS

A little over two years ago the province of Quebec had exactly six hundred municipalities without licenses; now there are seven hundred such municipalities. This reduction of licenses, we are assured, is the result of joint action on the part of the Dominion Alliance, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Franciscan Fathers, and the Anti-Alcoholic League; and now we are told that these organizations have officially decided to work together for the promotion of temperance. This will surely be gratifying news to temperance workers everywhere.—The Christian Guardian.

Ontario Legislators Talk About the Power Question

Premier Whitney Makes Explanation in the Legislature.

Answers Power Critics—Ontario Cannot Develop Power at the Falls—Ross Government Has Tied Up the Province — Hon. A. G. MacKay Gets Full Replies to His Questions—Details of Conferences.

Toronto, March 11.—"We are not a Government professing infallibility, but we propose to continue to conduct this great power question in such a manner as will earn us the continued approval of the people. We propose to go on in the interests of the people, and, as I have said before, with our backs to the wall."

With these words the Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Whitney, amid Government applause, concluded his explanatory address dealing with the motion of Hon. Mr. MacKay, the Liberal leader for information regarding the Government negotiations with the Electrical Development Co., prior to its reported absorption by the William Mackenzie interests.

Mr. Whitney availed himself of the opportunity to tell the story of the development of the whole power movement from the time when the present administration took office, and the subsequent formation of the Hydro-Electric Commission. He went over the history of the negotiations, told how two representatives of the Electrical Development Co. came with a proposition, "while in their pockets they had the proxies they had procured to turn over the company to Mr. William Mackenzie," denied that Major St. Aubyn ever made an offer, but merely sought negotiations, which it was impossible to grant owing to the clause in the Developing Co.'s contracts prohibiting Government operation and competition, and concluded by dealing an effective blow to the oft-repeated tale that differences had arisen between the Minister of Power and his colleagues.

The Prime Minister emphasized his and the Government's preparedness to stand by Hon. Adam Beck, and bestowed upon the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission a vigorous tribute of appreciation.

Hon. Mr. MacKay presented his motion for a return on the negotiations of the Government with the Electrical Development Co. prior to the reported absorption of the company by the Mackenzie interests.

The Prime Minister began by twitting the Liberal leader on his failing to pass any opinion or make any declaration on the subject. He contrasted his position with that of the Liberal organ which had made certain allegations and demanded explanations. He said the paper in question was inaccurate when it stated he had reference to the alleged St. Aubyn offer in his words at the recent banquet.

"I did not allude to any such proposal," said Mr. Whitney. "I referred to the proposition made to the Government on behalf of the Electrical Development Co. by two gentlemen who, at the very time, had in their pockets the proxies they had procured to turn over the company to William Mackenzie."

Mr. Whitney traced the progress of the power movement from the time he took office, the appointing of the original commission of investigation, Messrs. Beck, Pattinson and Ellis, as a result of which the legislation of 1906 was passed creating the Hydro-Electric Commission, with Hon. Messrs. Beck and Hendrie and Mr. C. B. Smith. They found three companies developing power and asked them to tender for supplying the commission. The Ontario Power Co. tendered for $12 per horse-power at high tension; the Canadian Power Co. at $12 at low tension and the Electrical Development Co. did not make a tender. Then the commission secured estimates of the cost and was anxious to favor the Electrical Development Co. rather than a company whose interest was partly in a foreign land. The Ontario Co. tendered at $10.40 up to 25,000 horse-power, and $10 thereafter, and the Electrical Development Co. $12 and $10. The latter company was naturally disappointed at the result. Then the commission and the Government went to the Ontario Power Co. and got them to consent to serve a district east of Hamilton to Owen Sound, and offered the Electrical Co. the right to furnish Toronto and the west at the same figure as the Ontario Co. and they declined.

Coming to the subject of the return Mr. Whitney said he had no knowledge that Mr. Mackenzie had secured a controlling interest in the Electrical Co. other than what he had seen in the newspapers.

"Some time ago," said the Prime Minister, "I received an intimation from Mr. Grenfell, president of the Canadian Agency Co., Limited, whom I had seen when in England discussing the situation as to the bondholders, that Major St. Aubyn would come to Canada shortly with the intention of interviewing the Government in regard to the bonds of the company. Mr. St. Aubyn, I need not say, is a gentleman of high standing in financial circles in England and fought with distinction in South Africa. He came to my office on Jan. 29 and said he came on behalf of the bondholders in England. He urged the ill-effects that would follow any failure of the Electrical Development Co. to meet the interest on them. He then asked if I would consider a proposition for the Government to take over the plant and transmission lines of the company. I said, No, we had practically accepted the contract of the Ontario Power Co. which had offered to supply power at a lower rate than the other company, and could not honorably recede from the agreement. I am sure hon. gentlemen would not expect us, who have the honor of the crown in charge, to accept the offer of this company who had refused to modify its terms. We could not be expected to treat that company in this way, but no offer or proposal was made by Mr. St. Aubyn, either verbal or in writing, nor did he say he was authorized to make an offer, nor did he make any reference to the city of Toronto. The situation in connection with the Electrical Development Co. and the Government or the Hydro-Electric Commission was discussed and I assured him that the Government would do anything in its power to aid any reasonable solution. He took his leave and the next day I received from him a letter, expressing his satisfaction with the interview.

Mr. Whitney added Mr. St. Aubyn had declared he was never interviewed nor had stated what the Globe alleged he had stated, and he was distinctly displeased at his being dragged into a political dispute.

It would, said the Prime Minister, cost the province $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to take over the plant. But there was another obstacle in the way. Under the regime of the old Government and without being submitted to the Legislature for ratification the Cabinet, through the Niagara Falls Park Commission, closed contracts with Canadian Niagara Power Co. in 1899, the Ontario Power Co. in 1900 and the Electrical Development Co. in 1903, under which the then Government deliberately shut the province off from all opportunity to generate power for itself.

Apart from this deterring fact Mr. Whitney said to take over the Electrical Development Co. the Government would have to assume $8,000,000 in bonds, $6,000,000 in stock, and assume $2,000,000 of floating indebtedness. Besides $250,000 would have to be expended in increasing capacity and it would involve the purchase of land for an electric railway from Toronto to Niagara Falls. All this would have to be expended, said Mr. Whitney, to serve as far as Hamilton.

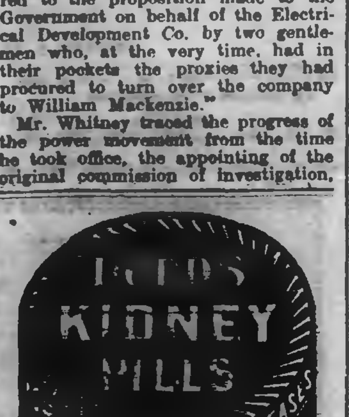
"He has borne the heat and burden of the day," declared Mr. Whitney, "and has given services greater in volume and greater in value than any public work or any service by any public man in the history of the province of Ontario. His nine colleagues know somewhat of what his great work has been, and it is with full hearts that the members of the Government are prepared publicly to bear grateful tribute to the tremendous work he has done. He has been attacked in the most unfair, unreasonable and cruel way, but we love him for the work he has done; aye, and we love him for the enemies he has made."

Mr. Whitney referred to the legend of the cave of Adullum, where, he said, were gathered the discontented, ill and in distress, planning their attacks upon the shining mark in this great public service.

"The Government," he concluded, "is not professing infallibility, but we propose to conduct the power question in such a way as to have the continued approval of the people. We propose to go on in the interests of the people, and as I remarked once before, with our backs to the wall."



BROODED OVER MORTGAGE.

Attacked Wife and Child, Then Hanged Himself.

Piqua, Ohio, March 11.—When four of the little children of Mr. and Mrs. David Davis of Pattytown, Newton Township, went into their parents' bedroom yesterday they saw their mother and one-year-old child lying in bed with their heads crushed by an axe.

For several days Davis had brooded over inability to pay a mortgage. Early yesterday he rose, and after striking his sleeping wife and child on the head with an axe he had brought from the woodshed, he tried to kill himself with the same instrument. Failing in this he went to the barn and hanged himself from a beam. Mrs. Davis and the child are believed to be fatally wounded.

Shot Dead by Burglar.

Victoria, March 11.—Attempted burglary Monday night resulted in the murder of Charles Freedman, aged 43, of Stanley avenue. His assailant escaped, and the police have little clue to his identity. Freedman, accompanied by his wife and sister, had just returned from the theatre and was going to bed, when on going into the kitchen to get a glass of water he saw a hand protruding from the pantry door covering him with a revolver.

He immediately cried to his wife to telephone the police and rushed to the door, endeavoring to keep the intruder from opening it as his wife rushed to the telephone.

The miscreant placed the revolver close to Freedman's lungs and fired. He gasped out, "Mary, I'm shot," fell to the ground and died.

Kitten's Bite Fatal.

Peterboro, March 11.—The bite of a kitten ten days of age was the cause of the death yesterday morning of Roland Tivey, Jr. He arrived here from New Ontario a few weeks ago to visit his parents. The kitten playfully bit his finger and blood poison set in. Tivey was 45 years of age and unmarried.

"Med" Students Suspended.

Chicago, March 11.—Twenty-eight medical students of the University of Chicago are facing suspension because one of their number threw a piece of a human leg from the dissecting room at a divinity professor. The professor complained to President Judson, who asked for an explanation.

Four Negroes Lynched.

Mobile, Ala., March 11.—Dave Poe, Tom Ranston and two Jenkins brothers, all negroes, were lynched at Vancleave, Miss., by a mob of thirty men on Monday night.

An Awful Crime.

Berlin, March 11.—A minor court in Berlin has just decided that it is gross demeanor to shout on the open streets, "Hurrah for universal suffrage."

School Burned.

Toledo, March 11.—The school building at Napoleon, Ohio, the largest of the kind in the state, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $110,000.

The fire started at a quarter to nine, just as the children were on their way to school. Some were playing in the yard at the time it was discovered, and by nine o'clock, when all should have been in their seats, the building was a mass of flames. Superintendent Bemer and Principal White were alone in the structure. They escaped unhurt.

Twenty Firemen Hurt.

New York, March 11.—A score of firemen were injured, hundreds of persons were driven from their homes and many buildings were threatened by a fire early yesterday which destroyed the six-storey brick structure at 38 West Eighteenth street. The Siegel-Cooper department store was seriously threatened at one time.

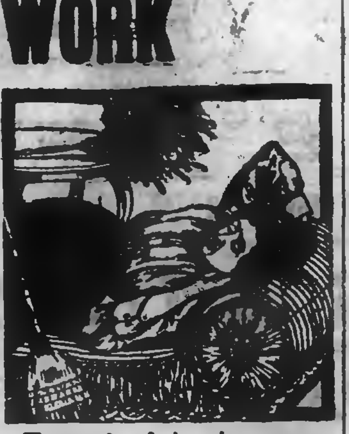
A back draft, which blew out every window in the burning building and scattered a shower of broken glass, was responsible for the injuries of so many firemen.

Sentenced to Four Months.

St. Thomas, March 11.—James A. Moore, who was recently found guilty of forgery to the extent of some $15,000 on the Dominion Bank, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Colter to four months' imprisonment in the county jail without labor, and the sentence to run from the 23rd of December, 1907, which practically means only one month yet to be served.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

HOUSE WORK



Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. W. Barrett, of 602 Moreau St., Montreal, who writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse.

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it made me strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

SUPREMACY OF THE SEA

Must Be Maintained by Britain Says Mr. Asquith.

Debate on Estimates in the Imperial Commons — Acting Premier Intimates That If Germany Seems Likely to Carry Out Her Naval Program the Government Will See That Britain's Is Not Outbuilded.

London, March 11.—The comparative strength of the navies of Great Britain and Germany, which already has occupied so much time during the present session of Parliament, was again brought to the front yesterday afternoon in the House of Commons by the debate on the naval estimates, and it drew from Herbert N. Asquith, the acting Premier, a reassertion of the intention of the Government to maintain Great Britain's unassailable supremacy at sea.

Mr. Asquith admitted that if Germany's present program of naval construction was carried out she would have 13 Dreadnoughts and Invincibles to Great Britain's 12 by November, 1911, assuming that Great Britain failed to lay down ships in 1908 to be completed prior to that date. Without forecasting the naval program for next year, Mr. Asquith said he could promise without the faintest hesitation that if the Government found a reasonable probability of the German program being carried out in the way the paper figures suggested, it would feel it its duty to provide not only for an additional number of ships, but for their construction by such a date as to make sure the suggested superiority of Germany would not become a fact.

SOME ONE TO BLAME.

Collinwood Children Were Caught In a Veritable Death Trap.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 11.—The loss of lives of the little children in the Collinwood school fire was "absolutely inexcusable," Coroner Burk declared yesterday, after making a thorough investigation into the causes of the fire and the reasons why the children were caught in the hallway and burned without being able to escape.

"The poor little children were caught in a veritable trap and held until burned to death," he said. "Some one is responsible for this and should be held."

To Arrest School Officials.

Chicago, March 11.—The arrest and prosecution of one principal and the janitors and engineers of several public and private schools was demanded Monday by Acting Building Commissioner Robert Knight, in a letter to George H. White, city prosecutor.

This demand followed a conference held by Commissioner Knight, Architect Perkins of the board of education, and Fire Marshal Horan, at which reports as to the fire protection of Chicago schools made by 120 fire captains and thirty building inspectors were reviewed. The arrests asked for are those of custodians of school buildings, where doors have been locked when pupils were in their classes and study rooms.

"Dog Must be Killed Within Three Days," Said His Worship

Amusing Case in Police Court Over the Dog of Mr. Robt. Redmond, Donegal Street—Boy Complained That Canine Bit Him.

"You must kill your dog within three days," said His Worship Magistrate Dumble, to Robert Redmond, who was in police court this morning, charged with keeping a canine that ran out and bit Charles Welsh, a young lad who was passing along Hunter street on Monday morning. The hearing of this case caused considerable amusement for the large number who attended, and frequently Chief Roszel had to call the crowd to order.

Welsh, the complainant in the affair, was the first witness called. He said that he was passing along Hunter street and he met Mr. Redmond with the dog. The animal jumped at him and pulled him down twice. He further stated that the dog bit him on the wrist. Mr. Redmond then proceeded to question the witness.

"Did you not see boys throwing snowballs at the dog?" he was asked.

"No sir, there were no snowballs thrown at it," was the answer.

"Then I am a liar," said the old man. "Remember you are on your oath and you must tell the truth," he added as a word of warning before he continued the questioning.

John Jenkinson, another lad, was called. He said that he saw the dog jump three times at Welsh, and it had frequently attacked him when passing along the street.

"Didn't you laugh and sneer at me?" asked Mr. Redmond.

"No, I didn't," was the reply.

"Now, don't tell any lies," said the defendant," but the Magistrate put an end to the controversy by telling the boy to leave the witness box.

Dr. Young was next called. He said that he was walking along Hunter street, and he saw that Mr. Redmond's dog was jumping and going at the boy in a vicious manner. The boy kicked back at the dog to protect himself. The animal did not bite the boy, the scratch on the wrist having been made by a wire fence.

Mr. Redmond went into the box.

"Do you own the dog?" asked His Worship.

"No; my son in Chicago does," was the answer. "It never bit any one. It is a faithful canine and only acts friendly with the boys."

"Isn't it a bad to frighten a boy to death as to bite him?" asked His Worship.

Mr. Redmond was very sorry the affair took place and he would send the animal to Chicago.

"They don't want a yellow dog like that in Chicago," said His Worship, "and you will have to kill him within three days, or the policemen will."

In the House at Ottawa; Larger Powers to be Given

Duties of Railway Commissioners Discussed in the House.

Mr. Graham Explains the Bill—Telegraphs and Telephones Placed Under Jurisdiction of Board — Construction of Drydocks — Providing For Old Age Annuities—Minister of Finance Introduces Measure.

Ottawa, March 11.—Yesterday afternoon, the Government accepted some of the proposals of W. F. Maclean (South York) with respect to the duties of the board of railway commissioners.

The principal provision incorporated in Mr. Graham's bill "To amend the Railway Act with respect to telegraphs and telephones and jurisdiction of the board of railway commissioners," which was introduced by Mr. Graham, is one to impose a penalty on railway companies for failure to supply cars for shipment of products. This is commonly known as "reciprocal demurrage." Under the act as it stands the railway board has authority to penalize shippers for holding cars placed at their disposal by railway companies beyond reasonable time.

Mr. Graham, in explaining the features of his bill, said some of the provisions had already been discussed in connection with another bill (Mr. Maclean's reciprocal demurrage bill) which was recently before the House. For some time, he said, the question of placing telegraph companies under the jurisdiction of the board had been discussed, and the announcement was made that it would be done. The new act provided that telegraph companies, with their tolls, connections, etc., would be placed under jurisdiction of the board, the same as the railway companies. Wireless telegraph companies were also included in the bill. The clauses relating to telephone companies had also been readjusted, but there had been no material change in this respect.

One clause provided for "specific performance." This would, he thought, meet the views of several hon. gentlemen who had discussed the question in connection with other bills before the House. It provided for performance of all contracts entered into between railway companies and municipalities or private individuals. Power had been given the railway board to enforce such contracts, and in this respect provisions were very wide.

Mr. Borden asked if the railway board had been provided with the necessary machinery to enforce contracts.

Mr. Graham said the board itself would be a court. He proceeded to say that sleeping car companies and cartage companies in connection with the transfer of freight as well as what was contentiously known as reciprocal demurrage, would be placed under the authority of the board.

Heretofore the board had been empowered to enforce penalties against shippers for holding cars. It was proposed to make the railway companies liable to a penalty for failure to provide cars within a reasonable period.

Mr. Cockshutt asked if the telegraph companies which had been in possession of streets of cities for years would be included in the measure. A case had arisen in Brantford where it was desired to pave streets and where the poles and wires of the telegraph company were in the way. Would the new act compel the removal of the poles? The Dominion Government many years ago gave the power to the company to erect their poles on the streets and the company refused to remove them.

Mr. Graham said it was a board question. In sme instances, he thought commissioners might have the power, but the question would arise as to the contract entered into. He could not answer off-hand.

Mr. Northrup referred to the case of the Belleville and Northwestern Railway which had been heavily bonussed and afterwards taken over by the Grand Trunk, which refused to operate the line.

Mr. Graham could not say what the effect of the new law would be, but details would be discussed later.

"An absolute falsehood," R. L. Borden characterized an editorial in Monday's Globe, which charged that he and several other Opposition members, including Messrs. Ames, Foster, Clements, Armstrong, Lake and Kemp, with being responsible for the disappearance of documents entrusted to them. The preceding paragraph was to the effect that the original documents which had been brought down either disappeared entirely or were returned in a mutilated state.

The Globe had carefully overlooked the fact that the return from which it secured information had charged two fyles to the Prime Minister. As a matter of fact they were not original documents and the charge inferentially made, that they had been mutilated, was an utter and complete falsehood.

Mr. Foster had also a grievance. He had been charged by this "veracious journal," edited by a "particularly veracious and reverend gentleman," with purloining five fyles. The statement was utterly "mendacious," as he proceeded to show.

Mr. Fielding introduced his resolution respecting aid to drydocks. It empowers the Government to pay 3 per cent. per year for 20 years up to $45,000 a year on the cost of an approved dry dock; also 3 per cent. per annum for 20 years up to $15,000 a year upon extensions of drydocks. If, after the subsidies are paid and the dock is not operated, the Government may take it over, complete it and operate it until the cost of such completion and operation has been paid out in revenue.

Then the Finance Minister explained his old age annuities resolution, which, he explained, was on the lines of the tentative bill introduced last session in the Senate by Sir Richard Cartwright, but differing from it in several particulars. The bill was not to be confounded with the old age pension proposals now before Ottawa. The only contribution by the Government involved in the annuities bill was that of a large rate of interest and cost of management. The object of the bill was to provide small annuities at minimum cost. The largest annuity payable to one person would be $600 or to a husband and wife conjointly $600. The minimum limit of age at which annuities would be payable was 55 years, except in the case of a person becoming disabled, in which event the person would receive an annuity in proportion to which he had paid in.

Annuities would not be transferable, not subject to seizure under any procession of law except upon proof that the annuitant had paid money into the fund with the intention to defraud his creditors. The cost of administration would be the same as collectors of customs and other Government would look after collections and deposits at a very small remuneration.

Mr. Fielding did not expect schemes would be very widely accepted at first, unlike the insurance business there would be no solicitation.

NIGHT RIDERS OUT AGAIN.

One Section Whipped Negroes—Another Burns Valuable Property.

Brooksville, Ky., March 11.—Fifty or more night-riders came into town early to-day in buggies and on horseback, and before they left 15,000 pounds of tobacco belonging to Robt. Stanton, one of the wealthiest planters in this section, had been burned.

Paducah, Ky., March 11.—One hundred masked "night riders rode into the Town of Birmingham, Marshall County, late Monday night, shot six negroes, one of them it is believed fatally, and then whipped five others. The riders took possession of the town and shot into every negro cabin in the place. In one of these, John Scruggs, his wife and three children and a granddaughter, were struck by bullets. Scruggs is probably fatally wounded. The riders then took five other negroes to the banks of the Tennessee, where they whipped them. After warning 25 other negroes to leave the place the masked men then rode away.

The raid followed a warning of two weeks ago to all the colored population to leave Birmingham.

One Man Shot.

Clarkesville, Tenn., March 11.—Near Woodford, about 15 miles from this city, Brown Bennett, a young man, was found early yesterday in the public road in a dying condition, with a bullet hole through his head. Near Bennett were two dead horses and three empty shotguns. It is believed that young Bennett was a night rider, and was shot down by persons whom he and his gang had attacked.

Murdered Whole Family.

Tenino, Wash., March 11.—Warren McKay, a Canadian, formerly of Winnipeg, but a resident here ten years, killed his wife and three children and then committed suicide by taking poison.

Two men discovered McKay's body yesterday, and notifying the town marshal, the latter immediately proceeded to the house to inform Mrs. McKay. They were horrified to find there the mother, 7-year-old girl and 4-year-old boy with throats cut, and a 6-year-old girl with her head crushed by blows from a sharp instrument, probably a hammer.

McKay was suffering from a cancer in the face, which was preying on his mind.

A Burglar's Boldness.

St. Catharines, March 11.—Mrs. Clark, wife of former Chief of Police Adelbert Clark of Thorold, reports a startling experience to Chief Shee. While sitting in the front room of her home at Thorold Monday night about nine o'clock a strange man walked into the room and in a threatening voice advised her to sit still and make no outcry. Too frightened to move, Mrs. Clark obeyed, and sat quietly while the burglar went through all the drawers in the room searching for money. He only found $2.

Reports on Ontario Schools.

Toronto, March 11.—Hon. Dr. Pyne has received reports that the McKeough school in Chatham and some other urban schools of the province have inadequate fire equipment and no fire escapes. He has asked the inspectors to report promptly on all these cases and has issued a notice that fire drill is to be held all over the province, and that schools of more than one storey must provide a sufficient number of exits, the doors to open outwards.

Shot Father In Play.

Lisbon, March 11.—A tragic accident marred the recent carnival celebrations at the village of Salsas in Braganca Province.

A man and his two sons gave representations of the assassination of King Carlos. One of the sons, who was impersonating Buice, the assassin, shot and killed his father, who was made up as ex-Premier Franco with a revolver which he believed was not loaded.

Funeral Service of Late Mrs. Cameron

Held Last Evening at Residence of Son—Funeral To-day in Brampton

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Ewen Cameron was conducted at the residence of her son, Mr. John Cameron, 292 Stewart street, last evening at eight o'clock, and the remains were taken to Brampton this morning, where interment takes place. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, of which the deceased was a faithful and consistent member, conducted the service. He was assisted by Rev. Robert A. Pogue, of St. Paul's church. Both gentlemen referred to the excellent character of the deceased and the influence her life must have had on those around her.

"Rock of Ages" was sung, after which Rev. J. A. McFarland, Moderator of the Presbytery, closed the service with the benediction.

At Brampton Rev. John Little of that city, and Rev. Wylie C. Clark, of Quebec, and Rev. Alf. Gandey, of St. James' Square, Toronto, will conduct the service. The remains were accompanied by the deceased's three sons and three daughters.

EDWARD R. WARD.

The death occurred at 306 1-2 Louis street, early this morning of Edward R. Ward, after a short illness of only six day's duration. His death was due to pneumonia. He was 53 years of age and was born in Leitrim County, Ireland. He came to this country when eleven years of age and had lived in Peterborough twenty-three years. Twenty-seven years ago he married Florence Fitzner, who survives him. He was a member of the C.M.B.A. and of the Moulders' Union.

Besides his wife seven daughters and one son are left to mourn his loss. The daughters are Misses Nellie, Lizzie, Monica, Loretta, Agnes, Florence and Madeline and one son Edward.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at nine o'clock from the family residence, Louis street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

MISS JESSIE GOULD.

Information has been received in the city of the death in Toronto of Miss Jessie Gould, daughter of Mr. H. G. Gould, London street, this city. Pneumonia was the cause of death. The remains will be brought here to-night for interment.

The family will have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

ARRESTED FOR STEALING WIRE

As a result of an investigation that has been secretly carried on for the past few days by Detective Picard of Toronto, three well known young men and employees of the Canadian General Electric Co., were arrested this morning shortly after eleven o'clock by P. C. McBarry, in company with the detective and Mr. R. E. Layfield. They are held on a charge of stealing copper wire, taps and articles from the stores of the C. G.E. works. The alleged thieving is said to have been going on for some time and the authorities have been quietly waiting the time to make the arrests.

This morning two houses were searched by the police, and this afternoon two others said to contain stolen goods were visited by P. C. McBarry and the detective.

The young men came up before Magistrate Dumble this afternoon at four o'clock.

YOUNG COUPLE HONORED BY MANY FRIENDS

Address and Presentation to Mr. Mrs. B. Stevens—A Happy Event.

A very pleasant and jolly gathering met at the residence of Mr. James Booth, 516 Chamberlain street, to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Stephens who were married recently. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were presented with an illuminated address which was read by Mr. R. H. Shepherd. The presentation was made by Mr. Jas. Booth, which consisted of an elegant quarter oak extension table, with six dining chairs and a rocker. About thirty guests were present, and to say the least, they enjoyed themselves immensely. After games and songs, etc., a sumptuous repast was prepared by Mine Hostesses, Mrs. Jas. Booth and Mrs. Fred Thomas. The happy couple were recipients of the best wishes of those present and all predict a happy future for Mr. and Mrs. Stevens. The former is connected with the Montreal House, and is very popular.

Several speeches were then made, and the happy crowd dispersed by singing the National Anthem.

Mr. Bert Stevens;—

Dear Sir,—It is with extreme pleasure that we approach you on this momentous occasion, your marriage. Knowing your sterling qualities, your affability, and willing to treat your employer's customers with courtesy and attention, your whole souled generosity, As a fellowman whilst you have always shown that strict integrity to business that is always commendable to both employer and his customers, we your friends cannot let the occasion of your marriage pass without showing our appreciation of you as a man and friend. Kindly accept this memento of a friendship never to be severed in this life, these chairs and table, and trust that as you add chairs to your household you will not forget the little high one and in the years to come you and your wife may live long to see many little feet beneath the table.

Wishing you and Mrs. Stevens all the joy and felicity that mankind are heir to on this earth. We are yours in the truest friendship;

M. Pitman, S. Prevost, F. Thomas, Viola Booth, Jas. Booth, B. J. Larocque, R. H. Shepherd, R. Swanger, Chas. Francis, Maurice Houedry, Jean Hurtibise, T. Byer, W. Boycott, J. Archibald, F. Merritt, A. Merritt, R. Evans, A. Bouskill, Mrs. Jas. Booth, A. Latimer, Mrs. F. Thomas.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION

Sailsbury Lloyd, the Welsh evangelist, arrived at noon today to commence his work in connection with St. John's mission.

An enthusiastic meeting of workers was held last night after the service. Most encouraging reports were received and further plans were made for prosecuting the campaign.

A meeting of the street workers will be held in the school house this evening at 7.15 o'clock.

On Friday evening a mass meeting for men will be held. Addresses will be given by E. J. Pense, M. P.P., and Mr. Hoyle, M.P.P. All men are invited. The meeting promises to be a very interesting one.

Several ministers and office bearers of other churches in the city were present at the service last evening. A spirit of fellowship is much in evidence.

Fell While Boarding C.P.R Local And Car Passed Over Right Leg

Mr. J. W. Bryans, Well-Known Havelock Merchant, Victim of Serious Accident at Norwood Last Evening—Had Leg Amputated at Nicholls Hospital Early This Morning.

While returning from Peterborough last evening on the C.P.R. local, Mr. J. W. Bryans of Havelock, was the victim of a serious accident at the Norwood station by which he had his right leg severed above the knee. Mr. Bryans is lying now in Nicholls Hospital where his injuries are being attended.

Mr. Bryans was in the city yesterday on business. He took the 7.35 local here for Havelock, arriving in Norwood shortly after 8 o'clock. At Norwood Mr. Bryans got off the train to speak to a friend. He stood talking until the train began to pull out and then running forward he put out his hand to grasp the hand rail of the second last car but missed his hold, falling between the moving train and the platform. The truck of the last car passed over his right leg, above the knee. The limb was not completely severed but was so badly jammed that it afterwards had to be amputated. He was [illegible] and [illegible] to the McGregor House where Drs. [illegible] and Wilson dressed the [illegible]. Dr. Holdcroft of Havelock, was also called. It was decided to have the injured man removed to Nicholls Hospital and consequently he was brought to the city on an extra freight that was passing through. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance where Dr. Young assisted by Drs. Wilson and Holdcroft performed the amputation.

Mr. Bryans is one of Havelock's most prominent business men and keeps a grocery store in that village. He also is the manager of Swift & Company's Cold Storage quarters there. His unfortunate accident is deeply regretted by a host of friends.

Mrs. Louisa Howell Found Dead in Her Apartments

Was it a Case of Suicide?—Man Who Occupies Adjoining Room Heard Deceased Woman's Groans—Inquest is Being Held.

Whether it was a case of suicide or not is not known. as the Coroner's jury. has not yet returned its verdict as to what was the cause of the death of Mrs. Louisa Howell. It looks very much like suicide, however.

The unfortunate woman was found in her room last night by William Austin, a carpenter, who has adjoining apartments. Austin had returned from his work reaching home shortly before six o'clock. He was attracted by the groaning of the woman and on going to investigate, he found her prostrate on her bed. Her apartments are behind Dutton's fruit store and upstairs.

He took in the situation at once as he said later, he smelled carbolic acid immediately he entered the room. He ran down to a nearby telephone and rang up the Police Station. P. C. Meharry answering the summons. Dr. McClelland was sent for. It was shortly before six o'clock that Officer Meharry responded to the call. Dr. McClelland when he arrived did not express any opinion as to what was the cause of the woman's death. Austin reached under the pillow during the investigation and happened to find there an eight oz. bottle of carbolic acid.

After Dr. McClelland's arrival, Austin ran for Dr. Carmichael who reached the scene shortly after receiving the 'phone message. P. C. Meharry went back to the police station and telephoned for Dr. Gray. Both he and P. C. Newhall returned to the residence of the late Mrs. Howell after the phone message had been sent to Dr. Gray. P. C. Newhall remained there until about 8 o'clock after Drs. Gray and Carmichael had made careful investigation. Dr. Gray consulted with County Crown Attorney Wood and it was decided that it would be most advisable to hold an inquest as there is much confusion and doubt as the real cause of the woman's death. It was about 7 o'clock when life became extinct.

THE FINDING OF THE CUP

After the physician had left P. C. Newhall found a cup on a table near the bedside of the dead woman. It was about half full of tea and smelled strongly of carbolic acid. In the bottom of this cup were some tea leaves. The officer remained in the room until about 8.30 o'clock when he left for the night. The door was reinforced with a strong lock to act as a bar to any who might be inquisitive enough to try to enter the room where they had no right to be. Austin kept solitary watch in his apartments. During the night the police called at different intervals to see that everything was all right.

AN ILL-FATED ROOM

The room in which Mrs. Howell met her death was the same one in which Mrs. Maggie Kerr was overcome by gas poisoning and died a short time ago. The particulars in connection with Mrs. Kerr's death are well known generally to the citizens of Peterborough.

AN INQUEST.

This morning at eleven o'clock in the room where the death occurred, Coroner Gray empanelled a jury preparatory to opening an inquest on the body. The jurymen viewed the body but no evidence was taken, an adjournment being made.

The inquest is being carried on this afternoon at the city council chambers. The jurymen are;

The jury was composed as follows:—H. Stinson, T. Richardson, A. Laidlaw, J. Connal, R. H. Turner, W. S. Stroud, Wm. White, N. Campbell, Wm. Lach, Wm. Lillie, W. A. Bell, J. W. Okem D. Drummond.

C.P.R. Will Continue Direct Toronto-Ottawa Train Service

The C.P.R. have decided to continue a through train between Toronto and Ottawa. This train was put on to accommodate those visiting Ottawa during the sitting of Parliament, but the result in growth of traffic has been such to warrant it being continued. This is the run that caused some discussion among the trainmen and conductors, over who should take the run. The fact that the train will be made a regular one relieves the position of any little friction that might have existed among the train crews. The representatives will meet Superintendent Thompson at Toronto, next week and adjust the matter, and all will be harmony again.

Police Constable Appointed; Wm. E. Meagher Was Selected

New Man is Considered a Good One for the Position—There Were Twenty-Eight Applicants.

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon, Wm. E. Meagher was appointed a police constable for the city, to succeed P. C. McDonald, who resigned some time ago. There were twenty-eight applicants for the position, an unusually large number. The new constable will commence his duties on April 1st and the salary will be $500 per year, to start. The chief of police was instructed to procure a uniform for him.

The selection is considered a good one. Mr. Meagher is well fitted physically for the position and is well qualified in other respects. He has been prominent in local athletics, being a good hockey, lacrosse and rugby player. He is a member of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

All the Police Commissioners were present as follows; His Honor Judge Weller, chairman; D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate; and H. Rush, Mayor.

The applicants for the position were as follows:

E. Griffin, Frank H. Brittain, R. Glover, Arthur Haines, W. R. Miles, F. Smith, J. Foster, S. N. Kingston, Bruce Menzies, H. T. Flanagan, Jos. Glenno, Eli Horey, Thos. H. Byers, H. Castle, Fred. Newhall, Jos. M. Wells, W. E. Meagher, Jos. R. Reynolds, Robt. Maguire, Arch. Reynolds, Stephen Rose, E. Gaskins, George McIlirry, David Blair, Wm. E. Smith, Wm. Lang, Jas. Kearney and R. W. Pleasing News From Cressman's

Become Agents For the Most Popular Patterns—Something That Patrons Will Appreciate

Journal readers will be delighted to learn that they may hereafter obtain the up-to-date and original Ladies 'Home Journal Patterns at Cressman's store. There has been a rapidly increasing demand for these patterns, which are exclusive in design, modern in their ideas and the way they are put together and withal, within the means of everyone.

Cressmans' have become agents for these patterns because they thoroughly believe in their merit and their ability to give satisfaction, and also because it is their intention to procure the best of everything for their patrons.

These, for several reasons, after careful deliberation, were conceded to be the best, not only from the style, but for the simplicity and accuracy of their working models and the helpfulness of the guide chart which accompanies each pattern.

This guide chart instructs one in the important details of cutting and fitting, and shows one how to use material to advantage, and without danger of mistakes. The prices of these patterns are 10c and 15c. A monthly style book illustrating the Ladies' Home Journal's patterns will be given to all who desire it, and all orders will be promptly and carefully attended to. In a word, Peterborough women may congratulate themselves upon having these very smart and in every sense desirable patterns so conveniently located for their inspection and purchase.

Death of Former Peterboro' Lady

Information Received of the Death of Miss Annie Errett at Toronto

The many friends in Peterborough of Miss Annie Errett will regret exceedingly to learn of her death which occurred in Toronto this morning. The late Miss Errett was a daughter of Mr. R. W. Errett, for many years inspector of weights and measures at Peterborough and an old resident of this city. A little over a year ago Miss Errett, together with her parents, moved to Toronto, where they resided on Isabella street. Miss Errett was a prominent member of St. John's church, and was actively identified with the missionary societies in connection with the Church of England.

The nature of her illness has not yet been ascertained in the city, the only information of her death being conveyed by a telegram received this morning by a friend of the family there.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION

On Tuesday next, St. Patrick's Day the dramatic section of St. Peter's T.A.S. will present the magnificent Irish comedy drama, "The Shaugraun" in the Grand Opera House. Curtain rises at 8.15 p.m. sharp. Reserved seat plan opens at Opera House box office Saturday morning, March 14th at 10 a.m. Tickets 25c, 35c and 50c.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

ST. JOHN'S MISSION.

To the Editor of the Review:

Sir,—The missioners now preaching—and conducting services at St. John's church, Anglican, are devout earnest men. Those who have been at the services since they began feel the power of the Word of God unto salvation in their hands. They are beautiful speakers and no one should miss them for it will be a long time before the Word will be spoken in a more logical and attractive way. It is a great joy to hear them. Begging your pardon, Mr. Editor, for space.

Yours etc.,
TUESDAY.

FETCH ON THE BAND

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Editor,—Can you tell me why the management of the Brock street rink doesn't have the band, only when there is a scrap hockey match on (like the Examiner and the Review) I don't believe that the 57th has been there more than twice this winter. The management is complaining about the rink not paying. Well if they have the band a little oftener (the 57th), say once a week they would soon see the difference. Surely they can afford it when the street railway has it twice. People get tired of going to the rink night after night, and no music to skate to. I have had a ticket for the rink ever since it was built, but I wont have one next year unless there is a decided change, and I think that there are a few others like myself.

Yours sincerely,
SKATER.

IBSEN'S "A DOLL'S HOUSE

At the "Grand" Next Saturday, Matinee and Night. A Treat for Theatregoers.

The world has come to a clearer understanding of the great Norse dramatist, Dr. Henrik Ibsen, who wrote "A Doll's House" in which Miss Jane Corcoran, under the direction of Arthur C. Aiston, will appear at the Grand next Saturday, matinee and night. "Today in America Isben is recognised in his true light," writes Sherman Danby. Isben's 'A Doll's House' speaks for itself, the characters are so finely drawn and their emotions are so real that everyone acknowledged the technique and remarkable analytical powers of the author. Isben is not a pessimist as many imagine, and as has often been asserted. On the contrary, he is pointing the way to loftier and better things and showing that he believes in the regeneration and reformation of society. It is because the works of Isben hit straight at the very existence of the people, because they strike at the root of society, and because they make the people that go to the theatre think that Isben has become such a blessing to the American stage.

LEARN DRESSMAKING IN PETERBORO'

We teach everything from measuring to finish in the correct making of ladies' and childrens' garments and guarantee perfect satisfaction. If you do not wish to be a professional dressmaker, the cost is so small that you can well afford to take it up if only for your own use. Why spend your time at a dressmaking shop, where you do nothing but hem, sew on hooks and sew overcreast and then after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. You can come and try for a few days and if course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilege to stop as there is no pay in advance. You certainly would not loose anything by trying.

Charge for full course is only $10.00, including a perfect fitting chart or we will teach a short Shirt Waist course for $ either during the day or evening. We have been requested by a number of ladies, in and around Peterboro', to teach another class this winter, as after March we go West again.

We will teach at Peterboro' from March 12th to March 20th. Hours for day class 8.30 to 5. Full information will be given by seeing us at Oriental Hotel on Wednesday, March 11th, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Scarlet Fever Patients at Barnardo Home Are Isolated

No Danger of Contagion Spreading—Board of Health Dealt With Several Important Matters—Council Urged to Secure Isolation Hospital.

The Board of Health held a meeting yesterday morning, and transacted considerable business. An outbreak of scarlet fever at the Barnardo Home was reported, but it was pointed out that the patients were carefully isolated, and that there was no need for alarm. Sanitary Inspector Ball reported somewhat undesirable conditions at several places in the city where there were no sewer connections and steps were taken to remedy the trouble.

Those present were, Dr. Burnham, chairman; Messrs. A. Parker, James Edgar, Jas. Murty and Mayor Rush.

The chairman said that there were four cases of scarlet fever at the Barnardo Home.

The Medical Health Officer reported verbally that he had visited the Barnardo Home, and that the scarlet fever patients were isolated. There was no danger from the children going out from the Home or in others coming into it.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

It was moved by Mr. Edgar and seconded by Dr. Young that the city council be again requested to provide an isolation hospital in which contagious diseases can be treated, as there is now no place in which such cases can be isolated for treatment.—Carried.

The sanitary inspector reported that he had examined 460 George St., and 217 Charlotte street, and recommended that they be connected with the sewer.

It was moved by Mr. Murty, and seconded by Mr. Parker, that the agent for No. 460 George street, and the owner of 217 Charlotte street, be notified to have these premises connected with the sewer, and put in a proper sanitary condition by the first of May.

J. B. Laing, representing Burroughs Welcome Co., Montreal, was heard in regard to furnishing antitoxin.

It was moved by Dr. Young and Mr. Murty that the matter be considered, and that the Medical Health officer make enquiries regarding it, and report at the next meeting.—Carried.

LAKEFIELD AND VICINITY

(Special to the Review.)

Lakefield, March 10.—There will be a grand concert and oyster supper in the Chemong town hall on Thursday, March 12. It will be given under the auspices of the Chemong Ladies' Aid Society. The programme will consist of singing, reading, recitations, dialogues and a good play. Tea from four to seven p.m. Concert at 7.30 p.m.

Mr. C. F. Pratt leaves Lakefield next week for the Okanagan Valley, B.C.

Mrs. Peter Nicholls, of Smith, is at present in the village visiting her sister, Mrs. Nate Nicholls.

The Lakefield hockey team journeyed to Bobcaygeon on Saturday last and played a friendly game with the team of that village. The Lakefield team won by a score of 10—2.

The line-up of the Lakefield team was as follows;—

C. Crawford—Goal,
C. Gray—Point.
M. Quigley—Cover Point.
Leo Quinn—Rover.
P. Moore—Centre.
W. Crawford—Left Wing.
Jos. Quigley—Right Wing.

[illegible] White, of Lakefield, made a most capable and efficient referee. The team thoroughly enjoyed the outing and loud in their praise of the hospitality of Mr. Lawless, of the Rockland House, and of the Bobcaygeonists generally.

Mr. Charles Bromfield, who has been engaged on a survey in the far north arrived in the village on Thursday last.

A grand concert will be held under the auspices of Court Selwyn, C.O.F., 4[illegible], in the Temperance Hall, Selwyn, on Friday, March 11th. A splendid programme will be reduced by the best local talent and an enjoyable evening's entertainment is assured. Admission 15 cents.

Rev. Mr. Adams, of Norwood, preached in the Methodist church at the services on Sunday last, the Rev. John Bedford exchanging pulpits with Mr. Adams.

Mr. W. F. White, of Drummond and Duffus, Peterborough, was in the village on Monday last.

Work is being begun on the new Methodist church. Stone and gravel are being hauled on the grounds. Two or three offers have been made for the material in the present building, but so far nothing definite has been decided.

A hockey match between the Grove School and Young's Point took place on Saturday last at the rink. The match proved a highly exciting one, the score at the close standing 4—4.

Mr. and Mrs. John Botterell, who have been visiting relatives in Beamsville, Ont., returned to Lakefield on Saturday last.

Mr. Wm. Graham, of R. Graham & Son, returned from a short trip to Toronto on Saturday last.

Miss M. Wilson, who has been paying a visit to her home, returned to Lakefield on Saturday.

Mr. R. Johnson, who has been laid up with a severe attack of grippe, is able to be about again.

Mr. J. W. Ridpath is having a gasoline engine installed in his printing office. Messrs. McConkey and Young, of Peterborough, are installing it.

The G.T.R. train hands had a hard time of it getting the train through from Peterborough to Lakefield on Saturday last. The drifts were tremendous, but with the aid of three engines the job was accomplished.

Mr. H. J. LeFevre is staying with his daughter, Mrs. Marling.

Great interest was manifested in the mock trial held in the Methodist church on Monday night. A large audience was present to watch the proceedings. The case, which was one supposedly of theft, ended in the jury disagreeing, nine being for acquittal and three for conviction.

The death occurred on Tuesday morning, March 10, of Mrs. Baker, mother of Mr. Wm. Baker, of this village. The deceased, who had suffered a long and painful illness, was highly respected by all who knew her. She was 83 years of age.

There is much illness in the village, influenza being, as usual, the chief ailment. Rev. A. W. MacKenzie and Mr. Sparling, of the Grove, are the latest sufferers.

The School Board held its meeting at the school on Monday morning last for the purpose of inspecting the premises, with a views to building an addition to the present structure. It was decided to interview the architect in regard to plans, etc.

A regular meeting of the Village Council was held in the town hall on Monday evening, the chief item of business being the threatened litigation in regard to the laying down of cement sidewalks on Regent street. Matters at the close of the meeting were very much in statu quo. It is probable that a lawsuit will be the outcome of the matter. The chief trouble at present seems to be that the property owners who issued the injunction against the paving last year, wish the Council to foot the costs, and to this the Council demurs.

Elzear Bruneau, furrier, of Quebec, has assigned.

Fire Escapes for Schools of Norwood

Board of Education is Looking into the Matter—Other News From the Capital of the East

(Special to the Review.)

Norwood, March 10.—Mr. C. Howson, a member of the Methodist choir here, very hospitably entertained the members of that choir at his home in South Dummer, on Thursday evening last. Three loads drove over and all report having spent a very pleasant evening.

We very much regret that we are about to loose one of our much esteemed citizens in the persons of Mr. P. W. Stephenson and family, who are removing to their old home near Guelph. Mrs. Stephenson is a member of our W.M.S., and will be greatly missed.

Mr. John Weir of this place, has purchased the brick residence on Peterborough street, owned by Mr. J. Baskin.

The Board of Education met on March 9th at 7.30 o'clock, with Mears. Squire, Waters, Brackenridge, Finlay, Cuffe, Harrison, Anderson, Doherty and Webster present.

Minutes of the annual meeting were read and adopted. Mr. Anderson signed the declaration of office.

Mr. Squire brought before the Board the necessity of some adequate means of fire escape in the Public school.

A lengthy discussion took place, after which Mr. Brackenridge moved, seconded by Mr. Finlay, That the Board meet at the call of the chairman to see what means can be adopted to assist in getting the pupils safely out of the school in case of fire.

The chairman called the Board on Friday afternoon at 6 p.m.

The secretary reported 102 pupils in attendance in the High school.

The Rev. Mr. Belfort of Lakefield, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church last Sunday, morning and evening.

Mr. N. Foster of Havelock, was in town on Friday evening.

Miss Gledhill has resumed her duties in Mr. Cuffe's millinery department.

Miss Bell Greenbank has returned to her home in Manitoba, after a few weeks' visit with friends in Ontario.

Several loads drove up from Havelock on Friday night to see the hockey match between Madoc and Norwood. The former won the game which decided the championship of the Trent Valley League.

Mr. Robert Scott and family of this town, intend moving to Peterborough in a few days.

Court Stanley A. O. F. Steadily Growing—Met Last Evening.

There was a large turnout of members at the regular meeting of Court Stanley, A.O.F., held last night in the S.O.E. Hall. Chief Ranger, Bro. T. Hendry, was in the chair. Five candidates were initiated and the court is still growing and the members are turning out better to meetings. Several members gave addresses and it was moved by Bro. R. J. McWilliams, seconded by Bro. S. Adlam, that the Chief Ranger, Bro. Hendry, send a letter of sympathy to Bro. Jones, of Court Abstinence, of Toronto, whose son died in Nicholls Hospital last week. Bro. Jones made many friends amongst the members of Court Stanley during his short stay in Peterborough.

Nanton News Refers to a Visit From Peterborough Man

The following is from the Nanton, Alt. News, of March 5th:

"Mr. J. A. Tully, of Peterborough, Ont., who, two years ago was instrumental in the institution of the Oddfellows lodge in this town and who is travelling Alberta in the interests of the Relief Association in connection with the order, arrived in Nanton on Monday, accompanied by another prominent Oddfellow in the person of J. A. Young, a Past Grand Master of the jurisdiction of Ontario also, and paid an official visit to this lodge that night. After the third degree had been conferred on one candidate, and addresses were made by the visiting brothers, a banquet was served and a very social time was spent until midnight when the meeting was dispersed by the singing of God Save the King and Auld Lang Syne."

Mrs. Nancy Bennett, an aged resident living alone in Lower Hillsboro, N.S., was found in bed, frozen to death.

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together, any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

Write for particulars.

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY MARCH 11, 1908

THE IMPERIAL LETTER

A statement was made and circulated in England recently to the effect that the German Emperor had remarked that Sir John Fisher was a warlike admiral, or words to that effect. This report was intended to prejudice Admiral Fisher before the people of England and likewise the German Emperor. It succeeded in doing both. The Beresford faction attacked the "vaulting ambition" of Fisher and the connivance or interference of the Emperor who having written to Lord Tweedmouth, a member of the Admiralty to deny that he had made any such remark regarding Admiral Fisher was straightway attacked as an unwarrantable meddler. The "row" was brought to a head by the "yellowness" of the Times, which seems anxious to pose as a Germicide of the first rank. The Emperor however, turned the tables on the Times while Admiral Fisher appears as an intended victim of the Beresford party. They do things strangely "over there" sometimes and this is no exception although the cooler heads of the government staff may be relied upon to cow the excitables and reassure the public. War is too terrible a thing except perhaps for those who make money out of it, to be played with, and the people of England, as of Germany know that the taxpayer will have to foot the bill for all the glory in the end.

THE POOR MAN'S GUN

The Globe devotes an editorial to "The Poor Man's Gun," strongly favoring automatic repeaters since they do so much work at less cost than the other sort and are therefore cheaper. Now we hold that this is not 'sport' anymore than an explosive bullet or poison is or indeed any other extraordinary and unduly murderous instrument of destruction—A fair balance of chances between man and beast or bird is the underlying principle of sport and to infringe upon this by instruments of wholesale butchery is as the Globe says 'cheap' but it is undoubtedly wrong. We should be glad to hear from local sportsmen what they think of this bill now before the Legislature as supported by the Globe. Peterborough is a centre of hunters and sportsmen of every sort and their opinion must carry weight. If the bill goes through irresponsible boys will make animal life a thing of the past for like the catapult, the automatic gun is used to kill everything in sight. The Globe's contention that opposition to this automatic gun is the work of rival manufacturers is trifling with an important matter it seems to us and is in no way worthy of that great journal.

FIRE-ESCAPES

If what is contained in a letter from a correspondent respecting the lack of fire-escapes on our school buildings is true there will be heartburnings too awful for mention some of these days. We cannot think it possible although we have it from good authority that there are no fire-escapes on some of our schools. Carelessness would be too mild a word if such is the case and probably those responsible would admit it at once. Why then is it permitted? We do no wish to ally the Review with constant "knockers" and faultfinders, but this we will say—if the inept administration of our school affairs has resulted in such a state of inefficiency as this, the fathers and mothers of trusting children cannot call a public meeting to rectify it one minute too soon.

WHITNEY AND HIS CRITICS

It is difficult to understand the attacks of some of the newspapers on the Whitney Government's rejection of the plant and transmission line of the Electrical Development Company. Most of these newspapers were strenuous advocates of the Beck policy and as openly hostile to any dealings with private corporations. The News urged that under all the circumstances and in consideration of the fact that the Beck policy must prejudice the financial position of the Electrical Development Company the Government should either content itself with an agreement to regulate prices, which it is admitted would be difficult of enforcement, or should purchase outright the plant and transmission line of the company. In advocating this policy The News stood alone and was subjected to bitter attack by some of the newspapers which are denouncing Mr. Whitney for the course which he at least has pursued with unvarying consistency and in which he had the cordial support of these newspapers.

Whether or not it was the sounder policy to purchase the plant and transmission lines of the Development Company, it is necessary to admit in justice to Mr. Whitney, that the Government firmly refused to consider the proposition. It would not adopt any scheme of Provincial ownership and at most would merely lend its credit to the municipalities and make a contract with one of the private companies for a certain supply of power to be carried over distribution lines erected by the municipalities under a Provincial guarantee. This is still Mr. Whitney's policy. He has not deviated therefrom in any degree and however powerful may be the arguments in favor of absolute purchase of the Electrical Development Company under the very favorable conditions which could have been obtained a few weeks ago, it is fair to remember that Mr. Whitney has resolutely refused to consider this proposition and that the Government stands exactly where it did on the whole question.

For months it was no secret that the finances of the Electrical Development Company were affected by the competitive project of the municipalities. It was known that the company must be financially strengthened or go into liquidation. It was well understood that favorable terms could be made between the company and the Government. This was the time for the newspapers which are now attacking Mr. Whitney to insist upon public purchase and endeavor to lead the mind of the Government in that direction. Instead, a fierce and destructive attack upon the private company was maintained and the municipalities encouraged to proceed with their competitive system. The truth is that these newspapers are censuring the Government for a course which had their entire and vehement support. They endeavor to hold Mr. Whitney responsible for a policy to which he was always opposed. He and his colleagues declared from the outset that they would not assume direct financial responsibility on account of the generation and distribution of Niagara energy to the municipalities. It is fair to contend that this policy was unwise and that the better course would have been to purchase the plant of the Electrical Development Company. But it is altogether unjust to attack the Government as though it had been guilty of some sort of deliberate treachery and had reversed its policy in order to serve some private interest.—Toronto News

The Liberal-Conservative party in the East Riding of Peterborough, is thoroughly united once more. Conservatives have little spats sometimes but they are soon over.

"The Irish cottage industry in drawn needlework is said to be almost dead, owing to a Japanese competition. The export to Japan of linen to be made into drawn work table covers, etc., ran up to 4,600,000 cards in 1906."—Exchange.

And yet if Sir Wilfrid had his way Canada would be in the same box. Let the Irish "kick" as we are doing, and something may come of it.

The Toronto Star speaks pretty highly of Judge Mabee, recently appointed to the Railway Commission to succeed Judge Killam, but we fancy none too highly. He has a fine mind and a clear conscience, two pretty good assets. Some men have both but not at the same moment which is a drawback.

The automatic loader, the noiseless firer and the sightless shooter, all indicate the backward march of civilization. Modern life is inconsistency personified. We preach kindness in the treatment of the guilty and cruelty in the treatment of the innocent. Criminals go free or next to it, while the poor birds that flit about and in summer fill the air with song, are butchered to make a hat look gay, or to please the whims of ignorant boys.

"The 'dinner dance' in London is arranged as follows;—A hostess decides to give a dance. She has about twenty people to dinner first, and includes three or four of our friends to give a dinner and bring their guests on. They arrive soon after 10. There is supper a little before midnight, and it is all over by 4 o'clock in the morning—gay, bright, informal, and practically everybody knows everybody else."

This reveals how pretension makes the show. The dinner-dance has been in vogue in Otonabee for 50 years.

The speaker of Monday evening's mission at St. John's laid it down that one cause of the backward condition of Christian development was the low moral tone of the people generally, i.e., their lack of real knowledge and appreciation of the difference between right and wrong, good and evil. These are not his exact words, but they are the purport of them. One would think that this would have been realized long ago. Doubtless it has been so realized, but the moral of the sermon remains—how was this low state brought about? The answer ever rises and is as often repressed. We compromise with out consciences, if such they may be called, and sell the birthright of our lives for a dollar or a favour. "Compromise" is the keynote of our falling-back and a low condition of intellectual and moral tone completes the calamity.

"Seven families, numbering thirty persons in all, were deported on Saturday, after having been public charges in Canada for the whole winter. They sailed from Portland for Great Britain on the Dominion line. These families were brought from Oshawa last week by Inspector Peter Devlin, deporting officer, of Kingston.

A despatch from Oshawa today states that, although these people had been kept all the winter by the kind-hearted people of Oshawa and the surrounding district, and not allowed to want, yet when asked by the authorities to earn something they flatly refused to do so. This caused difficulty and discontent among those immigrants who are willing to assist in tiding over the present crisis, and accordingly these families were picked out and recommended to the Dominion Government for deportation. They were well supplied with clothing before their departure."

Who pays the rebate on these immigrants? There is no statement of any return of the bonus paid by the Government on such people.

THE VISIT TO GUELPH WAS ENJOYABLE

The session of the Canadian Press Association held in Toronto, and which closed on Friday, the 6th inst., was the most successful held in the history of the Association. A great deal of business was taken up and transacted. Much will prove to be of permanent use to the interests of the craft.

On Saturday a visit was made to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. The members going to Guelph from Toronto on a special C. P.R. train, chaperoned by Mr. George Ham and C. B. Foster, of that railway, and Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, the incident as related below, being taken from some comment in the Toronto Globe. From the moment of their arrival and welcome by President and Mrs. Creelman until their departure from the college shortly before six o'clock, the party were engaged in seeing the various departments of the college and in hearing its work explained by the willing professors. They found between 500 and 600 students in the college and everywhere evidences of zeal and enthusiasm on the part of the faculty. They saw the cow that produced 20,000 pounds of milk per year; they inspected the famous blind but good-looking mare; they looked enviously on the climbing tomato vines, red with ripened fruit; they felt like eating the wax fruits, so natural in their perfection; they tasted Prof. Dean's cheese and buttermilk, and heard Prof. Zavitz prophesy more worlds he is going to conquer in the production of new and better varieties of grains.

Probably the most pleasant incident of the day, however, was the dainty luncheon served by the girls of the Macdonald Institute. The spacious corridors and dining-hall of Macdonald Hall were at the visitors' disposal, and it is safe to say that few ladies present but would fain attend as students if circumstances permitted. The planning of the entire luncheon was assigned to one of the girl students, and the results were a worthy tribute to her skill and to the training imparted there. The services by the blue-dressed, white-aproned girls was a model for promptness and unobtrusiveness. Only after the visitors' cheers for the girls, did the latter throw off their mantle of modesty and appear in the role of students when they burst into the echoing college yell. The toast list at this function was brief and included the health of "The Press," proposed by President Creelman. Mr. D. H. Elton, of The Cardston, Alta., Star, Mr. L. J. Tarte of La Patrie, Montreal, and Mr. David Williams, President of the Canadian Press Association, responded. Mr. Elton and Mr. Tarte as outsiders expressed the greatest admiration for the progressive state of Ontario agriculture, Mr. Tarte admitting that Quebec is far behind in this great industry.

FROM HANSARD

"Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister; Mr. Speaker, though it must be my duty, in the few observations which I have to offer to this House, to take issue with my hon. friend the leader of the Opposition both upon the speech with which he favored the House and upon the resolution which he has placed in your hands, yet I am free to confess that I welcome altogether both the speech and the resolution of the hon. gentleman. I welcome both the speech and the resolution, because both present, in a clear line of cleavage, the policy of the Government and the policy of the Opposition upon this most important question. In the object which both parties pursue I see no difference whatever; all the difference is in the method. The policy of the hon. gentleman, the policy of his party, settled many years ago, reaffirmed on this occasion, is to obtain restriction of Japanese immigration to our shores by hostile legislation of this parliament, with all the consequences of hostile legislation upon a friendly power. The policy of this Government is to obtain the restriction of Japanese immigration to our shores, not by hostile legislation, but by the voluntary, the friendly action of the Japanese authorities themselves. Sir, in a few words this the line of cleavage between that side of the House and this side. And now it will be my duty to proceed to give to the House the motives, the reasons and the results of our policy; and when this is done I shall be content to leave the whole question to the judgment of the members of this House and of the people of this country. Sir, the central fact in this question, around which all other considerations revolve, is the fact that in all countries where the Caucasian race and the Oriental races come together there is at once an antagonism. There is a sharp, well-marked antagonism on the part of all white races against the Mongolian race. Of this fact we have been well aware for a long time; but the fact has been still more clearly put before us in the admirable speech of my hon. friend and colleague the Postmaster General just a week ago today. My hon. friend, during the course of his observations, dilated at some length though certainly not at too great a length upon this aspect of the question. He gave us valuable information, until then unknown to us, though we had on this point information from our colleagues from British Columbia. For my part, I had believed, as had many others, that there was at the bottom of this antagonism only a labor problem. I had thought, and many others had thought, that white labourers objected to associating themselves with oriental laborers on account of their different modes of living. But we know that there is another consideration which extends far beyond the labor problem. The population of British Columbia is a small population as yet. The flow of immigration from Europe has not yet crossed the Rocky Mountains and not yet reached the province by the Pacific ocean. The population of that province is small and sparse, and there is an apprehension, a well understood apprehension which we can all share, that if the current of immigration from Asia were to be allowed to flow in free and unchecked, the balance of power might pass from the one race to the other. This is a problem, Sir, which no government in this country can afford to ignore. This is a problem which has engrossed the attention of all governments from the early days of confederation—I may say from the days of British Columbia's admission into this union of provinces. This problem, difficult at all times and under all circumstances, has been made doubly difficulty—nay, ten times more difficult—in so far as Japan is concerned by the fact that Japan has suddenly risen to the proportions of a first-class power. Sir, everybody will concede that no event during the last fifty years of the history of the human race has been more remarkable than the sudden revolution which has changed the institutions of Japan. Japan up to fifty years ago was an isolated community; it has suddenly become one of the world's greatest powers. When I say an isolated community, I do not use the expression offensively; but I want to draw attention to the marked difference between oriental civilization and occidental civilization. The nations of the orient have been, I might say for countless ages, certainly for thousands of years, in a condition of lethargic immobility. Today their civilization is the same as it was two thousand years ago.

Their religious thought, their code of ethics, their methods of commerce, their modes of transportation, their system of education—all this is the same as it was 2,000 years ago. While the nations of the west have been in a constant state of transition and evolution, always striving towards improvement and progress, the nations of the east have been content to remain just where they were, and the result has been that in almost every walk of life they have been left steadily behind. But all atonce, without any transition, Japan has risen from a condition of lethargy to a condition of actual activity and modern life. Japan has adopted our system of education, our methods of trade and industry, and in the art and science of war, both on land and sea, she has shown herself the peer of the most famous nations of the present day. It is to the credit of Lord Lansdowne that, of all the diplomatists of Europe, he was the first to recognize the possibilities of the change in the condition of Japan. change in the condition of Japan. Such was the importance that he attached, and rightly attached this changed condition that he, all of a sudden broke loose from all the traditions of British policy. Hitherto it had been the rule and tradition of British diplomacy that Britain would not become entangled in any foreign alliance, that she would stand alone in her insular position, and be ready in all circumstances to take advantage of her opportunities without being shackled by weighty alliances. But Lord Lansdowne attached so much importance to the new condition Japan had attained that in 1902 he did what had not yet been done for us by any British statesman, and concluded a treaty of alliance, defensive and offensive, between Britain and Japan. What is the condition, therefore, which has existed since 1902? It is that, under the treaty negotiated by Lord Lansdowne, it is possible, if unfortunately the interests of Great Briain were to be jeopardized in the northern Pacific ocean, we might see, should unfortunately war break out, the fleet of Japan and the fleet of England riding the waves together for a common purpose and against a common enemy. It is possible that, under that treaty we may see the fleet of Japan weighing anchor in the harbour of Vancouver for the protection of those British interests to which Canada attaches such vital importance. This is a condition which has escaped altogether the attention of my hon. friends opposite, but it is a condition that we have had all the time before our eyes. But though there may be treaties of defence, amity and peace, though on this occasion Japan and Great Britain proclaim to the world that they were friends and prepared to fight, if need be, a common enemy, it is not to be expected that, in the people, among all classes, high and low, the old feuds and antagonisms can disappear in a day. We know, by the experience of the world, that antagonisms, especially those which have race for basis, are slow to die, and we must reckon accordingly. And we had a tangible proof of this when, in this year of 1902, the year when the treaty was concluded between Lord Lansdowne and Viscount Aoki, the request came upon us, more pressing than ever, from British Columbia for a law of exclusion against the oriental races. The position we took on that occasion is well known. We had no hesitation in meeting the request of British Columbia with regard to certain races of the orient. But when it came to Japan we had to say that we could not comply with that request. We were pressed to introduce the Natal Act and we would not. Under the Natal Act no people would be admitted to British Columbia unless they could speak some of the languages of Europe. That would be a direct slap in the face of our allies in Japan. But we entered into negotiations with the Japanese authorities themselves, through the instrumentality of Mr. Nosse, the Japanese consul, then in Montreal and since in this city. We represented to the Japanese authorities, that although we were allies, they must know there were difficulties against their people coming to our country, where they could not expect to be received with favor, they must know that we could not prevent the clashing of race with race, and we asked the Japanese authorities themselves to restrict the immigration. And I am happy to say that we were successful in these efforts, and the Japanese authorities consented to restrict emigration from their country."

IN MEMORIUM

Lines on the death of Elmer G. Wood, who died Jan. 29th, 1908;—

How true the sacred sentence is,
That man is born to die;
His soul must go to meet his God,
His body mouldering lie.
And day by day we're called to mourn
The loss of those we love.
But our loved one is gone to join
The Angelic Host above.

But Oh, the blessed hope is sure
To cheer the mourning heart
That we may meet at God's right hand
And never more to part.
Where purer joys await the souls,
Of the departed dead.
Where crowns of love are ready for
The never aching head.

Then weep no more for him, dear friends,
Nor shed the bitter tear.
He's free from sorrow, pain and death
In yon celestial sphere.
His happy spirit lingers near
To guide us through the gloom
Of this dark world and bring us safe
To our eternal home.

Evidences of Good Results From St. John's Mission

Stirring Appeal Made by Rev. Mr. Barber, of Bobcaygeon, Last Evening—Large Number in Attendance.

The mission services at St. John's church continue to attract large crowds, and a great spiritual awakening is bound to be the result. The church was well filled last evening and the inspiring address by Rev. Mr. Barber of Bobcaygeon, would no doubt be productive of much good. The street service attracted a large number to the service, and each evening, the good results of conducting these services on the street corners are becoming more evident. The many popular hymns led by Mr. Gliddon's orchestra, were sung heartily by the congregation. Those present listened with intense interest to Mr. Barber's strong appeal and a solemn impressiveness was noticeable throughout the service.

"What think ye of Christ?" the words found in the 42nd verse of the 22nd chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel, formed the basis of Mr. Barber's remarks. "That question is the greatest thought and theme that has ever been known," began the speaker. Take into consideration all the great men and heroes that have ever lived and putting them all together there is not one to equal Christ. "What think you of Christ?" asked the missioner. The Son of God was sent into the world in the manner and fashion of a man. The same conditions exist with mankind today as before Christ came upon earth. He came to give man all that the children of Adam had lost. "In Baptism we are made members of Christ but through sin and the world, we have become estranged from His love," said the speaker. "There is a barrier that is holding us back and we need something to break it down." Christ alone can destroy it. He is ready to help and restore the outcast. In Him alone is true happiness to be found. There is before everyone His sorrows and sufferings, His trials and temptations. He suffered just as a man of today suffers. He was wounded in His friend's house. The speaker referred to the fact that at the present time many a man has started out to do good in their own homes and among their companions and have met with discouragements. Christ went through all these trials," said the evangelist, "but how often do we think of Him as possessing the same passion and desires as we have?"

He stands before each one today with the same purpose and the same power. He is a person, a Divine leader. His teachings are not a system but are founded on His own life.

"How can you deny the Saviour who died for you?" Mr. Barber asked. "He is the same as when he was on earth and is He not worth following?" The missioner stated that the obstacles that prevented the following of Christ were the social and worldly things. These were all right in their place but were being carried to excess, drawing many down deep in the mire of sin.

"Christ is waiting for us and can we afford to spurn Him?" asked the speaker in conclusion. He urged those present to accept Christ, and take Him as their example of living.

A short after service was held in which several took part.

Rev. Father McColl Received Presentation and Address From Members of T.A.S.

Another evidence of the high regard cherished towards Father McColl by his parishioners and of the popularity of the rector of St. Peter's was shown last night, when he was presented with a ticket for Naples and an address of appreciation.

This fitting recognition was made by St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

The address was very handsomely bound and was considered a work of art by all who saw it.

It read as follows:

To Rev. W. J. McColl,
Rector St. Peter's Cathedral,

Dear and Reverend Sir:

Within the last few days, we, the members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, have learned that you contemplate crossing the Atlantic for the benefit of your health and to obtain a well earned rest.

We take this occasion to offer you our dutiful and loving regards and to express our sincere appreciation of your unfailing and kindly interests in the TAS since becoming rector of this parish.

Your ready sympathy with our spiritual director, Reverend Dr. O'Brien in our many troubles and untiring devotion have earned for you the love and esteem of the TAS as well as the entire parish.

We have noticed with satisfaction your unremitting care in the general welfare of the wants of the parish, your solicitude more especially of the rising generation, who will be the hope of the church in the future.

We are pleased therefore, Dear Reverend Father, to bear this testimony, and recognize time and again that you have shown your paternal love for this Society, by your many noble acts of mind and heart.

We feel we would not be fulfilling the dictates of our conscience if we did not tender some evidence of our appreciation of your many acts of kindness and sympathy.

We could not but remark, Dear Father, that the work accomplished by you has been done on no little sacrifice on your part and that your general health has been greatly affected.

We assure you Reverend Father you have our most sincere sympathy, and constant prayers during your absence, and we ask that you will also remember the TAS in your prayers when celebrating the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in whatever land you may be.

We wish to give some tangible evidence of our sincere regard and affection and as a token of it, we beg you, Reverend Father, to accept this ticket from Peterborough to Naples.

We trust in God that you will be long spared to us and that you will be speedily restored to full enjoyment of perfect health, is the most earnest prayer of the members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

The address was signed by Rev. M. J. O'Brien, spiritual adviser of the T.A.S.; P. O'Donnell, president; W. S. Merrill, 1st vice-president; W. E. Meagher, 2nd vice-president; W. J. Maher, recording-secretary; A. H. Lehane, financial-secretary; Joseph Primeau, treasurer; H. O'Rourke, marshall; E. J. English, assistant marshal; E. Flaherty, guard; and Trustees N. J. Bibby, Jas. Drain, Jas Clancey, Dan Cushing, J. S. Noyes and these members, John O'Brien and J. J. Hannehan.

The address was read by Mr. Jos. Maher and the presentation made by by Mr. P. O'Donnell. The scene of the felicitous occasion was in the parlor of the rectory and His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and the Cathedral clergy were in attendance. Father McColl made suitable acknowledgement and His Lordship and Dr. O'Brien spoke some words in the heartiest commendation of the beloved rector of St. Peter's.

Cavan Township Loses One of its Pioneer Residents

The death occurred at his home near Ida, in Cavan, of Mr. Samuel Staples, one of the oldest and most prominent residents of that township. He was eighty years of age and had resided in Cavan for forty years. He was born in that township, but afterwards moved to Manvers and resided there there for several years. Forty years ago he returned to Cavan and has resided near the postoffice ever since. He took an active part in the affairs of the community in which he resided and was an outstanding figure in the history of the township. He made a success of agricultural pursuits and his farm stock and produce had won hundreds of prizes at the exhibitions in the county.

The late Mr. Staples was a Methodist in religion and a Conservative in politics. He is survived by his wife, to whom he was married fifty-six years on the 6th of this month, and three sons, Henry, Joseph and Fred; all of Cavan; also two daughters, Mrs. Moses Sutton, of Cavan, and Mrs. Purser, of Port Hope. One sister, Mrs. Richard Staples, of Cavan, and one brother, Mr. Richard Staples, of Sourie, Man., also survive.

The funeral will take place on Friday, at two o'clock, from the family residence to the ninth cemetery.

Sitting Will be in the Morning

The city clerk has received word that the sitting of the Railway Commission in Peterborough, will be held on Tuesday, March 17th, at 10 a.m. The session will be held in the city council chambers. The city's case is now being prepared.

TO PURCHASE A NEW PIANO

Charlotte Street S. S. Board decides on This Step—Other Matters Dealt With

Last night's business and social meeting of the Charlotte St. S. S. board was especially interesting. There was a large attendance of the teachers and officers of the school.

The first hour was spent in business matters, the principal item discussed was the purchase of an additional piano.

The committee previously appointed to investigate this matter reported unanimously in favor of the Heintzman and especially recommended the purchase of the Heintzman new style transposing piano.

One of these instruments was used last Sunday and the Board were unanimously in favor of this style as especially suitable for the requirements of the school and the committee were empowered to purchase one.

The old piano will be retained for use in the Guild room and Primary department.

The Ladies' Aid Society has donated $100 for this purpose. The choir and Mission Circle also made generous contributions. The special collection last Sunday of nearly $50 with previous contributions places the fund in good condition.

The Sunday School movement was heartily endorsed by the Board and a committee appointed to look after the names that may be reported to the church.

It was decided to give special attention to organized bible class work at the next meeting.

At the close of the business session the Board adjourned to the auditorium where they were delightfully entertained by the young ladies of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham's Bible class and a social hour spent around the daintily arranged tables made a happy combination of business and pleasure.

The meeting closed after expressing very hearty appreciation of the services of the class whose efforts had so successfully contributed to the enjoyment of the occasion.

SAID TO CLEAN IMPURE BLOOD

Valuable Prescription to make Home Remedy, Said to be Very Fine.

A leading health journal, in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood," prints in a recent issue the following; Fluid Extract of Dandelion one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist who is familiar with this prescription states that it is harmless, being composed of simple ingredients which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

It cleans the blood of all impurities and nourishes the blood. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down, debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Kargon and Extract Dandelion works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

This prescription is better than the usual patent medicines which are in the most part alcoholic concoctions. The ingredients cost but little and are easily mixed at home. Every man and woman here should make some up and try it if they feel their system requires a good blood medicine and tonic.

The Kargon to cleanse the kidneys and vitalize them so they can clean the blood, Sarsaparilla to make new rich blood and Dandelion to tone the stomach, clean the liver and make it active and relieve constipation is the way the prescription acts, and so mildly and gently that one does not consider they are taking medicine.

SPORTING NEWS

New Bowling Alleys Will Soon be Open to Public

Splendid progress is being made on the new bowling alleys which are being installed at the old opera house, and Mr. A. Fagerstedt, the Chicago expert, who is in charge of the work, expects to complete his task and have the alleys ready for opening on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. The work of laying the alleys has now been in progress for three weeks and at intervals during that period as many as fifteen men have been employed at once, the number never running less than eight. Some of the staff have been kept going day and night. From this statement it will be readily seen that the installation of up-to-date alleys, such as they have in Toronto, Montreal, London, Hamilton and all the big American cities, is no mean undertaking, involving great labor and large expense.

The alleys have been purchased from the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., the recognized leaders in that branch of business, and every bit of wood used in their construction is brought from Chicago, the only centre where continuous alleys of the regulation kind are manufactured. With the exception of two experts brought respectively from Toronto and Chicago, local labor has been employed in the installation of the plant.

A number of Toronto teams have expressed a desire to come down for the opening, but the prospects are that only one or two will be invited. Others will be brought down later in the season to try their skill against local talent. The object in limiting the number of visiting bowlers on opening night is to reserve a couple of the alleys for local players, many of whom have already asked that alleys be reserved for them on that occasion. Two of the alleys will be disposed of in that way, the other four being reserved for the Toronto players who will be matched against a local team, and for the Review and Examiner game.

J. B. Hay, the proprietor of the alleys, has been asked to take steps to organise a league, and a meeting will probably be called for Friday night of this week to take steps in that direction. A splendid trophy will be offered for team competition, and another for the man making the highest single score in one game during the season.

A number of prominent local gentlemen will be asked to open the new alleys, and the place will be thrown open to the public, the gallery being reserved for ladies and their escorts.

COMMITTEE TO MEET.

A meeting of the committee appointed to look after the proposed western trip of the Quaker Football team, will be held at the Y.M.C.A. tonight at 8.30 o'clock. All the members are urged to be present.

HOCKEY

BELLEVILLE COMMENT.

Hockey in Peterborough this winter has been very much on the slink, and instead of a good profit there is a deficit of $1000. This simply comes that the people who cough up the chance to see the games want to see hockey properly played, whether by amateurs or pros. makes no difference. A winning hockey team is a good ad. for any town, and people, as a rule do not care whether the players get paid openly or on the side, a la OHA. A scheme, it is said, is on foot to form a pro. league in this district next winter, with Peterborough, Port Hope, Belleville, and Picton in. It should prove a success if proper methods are used. Belleville has very little sport in summer time, the best is none too good for us in winter, especially as the people are quite willing to pay for it.—Belleville Intelligencer.

Creesman's would like to know why the combined team of R. Hall & Son and Turnbull's wont play their game with them tonight.

Mrs. Gibbs, over 70 years old, was taken from a burning cabin at Vancouver in a dying condition.

Cobourg Rink Captured the Four Gold Lockets

Special to the Review.

Belleville, March 11.—The curling bonspiel which came to an end in this city early this morning resulted in Skip Allen, of Cobourg, capturing the first prize of four gold lockets in the club competition. E. Lyons, of Kingston, was second, winning four pairs of cuff links. Campbellford and Colborne won the consolation prizes, Skip Smith, of the former, getting the first prize of four silk umbrellas, and Skip Webb, of Colborne, securing the second prize of four fountain pens. The bonspiel was a grand success.

How Hockey Matches Are Reported in English Newspapers

The Review has received an English newspaper clipping from Mr. W. A. Bailey, accompanied by the following comment;—

"Please note the polite way in which this match is reported, without the vulgarity so common. Of course no game is worth reporting unless played by gentlemen."

The clipping is as follows;—

PRINCE'S VS. OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

On Wednesday, at Prince's Skating Club, the home team inflicted a severe defeat on their visitors from Oxford by ten goals to two. Neither side was fully represented, the Oxford University Canadians having three of their best men absent and the home side two. Play up to half time was fairly level, the score then being four goals to two in favor of Prince's. For the winners, Mr. Howell has seldom, if ever, played better. He shot eight out of the ten goals scored by his side, Mr. Duden and Mr. Macklin getting one each. The last-named player combined excellently with Mr. Howell. Mr. Gillis made some very pretty dribbles for the visitors, and shot a very fine goal, Mr. Reade obtaining their other point. The Canadians seemed unable to adapt themselves to passing forward, as is done at Prince's but not in Canada. The sides were;—

Prince's—Mr. C. M. G. Howell, Mr. A. N. Macklin, Mr. N. Haig, Mr. H. Duden, Mr. F. Dilke, and Mr. B. M. Patton (captain.)

Oxford University Canadians.—Mr. F. M. Papineau, Mr. Gillis, Mr. Penny, Mr. Estey, another, and Mr. J. C. Reade (captain.)

The New Basket Ball League

The Teams Have Been Selected —Other Notes of the "Gym"

The following teams will constitute the new Basket Ball League at the Y.M.C.A.;—

No. 1.—Captain Chris. Graham, Wasson, Glover, Oles, Barber, Wood, Clark.

No. 2.—Captain L. Dobson, Baker, Methefal, Weatherstone, Wallace.

No. 3.—Captain M. Dobbin, Pringle, Maguire, S. Laing, C. W. Lees.

No. 4.—Captain Ed. Daly, Creesman, Darling, Sisson, Forson, Rankin.

No. 5.—Captain F. Turner, Dinsdale, Loomis, Austin, Fife, Ingham.

No. 6.—Captain G. Martin, McCarroll, Southerland, Wade, White, Moore.

No. 7.—Captain Galley, R. Best, Richardson, Scott, G. A. Grey, R. Robertson.

No. 8.—Captain F. Hall, E. Best, W. Campbell, C. Frowde, Stubler, Armstrong.

Games will be played off as scheduled below;

Teams 1 and 4—Friday, March 13th.
Teams 2 and 3—Friday, March 20th.
Winners—March 27th.
Teams 5 and 8—Tuesday, March 17th.
Teams 6 and 7—Tuesday, March 24th.
Winners, March 31st.
Final game to be arranged for later.

The fencing class under Sergt.-Major Bristain will commence on Saturday afternoon next at 4.30 sharp. All men desiring to take up fencing should make arrangements at once.

A class in tumbling has been arranged for with Mr. Ed. Daly, formerly with Norris and Rowes Big shows as leader.

The senior class last evening turned out 28 strong, and is rapidly growing. Graded apparatus work is being taught by the physical director.

It has been found necessary to start what is known as a leaders' corps. This class will meet on Saturday evenings at eight o'clock with the physical director in charge.

Mrs John Howe, of St. Catharines, is dead, aged 80.

Parliamentary Happenings; Would Stop the Bonus

Mr. Monk Will Move Abolition of Immigration Bounty.

E. N. Lewis Appeals For Export Duty on Pulpwood—Help Create Great Industry—Make Our Own Paper in Canada — Pringle Would Investigate Big Bank—R. L. Drury Goes to Japan.

Ottawa, March 12.—R. L. Borden yesterday directed attention of the Prime Minister to a despatch to the effect that R. L. Drury of Victoria, B.C., had been appointed representative of the Canadian Government in Japan, and asked whether he would discharge his duties under the British Ambassador. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that for the last part of the question he would bring down an order-in-council.

Mr. Monk gave notice that on going into supply he would move for the abolition of the bonus or bounty system in the matter of immigration.

Mr. Lemieux informed Mr. Verville that ten postoffices had been built since 1904 and 31 were now building.

Mr. Fielding, replying to Mr. Armstrong, said the importation into Great Britain of hay and straw from many countries had been prohibited, but Canada was not included in the embargo.

James Waugh, immigration agent at Chatham had not refunded $556 to the Interior Department, as demanded, Mr. Oliver told Mr. Clements, but if necessary action would be taken.

Rising to a question of privilege, Mr Pringle (Stormont) complained of some comments in The Financial Post of Toronto on his recent speech on the banking system, in which it was stated that the value of Mr. Pringle's speech was destroyed by his malicious attack on one of the great banks of the country.

The Post said: "In his conclusion Mr. Pringle said: 'It will be stated that Mr. Pringle has attacked the banks; Pringle has not attacked the banks.' On this point we must take issue with Mr. Pringle and state the fact that he has been most successful in his attacks on two banks now in process of liquidation.

"His attack on the Sovereign Bank was also successful. If Mr. Pringle had confined himself to theoretical attacks on the floor of the House the same exception could not have been taken to his remarks."

Mr. Pringle repudiated the charge that he had attacked one of the banks, he had merely quoted an extract from the report of the royal commission on insurance to show that the Bank of Commerce was one of the biggest gambling institutions of the country. What he said he did not propose to withdraw. As to the statement of The Post regarding his transactions with the Ontario Bank, he proposed to settle that with the publishers in a civil action. The statement was untrue and libelous.

Mr. Pringle also referred to The Monetary Times, which had spoken of his speech as "vitriolic." Such attacks would not swerve him from what he considered to be his duty. He proposed on a future occasion to bring the matter up in another way by moving for an investigation of the Bank of Commerce, based on the findings of the royal insurance commission, and he expected that the Government would grant an enquiry.

E. N. Lewis (West Huron) provoked a debate on the pulp wood question by moving "That in the opinion of this House such duty should be placed on the export of pulp wood as will be sufficient to induce its manufacture into paper in Canada, and thus save to the labor of Canada $6,000,000 now lost."

Mr. Lewis began by quoting an expression by President Roosevelt that "No other question of equal gravity is now before the nation." There was no desire in Canada that the people of the United States should be without their daily paper, but the product of our forests should be manufactured in Canada.

He believed no Government in Canada would permit our pulp forests to become a dreary waste. We were handicapped by lack of concerted action or lack of funds. For years we had grumbled because Britain had made bad business arrangements for us with the United States. Now we had an opportunity to make our own bargain or laws in a vital issue affecting our national prosperity. The International Paper Co., controlling over 30 mills, in a little over a year acquired 1,256,000 acres of timber limits, mostly in Canada. If the export of pulp wood from Canada were cut off the paper manufacturing of the United States would collapse. Millions upon millions of spruce logs, hundreds of thousands of cords of pulp wood were exported yearly from Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to feed pulp and paper mills of the States, and what did Canada get for this? The Government got $1 a cord; the man who handles the wood not much more; the railways a low rate. They did not even allow us to carry pulp wood in Canadian vessels. Mr. Lewis pointed out that every cord of wood ground to pulp had a value of $20; made into fibre $30 to $32; made into paper $40 to $45.

He asked the Government to take such action as will save to labor men of Canada $6,000,000 lost annually, or perhaps $20,000,000 would be nearer the mark. The United States shut out our finished products, paper, but took our crude product, pulp wood, made it into paper and undersold us in Europe with their surplus dump.

The farmer would be helped by an export duty on pulp wood. In two years enough mills would be removed to or built in Canada to supply the world. The pulp and paper industry gave more healthy and steady day and night employment to a larger number of men and women at higher wages all the year round than any other industry in Canada.

What happened when the Liberal Government of Ontario restricted the export of saw logs? Sawmills started humming in all directions and factories followed.

Mr. Lewis asked the Government to appoint a committee of investigation which would report at another session.

Dr. Beland (Beauce), in opposing the motion, said it was based on the assumption that the timber resources of the United States had been practically depleted. He quoted an authority that the forest wealth of the United States amounted to 21 billion feet, which meant that the supply was practically inexhaustible. That country had a forest reserve of 1,094,000 square miles, about 37 per cent. of the total area of the country. It must also be remembered that only 11 states were importing pulp wood.

He believed such a proposal as that of Mr. Lewis would be an infringement on provincial rights. Moreover, the provinces had the remedy in their own hands by imposing the restriction that timber cut under license must be manufactured in the provinces. To impose an export duty might be considered by the United States as an unfriendly act.

Messrs. Morin (Dorchester) and Hunt (Compton) opposed an export duty, as it would injure the interests of the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Bastedo's Appointment.

The order-in-council appointing Mr. S. T. Bastedo agent on behalf of the Dominion Government to discuss fishery regulations with provincial authorities was tabled yesterday.

The document sets forth the unsatisfactory condition in which the question was placed by the decision of the Imperial Privy Council, and attempts that have been made to come to an arrangement, adding: "Nearly ten years have elapsed since the Privy Council decision without any settlement in sight and in some of the provinces the situation is becoming somewhat acute, requiring early action."

TREASURER DEFAULTED.

Stole $50,000 and Company Was Forced to the Wall.

Indian Head, Sask., March 12.—Some time ago the H. H. Campkin Co., Ltd., who were doing a very large loan, insurance and real estate business, with branches in Saskatoon and several other towns, were forced into liquidation and made an assignment to the Northern Trust Co. of Winnipeg.

It had been regarded as one of the most solvent and progressive companies in eastern Saskatchewan, operating in a large and lucrative field, assuring large profits. Mr. Campkin was regarded as a shrewd and capable business man, and voluntary liquidation caused some surprise.

Now, however, it is explained that failure was due entirely to misappropriations of C. Manford, secretary-treasurer, who has disappeared. The sum total of his defalcations is believed to be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Mr. Campkin has manfully shouldered all financial loss, guaranteeing that none of the creditors shall lose by the unfortunate affair.

To complete the sewer system in Hamilton Annex, $30,000 will be needed in addition to the $120,000 already voted.

FALLIERES TO VISIT LONDON.

Excitement Over German Emperor's Letter Has Subsided.

London, March 12.—The announcement that one result of King Edward's visit to France has been a tentative arrangement for an official visit of President Fallieres to London next May, the details of which will be settled when the King passes through Paris on his return, gives the greatest satisfaction here.

It is understood that President Fallieres' visit will be one of state, corresponding in the main outlines with President Loubet's visit to King Edward in 1903.

The King thus continues his well-known efforts to assist diplomacy in preserving a good understanding with neighboring powers. His letter to the Emperor of Germany, combined with Mr. Asquith's statement in the House of Commons yesterday that it was the Government's intention to maintain Great Britain's unassailable supremacy at sea, is calculated to give a quietus to the commotion raised by the Emperor's letter to Lord Tweedmouth.

The acting Premier's announcement was given in a manner to please all parties and to inspire confidence that there would be no relaxation in the efforts to maintain the navy up to the strength the public desires. At the conclusion of the statement Mr. Asquith said:

"I hope that is quite explicit. It is the policy of His Majesty's Government. It remains on record and it ought to reassure the House that we do not intend in this matter to be left behind."

The Times in an editorial yesterday said: "After so clear and explicit a declaration of policy as this we will be satisfied, and it will be received with satisfaction by the country at large."

SHOOTS HER BEST FRIEND.

Tragedy In a Fashionable Girls' Seminary Near Boston.

Boston, March 2.—Suffering from melancholia, due to overwork, Miss Sarah Chamberlin Weed shot and killed Miss Elizabeth Bailey Hardee and then committed suicide at the Laurens' School, a fashionable girls' seminary in the Fenway District yesterday. The bodies of the two women were found in bed yesterday by Mrs. Page, the matron of the school.

Each was about 35 years of age, and they had been intimate friends since their graduation from Wellesley College.

Last summer the two women decided to open a boarding school for girls in Audubon road, in the Fenway. On Oct. 1, the day upon which the Laurens' School, as they called it, was opened, Miss Weed broke down as a result of overwork, and was taken to a sanitarium in West Newton, where she had since been under treatment for nervous prostration. While there Miss Weed had been subject to severe attacks of melancholia. Tuesday night she escaped from the institution and went to the Laurens' School. Miss Hardee volunteered to care for her during the night.

Both women were awakened by Mrs. Page about 8 a.m. and notified that they must get up if they were to catch the 7.35 train, on which Miss Weed was to be taken back to West Newton.

Mrs. Page then left them, and a few moments later the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Page thinks the mention of returning to the sanitarium must have excited Miss Weed and induced the shooting. The revolver was of 32 calibre.

Hindu Immigration.

Ottawa, March 12.—In the Senate yesterday Senator MacDonald of Victoria offered a resolution declaring that the immigration of Hindus should be limited as much as possible and the Canadian Government should invoke the aid and counsel of the Imperial Government to limit the influx of so undesirable a class.

Senator MacDonald realized that the question was an awkward one. Hindus were British subjects, and to restrict their movements throughout the British Empire was a delicate matter.

The Canadian Government has called the British Government's attention to the matter, and has sent MacKenzie King to explain the situation to the British authorities. Hon. Mr. Scott said he could not say what action the British Government would take, but he hope it would be favorable.

No Hope For Miners.

Birmingham, Eng., March 12.—The long period of anxiety and suspense over the fate of the 26 entombed miners at Hampstead Colliery came to a heart-breaking end last night for the crowds waiting at the mouth of the pit, when it was announced that there was no possibility of any being taken out alive.

Fire broke out in the colliery last Wednesday evening. Since then every man available has been engaged day and night in building a new culvert, with the object of reversing the ventilation and clearing the shafts of foul fumes.

Fatalities at Auto Race.

Cairo, March 12.—The Khedive of Egypt, accompanied by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, were present at Heliopolis Tuesday at the first automobile races held in Egypt. One of the cars ran over a fallen cushion and dashed out of its course. A policeman and two spectators were killed and 14 spectators injured.

TERRIBLE WRECK STORY

Survivors Spent Two Months at Sea in Open Boat.

Suffered Many Hardships — Tillie E. Starbuck Was Abandoned Last August—Over a Thousand Miles Off Pacific Coast of South America—Were Half-Famished When Rescued by a Passing Vessel.

New York, March 12.—A tale of the sea rivalling in horror and hardship any tragedy of the deep was brought here yesterday by Wm. Kuhlmann, a seaman, who was a passenger on the steamer Voltaire from South American ports. Kuhlmann is one of six survivors of the crew of the American ship Tillie E. Starbuck, which was abandoned last August more than a thousand miles off the Pacific coast of South America. He and his companions were rescued by a British ship after drifting about for eight weeks in an open boat. Two of the six men in the little craft died after succor had come to them, and Kuhlmann spent many weeks in a hospital at Valparaiso recovering from the effects of his terrible experience. No word has ever been received from the other boat which put off from the abandoned Starbuck, and it is believed that its occupants are dead.

The Tillie E. Starbuck sailed from New York last April, bound for Honolulu. Down the Atlantic coast all the way to the Horn she had only pleasant winds, and even in the turbulent stretch of ocean south of the Cape she encountered no serious trouble. It was when she was well on her way across the Pacific that the Starbuck ran into the storm which ended her career. The gale broke during the latter part of July, and on the last day of that month the vessel's masts were twisted out by the gale and she was left to wallow, water-logged and helpless, in the tumbling seas. For sixteen days the men stuck to the doomed craft, but finally they were left no choice but to take to the little boats and trust to being picked up by some passing vessel.

A full thousand miles separated them from the nearest shore, that of South America. As the last man left the doomed hulk of the Starbuck the torch was applied to her, that she might not continue to float aimlessly about, a menace to other ships. For a time after the start the occupants of the two boats kept each other in sight, but eventually they became separated. Day and night, week after week, the occupants of Kuhlmann's boat maintained a constant watch for the sailor wreath of smoke which might mean life to them. At last, after eight weeks of indescribable suffering, the Cambuskeneth hove in sight.

The signal of distress which had been set at the first warning was answered, and a few minutes later the half-famished shipwrecked waifs were safe on board the big vessel. There they were cared for as tenderly and as carefully as the facilities at hand would permit, but so serious was the condition of all that it was necessary to transfer them to the hospital as soon as the ship reached Valparaiso. Two of the sufferers were there found to be beyond human help, however.

LORDS HAVE RESPITE.

British Cabinet Not Yet Ready to Attack the Upper House.

London, March 12.—Undismayed by threats of penalties to follow the second rejection of the Government's Scottish small holdings bill, the House of Lords last evening, after a debate which lasted for two days, refused to give the measure a second reading, by a vote of 153 to 33.

The Scottish clans have not risen in support of the bill since it was rejected by the House of Lords at the last session.

During the recess the Ministerial spokesman threatened freely that if the Upper House again threw out the measure the Government would promptly introduce the necessary legislation to restrict the powers of the hereditary chamber. Since these threats were made, however, there have been a number of bye-elections disastrous to the Government and considerable differences of opinion have developed among the rank and file.

As a result of these circumstances the silence of the Ministers yesterday on this subject leads to the belief that the Cabinet is not yet prepared to inaugurate its threatened active campaign against the House of Lords.

Orchard Pleads Guilty.

Caldwell, Idaho, March 12.—Harry Orchard, before Judge Fremont Wood, in the District Court, was allowed to withdraw his former plea of not guilty to slaying former Governor Steunenburg, entered at his first arraignment by order of the court, when he stood mute, and entered another plea of guilty to the charge of murdering in the first degree, as charged in the indictment.

Judge Wood will sentence Orchard on March 18.

The stand he took was a surprise to most persons, and his attorney says it was entirely voluntary on his part and against the advice of many who had seen and talked with him.

Angelo's Letters.

Florence, March 12.—Sixty-eight letters written by Michael Angelo to this historian and poet, Giorgio Vasari, have been found in the archives of Count Rasponi-Spinelle. The existence of these letters had been unknown.

Mormons Must Get Out.

Munich, March 12.—The Bavarian Government has ordered the immediate expulsion of a number of American Mormon missionaries, whose presence here is regarded as being dangerous to public order.

No gold has been brought out of the Findlater River district, B. C., despite the finds reported.

Ontario Legislators Get After the Automobile Men

Special Committee of Legislature to Deal With the Question.

Members Condemn the City Tourists Who Destroy Roads and Scare Horses — Farmers Are Indignant and Demand Protection—Debate on Mr. Downey's Bill to Fight Tuberculosis—Appeal For Workers.

Toronto, March 12—The vexed question of the automobile had another airing in the Legislature yesterday, the applause which greeted every strong statement showing the sentiment of the rural members on both sides of the House against the machines being any longer allowed the untrammelled use of the country roads.

The Prime Minister renewed his promise of a special committee to consider the whole question, and Mr. Devitt's bill, which was under discussion, was referred to this tribunal.

Towards the end of the sitting the House went into committee on supply and put through a number of items in the administration of justice branch.

Mr. McElroy (Carlton) secured the first reading of his bill to have the sheriff's office at Ottawa close every Saturday afternoon at one o'clock.

Mr. C. O. Hodgins (North Middlesex) introduced an act respecting the city of London, legalizing bylaws, authorizing the issue of debentures for local improvements, such as procuring lands and buildings for sanitarium, cost of a plant for distributing electric power after receiving the consent of the electors, building and equipping additional fire halls, etc.

Mr. J. J. Preston (Durham) is the father of the first completed piece of legislation this session. His bill respecting the united counties of Northumberland and Durham was the first to secure a third reading and finally pass.

Other third readings were:

Mr. Fraser—Respecting the City at Niagara Falls and the Suspension Bridge Co.;

Mr. Cargallen—To confirm bylaws at Napanee.

Mr. Fraser—To confirm bylaws of Crowland.

Mr. Downey—Respecting Wellington County and Mt. Forest.

Mr. Preston (Durham)—Respecting renewal of debentures for Port Hope and the harbor.

Mr. Torrance—Respecting the town of Listowel.

Mr. Preston (Lanark)—Respecting the town of Perth.

Mr. Hoyle—Respecting the division of the surplus income of St. James' rectory.

Mr. Macdiarmid—To amend the act incorporating Alma College, St. Thomas.

Mr. Godfrey—Respecting the township of York.

Mr. Duff—Respecting the town of Collingwood and the Ship Building Co.

Mr. Jamieson—Respecting the village of Markdale.

Mr. Studholme (East Hamilton) resumed the debate on Mr. J. P. Downey's bill respecting county boards of health and to prevent the spread of pulmonary tuberculosis. The Labor man made an impassioned appeal for the workers in the workshops who suffered danger through unsanitary conditions.

Hon. Mr. Hanna paid a tribute to Mr. Downey for his able and untiring efforts to securing means to battle with the dread disease, and he felt that the province was indebted to him. At his suggestion the Provincial Board of Health had investigated the matter and were preparing to take action. Mr. Hanna approved of Mr. Downey's demand for prompt compulsory notification of the authorities, such notification to be confidential. The Minister, in view of the board's action, did not favor Dr. Godfrey's proposal of a commission of enquiry. As a result of the conference between the Minister and Mr. Downey the bill will stand pending the plans of the Department along similar lines.

In moving his bill to confine automobiles on country roads to certain days of the week Mr. Devitt declared that in his constituency alone two lives were lost last year from the reckless driving of motors.

Col. Atkinson thought the legislation asked for was absurd. He did not think there was much real grievance.

Mr. Ferguson (Cardwell) challenged that statement. In his county they had spent $200,000 on the roads and were planning to spend $37,000 more. "Is it fair that they shall be torn up by these great heavy reckless cars?" he asked. Mr. Ferguson said he had seen with his own eyes horses run away and people thrown out and maimed.

"If the unsufferable arrogance of these motor fiends continues," declared Mr. Sutherland (Oxford) warmly, "they will soon be swept off the country roads altogether by the indignant public sentiment of the rural people."

"The general public have some rights in this country," was the way Mr. Sam Clarke (Northumberland) put it, in another hot speech. "Their lives are not safe from the auto," he declared.

Hon. Mr. Whitney was greeted with applause when he declared that, while the auto had come to stay, it was not entitled to equal rights on the roads with foot passengers and horse vehicles. The bill was then referred to the special committee to be appointed to consider the whole matter.

Holdsworth Pleaded Not Guilty.

Woodstock, March 12—Alfred Holdsworth of Oriel, who shot his son William some weeks ago and then turned the gun on himself, inflicting serious injuries, and who has since been confined at the General Hospital, appeared before Magistrate Ball yesterday.

He pleaded not guilty to the charges and the case was adjourned for two weeks. He was allowed out on $2,000 bail.

DUEL IN LOUISIANA.

Political Quarrel Ends In Death of a Senator-Elect.

Amite, La., March 12.—The strained political situation in Louisiana Democratic circles was on Monday night responsible for the killing of Democratic State Senator-Elect D. S. Kemp of this city. He was shot and killed by C. F. Hyde, a young political and business leader of this section, who has not been arrested.

The men quarreled about the recent Democratic primary for lieutenant-governor, and Hyde is alleged to have called Kemp a liar. Tuesday night Kemp, with a drawn revolver, walked into Hyde's place of business, accompanied by a friend, and demanded an apology, which was refused. Kemp then slapped Hyde's face and the two men thereupon agreed to fight it out.

Hyde secured a revolver. When he came out he shouted to Kemp to wait for him. The two approached each other and Hyde opened fire. Kemp did not shoot.

Death of James Cleland, ex-M.P.P.

Meaford, March 12.—The death occurred here yesterday of James Cleland, ex-M.P.P., at the age of 69 years. The immediate cause of Mr. Cleland's death was pneumonia, from which he had suffered for about ten days.

Mr. Cleland was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada when a young man, settling at Meaford. He was engaged in the mercantile and manufacturing business here up to the time of his death, and was recognized as a very successful business man.

He took an active part in public affairs, was mayor of Meaford for two years, and also held the offices of reeve, councillor and school trustee. Deceased was a Liberal in politics, and was the chosen representative for North Grey in the local Legislature from 1890 to 1898. He is survived by a widow and five sons.

Farmer's Tragic Death.

Smith's Falls, March 12.—Peter Fox, a farmer living in Burgess Township, was found dead on the road about three miles from Smith's Falls Tuesday night. He had bought a load of oats here during the day and about 10 o'clock at night left for his home, 14 miles from here. He had fallen from the load and went under the sleigh.

He was caught by the runner just at the neck and was dragged some distance. When found he was under the sleigh and the horses were standing still. He was 38 years old and unmarried. It is said an inquest will be held.

Saved Life, Lost $350.

Welland, March 12.—John W. Follick, a Wainfleet farmer, lost $350 in the bottom of the Welland River yesterday. He was driving over the ice to town with a load of hay, when the ice gave way and he had a hard scramble to get out himself.

License Law Breakers.

St. Catharines, March 12.—License Inspector King threw down the gauntlet to license law breakers in the Police Court yesterday, his announcement that he would in every case proceed against men caught drinking in hotel bars during prohibited hours, indicating that he intends to put on extra steam to enforce the law. Norris Stephens, proprietor of the St. Catharines House here, pleaded guilty to selling liquor after hours last Saturday night, and it being his second offence, he was fined a hundred dollars.

When he rounded up the hotel Saturday night Inspector King took the names of all the men in the barroom, and yesterday informations for frequenting were laid against them. There were nearly a dozen, and their cases were adjourned until Friday.

Probing Freedman Mystery.

Victoria, March 12.—Detectives are working on the pantry murder mystery, which resulted in the death of Charles Freedman on Monday night, on the presumption that the motive was revenge, arising from some grudge originating in the days of the Klondike rush, and Dawson City has been communicated with for particulars of Freedman's past.

The city is overrun with thugs and twelve hold-up incidents have been reported during the past ten days. No arrests have been made.

Fall From Ladder Fatal.

Ottawa, March 12.—On Monday a man named Paquette was repairing the lights at Rideau Rink, for which purpose he had mounted a ladder, a young man was seeing how near he could skate around the bottom of it, which stood on the ice. He succeeded in going near enough to shake it and the man came down. He died yesterday.

His Inspiration.

Among the many traditions concerning William Lee and the stocking frame is one that he was expelled from the university for marrying and that, being very poor, his wife was obliged to contribute toward the housekeeping by knitting. It was while watching the motion of her fingers that he conceived how to imitate those movements by a machine.

A Theatrical Experiment.

An interesting experiment has been initiated at Bournemouth. A grand hall has been built on to the Theater Royal, in which people can wait before the theater doors open for the performance and to which the audience are requested to retire between the acts to permit of the theater being thoroughly ventilated. Tea will be served in this hall, and the orchestra will play there during the intervals.—London Globe.

Tea Maniacs.

"Nipping," the curse of the "business man," has gone out or is going out in London. Tea is one of the substitutes for it. It produces a race of tea maniacs; but, after all, that is a milder form of disease than the alcohol habit of a generation ago.—London Eastern Press.

HER MESSAGE.

It Would Take a Load Off John's Mind When He Got It.

After a bitter family quarrel the husband had declared that he wouldn't speak to his better half again in five years. As usual, she went him a few better and retorted that it would be a good ten years before he would hear her gentle voice again. A few days later the wife called up her brother on the telephone, and the following conversation took place:

"Hello!, Is this you, John?"

"Yes. What is it, Sis?"

"You know, John, that Dick and I have quarreled?"

"What! Again?"

"Yes, and it's all his fault."

"Oh, certainly! What's the trouble this time?"

"Why, he got angry just because he received a bill for a fifty dollar hat I ordered."

"I don't bl— That is, the wretch!"

"Isn't he? We are not going to speak to each other again for years and years."

"Bosh! Slap him on the back and call him old sport and make it up. You folks can't go along that way."

"We managed all right until the hired girl left last night, but now there is no one to deliver our messages to each other."

"Gee, it must be tough to have to call in one of the neighbors to ask your husband for car fare to go shopping."

"Oh, it's not as bad as that. He sees that I have plenty of money without asking for it. Now, John, I want you to give Dick a message from me."

"Sure! I'll come up tonight and spank both of you for acting so childish."

"No, the message can't wait that long. I want you to phone him immediately after I leave the instrument I'll hurry upstairs so he will have to answer it."

"All right, Sis. Where is he now?"

"He's trying to cook himself an egg You know the girl left."

"Poor dev—I mean the fool! Well what shall I tell him?"

"Tell him, John, that there is a can of sardines in the pantry and that I will make the coffee just as soon as he gets out of the kitchen."—A. B. Lewis in Judge.

It Was a Stage Brand.

Gertrude, aged four, had been to the matinee. Later she tried to describe the play to a grownup friend.

"They drank wine," said Gertrude, "and then they all went out."

"Well," said the friend expectantly, "and what happened next?"

Gertrude worked her small brain hard.

"I guess," she said, "they spit it out."—New York Press.

A Cordial Cook.

"How do you like that new cook of yours?" asks the neighbor. "Is she nice?"

"Nice?" enthusiastically echoes the other. "Nice? Why, she treats me as though she considered me her equal."

With a sigh of envy the neighbor changes the subject.—Lippincott's.

His Difficulty.

"You wrong me," said Plodding Pete, "when you say I ain't willin' to work. I'm jes' dyin' to work."

"Then what's the trouble?"

"I'm too conscientious. Whenever I git a job I'm so anxious to fill it well dat I gits stage fright."—Washington Star.

The Black Death.

It has been calculated that the terrible plague known as the "black death," which began to ravage Europe about the year 1340, killed at least 25,000,000 of people in Europe and as many more in Asia and Africa. By some the bubonic plague is thought to be similar in nature to the "black death."

The Demonstratin' Car.

This story may not be true. The downtown motor car dealer on whom it is laid denies it, but a certain poignancy still remains.

The dealer got out of his car at Eighth and Main streets Friday morning to buy a toy motor car from a hawker who has a stand under the viaduct.

"I'll take that car," said the dealer, pointing at a toy which was spinning around on the table.

The hawker reached in his sack and drew out another.

"That one ain't for sale," he said, grinning. "It's my demonstratin' car."

It is related that after that the hawker and the motor car dealer cordially shook hands, but no sale was made.—New Orleans Picayune.

Conservative Club Saturday Night

The programme for Saturday evening promises to be particularly interesting. Mr. John Burns, a descendant of the immortal bard of that name, will, dressed in full Highland costume, sing the songs of the heather. It is to be hoped that this well-known entertainer may be induced to give the sword-dance and some illustrations of Scottish reels. At any rate Saturday evening promises to be a most enjoyable one. The general public is cordially invited as usual.

THE QUEEN OF LIGHT

The most important light opera event of years in Toronto will be the appearance at the Princess Theatre for one week with Saturday matinee only, of Fritzi Scheff, has become known in the light opera triumph "Mdlle. Modiste." Fritzi Scheff has become known as the Queen of light opera of the English speaking stage, and has made a tremendous success in "Mdlle. Modiste" which was written for her by Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert." She has played three long runs of the opera in New York and returns there for a fourth engagement after her Toronto engagement. Her only former appearance in Toronto was when she sang before their Royal Highnesses the present Prince and Princess of Wales, a few years ago. At that time she made a great impression on music lovers in Toronto, and her re-appearance has been looked for eagerly.

Charles Dillingham, her manager, is sending with Madame Scheff precisely the same big organization that supported her in New York at the Knickerbocker Theatre. The cast will include William Pruette, Claude Gillingwater, Robert Michelis, Leo Mars, Howard Chambers, Josephine Bartlett, Blanche Morrison, Bertha Holly, the sisters Constantine and many others. The choral organization is especially noted for its singing ability. The orchestra will be largely augmented, the musicians carried by the Fritzi Scheff Opera Co. being added to an enlarged orchestra at the Princess Theatre.

The opera is called by critics the highest form of light musical entertainment to be seen today on the English-speaking stage, Blossom's book being sane and witty, while Herbert's music is of an entrancing quality. Fritzi Scheff, herself is so well known as the Grand Opera singer with the Metropolitan Grand Opera House forces, that little comment is necessary for her. She is the most vivacious little creature imaginable, and is possessed of a wonderful amount of personal magnetism.

The prices during Madame Scheff's engagement will range from 50c to $2.00. The sale of seats opens Thursday, March 12th. Mail orders when accompanied by cheques or money orders will be filled from out of town points as soon as received.

A rate of one fare and one-third from points outside Toronto will be granted for the round trip by the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk railways during Madame Scheff's engagement at the Princess Theatre.

Only one Mail is Received During Winter at Ungava

Mr. H. M. S. Cotter, Factor of the Hudson Bay Co. at That Place, Tells of the Bleak Country of the North—Lumbering Operations Being Carried on at North-west River—Mr. Cotter Here on a Visit.

An interesting visitor to the city is Mr. H. M. C. Cotter, factor for the Hudson Bay Company's Post at Ungava. Mr. Cotter has been in Labrador for the past sixteen years, and is consequently well acquainted with that cold expanse of country.

In 1905 he met Dr. Marsh there, the latter being one of an expedition of which Dr. King of Ottawa, had charge. He met Dr. Marsh at Hamilton Inlet.

Mr. Cotter said there was quite a settlement at Ungava, but very few there are white persons, the inhabitants mostly being Indians and Esquimault. For three-quarters of the year the country is frozen up; the thermometer getting as low as 65 degrees below zero in the winter time. The highest it ever reaches in summer is 70 degrees above, and the hills and valleys are never free from snow. The winter sets in in September, and there is no warm weather whatever until July and August. Some years the ice doesn't clear away at all.

The only communication with the outer world is made by means of a steamer, and only one mail reaches Ungava in winter, although there are five or six mails in summer.

On account of the intense cold the country has been somewhat slow in getting opened up but the lumbering industry around Northwest River is now being carried on extensively and mostly by Nova Scotia firms. There are many things of great interest which Mr. Cotter could tell in connection with the work of the Hudson Bay Company, but the company has issued instructions to those connected with it, that nothing concerning its workings are to be devulged to those outside and particularly for publication.

Mr. Cotter is intimately acquainted with Dr. George Boucher, son of Dr. Boucher of this city. Dr. George Boucher is the Hudson Bay Company's physician at Ungava. Mr. Cotter came here the day before yesterday from Toronto, where he has been the guest of his brother, Mr. W. Cotter of the Merchants Bank. During his stay here which will be only a couple of days or so longer, he will pay a visit to his friend Dr. Marsh of Springville.

Peterborough Deputation Waited on Government

Careful Consideration Promised the Three Requests Made—City Council's Representatives Support the County in Asking Aid Towards Bridge for Chemong Indians.

Careful consideration of the three requests made by a deputation from Peterborough county was promised by the Ontario Government at Toronto yesterday. The deputation asked that the Model school be retained at Norwood, that financial assistance be given towards the construction of a bridge between the Chemong Indian village and the Enniamore shore, and that the Government contribute towards the construction of a new bridge on a colonization road between Burleigh and Buckhorn. The deputation from the county was accompanied by Ald. Phelan, Elliott and Buller, representing the City Council, who supported the county in the request of assistance towards the building of the bridge at Chemong.

The county deputation was composed of Warden Thompson and County Councillors Russell, Hales, Oakman, Brown, Scott, Killen and Coben, City Solicitor Peck, County School Inspector Richard Lees and Mr. G. W. Bennett, colonization road inspector.

Owing to the Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. Pyne, being called away from the city hurriedly, the deputation in connection with the Norwood Model School, was received by the Deputy Minister, Dr. Colquhoun, at the Parliament Buildings at eleven o'clock. The deputation was introduced by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P. for West Peterborough, and the case regarding the model school was presented very fully and clearly by Warden Thompson and Councillors Hales, Russell, Brown and Coben. Mr. Lees also spoke and urged on the Government the desirability of maintaining the Norwood Model school.

Mr. Colquhoun said the matter brought before him by the deputation would receive careful consideration, and spoke in such a manner that the deputation returned hopeful that their request would be granted.

The deputation waited upon the Minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. Rheaume, in the afternoon, and presented the case of the bridge for the Chemong Indians and the bridge in the colonization road in Harvey township. Warden Thompson and the other county councillors, and Ald. Phelan, Elliott and Buller, were the speakers, the city's representatives urging Government support in connection with the Chemong bridge.

Hon. Dr. Rheaume replying to the deputation, said that both matters would be given careful consideration. He thought the bridge for the Indians was more of a Dominion Government matter, but if plans were brought to him and definite information as to what the Federal Government was prepared to do, it was possible that the Ontario Government would do something.

The deputation returned home last night.

Came to Her Death by Suicide Whilst Temporarily Deranged

Verdict in the Inquest Into Death of Louisa Howell—Evidence of Doctors and of Druggist Who Sold Her Carbolic Acid—Testimony of Wm. Austin.

The inquest into the death of Louisa Howell took place yesterday afternoon in the City Council Chambers. A postmortem examination was held yesterday morning.

The inquest was conducted before Coroner Dr. Gray.

The first witness yesterday afternoon was Dr. McClelland. He had seen the deceased shortly before six p.m. on the night of her death, Tuesday, the 10th. He had been called to attend her. She had evidently taken a narcotic poison. After a search he found in her room an empty eight oz. bottle labelled carbolic acid. There was an appearance about the mouth of deceased as if she had evidently taken carbolic acid. He saw a large cup on the washstand near the bed, which was half full of an oily fluid smelling of carbolic acid.

Dr Carmichael testified to being summoned. He had an eight oz. bottle found in the room and which had contained carbolic acid. When called to the room he found the woman just breathing. There was an appearance about her mouth as of marks of carbolic acid.

Mr McDermid, of McDermid & Jury's drug store, said deceased had purchased an eight oz. bottle of carbolic acid at about 1.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. It was the pure article. She said she wanted it for a wash and signed the book for the poison.

William Austin said he had been living with the deceased for some time and they moved into their present premises shortly before Christmas. He saw the deceased between twelve and one o'clock when she seemed all right. When he went home about 5.30 Tuesday evening he smelt carbolic acid and opened the woman's bedroom door to ascertain where the smell came from. She was lying on the bed with her eyes closed and she was breathing heavily. He at once got a man to telephone the police and sent for Dr. Carmichael. About a month ago she took about three-quarters of an oz. of laudanum. She gave no reason for doing this. She had not been in her right mind for some time.

The verdict of the jury was, "That Louisa Howell came to her death by suicide whilst temporarily deranged."

Lady Chased Tramp From House With the Broom

An Exciting Time at a House on George Street North—Visitor Wanted Meat When Offered Bread.

A lady who resides on George street north, had an exciting adventure with a tramp one day last week. The member of the "great unwashed" came out second best and beat a hasty retreat from the house with the lady in hot pursuit, armed with a broom.

The tramp called at the house in the afternoon and asked to see the "Man of the house," the lady opening the door in response to the knock, knowing that her husband did not care to see such a caller, the lady said that the man of the house was not in. This seemed to give the visitor confidence and he demanded something to eat. The lady had some pity for the tramp and brought him a piece of bread. This was not satisfactory to the visitor and he demanded some meat. The lady told him that there was no meat in the house, but the tramp was not satisfied with this explanation and told her to go out and get some.

The lady thought this was going too far, however, and knowing that her husband was on hand to back her up, grabbed the broom and ordered the tramp out. He made for the door and the lady followed him up, laying the wood on his back in lively style. The man who preferred meat to bread did not stop until he was a hundred yards from the house.

Local Lady Gets Appointment

At Convention of Home Circles in Toronto

Mrs. Thos. Anderson, 213 London street, returned last evening from Toronto, where she had been attending the annual convention of the Supreme Circle of the Order of the Order of Canadian Home Circles. Mrs. Anderson was appointed chair lady of the Committee on Laws.

The Mail and Empire has the following to say regarding the meeting;—

About 300 delegates to the Supreme Circle of the Order of Canadian Home Circles met in annual convention at Victoria Hall yesterday at 2 o'clock, Supreme Leader Robert Stark in the chair. Reports of officers were read and adopted. The membership was given at about 19,000 members.

The leader's report touched on the subject of the legislation at Ottawa affecting fraternal insurance societies and stated that steps had been taken to fully protect the Order against legislation calculated to prescribe its limits, impair its usefulness, or in any way interfere with its right to manage its own affairs in its own way. The Canadian Fraternal Association was commended for its work in this matter.

The report of the Supreme Secretary showed 1,335 additions during the year, or a total of $18,954. There had been 184 deaths and $283,516 paid in death claims, besides $3,550 in total disabilities, and $21,815 in life expectancy claims.

The trustees declared a general fund of $5,734; risk benefit fund, $2,408; beneficiary fund, $69,273, and life expectancy fund, $218,275.

Ald. Keeler, representing Mayor Oliver, was introduced to the meeting and extended to the delegates a cordial reception, which Dr. Hoobs, Supreme Medical Examiner, gratefully acknowledged on behalf of the Order.

The convention will sit again today and elect officers for the ensuing year.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

THE AUTOMATIC GUN

To the Editor of The Review;

Sir,—Your article of yesterday in reply to the Globe's advocating the automatic loader is right. When catapults and air-guns were all the rage there was not a living thing, songbird or warbler left in the land. They were cheap and everybody had one. Boys could run errands and sell nicknacks for one. The automatic loader is just like that. If it is cheap also Heaven help the birds, poor things! Put me down against it, Mr. Editor,

Yours,
TRUE SPORT.

AWAITING MORE LIGHT.

To the Editor of The Review;

Dear Sir,—If Mr. Todd desires to enter the lists with me in a newspaper controversy, I must request him not to impute to me that which I did not say. I did not undertake to spiritualize the Scriptures in the sense in which he seems to use the words. I said distinctly in regard of the description of Heaven in the Revelations, that the truth the real thing lies hidden under the metaphor. The truth that Heaven exists somewhere, but where, it has not been revealed to us, neither how the condition of life there, except that it is a real state of indescribable happiness. Though very much that is in Scripture is figurative, it does not at all follow that all is of that character. It is not a mere figure of speech to say that we are all descended from the one man Adam, created directly and absolutely by God Himself, but the manner in which it is related to have been made and also the origin of woman may be regarded in the light of an allegory, under which we are taught that we are all descended from this one pair, a real man and a real woman. Mr. Dodd may believe if he likes with Darwin, that he is descended from a monkey. There's no accounting for tastes. And of this Adam, a real man, St. Paul says;—"As through one man sin entered into the world and death through sin so death passed into all men for that all sinned."

That Christ the second Adam was once offered to bare the sins of many. This is really and positively the absolute truth, and every little child in the Sunday school knows it to be the truth.

He died that we might be forgiven,
He died to make us good.
That we might go at last to Heaven
Saved by His precious Blood.

Thus does God hide these things from the wise and prudent—those wise in their own conceits—and has revealed them unto babes. A great deal of nonsense is talked and preached about materialism, which is essentially the character of the Gospel Dispensation, which implies faith in a visible material man, the man Christ Jesus, perfect Man as well as perfect God, who Himself said of His Resurrection Body, "Handel me and see for a spirit hath not flesh and bones as ye see Me have." In that real Body He will come again with power and great glory at the last day. The manner of the judgment of that great day, the dead, small and great standing before the Throne is doubtless a figurative description of that solemn scene, but the real truth these words and similar phrases elsewhere are intended to express is that we shall then most certainly be judged according to our works and our final destiny for happiness or misery be fixed for all eternity.

Yours truly,
E. SOWARD.

To the general surprise, the award for the design of the new County Council Hall, London, has gone to an unknown architect, Mr. Ralph Knott, who is only 29 year of age. The cost will run into millions of dolars, and the competitors included all the English architects and many Continental ones.

"Jiddy" Miller Coming Home From Toronto To-Night

"Jiddy" Miller, the local boy who has played left wing for the Brantford pros. this winter, will arrive home tonight from Toronto where he played for the All Star seven in the All Star-Toronto game. "Jiddy" left his home here for Brantford on the 15th of December, and has not been in the city since.

He played good hockey all season and was up against the fastest players in the province. He has been particularly fortunate only getting hurt anyway seriously once this season, and that was during the Brantford-Berlin game last Thursday. His many friends will be glad to see him back to Peterborough again.

QUAKERS MET LAST NIGHT

Committee Meeting Was Held at the Y.M.C.A.

A committee meeting of the Quakers was held last night at the Y.M.C.A. The trip to Western Canada to play for the People's Shield was discussed, but no further arrangements were made in connection with it. No matters for publication were discussed.

Play Tie Game This Time Too

Office and Store Rooms of C.G.E. Have Not Yet Decided About the Oysters

The Office and Store Room of the C.G.E. teams met last night at the Brock street rink and for the second time this season the game resulted in a tie, 2-2. (At half time it was 2-0 in favor of the Store Room) but the Office took a big brace in the second half and when full time was called the tally stood 2-2. Ten minutes over time were played but neither team could find the nets in that period. On the first occasion the teams met the score was 1-1. The first game was for the oysters and last night's match was to finally settle who was to buy them. But on account of the two tie games it does not look as though the matter would be decided this winter.

Mr. Bill Meagher gave good satisfaction as referee.

The teams lined up as follows;

Store Room		Office
	Goal
Layfield		Staunton
	Point
Shirley		Glover
	Cover
Reid		Cook
	Rover
Elliott		Doan

LADY PUPILS PLAYED HOCKEY

Two Collegiate Teams Had Match at Brock Street Rink.

The 'ladies' hockey team from forms three and four of the Collegiate Institute, defeated a seven from rooms one and two at Brock street rink on Tuesday evening. The score was 3—1, and the winners only had six players on their side. The teams were as follows:

Forms 3, and 4.		Rooms 1 and 2.
	Goal
M. Ingram		K. Leary
	Point
M. Armstrong		H. Moore
	Cover
K. Walsh		M. Eastwood
	Rover
J. Harstone		B. Reid
	Centre
A. Minns		D. Stocker
	Right
R. Fitzgerald		M. Mason
	Left
		F. Stone.

Mr. W. Cahill made a satisfactory referee.

HOCKEY

At a meeting of the Town Hockey League the other evening, it was decided that each team in the league should be benefitted by the $41 in the treasury. Each team will receive $10 to be used as they like.

Then some day next week all the hockey boys and a few invited outsiders, such as the mayor of the town and other prominent men, will enjoy a quiet little oyster supper at Taylor's, when the cup will be presented to the winning team.—Lindsay Post.

Toronto Pros. beat the All Star professional team in Toronto last night by 16—10. At half time Toronto led by 6—5. Miller played left wing for the Stars.

BOWLING

ALLEY SALLIES.

Bowling is the greatest of all indoor pastimes but the Examiner team will not think so when we get through with them on opening night at the Peterborough Bowling Club.

Next week the season for sore thumbs will open.

We don't wish to blow,
But by golly, if we do,
We'll get the strike,
We'll get the spares
We'll bring home the Bacon too.

The opening night will be a sorry "day" for that Examiner crowd.

Josh Craig may be able to talk learnedly of "strikes, spares and splits," but it will take more than a mere bowling vocabulary to win that opening game.

Peterborough boasts many good bowlers and that Toronto team will have to put up a big score, to beat the locals.

This Review team is not making any mystery of its training course. We are all taking weight and vaulting exercises and have each possessed ourselves of the newest treatise on ten pins. In the introductory paragraph in the publication in question, it says that a bowler must exercise his "intelligence," which, of course, precludes the possibility of an Examiner victory.

Bowling is the oldest pastime in the world. The word "bowls" was first mentioned in the reign of King Henry VIII when the statute of 1511 contained the prohibition of the pastime as illegal. His Majesty, however, added bowling alleys to Whitehall, and broke his own laws by playing at Hampton court to amuse fair Anne Boleyn.

The advent of the American regulation alley has given bowling a great impetus in Canada. Where there were no alleys in Toronto three years ago there are now about 50 and the devotees of the game number many thousands.

In order to encourage local talent, prizes will be hung up weekly at the Peterborough Bowling Club.

A number of Toronto teams will be seen in action here during the season on the P.B.C. alleys.

A number of old timers who have not bowled since before the days of the "thumb-hole ball" have signified their intention of getting back into the game as soon as the new alleys are opened.

A DEPUTATION GOES TO OTTAWA

To Interview Government Regarding Proposed Bridge at Chemong.

A deputation from the County Council, headed by Warden Thompson, left for Ottawa last night to interview the Dominion Government regarding the proposed bridge from Chemong village to the Ennismore shore. The deputation will ask that the Dominion authorities build the piers for the bridge and operate a swing bridge on it. In additon to eight representatives from the County Council, Ald. Phelan, Elliott and Fuller accompanied this deputation as representatives of the city.

Rev. J. Bastow, M.A., recently of Renfrew, Ont., and formerly of Peterborough, who has been preaching for five months in the Second Avenue Baptist church, New York, has received a unanimous call to the Woodside Baptist church, Long Island. He has accepted and will begin his ministry April 1st.

Mr. Bastow's many friends here will be pleased to hear of his important appointment. His departure from Canada will, however, be much regretted.

Contagion at Trinity School

Port Hopers Object to Students Being Allowed to Roam Without Restriction

A special meeting of the Board of Health of the township of Hope was held on Saturday afternoon, and the question which occupied the attention of the Board was the contagious diseases existing at the Trinity College school. For some time a large number of the students have been confined to the College hospital with mumps, measles and scarlet fever. This fact was not made known to the proper authorities, the Board of Health of the township of Hope. It might be well to repeat the township of Hope, for many are under the impression that the College is situated in Port Hope and that this work comes under the local Board of Health. This, of course, is a mistake, and the local Medical Health Officer, Dr. G. A. Dickinson, has no authority to take action in the matter at all.

Port Hopers, however, are interested in the matter, and it was through the complaints of some of our citizens that it came to the attention of the township men. No quarantine measures are in force and the students make their daily visits down town, attend our rink as usual; in fact no restriction is placed upon them at all. This is what the Port Hopers are objecting to and if possible will have the Township Board enforce the regulations regarding contagious diseases. — Port Hope Guide.

Spat in the Face of Nun

A Toronto despatch says:—Henry Donovan, who gives his nationality as English, his age as 35, and his address as 188 Adelaide street west, was arrested yesterday afternoon by P. C. Marshall, pending an inquiry as to his sanity. Yesterday afternoon he deliberately spat in the face of Sister Mary Presentation of the Monastry of Our Lady of Charity, on West Lodge avenue. The victim, with another nun was coming out of a shop on King street, where she had made some purchases, and as she was entering the carriage in which the nuns of the institution are driven about, she was assailed by the prisoner in the foul manner complained of. Edward Mooney, the lad who drives the rig, identified Donovan as a man who had attacked another nun of the same order a few days ago.

Donovan, when questioned at the police station, said he would do the same thing again if he got a chance, and would give an explanation when the proper time came.

QUEBEC'S TEMPERANCE PROGRESS

A little over two years ago the province of Quebec had exactly six hundred municipalities without licenses; now there are seven hundred such municipalities. This reduction of licenses, we are assured, is the result of joint action on the part of the Dominion Alliance, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Franciscan Fathers, and the Anti-Alcoholic League; and now we are told that these organizations have officially decided to work together for the promotion of temperance. This will surely be gratifying news to temperance workers everywhere.— The Christian Guardian.

The Work of an Ingenious Convict; a Horse Bridle

Mr. A. B. Pardy Who in is City From Red Deer, Man., Has Unique Possession—Will Present it to Alberta Masonic Lodge.

Mr. A. B. Purdy of Red Deer, Alberta, who is in the city visiting friends, has a bridle that is so different from other bridles that the only thing it has in common with them is it's shape. It is all made of horse hair, and is the work of a convict of the Montana State Penitentiary, by the name of McLeod.

McLeod is serving a term of eight years for horse stealing of which crime he claims that he is innocent. He has served two years of the term and is making these horse hair bridles to raise money to get a new trial. It took him six months to make the one Mr. Purdy has with him. Besides the bridle the reins and quirt (or whip are made of horse hair. The three are uniform in coloring and workmanship, and are a work of perfection in the weaver's cunning. The hair was dyed by hand and splendid taste is shown in the color effects.

After he had completed the bridle McLeod sent it to Red Deer, Alberta to be disposed of by a merchant there and it was brought from the merchant by Mr. Purdy. The latter intends to present it to the Masonic Lodge of Alberta, of which he is a past master.

Writes Threatening Letters Warning to Young Woman

A young man in town has been receiving letters from a certain young woman in which she demands money from him or threatens to disclose an alleged secret in connection with his life. She says she is in possession of information which will place him in a very embarrassing position should she divulge, and she threatens to do so unless the sum she asks for is forthcoming at once.

The recipient of the letters claims to use a common expression, that she is "in wrong" and wishes to advise her that unless she desists from bothering him further he will place the matter in the hands of the police.

North Monaghan Council Held a Regular Session

The Township Council met in the town hall on Monday, March 9th, at 11.30 p.m. All the members were present. The reeve, John Brown, in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were read from the following:—

Wm. Stevens, re arrears of taxes on pt. pk. 15, lot 12, 11 con. This was received.

G. Spillsbury, requesting the Council to investigate the matter of fence being placed upon the road allowance in front of lot 7, 12 con.

T. E. Bradburn, Esq., M.P.P., enclosing a letter from the Inspector of Asylums, stating that from information he had received the keep of T. Redhead should be a charge against the township.

On motion of Messrs. May and Dobbin, these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and May that a committee consisting of the Reeve and Councillors Forster and Dobbin are hereby appointed to investigate the matter of a fence being placed upon the road allowance, and report to this Council. This was carried.

The clerk reported having fyled a registered plan of the sub-division of parks 17 and 18 in 11 con.

Council then adjourned to meet in May's school house on April 13th at 7.30 p.m.

MR. AND MRS. DEVEY ON WAY TO PETERBORO'

Information has been received in the city that Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey are on their way back to Peterborough from England. They sailed for Canada last Saturday and should reach Peterborough within the next few days.

TABULATING THE RESULTS

Those in Charge of Religious Census Working Hard—Meeting To-night

Those in charge of the religious census taken in the city yesterday have been working hard at the Y.M.C.A. all day, tabulating the returns and getting the information secured into useful form generally. The tabulation of the returns requires a lot of time and work, but it is expected that everything will be in shape for the meeting at the Y.M.C.A. tonight, when the results will be made known.

It is understood that the canvas was very successful, the whole city being covered in a most thorough manner. Some of the visitors had unique experiences in making their rounds, the occupants of some houses not understanding the purpose of their call.

REAL ESTATE IN PETERBORO'

Building Operations Promise to be Good—Steady Real Estate Business Looked for

Now that the mild weather is with us the building prospects come in for some consideration. In conversation with the Review today, Mr. R. A. Elliott, the well known local real estate man, stated that while there was no prospects of a big boom in building circles, there was nevertheless every reason to believe building operations will be carried on to a large extent and the real estate men anticipate a sure, steady business.

Large sales are being made in western lands by local real estate firms. The emmigration west promises to be greater than ever this year.

Experimenting With Vegetables

The practical educational work carried on by the Ontario Agricultural College, through the Experimental Union, is now well known throughout Ontario. Thousands of people in both town and country, interested in farming, fruit growing, or gardening, are carrying on experiments under the direction of the College, and are profiting by the experience.

The seeds or plants for these experiments and full instructions for conducting them, are furnished free on the understanding that each experimenter will report the results of his experiment at the end of the season.

Owing to the great demand for the experiment with fruits and the limited funds for the purchase of plants, for this purpose, the supply of these for this year is already exhausted. But we have on hand a good supply of seeds for the experiments with vegetables and hope to be able to furnish these to all interested in the growing of the best kind of garden vegetables.

Three of the leading varieties of each of the following kinds of vegetables are offered for testing this spring, viz., beets, carrots, onions, lettuce early tomatoes, and later tomatoes.

The early tomatoes are best for northern sections where the later and better varieties cannot be depended upon to ripen.

Any person in Ontario who wishes to join in this co-operative testing may choose any one of the experiments mentioned above and send in his application for the seeds and instructions for conducting the same. These will be sent by mail free of charge, but each applicant must agree to follow the directions furnished and report the results at the end of the season, whether successful or not.

Applications will be filed in the order they are received until the supply of these seeds is exhausted. Address all applications to H. L. HUTT, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

MR. W. H. HILL,

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 10074 on my life, th dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprised me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on the same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

NEW WAY to BE WELL

Healthfulness of Oranges.

The one lesson which most people never seem to learn is, how to guard their health.

We have been eating oranges since time immemorial, yet how many of us know that orange juice contains a medicinal principle which has a marked action on the stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. Some physicians go so far as to say that they can cure the average case of Indigestion, Constipation, Billiousness and Dry Skin with orange juice and proper diet.

This can be easily proved to the satisfaction of any sufferer. Take the juice of one or two oranges every morning before breakfast, take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" every night at bed-time, exercise a reasonable care in diet, and the proof will be found in health.

The cure will be greatly assisted and hastened by taking "Fruit-a-tives" in conjunction with the orange juice. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the medicinal principle of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are many times increased by the special way in which they are combined. Then tonics are added and the whole made into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c a box—6 for $2.50. A HISTORIC INCIDENT

We publish today in our Hansard column the official communications that passed between the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the British or Home Government regarding the appeal of Sir Wilfrid to be allowed to participate in the Anglo-Japanese treaty. This correspondence shows, as the reader will see, a deliberate and set purpose on the part of Sir Wilfrid to enter into participation in that treaty without any reserve whatever, notwithstanding the twice repeated hint or warning from the Home Government that there was another, and presumably, better way of fixing it. Now, that being the case, what could have been the object of our Government in declining to ask Japan for a reserve and in ignoring England's suggestions to the same effect. That Sir Wilfrid had some object in acting thus is plain even to the most partizan. Undoubtedly his object was what all along we have known it to be, namely, the providing of cheap Oriental labour for the Canadian market. There is about the whole transaction an air of disingenuousness, a lack of candour that is rapidly earning for the Canadian Premier a reputation for arriere pensee, or mental reservation, neither admirable nor calculated to inspire confidence. We Canadians must get out of the alarming habit we are getting into of doing things "cleverly," as we call it, but "crookedly," as others call it, and as we know it, moreover, to be. This habit re-acts upon ourselves, and in the end will produce distrust and domestic infelicity of an alarming type. Is it fair, we ask, to the men and women who have builded up this country, who have laid the foundations good and strong—who expected well of us who have succeeded them—is it fair, we repeat, to them for us to open the gates upon the east and west to all and sundry that they may compete in our markets with our men and women so that in the end our men and women shall be compelled to sink to the foreign level to get work and a mere subsisting wage? Life on such terms is not life at all. It is a mere semblance of it which low animal forms enjoy, and which cruel masters meet out to cringeing slaves. Let the starving ones of the world have work. Let us not seek to deprive any human being of food and the happiness of life, but let us raise them to the full enjoyment of a nobler and better life, while maintaining that control which we must maintain, if we are to be true to our destiny and to ourselves. In all the long debate upon this question not one word of satisfactory explanation has been made by the Laurier Administration. From the beginning to the now approaching end it has been nothing but fencing on the part of the Government, and attack on the part of Mr. Borden. The people of Canada are well able to read the signs of the times, and these signs are many and alarming. All the talk of the round and round character which Sir Wilfrid indulges in will convince no one of his sincerity in dealing with this question. His loyalty is "strained" and evidently for an ulterior purpose. In fact, in the light of the correspondence it is altogether too "thin."

WHO STRUCK BILLY PATERSON?

Our evening contemporary addresses a number of random questions to the wide, wide world. It cries with a loud voice wanting to know. 1. Who developed Niagara power? 2. Who was it that went to the rescue of the Soo Steel Works? 3 Who was it that began a forest reservation covering two and a half million acres? 4. Who was it that re-organized the public institutions of the province? 5. Who was it that showed faith in New Ontario and its great agricultural possibilities? 6 What was it that talked of law-reform first? 7. Who was it that put an export duty on sawlogs and pulp-wood?

Now, the answer to this flood of interrogations was given on January 25th, 1905, but the Examiner hasn't got the news in yet. For and on behalf of the good people of Ontario we will in turn ask the Examiner a few questions, namely,:—

Who was it that failed to grasp the fundamental decencies of Government to wit, enforcement of the law? Who was it that built and operated the Minnie M? Who burned the ballots? Who did so well, generally, that they were returned with a minority of forty? The Ross Government.

The trouble with our esteemed contemporary is, that like most Grit newspapers, it thinks morals play no part in the achievements of Governments. Anyhow, the re-organization of public institutions which it speaks of was only a sham. Hanna hadn't been in the Provincial Secretaryship half an hour before increasing the revenue of widows and orphans' estates by forty thousand dollars. They had been almost wholly neglected. But perhaps the Examiner meant disorganized and not re-organized. Then as to sawlogs and pulpwood. There's scarcely a schoolboy in his teens in Peterborough to-day who does not remember the awful struggle to get the Government to put an export duty on logs. Had there been an election at the time Ross would have gone, not only to the country, but to the woods. As there was no election on a riot that was effectual, was substituted in its stead. But Mr. Stratton fought against it even then. But the crowning infamy in the way of a question is that concerning Niagara power. The Ross Government positively tried to give this enormous power away to favorites and in another year would have succeeded in doing so. In conclusion let us say that we commend the Examiner for its boldness. A bold word bluffs many a weak mortal, but it can have no effect on the people of Ontario, who remember too well what that Government both did and did not do. A paper that wants information so badly as the Examiner does, can get more of it by applying to the Temperance League for the figures of the vote of 1902, which that Government evaded, although it complied fully with the vote demanded. It might apply also to that mighty mariner, Cap. Sullivan, who, though bad, was brave and thus formed a contrast to his employers. But the meanness of the Examiner, the base ingratitude of it reaches its culmination in its failure in the general acclaim of the Ross Government's achievements to give one particle of credit to Duncan Bole and Sammy Hewitt, who, with Admiral Sullivan, kept the Government so long in power.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW

The Charlotte Street Methodist Church Board has again expressed its approval of the administration of the license law in Peterborough. This must be very gratifying to the member, Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., to the Board of License Commissioners, and to the inspector as well as to the police. If it were not that the churches take an interest in such things the riding would have no real and impartial means of knowing if the law was kept or not. One political side would say one thing and the other would say another while a dazed or uninterested public would have to choose between. The public is vitally interested in a reasonable and just enforcement of all laws and and when it knows that such has been the case, those employed in administration can take to themselves the reward of upright and reasonable men—a consciousness of work honestly and properly done.

"What Government was it that procured the manufacture of saw logs in Ontario, and enacted that no pine timber for pulp wood should be permitted to leave the province in an unmanufactured condition?" — The Examiner.

It may please the Examiner to know that it wasn't Mr. Stratton, as he opposed the export duty on sawlogs. The Examiner is in the position of the little Sunday school boy, who being asked somewhat sharply by his teacher, what was it that swallowed Jonah, cried, "It wasn't me!"

Four Young Men Plead Guilty To Stealing at C.G.E. Works

Well Known Employees Appeared Before the Magistrate Yesterday Afternoon in Police Court—Stole Wire, Tape and Other Articles—Remanded Till Tomorrow for Sentence.

The Canadian General Electric Co. evidently intend to put an end to the practice of employees carrying off articles from the works, and yesterday made a striking example of four well-known young men in the police court. They appeared before Magistrate Dumble at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and each pleaded guilty to the charge of theft. They were remanded for sentence until tomorrow morning.

For some time past reports have reached the officials of the Company that thefts were being committed by employees of the works, and consequently Detective Pritchard, of Toronto, was employed to be on the look out, and, if possible, to find the guilty parties. For some days Mr. Pritchard has been working quietly, an yesterday sprung the trap with the result that four men were brought before the Magistrate.

P.C. Meharry and Detective Pritchard, on the strength of search warrants, visited three houses yesterday morning and recovered stolen goods. They first visited the home of Felix Corneagh, who was subsequently arrested, where a quantity of insulating tape, cord and leather thongs, the property of the company, was found. Then a call on a similar errand was made to a residence on Water street, where a trunk of Sidney Farmer was opened and examined. Here files, drills, a metal saw, silk tape, insulating tape, and linen thread were seized and brought to the police station. The third visit was made to the home of Albert Costello, London street, but nothing belonging to the Company was found there.

Following the searching of these places P.C. Meharry and Detective Pritchard went to the C.G.E. works, and arrested the above three men at their work.

At the police court yesterday afternoon Albert Costello pleaded guilty, and elected to be tried summarily, to the charge of stealing a quantity of wire from the C.G.E. works.

Felix Corneagh pleaded guilty to the theft of a quantity of insulating tape, cord and leather thongs.

Sidney Farmer was charged with stealing files, drills and a metal saw, also a quantity of silk tape and linen thread. He pleaded guilty to taking the thread and tape, but not the other articles. He said that he had got them about nine months ago from a young man, whose name he did not know, but who was then stopping at the Peterborough House. The prisoner paid a dollar for it.

Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., appeared for Costello, and stated that the defendant desired to make a statement regarding the affair. Mr. Moore said that it was the first time Costello had ever got into any difficulty, and as it was such a trifle, he asked His Worship to be as lenient as possible. Costello made his statement as follows:—"I am sorry for taking it. I took it thoughtlessly, and only at the instigation of a friend who needed some wire. I didn't need it. I never took it home. Charles Gunn was the man who asked me to get it. I gave it to him on my way home. There was about twenty feet of wire altogether."

Charles Gunn was charged with stealing wire at the C.G.E. works. He pleaded guilty to receiving the wire, but stated that on Tuesday last when going to work, he said to Costello that he was in need of some wire, and Costello told him that he would get it.

His Worship remanded the four until tomorrow, allowing all but Corneagh to go on their promise to appear.

Engineer Killed Near Guelph; Well Known in Peterborough

Chas. Armstrong Had Formerly Been Employed on This Division of the C.P.R.—His Death Will be Much Regretted.

Charles Armstrong, who is referred to in the following despatch, was well-known in this district, having been employed for some time on this division of the C.P.R. His many friends will regret to hear of his death. The despatch is as follows;—

Guelph, Ont., March 11.—Engineer Charles Armstrong, said to be of Toronto Junction, was killed at Guelph Junction at four o'clock this morning by having his head crushed between his own engine and the cab of a light engine.

There is at the point where the accident occurred, a siding with a sharp curve. Armstrong was driving a heavy engine with a trainload of excursionists from Toronto to London. A light engine was heading out of the siding, making for the main line, on which the passenger was running. The two engines ran parallel for a short distance and came together at the switch, where the siding met the main line.

CROWDED OFF RAILS.

The light engine was crowded off the rails, but the engineer in charge of it escaped any injuries. In fact, no one was hurt except Armstrong, who died almost instantly, his head being crushed by the cab of the light engine.

The body is still at the Junction, where it will remain for an inquest which will be held. The sharp curve in the siding made it impossible for the engineers to see each other's headlights until they were a few car lengths apart.

The shock of the collision was felt throughout the entire train.

Armstrong was in charge of a special train which was taking a party of Masons to London. They had been in Toronto on a fraternal visit, and left Toronto at 2.30 this morning.

Engineer Armstrong, who resided at 56 Annette street west, Toronto Junction, was one of the best known railway employees in the town. He had been connected with the railway for over eighteen years, living most of that time in the Junction, and during the past six years he had been employed as an engineer running out of the Junction. He had the reputation of being one of the steadiest and most competent drivers on the road.

The deceased, who was 32 years of age is survived by a widow and three small children, the eldest being only six years of age. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers and belonged to a Teeswater Lodge of the A.F. and A.M.

Presbytery of Peterborough; Much Business Transacted

Some important business was discussed at the afternoon session of the Peterborough Presbytery held in St. Paul's church Tuesday, when there was a large attendance of both ministers and laymen.

A request was heard from the Stewart Settlement asking that the services there be continued for six months longer with Rev. Mr. McKenzie as minister under the present arrangements. This request was granted.

A communication was read from Rev P M Duncan of Colborne thanking the Presbytery for their kindness in connection with his jubilee.

Rev Mr. Pogue of St. Paul's church was appointed to address the Presbyterial Society of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society in St. Andrew's church in May.

A call from Grafton in favor of Rev. Mr. Brokenshire was withdrawn and an application from Mr. Brokenshire for re-admission into the Presbyterian Church of Canada was granted. Mr. Brokenshire has been connected with the Presbyterian church in the United States.

Dr. Duval of Winnipeg was nominated as moderator of the next General Assembly, which meets in Winnipeg in June. Commissioners to attend the General Assembly were appointed as follows; Revs. W. Beattie, Cobourg; H G Abraham, Port Hope; J G Potter Peterborough and A K McLeod, Brighton, ministers and Messrs R Nicholl, Norwood; J. C. Shook, Peterborough, J G Fitzgerald, Lakefield and Hugh [illegible], Cold Springs, elders.

Rev. Mr. McFarlane and Mr. Fowler were appointed to represent the Presbytery on the committee for bills and overtures in the Synod, and Rev. W. Beattie on the same committee of the Assembly. Rev. Mr. Beattie and Mr J. C. Shook were appointed to support the application of Rev. Mr. Brokenshire before the Assembly's committee on the reception of ministers.

Rev. S S Burns of Lakefield reported regarding the Young People's Society work, and Rev. W. Beattie, on church life and work.

The following recommendations were passed;

That the Presbytery put on record its approval of the aggressive work undertaken by the new department of temperance and moral reform.

That we urgently recommend that the General Assembly committee on church life and work take steps to have the matter of a home for orphans and neglected children under the auspices of our church brought before the General Assembly at the next meeting with a view to establishing such a home.

Rev Mr. Potter in the absence of Mr. Keith, submitted the report of Sabbath Schools, Rev. Mr. McLeod on systematic giving, Rev. Mr. Peckover, of Omemee on foreign missions, Rev. Mr. Reeves, of Campbellford, on home missions and Rev. D. A. Thompson, statistics of the church. All these reports were received and adopted.

The standing committees for the year were appointed as follows, the first name in each case being the convenor:

Home Missions —Revs. Reeves, Burns and Potter and an elder, from St. Andrew's, Peterborough.

Augmentation—Revs. Skene of Baltimore, Mr. McKenzie and an elder from Baltimore.

Church Life and Work — Revs. Beattie, McLeod and an elder from Cobourg.

Sabbath Schools —Revs. Keith, Johnston and an elder from Springville.

Young People's Societies —Revs. McDonald, Currie and an elder from St. Paul's, Port Hope.

Statistics—Revs Thompson, Thornton and an elder from Hastings.

French Evangelization— Revs. McLennan, Reeves and an elder from Norwood.

Evangelistic Work —Revs. Pogue, Stirling, Keith and an elder from Field.

Foreign Missions—Revs. Peckover, Stirling, Keith and an elder from Omemee.

Systematic Giving — Revs. Dr. Marsh, McLeod and an elder from Centreville.

Aged and Infirm Ministers and Ministers' Widows and Orphans — Revs McKenzie, Skene and an elder from Grafton.

Social and Moral Reform —Revs. Potter, Abraham, Beattie and an elder from St. Paul's, Peterborough.

The next regular meeting of the Presbytery will be held in the Mill street church Port Hope the second Tuesday in July.

Address and Presentation

"Lyndhurst," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lindsay Vance, was the scene of a very pleasant event, on Monday, March 9th, when a large number of friends and neighbors gathered to present them with an address and well-filled purse. Mr. Charles McNeil read the following address and Mrs. Henry Russell presented the gift. Dancing was indulged in and a very pleasant evening was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Vance leave for the West the last of the month.

THE ADDRESS.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance;

Your many friends and neighbors feel that they cannot allow you to depart from their midst without showing some mark of the general esteem in which you are both regarded in the neighborhood. While you have not for a great many years resided in our immediate neighborhood yet you and the much-respected house which are joined by your happy union a few years ago are no stranger to us and during your sojourn among us and our neighborly and social intercourse, you have contributed abundantly toward making life pleasant in the circle in which we have moved. Mr. and Mrs. Vance let us assure you that our very best wishes go with you to your new home which you are about to select in the attractive west where we trust and hope prosperity and happiness await you. When you occasionally return to our province as we sincerely hope you will, be assured that you will always be welcome visitors amongst us. With a deep sense of the occasion those assembled here desire to present to you this purse as a small token of our esteem. We know that you will not record it for its intrinsic value, but for the the motive which prompt us in giving it.

Signed on behalf of the above;

ATTOWELL POE.

JAMES RODDY.

Must Send Boy And Girl to School

For neglecting to send their boy and girl to school. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guy appeared before His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning. Their children are 14 and 11 years of age, and according to the school inspector have not been attending very regular. They would probably go half a day and stay away the remainder of the week. Mrs. Guy stated that she sent her children to school but the teacher sent them home on account of their having a rash on them.

His Worship ordered that just as soon as they recover from it, Truant Officer Cochrane was to see that they attended school regularly.

Sir Howard Vincent has again presented in the House of Commons his bill to have the definition "Made in ——" on foreign imported goods, replaced by the words "Not British." Sir Howard Vincentt's contention is that labels like "Made in Germany" only serve to advertise foreign goods.

Rev. Mr. Barber's and Mr. S. Lloyd's Impressive Addresses

Were Preachers at St. John's Mission Last Night—Church Well Filled With Interested Listeners.

Again last night was St. John's church well filled with a congregation unmistakably interested in the work for which the mission is being held. Each night the congregation grows in size. The service last night was of a simple devotional nature, yet it was one that could not fail to leave impressions of an edifying character.

After the usual street service in which many of the men participated, the Rev. Mr. Barber and Mr. Lloyd the Welsh evangelist, assumed charge at the church. They spoke on the subject of sin, depicting its offensive nature and referring to the course to be taken to overcome it. The service opened by the singing of old and familiar hymns with splendid orchestra accompaniment after which Rev. Mr. Barber spoke on the text, "Lord, if Thou wilt, Thou Canst Make me Clean." These were words from the lips of a man in real distress who had realized his unfitness and unworthiness to dwell with men. He was a human being ostracised from all society of a clean character and he realized the penalty because of the dread disease. He was afflicted with leprosy."

Although banished from his fellowmen there came to him wonderful stories of what Jesus of Nazareth had been doing and he came to Him with these pathetic words—with the heart-throbs of a hungry man—to ask for assistance. Because of his great need he had placed his petition before God. It was a short prayer but its the short and pointed cry that brings down what a man needs.

DEGRADER OF MANKIND.

The dread disease of leprosy, which has been known to attack even houses and crumble them to dust, is used in God's Word as a type of sin because it reveals the foulness and uncleanliness of the afflicted. Sin contaminates and degrades man. It caused the ruin of the world in the first instance and has estranged man from God.

Men most clean in outward appearance are too often the most foul of sinners and it is not the "spic and span" that denotes an immaculate man.

The speaker exhorted his hearers to give themselves up to God because God has no power to save a man against his own will.

NATURE OF THE HARVEST.

Mr. Lloyd after the singing of a hymn then addressed the congregation. People are too often ashamed he said, to let the sinners know they are the children of God. There is no wonder, therefore, that the Christian life too frequently falls short of what it ought to be.

There is the thought that our hearts are temples for the Holy Ghost that should remain uppermost in us and we should never be ashamed of the holy presence of God. Familiarity with sin leads us sometimes to love it more fondly than we do God and there is always the great motto to remember that "what we sow that also shall we reap."

Rev. Mr. Lloyd's appeal was a very forcible one to the congregation. He spoke in a very earnest manner adding weight to his discourse and leaving behind him a problem upon which to ponder.

Pupils of the City Schools Are Efficient in Fire Drill

Members of School Board Visited Schools To-Day and Gave the Fire Alarm—Buildings Were all Emptied in Remarkably Quick Time.

In the event of fire breaking out in any of the city schools, it is gratifying to know that the students' safety is well provided for, as was evident by the fire drill exercises at the different schools this morning. Without previous notice to the pupils or teachers the members of the school board visited the schools two going to each building, and gave the fire alarm. In every instance, the rooms were cleared in remarkably good time, a source of gratification to the members of the board.

SOUTH CENTRAL

Dr. Morrison, Mr. Crane and a Review representative visited the South Central School, corner of Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets this morning at a few minutes past eleven on a fire-alarm errand. The two gongs of the school were sounded without previous notice. The rooms were cleared promptly, the lower rooms being emptied in 40 seconds and the upper in a minute and three-quarters. There is little likelihood of danger at this school as the building is only two storeys high. The southern part is just a little devious and complicated but presents no serious obstacles.

WEST WARD.

At the West Ward, however, there is no preparation for fire. The gong is upstairs. There are no fire-escapes and if the retreat by the main stairway were cut off many lives would be lost. Dr. Morrison and Mr. Crane will recommend a change. To the Review it seemed apparent that the proper place for a fire-escape is inside the building in the shape of an auxiliary or duplicate main stairway. A fire is not likely to cut off two widely-separated stairways and in the event of one's being shut off the other could be used. Outside fire-escapes are not easy of access or of use and may be put down as failures. They are not a success in any crowded building anywhere.

The school was cleared in good time.

EAST WARD

The pupils at the East Ward public school cleared the building in forty seconds when the fire alarm was sounded there this morning. None of the teachers or scholars had any knowledge that the efficiency of the fire drill was to be tested and the showing can be taken as a fair test. Trustee W. F. Nelson visited the school and rang the fire bell. The pupils fell into line in a most orderly manner and were all out of the building in forty seconds.

The doors on the East Ward school open towards the inside. They will be changed at once to swing in the opposite direction.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

The Central School was visited by Messrs. Fair chairman of the board, and W. H. Hill. This building was emptied of its pupils in remarkably quick time. Everyone was out of the school in forty seconds. The doors at the Central open outward.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

Messrs. B. F. Ackerman and W. S. Robinson called at the King Edward school. The pupils quickly responded to the call of the fire alarm and were outside in a little less than forty-five seconds. The doors are very satisfactory, opening outward.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

The pupils at this school were not so quick in getting out as in some of the others. Mr. D. W. Dumble visited this building and the time in which the building was completely emptied was a little less than a minute. The doors are very satisfactory all opening outward

City is Not Deriving Any Revenue From These Dogs

There are five or six dogs which have their habitation on Harvey St. that the city does not derive any revenue from. Perhaps they should not be called dogs as they have not been long enough in the world yet to have tin cans tied to their tails or to cross swords with the dog poisoner.

The puppies have a snug little nest under the veranda of a house on Harvey street and are five weeks old. Their mother is of the hound variety but who owns her nobody knows. She appears to be one of the "great unknown' and no kind master provides for her. She has to pick her own living and that of the little family as well. The puppies seem well provided for and happy however, and as yet know nothing of the big world around them. It is up to the city to provide each one of the little fellows with a brass collar so as they may not be looked down upon in dogdom.

Chas. Burke's Alibi Dodge

Kimball Who Swore He Was With Him on Night of Robbery an Ex-Convict—Feigned Blindness

It is remarkable what criminals will resort to in their endeavors to avoid the penalties of their crimes. Charles Burke, who was sentenced by Judge Weller to ten years in the Kingston Penitentiary for the robbery of Purser's Store at Buckhorn, worked quite a card in his endeavor to prove an alibi. He had a young man from Toronto named Kimball, swear that he and the witness were together on Sherburne street, Toronto, on the night the robbery was committed. Kimball wore colored glasses and appeared in court in the role of a poor blind boy. County Crown Attorney Wood communicated with Chief Grassett, of the Toronto force, previous to Burke's sentence to find out if anything was known of Kimball. He received a communication stating that the subject of the inquiry was not blind, but only feigned blindness to get sympathy. He, like his friend, Burke, has also done time.

TORTURING SKIN DISEASE
Afflicted this bright little girl

Mrs. F. Miner, of 311 Suffolk Street, Guelph, Ont., says: "A year since, while while living in Oshawa, Ont., my little daughter Lorinda, six years of age contracted a skin disease on the upper part of her body. This first broke out like tiny water blisters, afterwards taking the form of dry scabs. These would disappear for a short time and then reappear worse than ever. The clothes coming in contact with the skin set up such a severe irritation that it was impossible to keep her from scratching. We tried various preparations yet obtained no good results until we began using Zam-Buk. With each application the irritation and soreness was greatly relieved, and the child rested easier. Thro' continued using, the eruptions and scabs fast disappeared and in a short space of time the skin was completely cleared from the disease. It is now some months since we used Zam-Buk, and as there are no signs of any more eruptions breaking out on her body, we believe Zam-Buk has worked a complete cure." Zam-Buk Cures cuts, chapped hands, itch, ulcers, eczema, running sores and all diseases of the skin. Hint Elections May Come Soon

Messrs. Fisher and Lemieux Warn Quebec Electors That Election Might be Held in Few Months

Ottawa, March 11.—Necessity for immediate organization in view of the general elections was insisted upon at the meeting of the Missisquoi Liberal Association, at Bedford, yesterday, by Hon. Sydney A. Fisher, and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux. Mr. Fisher added that the elections might not come for eighteen months, but said that it was possible they might come in a few months.

The insistence of the Ministers of the necessity of getting ready at once was taken to heart by the members of the association, who took it to mean that the general elections would be on at an early date.—The Mail and Empire.

OBITUARY

DR. RICHARD COUGHLAN.

By the death of Dr. Richard Coughlan, of Hastings, there has passed away one of the landmarks of that section. For over a quarter of a century he had ministered in a prompt, generous and charitable spirit to the physical ailments of his patients. After a lingering illness of a year he went to his grave mourned by a host of friends.

Born in 1860 of religious parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Coughlan, original settlers in Hastings, he spent some time at St. Michael's College, after graduating in medicine from Queen's University, Kingston. He married in 1889 Miss Teresa Hurley, of Peterborough, who with five children, still survives him. Never considering his profession anything but a sacred charge, and always kind to the poor, as he was generous by nature, he yet laid aside a competence. Diagnosing his own case aside from outside medical opinions, he faced death calmly and gave his mind up completely to a worthy preparation for the last great sacrifice.

Though a blizzard stormed on the eve of his funeral and blocked the roads, St. Mary's church was thronged with old friends that came to pay the final tribute of respect and breathe a fervent prayer for the repose of the doctor's good soul.

The Mass was celebrated by his brother-in-law, Father Hurley, of St. Michael's College, Toronto. Assisting in the sanctuary were old clerical friends, who had met him on many a sick call or in social converse: his pastor, Father Bretherton; Father Conway, of Norwood; Father Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore; Father N. Roche, President of St. Michael's College, Toronto; Father Galvin, of Peterborough. He was charitable in life: God was good to him in death.—Tweed News.

LATE JESSIE GOULD.

The funeral of the late Miss Jessie Helen Gould, who passed away in Toronto yesterday, will take place tomorrow (Friday) at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 247 London St. to Little Lake cemetery. Deceased was 19 years 8 months of age.

PETER McFARLANE, KEENE.

Special to The Review.

Keene, March 12.—The death occurred early Wednesday morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. D. McFarlane, of Peter McFarlane, after three days illness with paralysis. The deceased was a native of Otonabee, and spent all his life in this vicinity. He was forty-four years of age. Besides his mother, three brothers, Duncan of Keene, James of New Liskeard, and Donald of Otonabee, and one sister, Mrs. Marshall Weir, Keene, survive him. The funeral will be held from the home of Mr. Marshall Weir, at three o'clock, and interment will take place in Keene cemetery.

Were Against the Carnegie Proposition

The Majority of the Speakers at Trades and Labor Council Oppose Asking for Grant

The Carnegie Library question was discussed at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night, and while no resolution was passed, the majority of the speakers were against asking the steel king for a grant. They contended that it would be humiliating for the city to make a request of this nature.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting and the president, Mr. John Alexander, was in the chair. A short address was given by the organizer of the textile workers, who is in the city at the present time.

A resolution of condolence was passed to the family of the late Edward Ward, who was a member of the Trades and Labor Council.

The meeting was a most interesting one, a lively interest being displayed in the different matters discussed.

Wealthy Ontario motorists or those coming from the other side of the line, are said to have no dread of a fine, so a bill is to be introduced in the Ontario Legislature making the penalty of overspeeding, prison, without the option of a fine.

All Saints' Men to Have Banquet

Will be Held on Wednesday Evening, March 25th

A banquet for the men of the congregation will be held at All Saint's church on Wednesday evening, March 25th, under the auspices of the Men's Association. Invitations are now being sent out and it is expected that between 350 and 400 men will be in attendance. An excellent toast list is being prepared. Among the speakers will be Rev. Canon Tucker, of Toronto, who has preached in Peterborough on several occasions and who stands high among the Anglican clergymen of Canada.

A committee is now completing all arrangements and a most successful event is assured.

Sweden may go to war with Russia, it is said, over Finland. Canadians a few years ago waged war against the adulterated and unclean teas of China and Japan in preference for the delicious and flavory teas of Ceylon. The enormous and rapidly increasing sales of "Salada" Ceylon Tea prove conclusively how thoroughly Canadians appreciate a fine blend of Ceylon Tea.

SERIOUS CRISIS COMING

Dr. Ewing of Allahabad Discusses Situation in India.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 10.—The first international convention under the auspices of the Young People's Missionary Movement, opened at 11 o'clock today. The 1,600 delegates represented practically every section of the world.

Dr. Arthur H. Ewing, president of the Christian College at Allahabad, India, who is attending the convention believes an uprising in India is certain. He says: "A wonderful growth in national spirit has been apparent recently in India. Educated classes are keenly alive to the situation and have been goaded into an extreme position by ill-advised statements of English editors of prominent Indian newspapers. There is no danger of an immediate upheaval, but a serious crisis in the future seems inevitable.

Postmaster-General Tells House What Government Pays.

Minister of Justice Would Abolish Admiralty Courts — Bill In Commons Meets With Opposition—Proposed Annuity Grant—Convictions Under Fruit Marks Act—Supreme Court List Divided.

Ottawa, March 13.—A bill was introduced yesterday by Mr. Aylesworth to transfer the jurisdiction of the Admiralty Courts to the Common Law Courts.

Mr. Aylesworth explained that it was proposed to compensate officials of the Admiralty Courts for loss of fees by granting to each of the present judges and to the marshal of the Quebec admiralty district an annuity equal to two-thirds of his salary; to the registrar of Toronto district $1,000; to registrar of Nova Scotia district $1,250, and to the registrar of the New Brunswick district $1,500, these sums being equal to the amount of the emoluments for their respective offices for three years.

R. L. Borden said that the old system had given satisfaction. In the Province of Nova Scotia at least it was absolutely impossible to fuse the admiralty and general law.

There the practice in the Admiralty Courts was the simplest form in any court and things were dealt with in admiralty law that were absolutely unknown in common law. Furthermore, to adopt a different procedure in Canada than was the practice in England was to create confusion.

Guss Porter claimed the advantage of the present system was that a speedy trial was secured, while it would be unwise to relegate to the courts, now overworked, any further jurisdiction.

W. M. German declared that vessels often got out of the jurisdiction before the machinery provided by the present act could be set in motion. Therefore he strongly advised a change.

Mr. Gervais (Montreal) opposed the bill in toto. The bill was inexpedient. Was it fair to abolish all Admiralty Courts because there were one or two inefficient judges. As well argue that the House of Commons should be done away with because there were a few bad members or that the Senate should be abolished because there might be some useless Senators.

Mr. Gervais protested also against the usurpation of provincial authority involved in the proposed measure. He pointed out that abolition of Admiralty Courts would substitute for a concise code of marine law a series of statutes scattered through several volumes. Mr. Gervais wanted to know who was asking for this; it was not the shipping interests, not the bar, not the bench. Nobody seemed to want an act that was retrogressive and inexpedient.

The Commons passed the bill creating the Quebec Battlefields Commission and providing for the celebration of Champlain tercentenary.

During the question hour, the Postmaster-General gave figures showing the cost to the Government in the past five years of carrying mails on railways, the average being a little over a million and a half a year. For the same period amounts paid to steamship companies for carrying mails were in the neighborhood of $90,000 a year.

To Mr. Blain, Mr. Pugsley said $21,114 had been spent to date on dredging work in the harbor of Port Dufferin. The Government was considering the question of completing the work.

Mr. Fielding said in reply to Mr. Porter that in the Counties of Hastings, Lennox, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Peterboro there had been 48 prosecutions and 48 convictions under the Fruit Marks Act.

F. E. O'Flynn of Belleville had been appointed counsel in 22 of these cases.

Dividing the Court List.

Mr. Aylesworth introduced a bill to amend the Supreme Court Act. The purpose of the amendment is to divide the list of cases before the court into five classes—1, election cases; 2, western provinces; 3, Maritime Provinces; 4, Quebec; 5, Ontario.

George Taylor (Leeds) called attention to a return just brought down by Mr. Pugsley regarding purchase of fire extinguishers.

The return stated that 195 of these devices were purchased from two firms, whereas by reference to the Auditor-General's report Mr. Taylor discovered that other fire extinguishers had been purchased.

Mr. Pugsley promised to look into the matter.

Mr. Monk referred to a despatch from London giving an account of the trial of some individuals at Liverpool for practicing fraud on emigrants. It seemed that one Dickey communicated signs to applicants passed, by which they were to be known to officials on this side. But this practice was not safe and more care was advised. Mr. Monk said it appeared to be a case of fraud practiced on emigrants or of taking money from undesirable persons to have them admitted to Canada.

Mr. Oliver promised an answer today.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Conmee, Crocket, Turgeon, Devlin, Fowler and Clements. Mr. Fowler convulsed the House by his reference to Pugsley, who, he said, had been restricted in the small field in New Brunswick, where "there isn't much to steal if you steal the whole thing."

The discussion went on till after midnight, when the Finance Minister demanded of Mr. Osler to name the places he had seen in Nova Scotia where money was wanted on wharves.

Mr. Osler said he could not name the places.

"He was never there," shouted E. M. Macdonald of Pictou, and Mr. Fielding pressed his request.

Finally Mr. Osler asked: "Did I make a statement that is untrue?"

"I believe he made a statement that is absolutely untrue," replied Mr. Fielding.

LANCASTER BILL IN SENATE.

Senator Beique Would Order Crossings to Be Protected.

Ottawa, March 13.—Mr. Lancaster's bill to limit the speed of trains at crossings in thickly settled communities was before the Senate yesterday.

Senator Beique proposed an amendment to have the Railway Commission order crossings to be protected, or in default of affording protection railways should be compelled to reduce speed to ten miles an hour. The Lancaster proposal was to leave it to juries to say what was meant by proper protection. The debate was adjourned.

The Quebec battlefields bill was read a second time. It is expected that it will be finally passed to-day.

SALT WATER REVEALS SECRET.

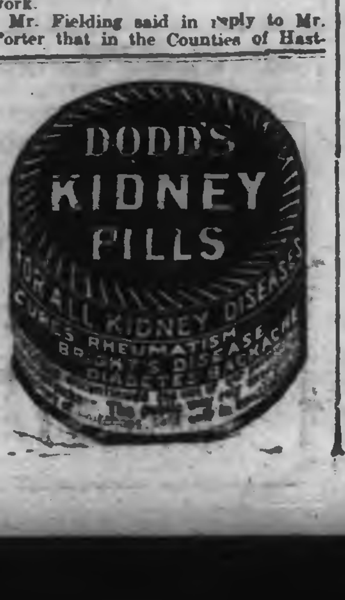
How New Jersey Man Got Divorce Evidence From His Wife.

Trenton, N.J., March 13.—It was when Richard Tague of South Amboy was distressed by an unhappy domestic situation that he fell in with an ancient sea captain, one who had been in many strange climes and knew many curious customs of the east and other parts of the world. He listened to Tague's narrative of his marital woes and gave him some advice.

When Tague went to bed that night he took care to lie awake until his wife was sound asleep. Then he quietly arose, procured a basin of salt water and placed Mrs. Tague's hands in it. Presently Mrs. Tague began to talk in her sleep. Her recital was slow at first; then it became voluble and in a little while she had told him all he wanted to know, and more; the story of her life, single and married.

Anyway, that's what Tague said when he appeared in the Court of Chancery yesterday and asked for a divorce. Vice-Chancellor Walker, however, was not profoundly impressed by the salt water method of obtaining evidence, and he held the case under advisement.

Mrs. Tague denies the charges and brought counter accusations in a suit for divorce which she had begun before her husband started his action.



HABEAS CORPUS FOR HINDUS.

Declare They Are Loyal Britishers and Fought Under Roberts.

Vancouver, March 13.—Including the men now employed on a large land clearing work there are now about a thousand people in Prince Rupert. On Saturday nights and Sundays, when men come in from the woods, the town is quite congested.

Japanese murdered a country man last Saturday at Swansea Bay, three hundred miles up the coast. The murderer escaped in a fishing boat, which he stole from the waterfront and has not since been seen. The victim was disemboweled.

Application will be made to-day for habeas corpus for the eighteen Hindus recently convicted under the Natal Act and sentenced to fines of $500 each. Failing this the Hindus will appeal for executive clemency of the Dominion Government. They declare it is a shame that as loyal Britishers who fought under Lord Roberts in South Africa they are subjected to fines or years of imprisonment because of imperfect knowledge of the English language.

Strike on the Tunnel.

Windsor, March 13.—The strike situation at the tunnel is becoming aggravated. Men who are out claim the contractors are trying to import men from Detroit to take their places.

Wednesday night about 80 Italians were brought across the river on the understanding, it is said, that they would be paid three dollars a day, but when they arrived at the tunnel they were told wages would be $2.50, this rate being paid for those who worked under air pressure. Less than a score accepted the terms.

Arrested Shah's Brother.

Teheran, March 13.—Salar Dowleh, the Shah's rebellious brother, who was pardoned at the time of the Kourban Bairam, was again placed under arrest yesterday. Letters which he sent to his father-in-law, Louristan, were intercepted and proved his intention of escaping from Teheran and again beginning a rebellion.

It is rumored here that Salar Dowlen took part in the recent bomb outrage when an attempt was made to assassinate the Shah.

Casey Baldwin's Flight.

Hammondsport, N.Y., March 13.—In the aerodrome Redwing, F. W. (Casey) Baldwin yesterday made a flight of 319 feet over the ice. This is the first successful public flight yet made in America by a heavier-than-air flying machine. Many witnesses watched the machine as it skimmed along ten feet above the earth.

In view of the achievement Prof. Bell's assistants may make a try today for the prize offered by The Scientific American.

Machine Guns Against Strikers.

San Francisco, March 13.—Machine guns, operated by the Government forces of Chile, in a great conflict with strikers at the nitrate beds and in the City of Iquique, laid 2,500 men low, most of whom were killed, according to advices received by the Norwegian steamer Christian Bros.

This is supposed to be an exaggerated report of a clash reported some time ago, when 200 were killed.

Bones of Victims of Inquisition?

MENACE OF SOCIALISM

Lord Rosebery's Striking Address Before London Liberal League.

Says Protection Is Great Evil and Tyranny—Also Source of Corruption—Makes Strong Defence For House of Lords—Never More Needed Than at Present Time—Is a Necessary Barrier.

London, March 13.—"The active menace of Socialism" with which Great Britain is confronted was a prominent and striking feature of Lord Rosebery's Presidential address before the Liberal League yesterday.

The former Premier was discussing the necessity of the league's unceasing support of "sane Imperialism," which category he included the maintenance of the policy of free trade.

"Protection," Lord Rosebery declared, "is a great evil, a great tyranny and a great source of corruption." Continuing the speaker said that he foresaw, however, a time when the present movement in Parliament founded on ideas of social reform, might lead to such enormous pressure in the way of direct taxation as to make the nation seek relief from its intolerable burden by shifting a part of this burden to the taxation of imports. The time might come, but Lord Rosebery said he trusted to God it never would, when the Liberals would be forced to choose between allowing the Socialist to gain the upper hand or allying themselves with the party of protection in order to defeat Socialism. Of these two conditions he, for one, without hesitation, would prefer protection. This would be a great evil and a source of corruption, but Socialism would mean the end of the Empire, religious faith and freedom, and prosperity.

In the elections of 1907 Lord Rosebery went on, the country had seen the Liberals and Conservatives flying at each other's throats for the husks and letting the Socialism slip away with the kernel, namely, seats in Parliament, and they had witnessed the tragedy of the Liberals fighting under the banner of "No Second Chamber" at the very moment when a second chamber was most necessary in order to combat Socialism. Formerly Great Britain had a strong second chamber backed up by the veto of the sovereign. The veto of the sovereign has long since disappeared, said the former Premier, and now it is sought to do away with the second chamber. Contrast this, Lord Rosebery continued, with the conditions in the United States, the most democratic community in the world.

"There you find a written constitution not one syllable or letter of which can be altered without grave and lengthy constitutional processes. You find a Senate of overpowering authority, and you find a veto in the hands of the President. Not a veto that has fallen into deseutude but an active and vigorous element in the constitution. Here we have nothing but the feeble barrier of the hereditary second chamber, which it is now said ought to be entirely abolished.

"I honestly say, considering the menace of Socialism, which has reared its head in this country during the last year, and which is prepared to rear itself on every occasion again, that it strikes me as amazing that the Government, at the present time, should embark on the policy of abolishing the only barrier remaining between it and the people."

Lord Rosebery admitted that the House of Peers needed reform, but no such reform as was suggested by the present Government.

Italian Stabbed at Hamilton.

Hamilton, March 13.—What may turn out to be a case of murder was reported last night. In a row among Italians employed at Doolittle's quarries, near Dundas, one of the gang was stabbed in the abdomen.

He was brought to the city hospital at a late hour, and his condition was pronounced to be very serious. Two of his fellow-countrymen accompanied him, but as neither could speak English, the police could learn no particulars.

Grand Lodge Will Secede.

Vancouver, March 13.—The A.O.U.W. Grand Lodge decided yesterday in favor of secession from the American Supreme Lodge and the formation of a purely Canadian organization.

Robert Sword, advertising manager for David Spencer, was held up near the Dominion Hotel Wednesday night. Sword grappled with the highwayman, who escaped after a scuffle.

Magistrate Woodcock Remanded.

Toronto, March 13.—Thomas J. Woodcock, police magistrate and justice of the peace for the County of York, was again remanded a week in the Police Court yesterday morning upon two charges of perjury and one of conspiracy to defraud.

County Constable Savage also was remanded a week from the latter charge.

25,000 Have Wages Cut.

Lowell, Mass., March 13.—Notices announcing a wage reduction of 10 per cent., were posted in seven of the large cotton factories in this city during the noon luncheon hour yesterday. Nearly 25,000 operatives will be affected by the cut, which takes effect March 30.

Will Hang Assassin.

Denver, March 13.—Guiseppe Alia, who shot and killed Father Leo Heinrichs in St. Elizabeth's Church in this city, Feb. 23, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree. Hanging was the penalty fixed by the jury.

Japan Subsidies.

Tokio, March 13.—The demand of the press and the public of Japan for aggressive action against China in connection with the Tatsu affair is subsiding.

Redistribution Bill Was Introduced in the House

Preliminary Discussion in Ontario Legislature Yesterday.

British and United States Measures Quoted as Precedents—Respect For Boundaries and Equalization of Population Main Principles of Bill—Measure Goes to Committee—Municipal Election Days.

Toronto, March 13.—Hon. J. P. Whitney laid the Redistribution Bill with its series of empty schedules on the table in the Legislature yesterday. The measure was immediately referred to a committee of Messrs. Whitney, Hanna, Matheson, Macdiarmid and Dargavel, representing the Government, and Messrs. May, Bowman and Clarke, representing the Opposition.

At the opening of the sitting two important bills were introduced by Mr. J. J. Preston (Durham). Under the first measure the councils of towns and cities are permitted by bylaw to provide for holding municipal elections on the first Monday in December, nominations being held the Monday previous.

Mr. Preston's second measure had reference to committals to county Houses of Refuge, and provides that when the indigent person has not been for one year a resident of the municipality, the county has to pay the cost of maintenance.

Mr. D. J. McDougal (Ottawa) introduced an amendment to the Municipal Act, reducing the real property qualification in cities from $400 to $200.

In moving the second reading of the Redistribution Bill, Hon. Mr. Whitney referred to the course adopted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in introducing the last Dominion Redistribution Bill. "Our bill," said the Prime Minister, "is founded on the form of the bill there." It was not a cut and dried scheme, but the Opposition was to be invited to meet the Government representatives in the committee room and discuss the whole matter together. Mr. Whitney referred to the last British redistribution under Mr. Gladstone, when the leaders conferred as to the principles of the bill and a boundary commission was appointed to delimit the constituencies.

"I am quite satisfied," observed Mr. Whitney, "that we could obtain an impartial tribunal of three or five judges to do the work, but I see no reason why the representatives of the people should be allowed to get away from their responsibility. I do not mean to say it will be impossible to pick flaws in the committee's work, or that everyone will be satisfied, but I do express the conviction that the general public will be satisfied." The Prime Minister called attention to the fact that under the British redistribution by the Royal Engineers the Government had now a majority of some 300 in the House of Commons, while the vote showed that the majority should be about 60.

Mr. Whitney said that the present Legislative membership of 98 must be increased. Toronto was entitled to larger representation, although it would not be fair to distinctly observe the same system of population calculation which governed in rural constituencies. Northern Ontario was particularly deserving of increased representation, and Mr. Whitney ventured to predict that five years hence any one of the new northern constituencies would have a larger number of voters than any of the existing rural constituencies. In the riding of East Nipissing in 1902 there was a population of 25,000, to-day there was over 60,000. One portion of that riding showed an increase in population from 1,300 in 1901, to 30,000 at the present time.

"The principles to govern the bill," said Mr. Whitney, "are adhesion to county boundaries and the equalization of population."

In concluding the Prime Minister said that the representation according to population was less than that of many of the states he quoted.

Hon. Mr. MacKay stated that he did not want to complain at this stage. English methods had been referred to—there the principles had been determined by the leaders. Had that course been followed no objection could have been taken. The Government leader had also intimated that the work of distribution was already nearly done.

Mr. Whitney, rising—"Not at all. That could not be until the committee passed on them. What I said was there were ridings like Dundas, Glengarry and Stormont that nobody would think of altering."

Mr. MacKay—"The Premier said that the number of ridings to be changed was growing less every day, implying they were being dealt with."

However, if the committee did it's work well Mr. MacKay said he would have no objection. He challenged Toronto's right to increased representation. Toronto had two Cabinet Ministers and was the seat of Government. Toronto was well served. It had only five members in the Dominion House. As to representation by population he was surprised that Mr. Whitney had gone to the States where there was one representative to 20,000. Why did he not go to Britain where the average was 50,000 to 70,000.

Mr. Whitney said there was no precedent in England, consequently he could not go there. There were no Provincial Legislatures in England, Scotland, Ireland or Wales. As to Toronto the matter was solely in the hands of the committee.

Mr. Studholme wanted to know if the third party would be represented on the committee.

Mr. Whitney—"We will do anything he wants. If he wants we'll put him there."

Mr. Studholme—"I only want to be assured that the Independent Party will have the opportunity of saying something."

Mr. Whitney—"I have not yet noticed any occasion where the Independent Party failed to say something. (Laughter)

Mr. Studholme—"The Independent Party is not afraid to say something."

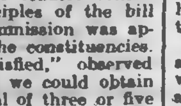
Mr. Whitney—"I am satisfied that neither the Independent Party or its representative is afraid of anything."

Mr. Preston (Brant) thought it was unfortunate that the parties had not had opportunity to confer as to the principles of the bill.

Mr. Whitney—"What other just principles could there be but county boundaries and equalization of population?"

The bill then passed its reading and and was referred to the committee.

CARTERS LITTLE LIVER PILLS.



CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

FOREST RESERVE ON ROCKIES.

Entire Eastern Slope to Be Kept by Dominion Government.

Montreal, March 13.—The important announcement was made by Hon. Sydney Fisher at the Dominion Forestry convention here yesterday that the Dominion Government had decided to set aside the whole eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains forever as a forest reserve, extending clear from the boundary to the extreme northern limits of the country.

This vast region, he stated, would be kept free from settlers and held for forest growth, which would be cut from time to time under such strict regulations as would preserve it for all time as a forest resource for the west. The announcement was received with hearty cheers by the delegates.

The convention, which is held here for the first time in many years, had a most auspicious opening, the marked features being the introduction of the bi-lingual system, in an effort to interest the people of Quebec in forest conservation, and the lively interest in the matter displayed by the Catholic clergy of the province. When Lieut.-Governor Sir Louis Jette formally opened the convention he was accompanied by Hon. Sydney Fisher, Archbishop Bruchesi, Bishop Racicot, Mgr. Laflamme, and Canon Dauth of Laval, all of whom took a very active part in the convention.

Archbishop Bruchesi spoke at length on the work by the cures in Quebec province to guard the habitants from recklessly wasting their forest wealth, and promised his own co-operation and that of his clergy in the convention.

Despite the interested speech of Hon. Mr. Fisher, the Government came in for some condemnation later on, during a discussion of the neglect of the country's forests.

Robert Meighen, who is interested very largely in New Brunswick timber limits, declared that the forests were neglected, and that neither the Dominion nor Provincial Governments were doing their duty in the matter.

A proposition was brought up to try and induce the Governments in issuing land patents to insert a clause providing that certain sections of each grant should be preserved for all time as timber lands. This, however, was considered by Ontario representatives as impossible, and provocative of political wire-pulling, and will be further debated.

Fire on Big Bridge.

New York, March 13.—Fire of mysterious origin started Wednesday night at a comparatively inaccessible place, far up on the unused elevated railway on the new Williamsburg bridge, close to the Brooklyn anchorage. The blaze was discovered quickly and there was little wind blowing. Otherwise great damage to the splendid and costly structure might have been wrought.

Following so closely on the finding of dynamite which had been hidden at one of the towers of the uncompleted Blackwell's Island bridges the blaze on the Williamsburg span led the police to suspect a general anarchistic plot against the great public works of the city as the outgrowth of the labor troubles.

Theatre Manager Gone.

London, Ont., March 13.—Louis H. Bowers, for a year manager of the Grand Opera House, has left the town hurriedly. He is said to have been heard from yesterday from Chicago. The reason for his disappearance is said to be due to complaints which reached the police that Bowers had been misconducting himself with young girls. Bowers is about 40 years of age, and came here from Louisville, Kentucky.

His theatre accounts are said to be straight, but stories that he has outstanding personal accounts to the amount of perhaps $1,000 are heard.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cables About Steady—Hogs Are Higher at Buffalo Market.

LONDON, March 12.—London cables are steady at 10½c to 13c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9c to 9½c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, March 12.—The total receipts of live stock at the City Market since Tuesday, as reported by the railways, were 100 carloads, composed of 1535 cattle, 1975 hogs, 503 sheep and yearling lambs, and 114 calves.

Exporters.

A few choice quality export steers sold at $5.50 to $5.35; these same cattle would have brought $5.30 to $5.35, which was the top price of picked steers two weeks ago. T. Halligan bought one load of exporters gathered up on the market in small lots, at $5.12½ to $5.35. Jesse Dunn bought 11 steers, 1250 lbs. each, at $5.10 to $5.20 per cwt.; these were taken to the byres at the distillery to be further fed, altho they were better in quality than many that have been shipped. Export bulls sold at $3.75 to $4.35 for the bulk.

Butchers.

George Rowntree, who bought 500 cattle on Wednesday and Thursday, for the Harris Abattoir Co., quoted prices for butcher cattle as follows: Good butchers' and light exporters, at $4.50 to $4.90 per cwt.; fair to medium butchers', $4 to $4.20; light butchers' and good cows, $3.50 to $3.85; common to medium cows, at $3 to $2.50; light inferior cows, $2 to $2.85 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a slow trade in stockers and feeders this week, in sympathy with other lines. Messrs. Murby bought about 200 head of butchers' feeders and stockers this week at the following quotations: Best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs. each, at $4 to $4.00 per cwt.; best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.60 to $4; best stockers, thin, 700 to 900 lbs. each, at $3; light stockers, thin, 600 to 700 lbs. each, at $2.75 to $3; butchers', from $3.50 to $4.00.

Milkers and Springers.

About 40 or 50 fresh arrivals of milkers and springers, the bulk of which were of medium quality, with a few good and an odd choice cow, interspersed in the lot, sold from $30 to $56 each, but only one cow at the latter price.

Veal Calves.

Prices for the bulk of the veal calves sold at $3 to $6 per cwt., with a very few choice at $6.50 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Prices for sheep and lambs generally were easier. The best lambs were quoted at $6.50 to $7 per cwt., but there were a very few selected ewes and wethers that sold at $7.25 per cwt.; common rough lambs sold at $5 to $6 per cwt.; export ewes, $4.25 to $4.75 per cwt.; rams, at $3 to $4 per cwt.

Reached Home From Toronto Last Night; Jiddy Miller Thinks Well of Brantford

Mr. Walter "Jiddy" Miller reached home from Toronto last night, and is feeling well after a hard season of hockey in fast professional company. He has a mark of beauty, however in a badly discolored black eye which he received in the Brantford-Berlin game on Thursday the 5th. The discoloration was further augmented in Toronto on Wednesday last when he was again struck in the same place. Both times the injury was inflicted accidentally.

"Jiddy" is very much taken up with Brantford. He likes the Telephone City and also the way the people there treated him. He says the professional games are fast and strenuous. He admires the Toronto championship seven, and considers them a speedy and well balanced bunch.

He states the game in Toronto on Wednesday between the All Stars and Toronto was a good one, but was played on an inch of water which handicapped both teams. The ice, however, was in hard condition underneath, and a pretty fair clip was set.

His visit to Peterborough will be only a short one and he expects to go back to Brantford in about two weeks.

THE EXAMINER WHITEWASHED POST SEVEN

Lindsay Type Slingers Lost by 3-0 On Their Own Ice Last Night

The Examiner put it on the Lindsay Post in Lindsay last night in surprisingly good style. The Scugog aggregation couldn't find the nets at all, while the Examiner outfit tallied three times. All the goals were scored in the first half. On the second half the locals played a defence game and the play was very close as the fact that neither team scored, will indicate.

The feature of the game was Graham's remarkable showing in goal for the Examiner. Josiah Craig the regular flagman flatly refused to go with the team because he wanted to see "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp," and it's a good thing for the Examiner that that production struck town. Graham is not as showy a player as Josiah, with his loud uniform, but has more to show for his work, and doesn't make such a show of the game. In fact he can show Mr. J. at all times when any showing is to be done.

The teams lined up as follows;

Examiner		Post

Graham		Connell

Glover		Williams

Clarke		Henley

Theobald		Barry

Huston		Higinbotham

LINDSAY WON ON HOME ICE

Peterborough Curlers Had Game With Lindsay Rinks

Lindsay Post says;

As a result of the more frequent visits of Peterborough curlers to Lindsay ice this season, due to the destruction of that club's fine rink by fire early in the season, the friendly relations existing between the members of the respective clubs has been greatly fostered, and the bond of sympathy and good fellowship was never stronger than at present.

The local players have enjoyed these frequent friendly games to the utmost, and were delighted yesterday when word was received that three or four rinks would be up on the 6.20 train, although Beaverton had been taken on in the afternoon and Bobcaygeon between 5 and 7 o'clock. The ice was stiff and players had to work hard. Rinks and scores;

Wanderers Won This Game Too

Montreal, March 12.—The Wanderers defeated the Maple Leafs tonight by the decisive score of 9—3. The half-time score was 3 to 2 in favor of the Wanderers. On the two games the Wanderers lead by twelve goals and have demonstrated that they are vastly superior to the western team.

The teams were;

Wanderers—Hern, Ross, Smaill, Glass, Blachford, Stuart, Johnston.

Maple Leafs—Winchester, Forrester, Holden, Shore, Kennedy, Campbell, Lake.

Referee—C. Kirkby. Judge—"Chic" Henry.

Jeff Turns Down a Large Offer

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—James J. Jeffries scoffs at the idea of returning again to the prize ring. Tex Rickard, the Nevada mining man, has offered Jeffries inducements which amounted in the aggregate to $35,000 for a match with "Jack" Johnson. Jeffries laughed at the offer and refused. The unbeaten heavyweight pugilist says he will not take the chances of marring his record. He says he knows his condition at the present time, but he does not know what show he would make in the ring six months hence. It is this doubt which keeps him out of the game.

British Mine Owners Threatens.

London, March 13.—The colliery owners who have been conferring in this city on the subject of the Government's bill and being an eight-hour day for miners, yesterday decided, should Parliament pass the measure, to advance the price of coal 36 cents per ton and to make all future contracts on this basis.

Cows Have Tuberculosis.

Winnipeg, March 13—The city council are taking very rigid steps for the extinction of tuberculosis among cattle and milch cows. It is stated that 75 per cent. of the cows in the city are affected with tuberculosis, some in very mild form, but others in a very advanced stage.

Dublin Jewels Recovered?

London, March 13.—There are unconfirmed reports, both in London and Dublin that the crown jewels, recently stolen from Dublin Castle, have been recovered from a pawnbroker and returned to Dublin Castle.

Old Horseshoes.

Vice Consul Ernest Vollmer reports that one of the constantly growing imports into the Chinese province of Shangtung through the port of Tsingtau is old horseshoes, which lends him to give the following particulars: "One steamer alone in November brought 300 tons of this scrap iron from Hamburg. The market for these wornout shoes seems to be almost without limit. Chinese iron dealers buy the horseshoes and sell them to knife and tool manufacturers all over the province. It is claimed by the Chinese that the temper of this class of iron makes it the best obtainable for knives and cutlery and also good for other tools. The reason ascribed for this is that the constant beating the shoes have received under the feet of horses has given them a peculiar temper absolutely unobtainable in any other way and that tools made from them are superior to all others."

New Way to Collect Fares.

There is a new wrinkle in New York on the ten cent automobile buses of Fifth avenue which is warranted to give any one a start the first time one meets it. It is an automatic coin receiver, looking more like a revolver than anything else, through which the conductor is required to receive all fares. When he comes along and instead of holding out his hand for the dime shoves the muzzle of the nickel plated weapon in your face the shock is considerable. The contrivance is of course designed to prevent the conductors from dipping into the cash. A rule is posted declaring that the conductor may not touch anybody's fare. If you need change, he is authorized to return the full amount, and then you must tuck the dime into the slot of the machine yourself.—New York Sun.

Young Man Had Finger Amputated

Mr. D. Brion Victim of Painful Accident at C.G.E. Works

Mr. D. Brion, 50 Aylmer street, was the victim of a painful accident yesterday afternoon while engaged at his work at the C.G.E. works. Mr. Brion is employed in the brass department, and while adjusting some machinery his left hand became caught with the result that it was badly injured. Dr. Young was called and had the young man removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the middle finger of his left hand. The injured man was able to return to his home a few hours after the operation.

AWAKENING OF MR. PIPP

There is but one laugh in "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp" and that's from beginning to end. Grapewin, the inimitable compelled the mirthful attention of an audience that filled every seat in the Grand last night and was given the able assistance of a large company in the presentation of the above original and sparkling comedy. The role of Mr. Pipp was not created for Charley Grapewin, for Charley Grapewin created the part himself. He simply loves it and is as natural and human in portraying the character as if his stage experiences were actual happenings in his life. He appealed to his auditors last night as one of the smoothest and drollest comedians ever seen on the local stage. His wit was bright and spontaneous and his comedy work was never overdrawn.

Anna Chance was very pleasing as Mrs. Pipp and has a decidedly refined and winning presence. Fred Wayne did some really clever comedy work as Mugsy, a messenger boy. He was on the stage a great deal and his funny expressions and antics were the cause of much laughter and applause. The others of the cast were all good and taken altogether, "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp" was a remarkably intelligent and well balanced interpretation.

The plot of the play deals with Mr. Pipp's carousal after a twelve-months' abstinence, of his painful awakening and of his final shaking off of his consuming thirst to the joy of his wife and the credit of himself. In the awakening scene there is real pathos as well as instructive humor.

Former Local Doctor Performs Operation With New Methods

Dr. Anderson, of Toronto, Operates on Man With New Anaesthetic, Stovaine—Chatted With Attendants and Felt no Pain—First Time Used in Canada.

The Dr. Anderson referred to in the article printed below was formerly a resident of this city, having lived here some years ago. The operation performed was the first experiment in Canada and the success attending it is attributed to Dr. Anderson's ability and skill. The article is as follows:—

While the surgeons sewed portions of his intestines together yesterday afternoon at the General Hospital, Frank Simpson talked with the attendants. He was quite sensible mentally, but his body had been temporarily paralysed for the purpose of effecting the very delicate operation.

It was the first experiment in Canada with the new anaesthetic, "stovaine," and it may play a part in changing materially the methods employed in surgical operations throughout the world. Stovaine was invented by Dr. Forneau, an eminent chemist of Paris. It contains no cocaine and has the power to render the patient's body insensible to pain but at the same time leave his mind free and clear.

THREE TIMES BEFORE.

Simpson had already been operated on tree times. He had been kicked by a horse and seriously injured in the intestines. The parts were terribly torn. When Dr. Duncan Anderson found yesterday that another operation was necessary, Simpson was in a very weak condition. The administration of cocaine or ether the doctors knew would be fatal. It was decided to try stovaine. Dr. Anderson made an injection of the fluid into the sac covering the patient's spinal cord. The effect was that the patient could feel no pain below the second rib, but he was perfectly rational. Then the doctors succeeded in uniting torn ligaments.

IS IMPROVING STEADILY.

Yesterday Frank Simpson's recovery seemed doubtful. He was in a moribund condition. This morning and ever since the operation, the surgeons say, he has been improving steadily. There are now good reasons to hope for recovery.

Dr. Anderson said that while the anaesthetic had been used with very satisfactory results by Prof. Barker, of University College, London, England, it was a new departure in the use of anaesthetics in Canada. Prof. Barker had only failed in eight cases in 200 in which he had employed the anaesthetic. The value of the form of treatment was very great in cases where patients could not be operated on under the usual conditions owing to weakness. The new anaesthetic eliminated the dangerous after effects of the completely paralyzed kind.

Sinners Urged to Repent; Faith Should be Strong

Much Success Attending the Mission at St. John's Church—Many Present Last Evening.

"The reason why so many people are temporarizing and not taking advantage of their spiritual privileges is because they think the Kingdom of God is still a long piece away." Thus spoke Rev. Mr. Barber, of Bobcaygeon at the Mission service at St. John's church last night. The church was well filled and the spirit of the service was entered into with heartiness. The hymns sung were familiar to all present and they were sung with enthusiasm to the accompaniment of Mr. Gliddon's orchestra.

"Repent ye and believe the Gospel," was Mr. Barber's text and his address was in two parts, a hymn being sung between the first and second portion The speaker began by giving a clear definition of what repentance meant. To repent meant to turn away from something, it mattered not what. It was a complete change from the course one had been following. There were many in the world who were following paths of sin. There were two roads in the world—the steep and narrow path that led upwards to glory and the broad and pleasant road that led downward unto destruction. Every person was following either one of these roads, and every one knew which path he or she was travelling along. If they were on the wrong path it was necessary to repent and turn their back upon the life that had been followed and proceed along the lines laid down by Jesus Christ. There was no use attempting to deceive God as to the kind of life one was living. One might deceive the world and even deceive one's self but there was no deceiving God. He saw into every heart and knew the kind of life that was being led. The speaker made a strong appeal to his auditors to repent if their lives had not been what they should. "Repent ye for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand," St. John the Baptist had said. It was right in our midst at the present time. People were called away suddenly and no one knew when the end might come. There should be no putting off in regard to repentance. The Kingdom of God was right now, not some time in the dim future.

After a hymn had been sung, Rev. Mr. Baker proceeded with the second part of his text, "Believe the Bible." He pointed out the necessity of christians having faith. There should be no doubt whatever in the heart of the true believer. He told the story of the boy who was flying his kite on an exceedingly foggy day. It was impossible to see the kite but the boy said in response to a question, that he knew it was there because he could "feel the pull." There was a pull that would be felt by the christian who was strong in faith. He would have full and perfect satisfaction.

Masonry Work on Armories to be Taken up Again Soon

Mr. A. Simpson of Sarnia in Charge of Above Operations Arrived in City Yesterday—Work to be Resumed About First of Next Month—Carpenters Will Commence Soon After.

Mr. A Simpson, of Sarnia, who is in charge of the masonry work on the Armories, arrived in the city yesterday noon and is having a look over the buildings preparatory to commencing operations on the masonry work this spring. The work will probably be resumed about the first of next month. It was discontinued last December.

Shortly after the masons begin their work the carpenters will also start. It is expected that the building will be ready for the roof some time in the early part of July. There will be about thirty men engaged on the masonry work.

Things have been pretty quiet about the Armouries, owing to the cold weather, but will soon be the scene of much activity. There has been some stone cutting going on during the winter, six or eight men being engaged in the work, but all other operations had to be suspended, owing to the cold weather.

Late Jas. Hopwood a Pioneer Resident of This District

Mr. Jas. Hopwood, whose death is reported from Toronto, was well known in Peterborough and vicinity, having been connected with the business of the late Mr. Goodfellow at Springville, for many years, and was afterwards employed as a grain buyer by Mr. Cluxton. Later he was accountant for six years for the firm of Needler and Sadler, of Lindsay. The family moved to Toronto twenty years ago. In his early years he was assessor for the township of Cavan, where he was highly respected by a large number of friends. The late Mr. Hopwood was one of the few surviving veterans of the rebellion of 1837, when he done picket and garrison duty along the frontier between Port Hope and Niagara Falls. He was married at Cavanville fifty eight years ago, and is survived by a widow, three daughters and two sons, Mr. W. J. Hopwood of this city, being the eldest of the surviving sons.

The late Mr. Hopwood was 87 years of age.

G. T. R. Fireman is Left Large Fortune by English Relative

Mr. James L. Wood, fireman on the Toronto G.T.R. flyer, received word the other day that he had fallen heir to a large fortune in England. The amount is said to be something over £3,000 or $15,000. It is understood that the money was left by a rich relative. Whether Mr. Wood will leave for the Old Country is not known. Mr. Wood is extremely lucky to receive such a large fortune and his many friends are congratulating him.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP V. PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

A Study of the Question—An Able Analysis by the President of the Canadian Society of Engineers—Which Gives the Best Service at the Lowest Cost? What is the Difference Between Public Ownership and Public Control?

In our sketch last month of the proceedings of the Canadian Society of Engineers, who held their annual meeting at Montreal from January 28th to 30th last, some brief excerpts were made from the address of the retiring president, Mr. W. McLea Walbank, B.A., Sc. Since that time the complete address has been forwarded us, and as many of our readers are interested in the subject of "Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities vs. Private Enterprise," upon which subject Mr. Wallbank is more than usually competent to speak, we have reprinted his remarks:

The Institute of English Bankers a short time ago attributed the widespread depression that existed in England at that time, to the engagement in municipal trading. They pointed out "That it had been productive of many evils, such as the elimination of personal initiative and enterprise, evasion of the natural laws of commerce, the creation of a favored class of labor. It has brought corruption in politics, and partially eliminated in many directions any further attempts to engage in private industry."

The country has been after the corporations recently to such an extent that we have been unnerved, tired of leading such a life, and seek rest. The losses in credit and values of money during the past year have been untold. Even those who have safety deposit boxes, full of securities, through lack of credit are unable to obtain money to carry on their works so necessary at this time of the year, to give employment to those who will otherwise feel the pinch of hunger.

The recent panic was not a rich man's panic, not even an industrial panic, it was a financial panic, which every man, woman and child is bound to feel the effects of. We have been attempting too big a business with too small a capital. As long as there was confidence and its resulting credit, a small amount of money accomplished wonders, but destroy that confidence replace it with distrust, and a large amount of money accomplishes but little. There is not sufficient money in this country to carry on business if actual cash must pass from hand to hand. A short time since our industrial conditions were all that could be desired, but a spirit of unrest and discontent had appeared. The working classes are arrayed against capital. The professional agitator is seeking new recruits, and political interest knows no law, but to succeed. Votes are gained, business may suffer, may even go to the dogs, but who cares? Corporations can be taxed; that is what they are there for. I do not wish to be understood as saying that corporations are not in a measure responsible for this state of affairs. When we read of great railroads giving secret rebates enriching the recipients and suppressing competition in the interests of individuals, of the enormous amounts of cash and bonds in the hands of insurance companies, of how large companies are promoted and their capital inflated by their organizers giving large bonuses of common stock to those who subscribe for its bonds—is it any wonder that labor rebels and becomes arrayed against capital?

Is their condemnation of wealth, trusts and corporations justifiable? Have they forgotten that it is from these sources that the people at large have derived hospitals, colleges, museums, special chairs of learning, and other beneficient uses too numerous to mention. I think that a close examination of most gas, electric and public utility companies will reveal the fact that the public and taxpayers in general derive more benefit than do the ordinary shareholders, whose money has made these possible. To those engaged in the management of electric and gas plants it seems impossible that the clamor for municipal ownership of these utilities, based on the theory that municipalities can produce these commodities as cheap, or nearly as cheap, as the corporations, can be founded on fact.

You must realize that self-interest and the interest in getting returns on investments, point towards the economical management of large enterprises, and while we may not be beyond reproach of criticism many of the so-called evils are the result of unwise legislation. Ill-advised efforts are made by governing bodies through legislative assemblies to secure advantages over corporations that can only result in causing the investor to feel that his interests are being attacked, and causes him to resist such legislation, the result being a feverish agitation between the would-be perfecter of civic government and the owners of corporate properties, without either party reaching a satisfactory conclusion.

If so-called reformers would only take the trouble to investigate carefully both sides of the problem, many of the supposed evils would disappear, and what they would have left to work upon would be the substitution of civic or political management in lieu of industrial management. The civic politician sees an easy road to office through catering to and fanning the flame of public discontent, to which "yellow journalism" has given birth. He sees votes and shouts for municipal ownership indiscriminately. He never loses an opportunity in season and out of season of pointing out how wretchedly our companies are managed, and how extortionate are the tolls that are extracted from the public, compared with the rates that might be expected if Mr. Alderman had the management. He sees great possibilities of extending his patronage by an increased list of employees, and the expending of vast sums of money, while the average citizen thinks he sees a favorable opportunity to obtain a necessary commodity at a greatly reduced cost. Were a referendum taken, I have no hesitation in saying that the majority of citizens unless they were property-owners whose lands would have to pay the costs in taxes, would vote for free gas, free electric light, free telephones, free street railway service, free groceries, free newspapers—in short, all the necessaries of life free of cost.

In pointing out the fallacy of municipal ownership, Mr. M. J. Francisco, an engineer, who has devoted a great deal of thought and study to the question, in his work on the subject says:

"The whole foundation of municipal ownership is based upon the assumption that inexperienced hired employees of a city who have not a dollar at risk, and in many cases have been given the position as a reward for helping some political aspirant to office, can and will run the plant and manage the business more successfully than the members of a private corporation, notwithstanding the latter may have nearly all their property invested in the enterprise, and a failure means ruin to them. It is not reasonable to suppose that men under such conditions will give closer attention to business and investigate every branch and detail of its work? It is a well-established axiom that the more a man has at risk the closer attention he gives to details.

"It is well known that municipal ownership is purely and simply a political move to secure votes for for some aspirant to office, and that it is used for this purpose regardless of any other question. Parties have publicly announced that they are using it as a plank upon which to stand while they gather in the votes.

"It has become a well-established principle with both parties that civic government is the lawful spoils of the victorious party. It is for the purpose of getting the votes of the laboring class that lower rates of taxation, with shorter hours and higher wages are promised, but these are forgotten as soon as the election is passed, as was shown in Detroit and other places.

"When the advocates of municipal ownership find themselves unable to disprove the facts disclosed under municipal management in this country, they immediately fall back upon Glasgow and the wonders achieved there by municipal ownership. The conditions are not the same in Glasgow as are found in the United States. The government is entirely different, and the political situation that exists in this country is not found there. Wages are less than half those paid in this country. Conductors on street cars are paid 93 cents per day for the first year, while conductors on street cars in New York are paid $2.00 the first year and $2.25 after that. The average wages for the railroad men in Glasgow are 78 cents per day, while in New York they are $1.88. Here we have a difference of more than 100 per cent in wages alone.

"Anyone who has travelled over the street railroads in Glasgow knows perfectly well that the whole equipment and accommodations are antiquated and behind the day, while the service furnished there would not be tolerated in any city in the United States. We are also told that the profit or revenue from the street railway in Glasgow, is so large that it pays all the expenses of the government, while in fact the roads are not operated for the purpose of producing a revenue to meet current expenses of the municipality. Instead of there being no taxes in Glasgow, they are more burdensome than in this country. Rents are taxed 12 1-2 cents on every dollar that man pays and the owner of the property has to pay the same amount of tax. Besides this, license taxes are levied. You pay a tax for every servant you employ in the house, also on every horse or carriage; in fact you cannot turn round without running against the tax collector."

What would become of electric light, telephone, street railway and gas plants, if these undertakings were in the hands of municipal authorities? Would improvements in these enterprises be encouraged or would they remain at a standstill? The whole question seems to me too simple for elaborate discussion. A municipality should not be allowed to tax its citizens for its own benefit, but for the benefit of the whole and not of the few. Administration of justice, the protection of life and property, the police and fire departments, and civic affairs generally, such as the maintenance of roads and sanitary conditions are things in which all should be called upon to bear their proportionate share of cost. We might go so far as to include water, as this commodity is needed by every person, rich as well as poor, for fire protection and sanitary purposes. It comes therefore fitly under municipal control, and at this stage I might say that if a private company were furnishing the water that is being furnished today to the City of Montreal, the citizens would rise up in arms. Would they accept unfiltered St. Lawrence or Ottawa River for domestic use, receiving as it does the deluge of the towns between Toronto and Ottawa and Montreal, and at a price fully twice as high as it would be were it under private control? My answer is No.

The water works plant is undoubtedly operating at a considerable profit, and the city as a whole it is hoped is benefiting financially. On the contrary, were we to take the case of gas or electric light, if it is operated at a profit, then the users of the light are paying that profit. If it is run at a loss, then the municipality is carrying on a business which is not profitable, to the detriment of the taxpayers who are not using light.

That there are many honest supporters of municipal ownership who have been deceived by the highly-colored, but false reports from cities that are experimenting with this question, is undeniable. It is only natural to suppose that municipalities after having made large investments in municipal enterprises should endeavor to justify what they have done. They certainly will be reluctant in throwing the limelight on their errors in acts and conclusions. On the contrary the tendency will be to suppress the bad and give prominence to the good, which is only to be expected and this important question really gets serious consideration from owners of property only when the situation becomes acute or puts the taxpayers on the defensive.

The following analogy is taken from "Municipal Ownership":

"Aesop's fable of the fox and his lost tail here finds excellent application. The wily old fellow wished company in his misery and, we recall urged all the other foxes to cut off their tails. He gave as many favorable reasons as a proud possessor of a municipal plant can offer a sister municipality in urging her to do likewise.

But the assembled foxes remembered that the loss of a tail is easily accomplished; that the troublesome thing is to get it back again. Municipal, like private, funds may be spent at any time—they take flight easily—with less ease one again gets possession of them."

Governments, federal, provincial, or civic, are instituted for the purpose of protection, not production. It would be just as reasonable for either of these bodies to enter any pursuit, such as bakers, grocers, saloon keepers, or the insurance business, as it is for them to enter the field of public utilities, and

"Just so sure as a nation becomes a commercial producer, competing against its own citizens, just so sure will the seeds of its own disintegration be shown. There is no finality to municipal enterprise."

The character of a public service is to be judged as much by the extent of the service as by its cost. In other words, it is better to serve double the area and number of inhabitants at a given cost, than it is to serve one-half that number at half cost.

Recent public reports of Glasgow, Edinburg, Manchester, Leeds and Birmingham, show that they are operating a smaller number of lamps than Chicago alone, and very few more than Boston, while the combined population is a million more than Chicago, and fully five times that of Boston. If you take Glasgow, Hull, Brighton, Portsmouth and Swansea, you will find that on December 31st, 1905, the number of municipal telephones was less than 20,000, while the number of private telephones was over 40,000. In 1905 the increase in municipally-operated telephones was 13.05 per cent., and the private telephones 92 per cent.

EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISES.

Exclusive franchises are not popular, but the best service at the lowest cost can only be secured in gas, electricity, telephones, or street railways, by one company having exclusive control within given limits. But in such cases, in order to protect the public, exclusive franchises should only be given under some sort of public control.

Mr. Allen R. Foote, commissioner of the Ohio Board of Commerce, is quoted as follows:—

"You want the best obtainable service at the lowest profitable price. It goes without saying that you cannot get that condition by dividing your demand between two or more corporations. The economics of production and distribution are not increased by division, but by concentration. Therefore, the problem properly analyzed does not admit of competition as a factor.

"In the past record of this country, the whole effort has been to regulate public service utilities by competition and all the complaints that are now being pressed, of discrimination in rates and rebates, secrecy of accounting and over-capitalization, are the direct and legitimate results of attempting to regulate a business that is a natural monopoly by the principles of competition. Assuming the point of view that a business is a natural monopoly, then it must be controlled and regulated by principles to control monopolies. That means public regulations."

During the past year the city of Syracuse appointed a special commission to inquire into the lighting question, and their report was handed in on the 3rd of September last. The findings of the committee are adverse to a municipal plant either for gas or electricity, and the following is quoted from their report, which is now a public document:

"The granting of a franchise which results in competition in electric lighting and power service is fraught with many grave contingencies. The inconvenience and annoyance to the public in having duplicate systems of poles and wires in the streets is sufficiently obvious, and it is not necessary to enlarge upon that feature of such a situation. Only most urgent necessity for relief from unsatisfactory services and excessive rates, and the failure of other practicable remedies, would warrant such a step.

"Duplication of electrical distributing systems increases the number of poles and wires in and over our streets, with consequent greater difficulty in contending with fires. The responsibility from accidents from crossed wires and defective construction is not so readily and certainly fixed when numerous independent systems of wires are in the streets.

"The division of the business between competing companies makes it less practicable to compel the use of underground conduits extensively, because competition renders the business less profitable to both companies, or if separate conduits are constructed, the disturbances of the surface of the streets become a more serious annoyance to the public.

"As against the possibility that the public might receive, at least for a time, better rates and service, is the other possibility (not to say probability) of an agreement being arranged between the nominally competing companies, which would nullify the effect aimed at through competition. If we may draw deductions from practically all previous experience with such utility corporations, we may conclude that the outcome—should the Niagara Distributing Company actually have entered the local field—would probably have been either an agreement with the Syracuse Lighting Company to divide the business along territorial or other lines, or else a consolidation of the two corporations on some basis to their advantage, rather than to the advantage of the public.

"The division of the business would probably not enhance the grade of service to individual users, nor reduce the rates for power or light. On the other hand, it would naturally have the opposite effect.

"Merging of two companies would result in a larger capitalization on which the consolidated company would endeavor to pay interest or dividends. It would also naturally desire to recoup itself for reduced returns during the period of competition. We may conclude, therefore, that competition in itself is not to be desired in the electric lighting and power field."

COMPENSATION FOR FRANCHISES.

You may have noticed in connection with public utility franchises that certain civic rulers, and I may say, the press, have publicly demanded from the companies certain percentages on their gross earnings, to be applied to the making of good roads, etc. Now, if the price for service is based on cost, it matters little to the companies whether they pay the percentage demanded direct to the municipality or not. If the public demand it why cannot the companies pay it, as it would simply be an added expense to cost? If they do not demand it, then the cost, and consequently the selling price, would be so much less. It then becomes a question whether the company is to be a public taxgatherer for the municipality, or whether the municipality should collect direct from the citizens, which to my mind is the only fair way, otherwise you compel a small minority of the citizens using the commodity in question to unfairly contribute to the city's revenue, while the benefits would be reaped by all.

REMEDIES.

Having reviewed the origin of the agitation for municipal ownership of public utilities, I will endeavor to point out my idea as to the proper remedies, and I would say right here that the remedy does not lie with the companies alone. It lies with the company, the consumer and the public. There must be some give-and-take from the company, the authorities, and the public, or nothing effective will result. Public companies for their own salvation must endeavor to give the best service at the lowest cost. In my opinion the best results will be obtained by a system of public control. A "Public Service Commission," framed on the lines of the existing Railway Commission at Ottawa, would go a long way to protect the interests of both the company and the user. Reasonable inflation of capital is necessary to offset the possible loss or questionable profit. Fair treatment for capital invested in corporative enterprises is imperative. Capital is answerable to public opinion, which is oft-times unreasonable and must be led, not disregarded. Rather educate the people in the fact that public corporations should have the same protection in the enjoyment of the rights to their property as is enjoyed by other investors.

Massachusetts, has had a form of public control of private companies for the past thirteen years that appears to have given fairly good satisfaction. No doubt it has also its imperfections and at times we hear of corporations and the public not being satisfied with its application in specific cases. On the whole, however, it has been advantageous. The consumers are better and more cheaply served, and employed capital is better protected. Stock watering has been eliminated and reasonable returns on capital allowed. Badly-framed or viciously applied laws could do serious damage, but with a real desire on the side of all parties to secure a justice for all alike, public control offers a far better solution of all difficulties than does municipal ownership.

As I have stated, public companies must endeavor to give the best service at fair rates, and the most satisfactory results will be obtained by following the lines laid down by the "London Sliding Scale," thus making the consumer a partner in the enterprise by reducing the price as rapidly as is consistent with sound management, and by treating the public as though they were its servants, not its masters. In all intercourse with the consumer or public, be it through the highest official of the company or its office boy, it should be the aim of the company to establish good feeling with the customer, even at the sacrifice of personal dignity. When the public appreciate that they are being fairly treated by corporations they will not object to fair returns on the capital invested.

So far as I can judge, the consensus of opinion of writers on this subject seems to be that some form of public supervision and control of charges for service by quasi-public corporations, offers the only solution of the problem.

"It preserves individual initiative, does not discourage enterprise nor the combination of private capital. It leaves industrial freedom unharmed, simply controls it in the public interest, enforces the rights of the consumers, while protecting the rights of industrial liberty."

Port Hope Man Badly "Stung"

Cashed Cheque for Stranger and Found Out That it Was Not Genuine

Port Hope, March 12—A prominent Port Hope stationer was defrauded of $24.58 recently by endorsing the cheque of a silver-tongued drummer. The commercial traveller was representing a picture post card firm of Toronto. He is about 22 years of age, and when he presented himself before his victim was neatly dressed. He had called on this merchant on previous occasions. This time he related a tale of misfortune. He said that he had lost his suit case and wanted to buy another. He showed a cheque for $22 which he said had been advanced him by his employers. He required to use this to pay for a suit case, and asked the merchant to identify him.

The merchant took the traveller to Mr. J. L. Thompson's store and identified him but Mr. Thompson would not accept the cheque and the merchant finally endorsed it himself. A suit case was then purchased, the cheque being taken in payment and the traveller got the change. The traveller afterwards visited the store of Ben Olver & Co. where wearing apparel was purchased. Although the traveller said that his samples had gone to Belleville he left for Toronto that evening. The Toronto firm later declared the cheque to be a forgery. The merchant had to bear the loss on the cheque and also extra protest charges which brought the amount up to $24.58.

A TABLE THAT IS A NOVELTY

Made by G. W. Mulligan—On Exhibition at Fairs Store

Mr. G. W. Mulligan has just completed a fancy card table of pure Brazillian mahogany, inlaid with some particularly difficult work. The centre piece is a twelve-point double star of twelve different kinds of wood, four corner pieces of burl walnut, curly maple and quartered oak.

In the legs are triangular pieces the root of a black oak tree. They are quarter cut and nearly white. The table has been placed on exhibition up till Saturday night in the window of R. Fair & Co., after which it will be shipped to a lady in Toronto. The table is a work of art, and Mr. Mulligan is willing to instruct in the inlaying process any young man desirous of learning it.

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 10074 on my life, the dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprised me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on the same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL In Your Spare Time at Home

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together, any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

Write for particulars.

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1908.

SIR FREDERICK BORDEN

This gentleman adorns the Department of Militia. He was asked to attend a function at the Ottawa Y.M.C.A., but the press despatch says that the directors apologized to the public for having invited him. As head of the Militia Department he is the chief advisor of the department of arms and accoutrements. He is concerned in the foisting of the Ross rifle upon the people of Canada. He has told an admiring public time and again that this excellent rifle was an entirely Canadian product, and now we find that like most other things laid claim to as virtues or accomplishments by this administration it is a failure and a swindle. Now that the smoke of blast and counterblast has cleared away we see another wreck—a rifle that is a national arm imported in its most important parts from the United States.

This is the most intensely funny thing of the year. "The necessary pieces cannot be made in Canada, and are imported from Massachusetts," says the Yankee manufacturer. There is no good in disputing it. We are "easy." We will grant that Sir Wilfrid and his Cabinet look like statesmen but there it ends. One thing after another one thing worse than another—all are smashing up or breaking down. This is Canada's unlucky day. Emmerson, Sifton, Turriff, Hyman, Sir Frederick Borden, Oliver, Pugsley—the seven chief virtues personified—all contribute to the glorification of the pages of Canadian history! Perhaps the pageant of the coming summer to be enacted on the Plains of Abraham and presided over by royalty, will make the electors think that everything is right. Perhaps that is what it is intended for.

ECONOMY

This cycle of full years during which the trade of the world grew large and appeared likely to continue to increase has come to an end. Signs of the times are not wanting that we must economize. Ten thousand men here, five thousand there, laid off by the big American companies, show what is happening day by day. These are not records of the past. They are records of the present. Several hundred thousand freight-cars are rotting on the side-lines, standing witnesses of the decline in trade. Why then under these circumstances should the Laurier government persist in its tremendous increase in expenditures which will not only plunge the country into debt as a country but will re-act upon the people as individuals and increase the stringency now affecting us. Only a certain amount of manufactured and other productions are consumed or utilized. What are not made use of may be enjoyed perhaps as luxuries but usually are wasted. To produce more than is required for use is simple waste of effort and material—nay, worse for it gluts the market and disturbs the even tenor of it, both for labor and material. A "steady" growth, therefore, is the best and an 'abounding' prosperity is the worst. A plethora of possessions is useless. As the population of the world increases trade increases, but not per capita, relatively speaking. If we all increase our demands we are no better off than before with regard to our supply—in fact, much worse off. The moral of it all is that normal energy expended in useful effort will produce a comfortable living if the machinery of trade be not so bedevilled as to be thrown out of gear. To build trade on hope and kindling eyes is only to show an ignorance of trade. It is to play at it like children who pile their possessions in their own corners of the nursery and when they have done so must throw them into the middle and begin all over again. Here is where the socialistic idea intervenes for the control and restraint of trade. But the socialist like the prohibitionist or the eastern despot forgets that there is something else in this world besides trade. Men and women are not mere machines. Over all that we have considered freedom is paramount—freedom of conscience, of mind and of body. These cannot be restrained by force or by a governmental bureau. They must be given freedom no matter what happens. Nature and the Creator of nature working through the instincts and aspirations of mankind demand it. But Liberty does not mean the other extreme of extravagance or riotous disorder. Liberty and common sense alike proclaim that the golden rule implying sacrifice rather than greed alone, will lead us commercially speaking, on our way rejoicing. That is why "crookedness" is commercial murder. It is larceny, highway robbery and sneak-thieving all in one. It falls upon the weak first. It is amusing, no doubt, and looks so smart and clever but it is intensely mean. High or low, it matters not. Undue self-enrichment and the spending of public money in order that the rich may get the bulk of it, will bring its own penalty. It is not always the cream that comes to the top. Whereas ten years ago our yearly budget was less than fifty millions for the public service it is now one hundred and thirty millions. Does the importation of Jews, Doukhobors, Syrians, Hindoos, Chinese and Japanese increase our paying power to that extent? It is all a satire on government. It is a farce in which the poor spectators are made to believe that it is funny while 'confederates' steal their lands and pick their pockets.

THE HOUSE TO HOUSE VISITATION

On Wednesday of this week the Sabbath School Association of Ontario directed a house to house visitation in our city. Rev. Thos. Yellowlees, of Toronto, directed the work and deserves great credit for the decided success which has attended it.

Between three hundred and three hundred and fifty women went out two and two at one o'clock, and by five o'clock every home had been visited and returns handed in to Mr. Yellowlees at the Y.M.C.A.

This record consists of a statement of the number in the family, the number over eighteen and under that age, also the denomination to which the family is attached and the local church of that denomination attended by them.

It is worthy of remark that this three hundred inexperienced workers performed their task so thoroughly that the total results give just about the population that we would expect in view of the growth since last census.

Every citizen must rejoice in the Christian unity manifested by this co-operation. The Catholic church joined most heartily with the churches of all protestant denominations in supplying workers and their share of the funds necessary for the performance of this work.

Every Christian minister in Peterborough has today in his hands the names and addresses of many families that he has not had before, and these people claim his church as their religious home. The ultimate result of all this excellent work depends much upon the visitation of these families. However, the city of Peterborough is under tribute to the Ontario Sunday School Association for a piece of work that should result in great spiritual good to the community.

PULPWOOD

Ottawa, March 11.—(Special).—E. N. Lewis (West Huron) today provoked a debate on the pulp wood question by moving "That in the opinion of this house such duty should be placed on the export of pulp wood as will be sufficient to induce its manufacture into paper in Canada, and the save to the labor of Canada $6,000,000 now lost."

In the whirlwind cry of who did this and who did that by the Examiner, with special reference to the extraordinary capacity of the Ross Government for doing everything, the claim was made that the latter merited the undying gratitude of the people of Ontario for putting an export duty on saw-logs. We called the attention of the Examiner to the fact that it was the Conservatives who had roused the people to the pitch of forcing Ross to do this. However, that is not what we wish to speak of just now. Why does the Ottawa Government not save our pulp wood for Canadian manufacture by an export duty? Logically and honestly speaking, the Examiner should roundly condemn Sir Wilfrid for his obtuseness and neglect. But will it do so? There is not one moment to lose if we will save the remnant of what might have been in view of the demand of recent years a very great asset to Canada and to Canadian labour.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In another column we publish an interview with Professor Fernon, in which that expert forester gives Hon. Frank Cochrane credit for the first real forest-preservation scheme in Ontario. The Examiner has claimed it for the Ross Government, but like most of its claims in the same direction it would no doubt be sold for a small sum, say thirty cents.

The School Board deserves credit for its prompt realization of the necessity of providing all possible means for the saving of the school children in case of fire. One little life sacrificed to inefficiency, lack of foresight or neglect—one child held in the smoke and flames while it is tortured to death would alone weigh heavily on the consciences of all sensitive men. How dreadful then must it be when scores are sacrificed!

We have lately received a protest against terming Ashburnham East City. Auburn sounds better than North City. The Locks conveys much more to old timers than South City. Who would give up "Out at the Quarry" for West City? We must not cut ourselves too completely adrift from our local history, or the "old boys" would never visit us again.

Instead, hereafter, of street cars in a town being held up in case of a fire when hose is placed across the track, to prevent its destruction, they will now run over a new arrangement called a bridge which is a pair of raised bow-shaped rails with holes for the hose at the deepest parts. It has taken years to bring such a simple device as this into play. Now for an effective and easily managed fire-escape.

Young Men Honorably Acquitted

On the Charge of Theft at C.G.E. Works — Appeared in Court To-day

The four men who pleaded guilty in the police court on Wednesday afternoon to charges of theft at the C.G.E. Works, were allowed to go this morning, one being dismissed on suspended sentence while the other three were allowed to go without any record being made against them in the court. It is the intention of the Canadian General Electric Co., to take these men back into their employ.

To Sidney Farmer, who was allowed to go on suspended sentence, His Worship said that it was a funny thing that the officers of the law on going to the houses of the prisoners found certain articles belonging to the company. The story that this man told of receiving the tools from a fellow some months ago, and who now was nowhere to be found is the usual one told in such cases. The Magistrate impressed upon prisoner that where men are depending on their employers for their living they should not be disloyal to them even if it is only by petty pilfering. His Worship said that under the circumstances he could do nothing else than allow this man to go on suspended sentence.

To Albert Costello, Chas. Gunn and F. Cornyla, His Worship said he would let them go with a clear record. They were respectable and held in high esteem and he hoped that they had learned a good lesson. The company intended taking the young men back again. In future they ought to treat their employers with loyalty and work in their interests.

Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., and Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the young men.

There appeared to be no real intention on the part of these young men to do wrong. It is gratifying to be able to congratulate them on their full reinstatement in the confidence of their employers and the public.

A Story About the Sheffield Choir

Which Will Visit Canada in the Fall of This Year—A Great Musical Union

The Sheffield Choir, which is to visit Canada this coming fall, has not reached its present proud position as one of England's premier musical organizations without considerable stress and trouble. The story is told that soon after Dr. Coward had completed what he considered the preliminary training of his young organization, he met a famous musical expert one day and told him about his choir.

"Come and hear them," he said. The invitation was accepted and the result proved epoch-making. The doctor's friend listened attentively while the choir was put through their paces. The practical part of the performance was beyond criticism. Not a note was misplaced; the time was perfect. The doctor confidently awaited the verdict.

add story about

"It is all very clever," said the expert, "but you can't sing." The words fell like a discordant clash of cymbals. The choir could not sing. Surely never was such an insult offered. But the significance of the incident was not lost on Dr. Coward. He realized that expression and color had been forgotten in the anxiety for mechanical accuracy, and he set to work to remedy the defect. The result has been phenomenal. The choir is now recognized as one of these musical unions of which all England is proud. Not only does it take part in each of the triennial Handel festivals at the Crystal Palace in London, but it has sung in the presence of the Royal family on many occasions, was heard by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other Colonial premiers in London last year and has given concerts under the conductorship of such men as Richter, Henry Wood, Nikisch, Weingartner, Dr. C. A. E. Harriss of Canada, and Dr. Parry. The choir which is 250 strong will visit Canada in full force and will be accompanied by a large number of influential friends.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

COMES TO THE POINT

Editor of The Review.

Dear Sir,—I read in last evening's issue of your paper, Mr. Sowadr's reply to my questions.

I must say I am somewhat shocked by the manner in which he replies, especially when he invites me into a newspaper controversy. He may be in the list of controversy, but I am not.

The press is a power for good, when rightly used, but not in the way of controversy. In my first brief article I merely wished to intimate, that to my mind, the previous writers would gain more pare. living in their every day living what they read in the Bible, or listened to from the pulpit, than they would by theorizing about what they did not understand. In my second, I simply asked Mr. Soward the interpretation of three verses of scripture, as he so strongly emphasized his belief in the infallibility of the Bible, and voluntarily undertook to tell the different enquirers that the portions of scripture they asked about were figurative. I very naturally concluded he must be an authority.

However, from his letter of yesterday, I am bound to admit, I owe an apology for expecting any spiritual light from him, since he has shown the tenacity with which he holds to the Adam dream, an allegory of which the present intelligence of humanity is so rapidly rising above.

I am very sorry that Mr. Soward has shown so much of the old Adam thoughts as to be inclined to throw mud, by intimating that I am a believer of the Darwin theory. The very opposite is the fact, as I believe in the spiritual development and not the material which is the Darwin theory, believing as he did that man was a material being. Consequently Mr. Soward is just as far from the truth in this, as he is when he asserts that Adam was the real man, of whom we are all descendants, and of whom God created. Now, Mr. Editor, I wish to refrain from anything in the nature of controversy, or even of teaching. However, before closing this and thereby having done with Mr. Soward unless he wishes to come to my house for a friendly talk on this or any other subject, I wish to declare my conscientious opinion based on scripture, and the practise of truth as enjoyed by Jesus Christ.

I do not believe that Adam was the real, original man created by God, as Mr. Soward states. In all kindness and respect to my fellow-man, and reverence for the word of God, I ask Mr. Soward and all your readers, to read again the first and second chapters of Genesis I find by careful perusal and thought under divine guidance that there is a full and complete account of creation, both man and woman by God, who pronounces all good and rests on the 7th day, before there is any mention of Adam. In the 2nd chapter it is the Lord God that is credited with forming Adam, not creating, as alleged by Mr. Souard. There must be some solution to this problem, of two accounts of creation, with different expressions concerning the great first cause, of which we are told that in 20 different languages it is called Good. We find in the 6th verse of the 2nd chapter that "a mist went up from the earth and watered the whole face of the ground." Might it not be that this mist was a misconception that had crept into consciousness, a little lie represented by the serpent, but later described as a great red dragon? In this mystified state man may have written what he then conceived as the truth of creation, eating of the knowledge of the tree of good and evil, seeing a two-fold kingdom, good and evil, a house divided against itself, which Jesus said cannot stand, thus false knowledge producing its woe of sin, distress, sickness and death. Therefore, the need of the true unfoldment of the true idea through Christ Jesus, leading thought by parables, argument and demonstration to its original and true state saving the world from sin, sickness and death. Jesus said: "Know the truth and the truth shall make you free." These suggestions and intimations I offer in no sense of controversy or discussion through the press, but as a kindly suggestion to those who are free enough from the traditions of their father to think and read for themselves. I do not ask them to believe as I do, but I do say that the getting away from the old belief of the Adam creation, and getting partial understanding of the 1st chapter of Genesis has brought to me a Saviour that makes this abode much more pleasant, better health, and a very much brighter hope for the future.

I would be pleased if all your readers had the blessed truth that brings with it health, peace of mind, holiness and immortality according to the degree in which it is understood and practiced.

This must end my writing on this subject, for I can see by the drift of Mr. Soward's letter, he would be liable to become offended with those who differ from him.

Thanking you for your valuable space, as well as your courtesy.

I am again sincerely yours.

Entertainment Was a Success

Pie Social and Concert at Mark St. Church Last Evening Was Well Attended

The pie social and entertainment given last evening at Mark street street church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid was a great success. The hall was crowded there being over two hundred people in attendance The programme presented was an excellent one, and almost every number was encored. Rev. C. H. Coon occupied the chair and with a few well-chosen remarks, introduced the following programme;

Instrumental Solo—Mrs. A. McCarthy.
Solo—Mr. Gerritsma.
Banjo Selection—Mr. Clark.
Recitation—Carrie Coon.
Vocal Duet—Mr. and Mrs. Greenslade.
Recitation—Georgie Prentice.
Instrumental Solo — Miss Mabel Hooper.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Pratt.
Recitation—Mr. T. Johns.
Instrumental—Miss A. Dixon.
Solo—Mr. Gerritsma.
Recitation—Marion Cheverill.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Greenslade.

After the programme refreshments were served, consisting chiefly of pie, and a social time spent. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

RECEIPTS WERE RATHER SMALL

Some People Objected to Paying Extra 5c—Children's Aid Day at the Crystal

It is almost beyond understanding why some people will stick at a nickle when the noble work of charity would be benefitted by their patronage. The proceeds of yesterday afternoon's performances at the Crystal were for the funds of the Children's Aid Society, and despite this only $18.75 was realized. A great many objected to paying the extra five cents which was asked for on account of the special programme given, and in view of the good purpose for which the entertainment was given it would seem that they showed a very small spirit.

Rosely and Glory Machin, the clever child artists won much applause by their rendition of that tuneful juvenile song hit, "Captain Baby Bunting." They are a pair of capable children and sing with much sympathy and intelligence.

The sum of $18.60 was realized for the Children's Aid Society, the officers of which desire to express their gratitude to Mr. Edwards for his generosity in providing the entertainment for the society's benefit.

WORTHY OF A TRIAL

Says Many Persons Here Can be Made Happy Again.

There is so much rheumatism here now that the following advice by an eminet authority will be highly appreciated by those who suffer.

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces of Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

A RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE

Iron Moulders' Express Regret at Death of Late Edward Ward

A a meeting of local union No. 191 Iron Moulders Union of North America, last night, the following resolution was passed;

Moved by Bro. W. Hardill,
Seconded by Bro. Geo. Scott.

"Whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst, after a short illness our late Bro. Edward R. Ward, therefore be it;

Resolved—That we, the members of the Iron Moulders' Union No. 191, I.M.U. of North America desire to place on record and extend to the bereaved relatives, especially the afflicted wife and family of our late Bro., our heartfelt sympathy on the occasion of the great loss they have been called upon to sustain by the death of a beloved husband and parent. And we pray that God will comfort and sustain the heart-stricken widow and family with the consolations of His divine grace in this, the hour of their greatest bereavement.

Resolved—That we, the members of Union No. 191, do hereby record our deep sense of the great loss we have sustained by the death of Bro. Warde who was a faithful and esteemed member of our organization for many years, and of which he was a Past President.

Resolved—That the charter be draped in mourning for ninety days and a copy of this resolution be sent to the family of our deceased brother, and also to the local papers."

Peterborough's Waterworks System as an Example

In reporting a meeting of the Lindsay Town Council, the Post says;—

The report of the Peterborough trip, taken by Mayor Begg and Secretary Ray, was next brought in. In Peterborough the churches used to have meters, but they have lately been taken out, and a flat rate of $60 a year given. The city pays $1,500 to have water for its parks, streets and sewers. The Peterborough Commissioners do most of the work of street watering themselves. There are thirty-two goose-necks and four teams on the road there. Lindsay has four goose-necks and two teams.

After fully reviewing the report, the Commissioners were united in the opinion that the town should pay for the street watering, as the town gets the revenue, and the cost of the water comes—not out of the general public—but out of the water consumers.

Mayor Begg agreed to bring the matter to the attention of the Council, and try to arrange for the Commissioners to meet the Finance Committee to arrange matters. Arrangements were also to be made to meet the Board of Education to discuss charging for the water used in the schools. Secretary Ray was instructed to have a full report of the whole matter, and particularly, of the amount of water used, when the several bodies met. In the Peterborough schools there is a tax of eight cents per pupil for drink purposes, and 12 1-2 cents per pupil for drink purposes, and 12 1-2 cents per pupil for water for sanitary purposes.

Peterborough's water bylaw was next read and explained. Four and a half cents a foot frontage water rates are charged on all lands, improved or unimproved, in the city. As soon as an owner starts to take water this tax is not charged. Peterborough people say the tax should not be the frontage plan, but on the assessed value. A number of other valuable suggestions were gotten in the trip to Peterborough.

Peterborough People Are Lazy in This One Respect

"I never saw a place where the people are so lazy about cleaning off their sidewalks as they are in Peterborough," was remarked to the Review today by a gentleman who recently came to reside here from Brockville. "They seem to dread even the sight of a shovel and are trudging through snow and water, and a mixture of both, when a few minutes' work would make good walking at their disposal."

City nEgineer Hay, when his attentio was drawn to the above, said that he was afraid it was only too true. The streetsi n many parts of the city were in a disgraceful condition, simply becuase every householder didn't get out for a few minuteswith his shovel.

The city has a gang of mencleaning the slush off the streets and they are being paid $1.50 each. The cost of this has to be borne by the tax-payers.

$2,300 for Gravel Road In the Township of Hope

Port Hope, March 12—Dr. H. C. Leslie, of Canton, received yesterday a letter from Mr. J. J. Preston, MPP, informing him that the government had placed in the estimates a grant of $2300 to Hope township as the government's contribution toward the purchase by the township of Hope gravel road. "Needles to say," Mr. Preston writes, "I am pleased at the result of our efforts in connection with this matter."

The township of Hope seven years ago purchased the toll road from the Hope Gravel Road company paying $10,000 for it. The government had put aside $1,000,000 to be devoted to good roads where county councils joined the good roads association and there was a provision afterwards repealed, permitting minor municipalities to earn the grant where the counties council declined to take action.

The counties council of Northumberland and Durham refused to join the association and Hope township was saddled with the entire cost of the road. Dr H C. Leslie took the matter up and urged the claims of the township for a special grant under the circumstances. He interested Mr. Preston and others in the cause and Mr. Preston was much impressed with the justice of the claim made on behalf of the township by Dr. Leslie. Mr. Preston took every opportunity to urge the claims of the township upon the government with the result that it has decided to make a grant of $2,300 to the township and has placed that amount in this year's estimates.

The successful result of the agitation is giving great satisfaction

Here's Some Good News

Dividend May Soon be Declared in York Loan Case

A Toronto despatch says.—The adjudication of Mr. George Kappele, official referee, upon the remaining four classes of York County Loan and Savings Co. shareholders will be announced at an early date, as counsel have concluded their arguments on the various claims to preference on equal treatment advanced by them.

As soon as Mr. Kappele's rulings are all in the liquidators will proceed to distribute the funds in their hands, unless any class decides to carry their claims to a higher court.

Owing to the stagnation in the sale of building lands the disposal of the large estate of the defunct company has not been very rapid of late and the funds in hand will probably not yield over seven or eight cents per dollar as a first dividend.

Two Children Lost at Nassau

Two small children who give the name of Camels got on a wood sleigh this afternoon and rode out to the other side of Nassau. They were returning crying and with their clothes all wet from the slush and water, when Mr Lockington of Nassau noticed them and took them to his residence. They are 5 and 6 years of age and gave the name of Camels.

Miss Mamie McCarthy has returned from Toronto after six weeks' study under Mr. J. W. L. Forster, the noted portrait painter. Classes will be resumed at once.

Changes Among Customs Officers

For some time there have been rumors of changes in the Customs officers at Port Hope, but no definite statement was made. It is now well known that Mr. E. G. W. Burton, who for thirty-six years has been Collector of Customs at this port, has applied for his superannuation under the Civil Service Act. Mr. Burton's actual retirement is dated somewhat ahead, but his application will no doubt be accepted.

It is generally understood that Mr. W. S. Bletcher will be promoted to the Collectorship. Mr. Bletcher has earned this promotion by the faithful discharge of his duties. He is well qualified by experience in the work of the department, and his appointment to the office will meet with the approval of the entire business community.

As to who will fill Mr. Bletcher's present position is another story. That question, time and the authorities at Ottawa will solve.—Port Hope Guide.

Conservative Club Saturday Night

The programme for Saturday evening promises to be particularly interesting. Mr. John Burns, a descendant of the immortal bard of that name, will, dressed in full Highland costume, sing the songs of the heather. It is to be hoped that this well-known entertainer may be induced to give the sword-dance and some illustrations of Scottish reels. At any rate Saturday evening promises to be a most enjoyable one. The general public is cordially invited as usual.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Nineteen magazine covers have just been received at the Y.M.C.A., and add greatly to the appearance of the readingr oom. The covers were made by the Johnston Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., and are of very heavy canvas, prepared especially by the company for the purpose. Each cover has the name of the magazine enclosed, and "Peterborough Y.M.C.A." on the outside of the cover.

A fine parlor baseball game has just been received and placed in the junior department. It is intensely interesting and all the boys are anxious to play. Teams will be chosen and matches played, so that all the boys may have a share in playing the game.

The Intermediate Bible Club held their record meeting last night. Five new members were received, and twenty-one were present for supper and Bible study. A contest is on with Messrs. A. Weart and M. Hart as captains, and the different members of the club on either side. The contest closes April 16th, and the losing side pays for a photograph of the club. Much interest is being taken by both sides, the attendance of the members counting points as well as getting the new members.

Forestry Proposals Please Dr. Fernow

Attention is Now Paid to Licensed Limits—Heretofore it Was Paid to Government Reservations Only

"It is the biggest thing for the future that Ontario has yet attempted. It is splendid, a step in the right direction," were comments of Professor B. E. Fernow, Dean of Forestry at the Toronto University, when interviewed concerning the proposed forestry policy of Hon. Mr. Cochrane. "The Minister is to be congratulated. His policy, effectually carried out, is the only measure to protect our forest from depletion. I would urge him to go even further.

"I am not in the councils of the Government," continued Dr. Fernow, "and know only what the newspapers say. The Minister deserves the credit. All the steps proposed are in the right direction.

"Fire protection is the first and most necessary step, and where protection is most needed is not in the log timber, but in the young growth as Mr. Cochrane has intimated.

"As I understand it in the past, outside the reservations, little or no attention was paid to young growth. Licensees had no interest in that, but the Government should have had. The Government need not hesitate to spend money more freely until a better understanding exists among the people as to what destruction by fire means. We can afford to cut off our log timber, but we cannot afford to have the country overrun by fire and made into wastes that destroy the future and the possibility of restoration.

"Clear timber in reservations! Certainly, if done as suggested by the Minister under supervision and care to keep the fire out, and secure the young after-growth.

"To the proposal to re-vest in the Crown some of the forests or lands held by the licensees on an equitable basis, I say well done," said the Professor. "That is the very step to take for the greatest good to the country. Only a Government or a permanent interest can practice forestry, because forestry deals with the future, and only he who is interested in the futuree can see the advantage of it.

"The value of our forests is going up every day. White pine has doubled in value in the past eight years. It is perhaps a fiscal rather than a forestry question, but the United States are very anxious to get acess to our forests. Such a proposal as Mr. Cochrane's, if carried out, will protect Ontario's forests in perpetuity."—Toronto News.

Most Satisfactory Religious Census Ever Taken in Ontario

High Tribute Paid to Peterborough Workers—Roman Catholics Lead in Numbers With 4,023, While the Methodists are the Strongest of the Protestant Bodies.

The results of the religious census taken on Wednesday are out. The information gathered as a result of the house to house canvas is exceedingly interesting and will be of great value to the churches of the city. The total number of residents according to the census is 16,718, but this cannot be taken as the exact population of the city as several homes were visited in the townships bordering on the city limits. These persons come within the territory of the city churches and the object of the census was to secure information that would be of value to the churches, not to take the population of the city. There were eighty-two homes where the visitors found no one at home or were refused information. The latter cases were few, however, as the people seemed to enter fully into the spirit of the movement and co-operated in every way possible.

The Roman Catholics lead in numbers, having 4,023. The Methodists lead among the Protestant bodies, being credited with 3,974. The Anglicans are next with 3,626 and the Presbyterians come third with 3,008. Then there is a big drop to the next denomination, the Baptists having 1158. The other sects are, of course, much smaller than the denominations referred to after the Baptists, the Salvation Army comes next with 394, and the other sects follow with smaller numbers. Under the heading "Various Denominations" are included the Hebrews who reside in the city, a Lutheran and several others whose faith could not be classified. There were seventy-four who expressed no preference. The complete figures are as follows:

THE RESULT TABULATED

	Total No.	18 years and over	Under 18 and over four
Roman Catholics	4023	2481	1004
Methodists	3974	2534	815
Anglican	3626	2230	843
Presbyterian	3008	1507	485
Baptists	1158	678	282
Salvation Army	394	231	115
Bethany tabernacle	225	122	60
Gospel Hall	62	31	26
Christian Science	54	38	15
Free Methodist	41	13	12
Assembly Hall	32	14	9
Seventh Day Advetnists	15	10	2
Various denominations	32
No preference	74
			16,718

The pastors or heads of the different denominations can secure their record cards by calling at the Y.M.C.A. office. The cards have been assorted and those of each denomination or preference for denomination placed together. The cards contain the religious preference of practically every family in the city. This will be valuable information for the minister of the city as it will enable them to get in touch with all the people.

Great credit is due the ladies who made the house to house visitation. They performed their work in a most thorough manner, making the census the most complete and satisfactory of its kind ever taken in the province.

The committee in charge of the census was composed of; Mr. R. Lees, chairman; Mr. J. S. Knapman, secretary; Mr. W. S. Robinson and Mr. Thos Yellowlees, of Toronto, under whose direction the work was carried on. Mr. Yellowlees is secretary of the Ontario Sunday School Association and this was the forty-third house to house campaign that he has conducted. He stated that it was the most satisfactory religious census ever taken and spoke highly of the local workers especially of Mr. Lees, who has been untiring in his efforts to make the census a success.

MEETING FOR MEN TO-NIGHT

Ladies Also Invited and Will be Warmly Welcomed—Notes of the Mission

Complete arrangements have been made for the big mass meeting at St. John's church to-night in connection with the mission. The speakers will be Mr. Pense, M.P.P., of Kingston, and Mr. Hoyle, M.P.P., of North Ontario. The meeting is primarily for men, a hearty invitation is extended to ladies to be present also. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock, and the music for the singing of the hymns will be furnished by Mr. Glidden's orchestra. All men are invited.

Rev. Canon Davidson, who has been confined to his room since yesterday, morning suffering from overstrain, has improved considerably and will be able to attend the service to-night.

Rev. E. A. Pickford, of Norwood, and Rev. W. J. Creighton, of Lakefield, were in attendance at the meeting last night. Mr. Creighton conducted the morning service to-day and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt gave the address at the afternoon meeting to-day.

The meeting to-morrow afternoon will be at five o'clock, instead of at 4.15 as heretofore.

Man Found Dead is Supposed to be From Lindsay

Discovered in His Bed at Toronto —Not Yet Identified

(Special to the Review.)

Toronto, March 13.—An unknown man who was rooming at 206 Victoria street, was found dead in his bed this morning. There was nothing on his clothing to identify him, but the buttons on his vest have the C. P.R. stamp on them indicating that he was in the railway's employ. The man is thought to have come from Lindsay.

He had been at the Victoria street house only since Tuesday. The cause of death is not known.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS AT W. A. ANNUAL

Election of Officers at St. Luke's Yesterday — Dr. Langfeldt's Words of Commendation

Yesterday afternoon the W. A. of St. Luke's church, held its annual meeting. Besides the members a large deputation from the Junior branch of the W.A., were present. Mrs. T. Gaskins, who has so ably filled the position of president for the past year, was in the chair, and conducted the devotional exercises. Reports were presented by the officers of the various departments of the W.A., and proved to be most interesting and encouraging, relating to the missionary work by the women of the church. The finances are in a healthy condition, a handsome balance being on hand to begin the work with. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was also present. In a short address he expressed his hearty appreciation of the good work of the W.A., and thanked them for their loyal support in all the activities of the church.

A resolution of sympathy to Mrs. R. Tivey and Mrs. T. H. Adams in their recent bereavements was moved and passed by a standing vote. The election of officers resulted as follows;

Hon. President—Mrs. E. A. Peck.
President—Mrs. T. Gaskins.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. Phillips.
Rec.-Sec.—Mrs. J. J. Turner.
Cor.-Sec.—Mrs. John Butcher.
Dorcas Sec.—Mrs. F. J. Jamieson.
Treas.—Mrs. H. Butcher.
Convener P.M.C.—Mrs. L. Turner,
Organist—Mrs. T. Moore.
Representatives on Executive, appointed by the Rector — Miss Mills, Mrs. W. Crane.
Delegates to Annual—Mrs. R. J. Scott, Mrs. T. Moore.
Sec.-Treas., Babies Branch—Mrs. R. J. Scott.
Superintendent of Juniors — Mrs. W. J. Scott.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Saskatchewan Legislature is to meet on April 2nd.

Bricklayers and masons employed by the city of Winnipeg are to get 60 cents an hour. The former rate was 55 cents.

Many Paid Last Token of Respect

Remains of Late Ed. A. Ward Laid to Rest This Morning

The funeral of the late Edward R. Ward took place this morning from the family residence, Louis street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. It was largely attended, many friends turning out to pay their last respect to the memory of the deceased. A large number from the O.M.B.A. attended in a body. The Moulders' Union and the Lock Mfg. Co. were also largely represented. At the cathedral the requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father Kelly. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Thos. Fortye, Gus Cochrane, Jas. O'Brien, Edward Carr, Wm. Hardill, and John McGrath. A number of relatives from out of town were present, among them being Mrs. Derry, of Rochester, N.Y., and Miss Nellie Warde, of St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, N.Y., daughters of the deceased, and Mrs. John Ward and Miss Mary Ward, also of Rochester, N.Y.

The floral tributes were very beautiful, including wreaths from the Lock Works, C.M.B.A. and the Moulders.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION

The organization and business arrangements of St. John's mission have been most effectively managed by a large corps of laymen. Their ability was strikingly evidenced on the platform. The addresses given last night will rank among the most brilliant efforts made in Peterborough in late years.

The open air railed platform which has been nightly used in the street work, was placed in front of the chancel step, and from it the addresses were delivered. The singing of the well-known hymns was a feature in itself, led by the orchestra. The two addresses fitted well into one another. Mr. Pense dealt with the forward movement in the Church among the laity, the striking advances made at home and the brighter prospects for evangelization abroad. Mr. Hoyle dealt in glowing language with the practical application of the doctrine of the Trinity to the everyday affairs of life, and in his hands what some men think of as dry, doctrinal statements of truth, were shown to be living powers fashioning human life. As was well remarked by the chairman afterwards, had the sacred character of the building permitted it, the magnificent address would have been punctuated by rounds of applause. Instead of this, the whole congregation rose and repeated with great fervor the Apostles' Creed, the different articles of which had been so well illuminated by the previous speaker. The hymns, "Work for the Night is Coming," and "Blest be the Tie That Binds," brought a memorable meeting to a close.

Among the great congregation present were officer bearers and members of every congregation in town, as well as two ministers

The fraternal spirit thus shown throughout the mission was gracefully alluded to by the chairman.

Rev. O. Ensor Sharpe will arrive this evening to begin his work, and will bring Rev. Hamilton Mockridge as his assistant. There will be no service tonight but evangelistic services will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening, completing the mission.

Hon. A. B. Morine will deliver an address on "Religion from a Layman's Standpoint," at the 7 p.m. service tomorrow, as also will Rev. Mr. Sharpe. Mr. Morine's address is looked forward to with considerable interest, owing to the favorable impression he made before the Canadian Club a few weeks ago. He will arrive this evening and will also speak at St. Luke's church in the morning.

Mr. Sharpe will begin his work at the 11 a.m. service tomorrow, which will be of a mission character, morning prayer being said at 10.15.

WORST HE HAS EVER KNOWN

Mr. John Moloney of Ennismore, says the roads are in the worst condition he has ever seen them. The pitch-holes are "immense," and the drifts are piled high in many places. The travelling is so bad that on some roads it is dangerous to drive with a cutter, as there is a danger of breaking the harness by the abrupt pulls of the horse, necessitated by the uneven going. Even, with bob sleighs it is hard work to get through in tolerable comfort.

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

TELLS OF ROUGH LIFE IN THE CANADIAN WILDS.

Was 800 Miles Beyond Civilization—Where Moose and Deer Are Tame Because Unmolested — Bears and Wolves Plentiful — Land of Enormous Trees—Dog Got Worst of an Encounter With a Porcupine.

Two months without seeing a white man, 58 miles from a postoffice, innumerable miles from a lemon, and enjoying in the forest primeval a life that discounts anything the city can offer, is the experience of Walter Haight, a well-known Milwaukee newspaper man.

"I'm just back from the wilds of the Canadian boundary, where the moose and the deer roam the wilds, and the noble red man lives in primitive simplicity. Regular story-book Indians they are, only not quite so noble. Three of us went up there the first of last July—Robert Pinkerton, Robert E. Lee and myself. We took a notion that it would be about the right thing to go up north and live the simple life. So we studied maps thoughtfully for a while, read guide books and then gave up our lucrative positions and hit the trail.

"We left civilization behind us at Tower, Minn., where the railroad ends. From there we turntd our faces toward Canada, and went through the forests that lie along the boundary. Eight hundred miles we went through intricate chains of lakes, and over portages, with a birch bark canoe. Every now and then we would find in that apparently trackless forest stretches of fine, solid road, welcome reminiscences of the old Riel rebellion, when the Canadian troops had to make these portages and built the little stretches of road.

Build Shack on Lake Shore.

"A good many of the lakes were swampy, which marred the scenery somewhat, but finally we came one day to a beautiful lake with rocky shores crowned with magnificent pine trees. Little creeks and brooks emptied into it, at their mouth grew reeds and water lilies, and standing in the clear water were five moose and two deer, as tame as you please, never offering to stir. We said right off that that was the place for us, but afterward we pushed on farther and found even prettier places. We finally built our shack on the bank of a little trout lake, fed by many small springs and little streams. We cut down logs and put up our shack ourselves, put up a cookstove, set up the cat that we had carried in from twenty-five miles back, and were ready for housekeeping.

"Once we had a pet dog, a regular Jack London sort of dog. We were going down a stream one day when the little fellow spied us, and when we went ashore he was waiting for us. The poor little beggar had evidently got lost from some Indian camp, had wandered through the woods until he was half-starved, and then thought he would tackle a porcupine for supper. His nose and mouth, and in fact the whole of him, was covered with the quills. We pulled them out, and baked pancakes for him, and he ate fourteen for supper. He didn't know a word of English, but after we learned some of the Indian lingo we could make him understand. He stayed with us awhile, and then ran away.

Moose and Deer Tame.

"I suppose people will doubt my word when I tell them about the game, but it's all true. Moose and deer are everywhere. I have reached out my paddle and touched them when voyaging down a stream. They have no fear of men, because they have never been shot for 'sport,' the settlers only killing them for food. There are wolves, but they don't trouble you, and the bears are shy. All I ever saw of a bear was the hind leg of one around a corner. The brooks and lakes are full of trout, and the forest is the finest you ever saw—great Norway pines rising up straight and massive, with never a limb for perhaps seventy feet. They grow so close together that there is no underbrush, and it makes you think of some great temple, with the floor carpeted with moss and pine needles. The first lumbering is being done now, and in a few years the trees will be gone.

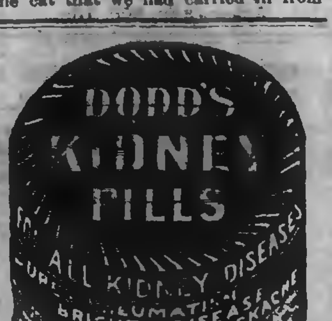
"Our nearest trading place was Harding, about eight miles away, where there were two houses.

Homesick Once In a While.

"We had some adventures, but not to amount to much. Of course we got lost. Those lakes are the worst places for losing oneself. The life there is great, and never once did I wish myself back at home except now and then in the winter evenings, after the other two boys had gone back. Then I would look out of the window sometimes, and see a pack of wolves streaking across the lake, and the little island rising up like a great frosted wedding cake, and wish myself back again with the folks.

"Lee fell sick in November, and Pinkerton took him home. Neither of them came back, and that left me alone for two months. They had to take Lee out forty miles on log sleds to a station.

"When I got ready to come back I just put out the fire, rolled up my blankets and stuff and piler it on the toboggan, strapped on my snowshoes over moccasions and three pairs of woolen socks, found a home for the cat with a neighboring settler, and started off, leaving the cabin door unfastened, because someone might come along and want to use it."



Toast Water.

For very sick people toast water is a nourishing, palatable drink. Put several pieces of cold crisp toast in a thick pitcher, pour boiling hot water over it, cover the pitcher to keep in the steam, and after it has soaked for fifteen minutes strain off the hot water, which contains the nourishing essence of the bread. It can be kept in a cool place until the next time to reheat it.

AVERTED A MASSACRE.

How Father Lacombe Pacific Blackfeet and Saved Calgary.

A little-known page of Canadian history is shut which concerns the pacification of the Blackfeet Indians at the time of the Riel Rebellion. The Indians at the time were in a very disturbed state, and it would have taken little to have roused them and sent them on the warpath against the seventy white settlements then in Albera.

Father Lacombe, the old priest who for the last half century has worked among the Indians of the Northwest, was instrumental in pacifying them.

In an interview at Lethbridge recently, he told of his work on that occasion.

"The people of Calgary," said he, "were much afraid that the Indians would massacre them, and got me up at two o'clock in the morning to go to Gleichen to meet the Indians. There was fighting at Prince Albert at the time, and the Indians were much excited. When I went among them I was asked, 'What do you come to us for?' and I told them that I just wanted to see how they were getting along. I went among them, giving them two or three hundred dollars' worth of presents, beads and other cheap trinkets, that had been given me, and finally was asked to speak to them. I told them I was glad to see that they had not joined the war against the white man. 'If you want extinction,' I said, 'fight against the white man. It is true that you could kill a great many of them. But for every hundred you kill a thousand will come. They are very numerous, and if you fight them they will fight you until every Indian is dead.' And then I told them of the white man's good intentions for them. Crowfoot then made a speech, supporting what I said.

"After the meeting a telegram was sent to Sir John A. Macdonald at Ottawa. The House of Commons was in session discussing the trouble in the Northwest, and Sir John was making a speech when the little page brought him the telegram, which he read to the members: 'We are loyal to the last,' signed Crowfoot. Sir John called on the members of both sides of the House to stand as a tribute to the work I had done. He said 'but for the priests and missionaries in the Northwest, Government would be checked for many years. The Indians could have taken the whole country.'"

WHAT CANADA HAS DONE.

Reply to Taunt That the Dominion Has Lagged Behind.

Commenting on the recent declaration of Dr. Parkin before the Toronto Empire Club that the time was not far distant when Canada would contribute of her own free will to the defence of the Empire, La Presse says:

Who saved the colonies at the time of the American revolution, if not our country?

Who was it, in 1812, during the American invasion, that saved the British North American colonies, if not our country?

Who, again in 1865, at the time of the Fenian invasion, contributed most towards conserving our country to the British crown? Was it Canada or the United Kingdom?

Then, in 1868, which country, Great Britain or Canada, contributed most towards saving Manitoba to the British crown during the first Riel rebellion?

Who also, in 1885, at the second Riel rebellion, conserved the northwest to the crown of England?

Who, in 1883 and 1884, at the time of the Wolseley expedition up the Nile, contributed more than Canada to secure the prestige of Great Britain in these regions?

Which of all the British colonies, at the time of the South African war in 1899, furnished a more numerous or braver contingent to Lord Roberts' army than this Dominion of Canada?

Who is it, if not Canada, since the withdrawal of the British troops from Canada, that has charged itself with the defence of the British flag in this country, and who supports the naval stations at Halifax and Esquimalt?

New Alaskan Dish.

The nose of a big Alaska bull moose weighs eight pounds, and when boiled 24 hours into gelatine makes the choicest and most nutritious article of diet to be had in all Alaska. At least this is what Webster Brown who has hunted and surveyed all over Alaska, says, and he ought to know.

"Alaska moose," said Brown, "is the best game food to be had in Alaska, and those who subsist for a large part of the time on the game of the country are careful when they kill a big moose or any other kind of big game to have means at hand to take care of the carcass and save it.

"I remember not many months ago in the White River country when our food ran short and we killed a big bull moose and made away in the next few days with the most of his good points. We were traveling over a rolling, partly open country in the direction of the Tanama Valley, and every particle of fresh meat counted. When the carcass was all butchered up and packed away I boiled the big, bristly, fat nose of this moose about 24 hours, after spending five hours scratching the hair off the hide and picking it out by the roots.

"Well, sir, I boiled that moose's nose until it made the finest sort of gelatine you ever saw, absolutely clear and a delicious sweet and nutty flavor. It made a meal for the whole outfit for every day for three days, and in my judgment the dish contains more lasting and nourishing qualities than anything that we had."

Irony of Fate.

Hewitt—I see that Gruet, the life insurance agent, is married. Jewett—Yes, and his marriage is a case of the irony of fate. Hewitt—How is that? Jewett—He didn't know until after he was married that the woman in the case carried a lot of life insurance, and now he will have to keep up the premiums on her policies.

DRESS-MAKERS

The nervous strain through which dressmakers have to pass at certain seasons of the year seems almost beyond endurance, and frequently brings on nervous prostration, fainting spells, dizziness, sleeplessness and a general breaking down of the feminine system, until life seems altogether miserable.

For all overworked women there is one tried and true remedy.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

restores the feminine system to a strong, healthy, normal condition.

Mrs. A. D. Trudeau, Arnprior, Ontario, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered terribly from ulceration of the feminine organs for eight years. I tried four doctors but got no relief, and thought I would have to die.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me. I hope every suffering woman will take my advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

LAWS OF WAR.

The Code That Governs Hostilities Between Civilized Nations.

The "laws of war" as at present formulated by the civilized nations forbid the use of poison against the enemy; murder by treachery, as, for example, assuming the uniform or displaying the flag of a foe; the murder of those who have surrendered, whether upon conditions or at discretion; declarations that no quarter will be given to an enemy; the use of such arms or projectiles as will cause unnecessary pain or suffering to an enemy; the abuse of a flag of truce to gain information concerning an enemy's positions; all unnecessary destruction of property, whether public or private.

They also declare that only fortified places shall be besieged, open cities or villages not to be subject to siege or bombardment; that public buildings of whatever character, whether belonging to church or state, shall be spared; that plundering by private soldiers or their officers shall be considered inadmissible; that prisoners shall be treated with common humanity; that the personal effects and private property of prisoners, excepting their arms and ammunition, shall be respected; that the population of an enemy's country shall be considered exempt from participation in the war unless by hostile acts they provoke the ill will of the enemy.

Personal and family honor and the religious convictions of an invaded people must be respected by the invaders and all pillage by regular troops or their followers strictly forbidden.

GOT HIS OMELET.

Why One Man Ceased Trying to Be Funny With Waiters.

"I've never tried to be funny with a waiter," the traveler was saying, "since the time when I had a little experience with one in California. It was several years ago, and I was rather 'fresh.' I stepped into a restaurant one morning and ordered an omelet.

"'What kind?' asked the waiter.

"'Why, are there more kinds than one?' I said.

"'Oh, yes, sir,' he answered me; 'there are several.'

"'Well, bring me an ostrich egg omelet.'

"'All right, sir,' he said, 'but you'll have to wait quite awhile. It takes a long time to make an ostrich egg omelet.'

"I told him I had plenty of time. He went away and was gone fully an hour. Then he came back with a big covered dish.

"'There you are, sir,' he said, placing it before me and uncovering it.

"Well, it was an omelet, all right, and big enough for half a dozen men. Whether there was an ostrich farm in the neighborhood and he got a real ostrich egg or whether he made it from a couple of dozen hens' eggs I don't know, but I distinctly remember that it cost me $2—and I learned a valuable lesson."

J. Cochrane, one of the visiting curlers, of Belleville, was stricken with paralysis and was sent to his home at Colborne.

JUNIOR CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Match Between Rough Riders and Karnots Was Not Played Owing to Condition of Ice

Owing to thee soft weather lately the ice last night was not in a fit condition to permit of the playing of the game for the junior city championship between the Karnots and Rough Riders at Brock street rink. The match has been indefinitely postponed.

WALKING

A CHANCE FOR "HAPPY EMMA."

"Happy Emma," the twenty-years old girl weighing 623 pounds, is expected in Peterborough next week. If "Emma" is desirous of reducing her avoirdupois she would enter the walking match. Thirty-six hours in a week would make any person thin.—Port Hope Guide.

THE RING

CONFIDENCE IN BOXERS.

In no athlete more than the boxer or fighter is the quality of confidence so predominant. He may be defeated by the knockout process or overwhelmingly outclassed, but the next day bobs up serenely with the idea that it was the chance blow or a combination of adverse circumstances that proved his undoing.

Before the battle, Jack Palmer, the Englishman, thought his chances with Burns were good. From his training quarters he wrote to his brother in America a letter that is almost pathetic in the faith he was placing in himself.

"Dear Brother Joe: Received the papers and the clippings. They were good. The clipping saying that the match was a huge joke made a hit with us. My curved legs seemed to be funny to the writer. Well, Joe, I am as good as I ever was in my life, and I'm going to stay—oh, a long time—with Burns.

I will weigh about 180 in the ring and will be good and fit. Father, here at the quarters, has never seen a prize fight. It will be a treat for him, and I have arranged to take him in with me.

The sporting writers in the States seem to class me with Moir. Iadmit, Joe, he was a big quince, but not me, Joe. Don't be surprised if you see my number go up. Burns is so short and his poor form in allowing Moir to go ten rounds makes me certain of victory. That was a mistake about me boxing with Bobby Dobbs. I only boxed one colored man in my life and he was Frank Craig, the "Coffee Cooler," and I knocked him out after a good licking.

Burns is matched to fight Roche in Dublin. Well, young John L. Sullivan, of Boston, licked him in 19 rounds and fought two 20-round fights with him. That's 59 rounds it took Roche. You know how I liked Sullivan. Get on a bet on Burns at any odds. Roche is too short and fat to get around.

On the 16th, when I box Burns, it will be exactly twelve months since I left the States. Tell sister Nora that I will have the green sash on that night for luck. Best wishes to all. Don't be afraid, Joe. I will be there for a long time with Burns. Remember that now. Jack.

Basketball at the "Y" Gym

No. 1 Team Defeated by No. 4—Other News and Notes

The 1st and 4th teams in the new city league battled for supremacy last evening at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium before a large crowd of spectators. The game was hard fought from start to finish. Graham's Alingets checked hard and played exceedingly good combination for the little time that they have been together. Daly's men though much lighter proved however, to be too fast for them. No. 1, who went down to defeat by the score of 18 points to 14. Half time score being 12 points to 12.

The Senior Young Men's Gymnasium Class last evening was the largest held in years, over 35 men being in attendance and partaking of good all-round body building exercise. The men are taking a good hold of the work and will be in good shape for the closing exhibition.

April 21st has been chosen as the date for the closing exhibition, and a fine programme is being arranged, many new features will be introduced and an outside basketball team will also be in attendance. Keep the date in mind.

Bray's Dessert.

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by M. M. Cunningham.

Dolly dimpled with smiles as a sudden turn in the wooded roadway brought them in sight of the tidal river. The November sun glinted coldly on the ripples formed by the current as it raced toward the sea. The tide was just at the turn, and the water rippled over the shallows in a million gleaming points of light. The pines that surrounded the estuary were still green, and but for the brilliant tints of the scrub oaks Dolly could almost imagine that it was still summer.

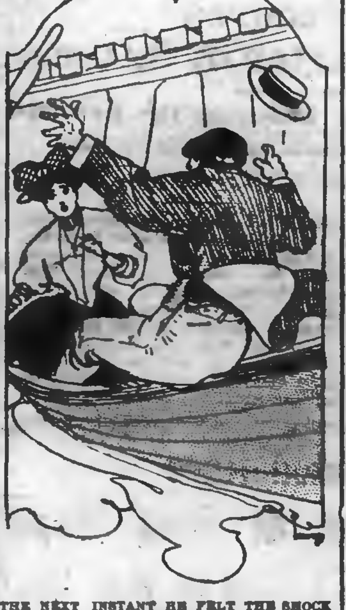
"Isn't it glorious!" she cried as Seaton Bray followed her through the trees. "It was positively an inspiration to open the cottage for a week in the fall."

"It is very pleasant," agreed Bray. "It was still more good of you to have me down. I regretted my inability to come down this summer."

"Let's hurry up," said Dolly. "It's horrid when the tide goes out. Even in the channel the water is so low that there is no fun rowing."

The girl observed with satisfaction that Bray obeyed her injunction promptly. Something in his tone had added that he regretted the lost opportunity of the summer because he had meant to propose to her then. She was not minded to give him that opportunity now. For more than a year Bray and Tommy Gordon had struggled for her hand, and not yet had she been able to decide her preference.

She had skillfully evaded a direct proposal from either, but she was beginning to feel hopelessly that she would die a spinster, since choice still seemed impossible. She admired Gordon's vivacity and life, and she also admired Bray's grave reserve. No girl wants for a husband a man who is always a jester, and, on the other hand, Bray sometimes frightened her by his gravity and earnestness.



THE NEXT INSTANT HE FELT THE SHOCK OF COLD WATER.

Nothing ever seemed to upset him. His clothes were always as trimly neat as though he had just left his dressing room, and Gordon had gained a laugh on his rival when he had declared that Bray selected his clothes to match his temper. Both were lacking in violent contrasts. "Peter Perfection" they had all come to call him, and as for Dolly Tatum she was afraid that she could not measure up to his standards.

She watched him as he busied himself with the light skiff, noting the precision of his movements rather than the unhurried speed with which he prepared for the trip. The business suit he had worn down from the city was scarcely a boating costume, and he looked out of place, indeed, as he got the boat ready for the launching. As he helped Dolly to her place in the stern and prepared to shove off the girl leaned back against the seat and gave a sigh of content.

"I love the river," she said as Bray took up the oars. "I could not go back without one more trip. I was on the water every day last summer. It's a shame to drag you out to row."

"I was only too glad to come," said Bray calmly. "In view of the fact that this is the first time in months I have not had to share your society with others I consider myself fortunate indeed."

Dolly's fingers closed over the side of the boat. She had trusted to her skill to avoid personalities, and yet the first speech had led to an opening. There was a dogged look in Bray's face which told that he would not be put off.

"I have been trying to get at this for some time," he went on quietly, not pausing in the strong, even strokes that were carrying them rapidly toward the channel. "I have been seeking an opportunity for putting my fate to the test. You must know that I love you, Dolly. I am not very successful in masking my feelings where you are concerned. Do you think that you could learn to care for me, dear—care for me enough to marry me? I know that I am not as lively as Gordon, but I love you very dearly. Perhaps that should be argued as a point in my favor, though how could I help loving you—I or any other man?"

Dolly's face grew grave, and the tender little mouth took on a droop that made Bray long to kiss it. She did not speak for a few minutes, but looked past the oarsman with eyes that did not see the glorious autumnal panorama. The banks turned a blur of green and yellow and red through the tears that had come unbidden.

Presently she stretched out her hand with a little appealing gesture. "Please don't ask an answer now," she said gently. "Don't spoil the morning—my last row. Perhaps tonight"—

Bray bowed gravely and bent to the oars, finding in the work a vent for the tension within. He fancied that he had already received an answer, and as he bent his back to the oars so also he bent his head to defeat. Almost before they realized it the boat had reached the head of the inlet and had grated gently on the sand.

"Let's drift back," proposed Dolly. "It will give you a chance to rest."

Obediently Bray pulled back into the channel and unshipped the oars. Then he moved forward one seat, and as they floated with the tide he tried to set Dolly at her ease with small talk. So engrossed did they become in their conversation that they never noticed that they were drifting into trouble until with a bump the boat settled against the railroad bridge that spanned the water. A sharp wind was blowing, and it had forced them out of their course.

Bray sprang for an oar to pole back into the channel. In his excitement he was less careful than usual. When he gave a lunge for the oar, he felt his footing shift as the flat bottomed boat tipped to one side. The next instant he felt the shock of cold water.

Dolly gave a shriek as he went overboard, but the next instant her terror was turned to mirth at the sight of Bray sitting in two feet of water with an expression of startled wonder on his face.

It was only for a second that the tableau was posed; then Bray scrambled to his feet and climbed back into the boat. His trousers clung wetly to his legs, and the bedraggled edges of his coat dripped against the seat, while with chattering teeth he got out the oars and began to row for the shore. Try as she would Dolly could not restrain her mirth at the sorry spectacle he presented, and Bray good naturedly joined in her merriment.

But it was less of a joke when the house was reached. The men of the family had all removed their clothing to town when the cottage had been closed for the summer. Bray, down for the day, had brought no bags, and there was nothing left but to seek the shelter of the blankets while his clothes underwent the slow process of drying before the kitchen fire.

Between the blankets Bray groaned miserably as he recalled the incidents of the morning. Whatever chance he might have had to win Dolly's hand had been lost when his plight excited her ridicule. The single misstep had cost him Dolly's "Yes," if indeed he had ever had a chance to win it. In his mind's eye he could see himself again, sprawling in the icy water, then climbing aboard in his mudstained, dripping garments, with Dolly in the stern seat in an ecstasy of glee. It was a bitter hour for Bray, and he welcomed the arrival of the cook with a tray.

"Miss Dolly, she say eat this and you kin have a nice dessert," advised Aunt Mandy. "She say you doan get the dessert till you eated all the dinner."

There was a dish of pudding on the tray, and, lost in wonder as to what the other dessert might be, Bray rapidly cleaned his plate. Then Mandy entered bearing a covered dish. Only an envelope lay under the cover, and Bray's heart beat fast as he read the few lines.

"You dear boy," Dolly wrote. "My answer is 'Yes.' I think I have always liked you best, but I was afraid of your very perfection. I thought that I could never attain your high standard, but you looked so deliciously human in the water that I knew at that instant that I loved you. As soon as your clothes are dry (and they are drying fast), you may come down and receive a verification in person."

Just Found a Soul.

"Talking of Jekyll and Hyde effects," said a chronic bachelor at the club, "I got the surprise of my life the other night. Met a woman, the wife of a friend who married her a year or so ago. Knew her before marriage and always thought she was too homely ever to find a husband—one of the sort that polite writers call 'uncompromisingly plain.'

"Well, sir, when I entered her home last night she had the same old face—made me feel sorry for her husband, really. Then she got to talking about some charitable work she is engaged in for crippled children—and, presto, she suddenly became beautiful! Never saw such a transformation in all my life, really—not the same woman somehow.

"The deuce of it is I couldn't dissect the change, but I guess the eyes had more to do with it than any other feature. I had an idea of advising her husband to confine her conversation to that particular charity, but I'm afraid he'd regard it as a bit personal."—New York Globe.

How One Reads.

The average person believes that in reading a newspaper paragraph he reads the whole of each type's impression, while, in fact, he only notices the upper half of each letter. Cover the upper half of a line with a sheet of paper, being careful to hold the paper exactly in the middle of the letter, and you will not, without difficulty, decipher a word. Then place the paper over the lower half of the line. It can be read without the slightest trouble.

SAW WHITECHAPEL LIFE.

Noted Writer Spent Week in Slums of East London.

Recently one of the best and most gifted of all the English novelists spent seven days in some dark, tiny, but quite clean lodgings in a street in Whitechapel. He made no secret of the object of his mission when he said his brief farewell to some friends at the Athenaeum Club. "I am at work on a new story to recall an old truth," he explained. "I want to remind men and women how much for good and ill they owe to their own environment, and I want the public to realize the infinity of small things that make for human regeneration and happiness."

A journalist happened to stand among his auditors, and by promising to respect his desire for anonymity, he persuaded the novelist, as he moved off, to agree to send him a few lines before he finally left the slums, telling him the thing that impressed him the most during his stay among the submerged. The days slipped quickly away, but true to his pledge, the novelist, in due course, wrote:—

"My dear ——, —I am glad that I promised to send you this letter. I have seen so much, I have suffered so much, my heart has been so deeply wrung, that sometimes I have felt I could not possibly hold my ideas in until my book was written. Why, I have even wanted to take the Albert Hall or to hire a big west end theatre just to tell my public how intolerably sordid and tragic it all is still in the slums of this big city, and that, even if ever there were a time to let the Bitter Cry of Outcast London ring out across the selfish, luxury-loving west end once again, it is now.

"But you my friend, I know, do not really care about the general run of my experiences — whether, like our greater master of pathos, I have walked in ways that were foul and narrow, amongst shops and houses wretched in mien and menaced by ruin, or have mingled with people half-naked, drunken, slipshod, ugly! What do you mind about alleys and archways, like so many cesspools, disgorging their offences of smell, dirt and life upon the struggling streets, or whether a whole quarter can reek with crime, with filth, and misery? No. You want something polite and concrete to stir the nerves of the jaded. You would that I should let this unutterable misery be crystalised in a sentence; and, by heaven, you shall have it—for I think, perhaps, it may do good.

"Well, the thing that impressed me most, then, was the children, whom I met wherever I went, and who gazed at me with immortal souls shining out of their eyes. In my opinion, they are the real martyrs of the slums. Their lives are offered up daily as a result of, if not in atonement for, man's crimes and sins, and I implore you if you can do anything anywhere to bring brightness into their lives those dark, damp, foggy days, when disease and death are afoot, and particularly this Christmas, I beg you to do it, for I shudder now as I think of what I have seen of their pitiful lot in some of the noisome places to which I have penetrated.

"As to the deeper, social perplexities—those I shall deal with in my novel, and in some articles which I have promised to do next year."

The Martial Spirit.

"When you go into battle," said the human analyst, "do you feel your heart surge with hostility toward the foe or anything like that?"

"Yes," answered the military expert. "In time of war we feel even more resentful toward the foe than we feel toward our rival associates in time of peace."

BIBLE CLASS IS ORGANIZED

Officers Elected by Mr. Switzer's Class of George Street Church

At a largely attended meeting of the members of Mr. Switzer's Bible class at the George street church last night the class was organized and has been put on a much firmer basis than in the past. The following officers were elected:—

President—Mrs. Devins.
Vice-President—Mrs. Switzer.
Secretary—Mrs. W. H. Cunningham.
Treasurer—Mrs. Fisher.

An Executive Committee was also appointed.

After the business of the evening was over those present were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Switzer, who provided refreshments and did everything in their power to make the time enjoyable.

The class is composed of ladies, and being now thoroughly organized, should do effective work.

Laymen's Powerful Addresses St. John's Mission Last Night

Messrs. E. J. Pense M. P. P., of Kingston, and W. Hoyle M. P. P., of Northern Ontario, Interested a Large Congregation—Mission an Encouragement to Every Layman.

Two practical addresses on religion in everyday life marked last night's mission services at St. John's church. The congregation was a large one and a noticeable feature was the hearty manner in which the special hymns were sung, with the accompaniment of the organ and full orchestra. The service was different from all the others of the week, in that the speakers were laymen — Messrs E J B Pense, MPP., Kingston, and W. H. Hoyle, MPP., of North Ontario; Rev. Canon Davidson led the services and conducted the inspiring singing with his usual energy and imparted an impulse of vigor and enthusiasm to the service.

Mr. Pense was the first speaker. He said the success which the mission at St. John's was attaining would be an encouragement to every layman in the province. In reference to the laymen's movement he said the Church of England was not abandoning its standard but was protecting them, and in the course of his address he gave a history of the mission work of the church during the past two hundred and fifty years.

A priesthood of the laymen is to combat in some way the idea that there is a predominance of ecclesiastiry. The men are not a forgotten asset in the church, and there has never been a time when the clergy did not put them forward to help the church work.

Mr Pense outlined the work there is to be done by every member of a congregation and emphasized priesthood as that of love and sacrifice. This can be exercised daily in many ways, and it does not matter how humble it is so long as it is done in Christ's name.

MR. HOYLE'S ADDRESS

Mr. Hoyle after expressing his appreciation of the honor of being asked to assist in this mission said he could readily understand the wisdom of any rector in making use of the great layman power. Men will give money towards the church but it is difficult to get them to take their share of the work for the general welfare of the parish. The speaker had met men who said religion was all a fiction and that civilization had superseded the Christian idea. Mr. Hoyle explained the unreasonableness of such statements and gave as an example France. The nation had tried to get rid of the Christian religion but the result had been a Robespierre and untold sin and crime.

The history of the character of man has shown what Christianity has done and Mr. Hoyle substantiated his statements by showing the change that had been made in almost every phase of human life.

The mission would build up the spiritual life of St. John's church as it was doing everywhere and the laymen were beginning a work for the grand old church which had assisted so much in promoting the teachings of Christ. Men may struggle to get away from the influence of Christianity, but this they find is an impossibility.

Every man is responsible to God for the talents with which He has endowed them and Mr. Hoyle pointed out how great leaders like Gladstone and others had been powerful in public life but in church work they had been of zeal and simplicity. In conclusion Mr. Hoyle urged everyone to make the best use of our natural gifts in the service of God.

Quaker Oats Co. Secures New Charter in Ontario

Is Granted Extensive Powers, Including the Expenditure of $1,000,000 in the Manufacture of its Products

Special to The Review.

Toronto, March 14 —According to this week's Ontario Gazette the Quaker Oats Co. of New Jersey may spend in Ontario, with headquarters at Peterborough, the sum of $1,000,000 in the manufacture of its cereal products in Canada. It is authorized to do no less than fifteen separate things, including the acquiring of other companies, the making of contracts with the government and the purchasing acquiring of power plants.

Mr. W. P. Denham, superintendent of the Quaker Oats Co. at Peterborough is in Toronto today and could not be seen regarding the above despatch. Other officials of the company were not at liberty to express an opinion on the result. It is probable, however, that the despatch has to do with the broadening of the company's charter, giving the company greater powers.

Alleged Forger Wanted Here Captured at Port Hope

George Shepherd Taken Into Custody by Chief Bond as He Sat Conversing With Two Travellers in Sitting Room of Hotel.

Port Hope, March 13.—Notwithstanding the fact that forgers generally get tripped up in Port Hope, they still continue to make the town a favorite place for their operations. About a week ago Chief Bond received a postal card from Peterborough to be on the lookout for a man giving his name as George Shepphard, wanted in Peterborough for forgery. A description of the man was furnished and this morning the Chief's eagle eye alighted on a man answering it. He was in the sitting room of the Hotel St. Lawrence conversing with a couple of travellers, when the chief confronted him and told him that he held a warrant for his arrest. It was rather a hard jolt for the stranger to take, and he endeavored to convince the Chief that he was mistaken. The Chief, however, was satisfied that he had the right man and placed him in the cell.

Sheppard refused to discuss the matter with the Chief at all and he is at present here awaiting the arrival of an officer from Peterborough.

Upon enquiry the Chief has learned that Sheppard arrived in Port Hope on Thursday and registered at the Queens Hotel as George B. Grant. This morning he had the fleecy substance which adorned his upper lip removed by Mr. Fred Pedlar. Just previous to this he presented a cheque for fifteen dollars made payable to himself, and bearing the name of M. Millward, to Mr. L. G. Bennett, of the Queen's Hotel for payment, but Mr. Bennett refused to acknowledge it. What is bothering the Chief at the present time is where this cheque has disappeared to. A thorough search of the prisoner failed to reveal it, and the Chief had called on nearly every merchant in reference to the matter, but none of them had cashed it. If the mystery is solved and the Chief learns that this cheque has been passed in town, the prisoner will be held here for trial. Sheppbard is about thirty-five years of age, five feet ten in. in height, sallow complexion, thin face, black hair, well streaked with gray. He wears a black overcoat and black Christie hat; his hair is straight no parting; is a dope fiend and he speaks with English accent. He has worked as night clerk at hotels and is a great pool player.

Deputation Urged Federal Government to Build Bridge

Pointed Out That the Indians Are the Wards of the Dominion and Should be Looked After and Provided for.

The deputation from the county and city, which went to Ottawa to interview the Dominion Government regarding the proposed floating bridge from the Chemong Indian Village and the Ennismore shore, returned home last evening. The matter was laid before the Hon. Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, and the Deputy Minister, Mr. M. J. Butler, and careful consideration of the matter was promised. The deputation consisted of Warden Thompson and ten County Councillors; Mr. E. M. Elliott, county treasurer; Mr. J. E. Belcher, county engineer; and Ald. Phelan, Elliott, Morrow and Bradburn, representing the City Council. The deputation waited on the minister and deputy minister on Thursday afternoon. Warden Thompson was the principal speaker and was ably supported by the other members of the deputation. It was pointed out that the Indians were wards of the Dominion Government, and it was their duty to look after them. The deputation did not intend telling the ministers what they should do, but knowing the ground thoroughly, they wished to to point out that it was desirable that the bridge should be constructed. The city and county, the deputation told the government, would in all probability, be willing to maintain a swing on the bridge to permit navigation.

The deputation was given an attentive hearing, and careful consideration of the matter was promised.

WOLVES OF THE SEA

Of all the inhabitants of the ocean few are more destructive than the sea wolf, a kind of dolpin which attains when full grown a length of fourteen feet and a weight of 8,000 pounds.

A swift swimmer, it is quick in its movements, cunning as a fox and has an insatiable appetite. It feeds on the young of seal, whale and walrus and also on the tongue of the adult whale.

When a mother walrus perceives a sea wolf she endeavors to throw her cub on to an iceberg it one is near. Failing this, she gets it on top of her head and swims with it above water. But this is vain. Diving far below, the fish of prey comes up tremendous force, striking the frantic mother a terrific blow and jolting the cub off her head into the water. Here it falls an easy prey to the assailant and is soon devoured.

In its work of destruction the sea wolf is frequently aided by the thrasher, a fish which can deliver a terrible blow with its tail.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

HUMANITY IS REPLIED TO

Letter Regarding Picture at "Crystal" Answered in Strong Terms

Editor of The Review,

In the Examiner of Thursday last, manity," in which the writer spoke I noticed a letter signed by 'Hu- of being lured into the Crystal and there witnessed the demoralizing representation of a bull terrier worrying a fox. As a matter of fact what he really saw, was the picture of a fox terrier engaged in the work the name of the dog would imply and which by natural instinct it is fitted for. Some other objections too contemptible to note were made and on the whole, the letter was uncalled for and ridiculous; I happened to see the interesting picture referred to by 'Humanity' —'Merits of a dog' —at the Crystal and am of the decided opinion that the erratic correspondent of the Examiner would have signed a more appropriatte non-de-plume, had he used the cognomen of 'Insanity.' But the whole matter is too ridiculous for serious consideration.

Yours truly.

LIMRICK PRIZE

In the seventh Limerick competition of the Montreal Standard, a Peterborough lady secured a one dollar prize. Mrs. R. Westcott, 105 McDonnel street, was the lucky one, while Mrs. Hughes Charles, of 461 Lansdowne Ave., Westmount, Quebec, was also a winner of a dollar.

DEPOSITING IMMIGRANTS.

Peter Devlin, immigration agent, was in the city yesterday, after having escorted five men who are to be deported to the old country to the border line. One man hailed from Peterborough, another from Sault Ste. Marie, and the other three from Montreal. Mr. Devlin has had uite a busy time of late with immigrants, some of whom have been giving considerable trouble.—Kingston Whig.

A DESIRABLE PROPERTY.

In another column appears "for sale" the well-known residence of Mr. G. M. Roger, Park street. This fine old place is no doubt come into the market by reason of changes in the family through death. It was built by Rev. J. M. Roger, M.A. (Edin.), the former pastor of St. Paul's, and a learned Scotchman, who came to this country in the early days and finally settled in Peterborough. It is to be hoped that it will find a purchaser en bloc, for it would be a great pity to see so fine a place cut up and practically removed from the map.

Rev. C. E. Sharpe Will be Speaker

At Meeting for Men at Y.M.C.A. To-Morrow Afternoon.

Rev C. E. Sharpe, of Toronto, who is in the city in connection with St. John's Mission, will speak at the meeting for men and older boys at the YMCA. tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. The choir of St John's church will lead the singing. A hearty invitation is extended to all men and older boys.

Queen's College, Kingston, has opened a subscription for Trooper Mulloy.

CONCERT AND OYSTER SUPPER

Successful Event at Chemong Indian Village—Proceeds Were $81.00

The oyster supper and concert held at the Chemong Indian Village on Wednesday night proved most successful. A large number were in attendance and everything passed off most harmoniously. After the oysters had been disposed off, a good programme was rendered, the different numbers eliciting great applause. Rev. Mr. Mark made an excellent chairman, and the programme was as follows;

Selection—Chemong Choir.
Chairman's address.
Motion Song—By three little girls.
Dialogue—"Who did it!"
Duet—Miss Ruth Whetung and Miss Clara Coppaway.
Dialogue—"The Pedlar."
Presbytery
Duet—Miss Lavina Whetung and Mr. Dannie Whetung.
Dialogue—"Picnic Party."
Duet—Miss Lavina Whetung and Mrs. Alfred Coppaway.
Dialogue—"Spelling Class."
Selection—Chemong Choir.
Dialogue—"Changing Servants."
Solo—Miss Cora Hunter, Lakefield.
Recitation—Albert Guth.
Duet—Miss Ruth Whetung and Miss Clara Coppaway.
Dialogue—"Mrs. Muggins and her Servants."
Duet—Miss Cora Hunter and Mr. Lennox, Lakefield.
Recitation—Albert Guth.
Song—Mr. D. Whetung, Jr.
Dialogue—"Marrying for Thirty Thousand Dollars.
Song, "Poor John,"—Miss Ruth Whetung.

Mr. Whetung, jr., responded to the encore to this number.

God Save the King.

There were three candidates in the election cake contest, one from Lakefield, one from North Smith, and one from Chemong village. The young lady from Chemong was successful, securing the largest number of votes.

A social was held last evening, and it was also very successful. The proceeds of both nights amounted to $81.00, which will be devoted to the fund for the new church.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY TO TWO CHARGES

John Doig Appeared in Police Court To-day—Was Remanded

John Doig pleaded not guilty at the police court this morning to the charge of keeping a place for the purchase of wares and second hand merchandise during the mouth of March. He also pleaded not guilty to receiving a quantity of goods, knowing them to be stolen. In both cases Doig was remanded until Thursday next. He elected to be tried summarily.

Yesterday afternoon, P. C. McHarry with a search warrant visited the house of Doig on George street and upon investigating found several articles which it is alleged were bought from a man who had sotlen them. Doig has no license for conducting a second hand shop. It is stated that for some time past Doig has been buying and selling second hand goods and his house has served as a market for those desiring to make purchases.

No bail was allowed, His Worship stating that he would have a good chance to get washed and cleaned up.

SORELY DISAPPOINTED

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Five months ago I arrived in Peterborough from Toronto A local merchant had informed me that Peterborough, to use his own words, was the most prosperous city in Canada and contained numberless factories employing thousands of hands, all working at high pressure. This glowing account induced me to come to Peterborough. What did I find when I got here, and with five months to look around; three large factories to try and obtain a joy. I found they were but monuments and such they look like remaining.

Peterborough ought to be widely advertised as having more monuments than any other city in Canada. It makes one feel sad and depressed to walk down the streets and see the unemployed, day after day, week after week, month after month, standing or moving laboriously along. Their faces become familiar and you know almost exactly each day what corner building they will be "propping" up, and for a truth the city wants propping up, or assuredly it will fail.

Lead Quarters Are Being Very Freely Circulated

Citizens Warned to Look Out for Them—An Unusually Large Number Noticed Lately—Are Found in Gas Meters and Are Being Received by Grocers and Business Men.

The citizens of Peterborough are warned to be on the lookout for lead quarters. It is said there are several in circulation in the city. A local groceryman informed the Review this morning that he had accepted eight of these quarters which were refused at the bank to which he took them with the rest of his deposit.

Many lead quarters are found in gas meters according to Mr. Harvey Staunton, who collects the money from the meters for the Peterborough Light and Power Company. A couple of local bank tellers were interviewed this morning concerning the report that the quarters were in the city in unusually large numbers. One of them said he did not notice there were many in circulation, while another said that he had had to refuse a great many of them in the past week or ten days. Where the quarters are coming from in such quantities is a mystery.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

Meeting Will be Held at Toronto on March 24th

The annual meeting of the Western Ontario Good Roads Association will be held in the York County Council Chambers, on Adelaide street, Toronto, at 2 p.m. on Tuesday the 24th day of March, and the following day. Several councils have appointed large deputations to attend the meeting. Communications have been received from county councillors asking that we have a good attendance of men who have had experience in improving the roads under the Ontario Highway Improvement Act, and that they be asked to address the meeting. Efforts are being made to comply with this request. The executive would be greatly obliged if gentlemen who have had experience in road making and the use of road machinery in parts of the country where stone and gravel are not easily obtained, would address the meeting. There have been requests for this kind of information. "How to manage roads in winter," is another subject for discussion at this meeting. If you know of any persons who can lead in the discussions on these matters please give me their address.

The executive committee ask that you use your influence to make this convention as well attended and as useful as the meetings of the Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association have been. To this end would you kindly ask your friends to attend and also ask your local newspapers to announce the time and place of such meeting. Our funds are too limited to enable us to advertise the meeting extensively. By the Act of last session towns and villages can, under a county plan, get a share of the Government grant. There ought to be a large attendance now of representatives from the towns and villages.

W. H. PUGSLEY, Pres,

ADVERTISING

There is only one cause—of grocery business depression—they do not advertise. They cannot hold the trade. The corner grocery is nearer to the people and they got a big share of the business. The only remedy for the grocer is to advertise. Tell the people about the fresh goods that are received every day, Suggest to them a new brand of pickles, a new kind of canned fruit, the cooked meats, fresh biscuits and the hundreds of other palatable things so much desired in the hot weather. The people want these things and would buy them if they only knew where to get them. The corner grocer does not carry them, and in warm weather a woman will not run around the city looking for something to eat that is cool and refreshing. She has no time and less inclination. she saw advertised that a certain store had what she wanted she would soon telephone an order or send for it.—From the Canadian Grocer, June 21st, 1907.

BRIGHT EYES, ROSY CHEEKS

Every Girl Can Have Them by Keeping Her Blood Rich and Red With Dr. William's Pink Pills.

In the early days of her womanhood every girl—no matter what her station in life—should be bright, active, cheerful and happy. Her steps should be light, her eye bright and her cheeks rosy with the glow of health. But the reverse is the condition of thousands of young girls throughout Canada. They drag along, always tired, suffer from headaches, breathless and with palpitating heart after slight exercise, so that merely to go upstairs is exhausting. This is the condition doctors call anaemia, which means weak watery blood. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only safe and reliable medicine. These pills actually make the new, rich, red blood which can alone give health and strength, and thus make weak listless, pale-faced girls bright, active and strong. Miss Albina St. Andre, Joliette, Que., says; —"I am more grateful than I can say for the benefit I have found in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was weak, run down and very miserable I suffered from severe pains in my back and chest, had a bad cough; no appetite and would lay awake most of the night, and what sleep I did get did not refresh me. I tried several remedies, but they did not help me, and I, as well as my friends feared I was going into a decline. At this stage a friend who came to see me strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and providentially I acted upon the advice. After using a few boxes my appetite improved and I began to sleep much better at night. This greatly cheered me and I continued taking the pills for some time longer, when the change in my condition was really marvellous. I was feeling as well as I ever had done. I could sleep soundly at night; the pains and cough had disappeared and I felt an altogether different girl. I am so grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me that I cheerfully give you permission to publish this in the hope that it may point the way to health to some other weak and despondent girl."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are good for all diseases due to weak, watery blood. This is why this medicine cures rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis, and the sideaches, backaches and headaches caused by the troubles women alone suffer from. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CONVENTION AT STRATFORD

Y.M.C.A. of Ontario and Quebec Will Hold Gathering There on March 8th and 9th

The Y.M.C.A. convention of Ontario and Quebec will be held at Stratford this year on Wednesday and Thursday, April 8th and 9th. Among the noted speakers who will be present are Messrs. Fred B. Smith of New York, the famous speaker to men's meetings, and whom many say is Moody's greatest successor. His Honor Sir Mortimer Clark, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Prof. A. L. McCrimmon, Toronto; Dr. George J. Fisher, New York; D. A. Bridge of Montreal; F. H. Billings, International Student Secretary for Canada; J. M. Dudley, International Railroad Secretary for Canada; and Mr. A. Cullens, Provincial County Work Secretary.

A special rate of a fare and a third has been arranged with the railroads, and a large convention is looked for. Any in Peterborough desiring further information may get it at the Y.M.C.A. A number from the city will be attending.

The Women's Y.M.C.A. Auxiliaries of Ontario and Quebec meet in connection with the convention. Two sessions, Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning will be held. Subjects of supreme importance will be discussed and the most capable speakers available will handle their topics. In addition to their own conference, there will be an opportunity given to attend the most important of the men's sessions.

Lakefield Shows its Appreciation

Standing Room Audience at Opening Performance of Crystal Amusement Co. —A Fine Show

The Crystal Amusement Company gave its opening performance at Lakefield last night before a capacity house which was most enthusiastic in its recognition of the splendid programme presented. Little Misses Roselyn and Glory Machan delighted the audience by their singing and dancing numbers and were heartily recalled on every appearance. Several of the most popular illustrated ballads were captivatingly sung by these pleasing and versatile children and their clever dancing took their aidience by storm. The moving pictures given were the best films of standard producers. Another performance is being given in Lakefield this afternoon and evening, and from there the company goes to Campbellford, Hastings, Havelock and other points.

The Crystal Amusement Company is under the management of Mr. Edwards, proprietor of the Cystal in this city, and from all indications will prove a very successful enterprise.

Although the price of tea at the gardens increased enormously during the past year, the "Salada" Tea Co. did not once withdraw an iota from their high standard of what constitutes the best in teas. The advance in price, however, has at last compelled them to raise their lower priced tea from 25c to 30c per pound.

Farmers Are Preparing for The Maple Syrup Harvest

Purchase Buckets, Spiles, etc., From Local Hardware Men—A Good Season is Predicted

They will soon be making maple syrup in the country. If the weather continues mild the maple trees will be tapped next week, and in a few days thee maple syrup and sugar harvest should be in full swing. Many farmers who were in the city today, purchased buckets, spiles and other equipment preparatory to starting operations in the sugar buch, ing operations in the sugar business in these lines of goods and report that apparently a lot of syrup is going to be made this year.

The person whose knowledge about making maple syrup has been gained solely from reading is likely to have a romantic conception of the business but the farmer who trudges through snow and water gathering the sap and who has to provide wood for the fire and preform a lot of other labor necessary in converting the sap into syrup has usually a much more prosaic view of the matter.

Nothing has been heard this spring as to what are the prospects for the syrup industry, but there seems no reason why it should not be a good season. By the early settlers a heavy fall of snow was regarded as a forerunner of a good maple sugar season. If there is any truth in this, the present season should be a good one.

Of Interest to the Farmers; Experiments With Farm Crops

The members of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union are pleased to state that for 1908 they are prepared to distribute into every township of Ontario material for experiments with fodder crops, roots, grains, grasses, clovers and fertilizers. About 2200 varieties of farm crops have been tested in the Experimental Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, for at least five years in succession. These consist of varieties from nearly all parts of the world, some of which have done exceedingly well in the carefully conducted experiments at the College and are now being distributed free of charge for co-operative experiments throughout Ontario The following is the list of co-operative experiments in agriculture for 1908:

1 Three varieties of oats—3.

2a—Three varieties of six-rowed barley—3.

2b—Two varieties of two-rowed barley—2.

3—Two varieties of hulless barley—2

4—Two varieties of spring wheat—2

5—Three varieties of buckwheat—3

6—Two varieties of field peas—2

7—Emmer and Spelt. — 2

8—Two varieties of Soy, Soja, or Japanese beans—2.

9—Three varieties of husking corn—3.

10—Three varieties of mangels—3

11—Two varieties of Sugar Beets for feeding purposes—2.

12—Three varieties of Swedish turnips—3.

13—Two varieties of Fall Turnips—2

14—Two varieties of Carrots—2.

15—Three varieties of Fodder or Silage Corn—3.

16—Three varieties of Millett—3

17—Three varieties of Sorghum—3.

18—Grass peas and two varieties of Vetches—3.

19—Rape, Kale and Field Cabbage—3.

20—Three varieties of Clover—3.

21—Sainfoin, Lucerne and Burnet—3.

22—Four varieties of Grasses—4.

23—Three varieties of Field beans—3

24—Three varieties of Sweet Corn—3

26—Fertilizers with Swedish Turnips—6.

27—Sowing Mangels on the level and in drills—2.

28a—Two varieties of Early Potatoes—2.

28c—Two varieties of late potatoes—2.

29—Three grain mixtures for grain production—3.

30—Three mixtures of Grasses and Clover, for hay—3.

The size of each plot of the first twenty-seven experiments and in Nos 29 and 30 is to be two rods long by one rod wide; and in No. 28 one rod square.

Each person in Ontario who wishes to join in this work may choose any one of the experiments for 1908 and apply for the same. The material will be furnished in the order in which the applications are received until the supply is exhausted. It might be well for each applicant to make a second choice, for fear the first could not be granted. All material will be furnished entirely free of charge to each applicant, and the produce will, of course, become the property of the person who conducts the experiment.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the marvelous good which I have received from the use of the famous tablets "Fruit-a-tives". I was a great sufferer for many years with serious liver disease and severe constipation. I had constant pain in the right side and in the back and these pains were severe and distressing. My digestion was very bad, with frequent headaches, and I became greatly run down in health. I took many kinds of liver pills and liver medicine without any benefit, and I was treated by several doctors but nothing did me any good, bloating continued. As soon as I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better, the dreadful pains in the right side and back were easier and when I had taken three boxes I was practically well. 150

THE POWER POLICY

The Whitney Government unlike the Ross Government resolved to protect the people of this Province by assuming in their name control of its great natural water powers. This was done to forestall and prevent speculators and financial humbugs from levying a toll on a hardworking people. But Mr. Whitney did not wish to force his ideas upon the people. If municipalities want the power which he has assumed control over they must ask for it. It is easy of course for those doing so bona fide to secure all they require.

There are in existence however, certain vested rights which must be looked to such as those of the Ontario Development Company and the Electric Development Co. Propositions were made by them to Mr. Whitney which he could not in the interests of the Province, entertain. What they will now propose or what Mr. Whitney will suggest the public is waiting to hear. There is nothing to prevent fair play and nothing will prevent it. It is purely a matter of time when all these complicated details will be settled, and the whole scheme in working order. It must be remembered however that if a municipality does not ask for a privilege they will not get it and the reason will be perhaps that there is an attempt to head off municipal control. We say this merely to show how trouble can arise.

OUT OF TUNE

Not long ago the Examiner advised the executive of the East Riding Liberal Association to call two separate conventions for nominations for the Commons and the Legislature. The journal's arguments were so convincing the prestige and power behind it so great that the committee went right to work at once and did the opposite. The organ must be out of tune with the party. Now an organ out of tune or time is a frightful thing. Of course in this case it is only a mouth-organ but still that is bad enough. Why the committee did not spring to do the bidding of the Examiner we cannot say, but the result has been that it has been practically, read out of the Liberal party. When the party is not behind the organ then the organ must necessarily be behind the party which being interpreted means that chickens will come home to roost and that it is impossible to fool the people all the time. Then again, we must not ignore the fact that the Liberal committee may have thought and very reasonably too, that it was a report of the police court news that they were reading or an advertisement disguised. A candid deliverance, spoken with all the influence of a good course of life behind it might have had some effect upon its late party, but the only deliverance the party is apparently looking for now is from the Examiner itself. This is too bad. Time works fearful revenges. Never mind! It is better to have loved and lost than never to have been "in it" at all. When a man or a paper dies he or it ought to remain dead and not be like Paddy with his foot on the headless but flopping chicken explaining that the poor thing was dead but didn't know it. Personally we think the matter ought to be like the paper, dropped. "Scat" is the last syllable of requiescat which therefore we recommend for an epitaph.

MR. ROOSEVELT

Mr. Taft has secured the primaries in two states, one of them being his own. Mr. Roosevelt is credited with having said that the Republican party would have to take Taft or himself. If it were not that this statement has been given currency in papers of standing it would look on the face of it somewhat absurd. At the same time Mr. Roosevelt is deservedly the most important personage in the U. S. to-day. Others have been, and perhaps are equally clever. The same may be said in many other respects. But in character he is a leader amongst leaders. Most men lead by following, that is they seem to lead but as a matter of fact they are sitting with their faces to the tail. They win sometimes a deal of applause and are usually popular far beyond their deserts. Nemesis overtakes them in the end, however, without fail. The tin quality of their thunder is discovered. They are cowards at heart and liars in fact. Not so with Mr. Roosevelt. He is built upon a strong foundation and will grow more and more in the respect and esteem of his and the world's people. We usually love those men most whose weaknesses we can patronize. It is the flattery of our own fancied superiority which we do not like to yield to the supremacy of another on any pretence, except that of necessity. There is nothing of this about Mr. Roosevelt. He is stronger than human nature. If he were not he would be weak indeed.

A change in the political sky of the Liberal party of West Peterborough has come about very recently. Many suppositions and prognostications will be at fault. There is more truth even than poetry in "The paths of glory lead but to the grave." Both "glory" and "grave" are here not to be read literally.

FROM HANSARD

From Hansard, Jan. 28, 1908.

"Mr Foster. I am right in that. Suppose that today we had school trustees in the city of Vancouver who undertook to do just what the school trustees in San Francisco undertook to do—discriminate against the Japanese children—would my right hon. friend be held by the treaty? Would Canada be held by the treaty? There is no doubt, I think, about that. My right hon. friend does not dissent from that. But if in one case you say, No treaties, but let us rather depend on the good will and voluntary action of the contracting power, the argument would go so far with reference to the rights of citizenship that it is as good for one as for the other. Japan ought not to have treaty rights, but ought to rely upon the good will and voluntary action of the people of Canada; and we ought not to have in that treaty a clause peremptorily affirming the rights of Canadians in Japan to equal treatment with Japanese subjects—that ought to be a matter of voluntary good will towards our people in Japan. The argument of my right hon. friend goes so far that it is sufficient to state it to show its absolute absurdity. I tell my right hon. friend that on his doctrine the world has been mightily amiss in all these thousand years that nations have been growing and fading and growing again. I do not think there has been any time in history when treaties have not existed between different powers. But my right hon. friend takes a position which, if it is carried to its logical conclusion, goes against having any treaty, but would leave nations to the good will and voluntary action of the one to the other. There is no escape from that argument."

A STRANGE STATEMENT

One of the lady orators of the anarchists, speaking recently in London, is reported to have given utterance to the following choice bit of wisdom: "The morality of the savages is far superior to ours today. They have no prisons and jails, because they do not need them, and that they are happier and better no one can question." This will be news to many of us, and will doubtless suggest to some the query, "If these things are true, why do not our friends, the anarchists, go to dwell amongst the said happy savages?" The anarchists would be happy, of course, because they would be living in their ideal state. Civilized communities would probably be more than willing to assist the emigration of these reformers to the savage lands; and as for the savages, we fancy they would probably be able to take care both of themselves and of the immigrants. This would seem to be both a simple and a natural solution; we wonder if it ever occurred to our anarchist friends!

CANADA TO SPEND $500,000,000 IN THE NEXT SIX YEARS

Mr. C. J. McCuaig, who has returned from a trip to Cleveland, New York and other U. S. cities, thinks things in Canada are looking good in comparison with conditions across the line.

Mr. McCuaig had not made a careful calculation, but he felt like stating that within the next five or six years the Canadian railways and other public works would demand an expenditure of well on to the immense sum of $500,000,000, and this, he thought, would be the greatest saving clause for the Dominion during the coming few years. He had, in fact, returned to Montreal thoroughly convinced that the financial and commercial position of the Dominion of Canada is now a long way superior to that of the country to the south of us.

The Review takes this from its esteemed contemporary, the Times. It is to be hoped that Mr. McCuaig is not a true prophet. The spending of money may be a good thing when one has not got to borrow it, but it is only postponing and intensifying the evil day, otherwise.

Inter-Switching Rates to Come Before the Commission

Charges at the Present Time Are Excessive and Peterborough Shippers Unite to Secure Redress for Their Grievances—Meeting Held Last Night.

The shippers and manufacturers of Peterborough are making a vigorous protest against the excessive inter-switching rates that have to be paid in this city. The matter will be brought to the notice of the Railway Commission when a sitting is held in Peterborough on March 17th.

It costs one cent per hundred on the contents to have a car transferred from the tracks of one railway to those of another in Peterborough. This rate has been in the city for the past year. The rate previous to that time was $2.00 per car. The new charge is much higher than the old one, especially on goods that weigh heavily. On the average the cost of transferring a car at the present time is from $5 to $7.

The matter was considered at a committee meeting of the Board of Trade held in the City Council Chamber last night. Those present were; Mr. W. H. Meldrum, who was appointed chairman for the meeting; Mr. E. B. Clarry, representing the Sandstone Brick Co.; Mr. R. F. McWilliams, representing the Geo. Matthews Co.; Mr. A. O. Meyers, representing the Central Milling Co.; Mr. Geo. Lendrum, representing the Peterborough Lumber Co.; Dr. M. A. Morrison, president and Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, secretary of the Peterborough Board of Trade.

Mr. Clarry made a statement regarding the position of the Sandstone Brick Co. Owing to the weight of a carload of brick, the cost of having a car transferred from the CPR. to the GTR. was about $7. This made it impossible for the company to compete with other firms engaged in a similar line of business. Mr. Clarry read the correspondence that had taken place between himself and the secretary of the Railway Commission regarding inter-switching charges. In a letter received a few days ago the secretary of the commission had stated that the whole question of inter-switching rates was now being considered and it was not the intention to deal with any individual protests until a general decision had been reached.

Dr. Morrison stated that the Railway Commission was a public body and the servant of the people. If the question of inter-switching rates was brought up at the meeting here on March 17th, the Commission could not well refuse to deal with the matter.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams spoke along the same lines. It would be well to present Peterborough's case before a final decision was reached by the commission. It might have some influence in securing a favorable settlement for the shippers.

Mr. Geo. Lenton pointed out the case of the Peterborough Lumber Company. The present high rate was a hindrance to trade.

After the matter had been discussed at some length a resolution was passed, being moved by Dr. Morrison and seconded by Mr. Lenton, that Messrs. Meldrum, McWilliams and Clarry be a committee to prepare the case of the shippers of the city regarding inter-switching charges and to present it at the sitting of the Railway Commission on March 17th.

The meeting then adjourned.

Schools Will be Provided With Fire Protection at Once

Committee Appointed to Look Into Matter at Special Meeting of Board of Education Last Evening—Fire Tests to be Held Weekly in City Schools.

Judging from the steps taken at last evening's special meeting of the Board of Education, immediate action to provide modern fire fighting appliances for the city schools will be taken. It was the unanimous opinion that something must be done at once, and committees were appointed to look into the matter and report at the next meeting. Those present last night were: Messrs. Robert Fair (chairman), W. H. Hill, Dr. Burnham, B. F. Ackerman, John Crane, W. B. Robinson, Dr. Morrison, L. M. Hayes and W. F. Nelson.

Mr. Fair explained that the object of the meeting was to consider some means to fight a fire in case any should break out in the city schools. Mr. Fair thought that in the light of recent disasters immediate action should be taken to provide the buildings with suitable fire protection. School Boards in other cities were falling into line and have taken steps to provide their schools with proper fire-fighting appliances. Hamilton has recently appropriated a large sum of money for this purpose and Windsor is having fire alarm boxes placed in each room of the schools. Mr. Fair proposed that the Board again visit the schools in company with an architect, and have measurements and plans taken for the building of fire escapes. Especially in the case of the old schools the chairman urged the building of fire escapes.

Dr. Morrison referred to the result of his recent visit in company with Mr. Crane, to the South Central school. The fire drill was very satisfactory. An old stove in the hall at the west ward school was ordered to be removed. The school was emptied in remarkably quick time. Dr. Morrison did not think the ordinary fire escape was of much use. Many of the children would be killed in climbing down them. Dr. Morrison thought that there should be good exits and no such thing as porches that would in any way deter the pupils. Also the primary pupils should be on the first floor and in this connection many of the schools could be re-arranged. He thought that fire drill should be part of the school curriculum and should be practiced every week.

Mr. J. Crane corroborated Dr. Morrison's remarks. He was sure that the ratepayers would back up any reasonable steps the Board should take, and he was of the opinion that some one of the committees should be appointed to look after this matter at once. He did not favor fire escapes, but approved of weekly fire drill. He suggested also that the janitors remain in the buildings during school hours. Wide stairways and doors opening outward were conducive to the schools being emptied quickly.

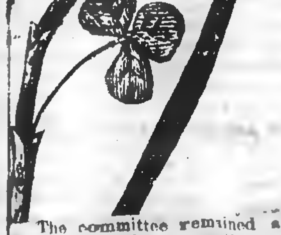
Mr. Nelson reported for the Ashburnham school. He said that he had hardly sounded the alarm when over fifty pupils were outside. The doors at this building opened inward and he suggested that these be changed. He favored weekly fire drill.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman reported the drill at the King Edward school as very satisfactory. He stated that today a man had been sent to the East City school to make the alterations to the doors to comply with the requirements.

Mr. W. B. Robinson who also visited this school made similar remarks.

Mr. Hill visited the Central school with the chairman. The drill was good. He favored fire alarm boxes being placed in the schools, and also that the basements in each building should be made as fireproof as possible. Fire-escapes were useless if not of the right kind. In many of the cities the fire escapes are built like galleries and serve their purpose much better. Mr. Hill moved that the Inspector, Mr. A. Mowat, should see that fire-drills were held in the schools once a week, and that the head masters should be asked to report to the Inspector each week as to the time it took the pupils to leave the schools, and that the Inspector should report to the Board once a month; the same to apply to the Collegiate Institute, the Principal to report to the Board. This motion was seconded by Mr. Crane and unanimously carried.

Mr. Robinson thought that it would be wise to have hydrants placed in the basements of the schools and that the buildings be fitted up with hose. In the event of this being done janitors might easily extinguish a blaze without the assistance of the fire brigade. Often a lot of time is lost in running to get pails and water, and the fire gains considerable headway.



The committee remained at the conclusion of the meeting to discuss matters, but nothing definite was done.

Who Pays for Advertising?

Who pays the cost of advertising? At first sight this question looks easy. One is apt to say off-hand that the advertiser pays it. But after closer investigation it becomes apparent that an advertiser, who advertises properly, gets back all the money he spends in advertising, and a good deal more—else what would be the use of his advertising?

The purchaser doesn't pay it, because he gets the goods as cheaply from an advertising firm as he could from a non-advertising firm. In many cases he buys cheaper. Then who pays the cost of advertising?

The non-advertiser does! By the lack of enterprise in bringing his goods before the attention of the public he loses customers, who buy from advertising people. The profits, which are lost by non-advertisers find their way into the coffers of those who do advertise.

As an example; if $20 spent in advertising brings you in $30 additional profit, your advertising is paid for and you are $10 in pocket. —From The Bookseller and Stationer, February 1907.

WEIGHED FOUR POUNDS WHEN FOUR MONTHS OLD

Most of the sickness that comes to babies and young children is due to the stomach or bowels being out of condition. It is then that they are cross, peevish and upset the whole household. These are troubles that Baby's Own Tablets always cure promptly. Here is proof: Mrs. J. Stewart, Everton, Ont., says: "My little girl thrived so badly that at the age of four months she weighed four and a half pounds. Her stomach was badly out of order, and although the doctor treated her he did not help her. Then I got Baby's Own Tablets and right from the first they helped her and now she enjoys perfect health." If your little one is ailing try Baby's Own Tablets—always do good; cannot harm. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Alleged to Have Committed Forgery and Got a Watch Under False Pretences

George Shepherd Brought Back by P. C. McGinty To-day—Appeared Before Magistrate and Was Remanded.

George Shepherd was arrested in Port Hope yesterday by Chief Rond. He has been wanted here on a charge of forgery and also for obtaining a watch under false pretences. On receiving word that he had been placed in custody in Port Hope, P. C. McGinty left on the first train for that town returned to-day at noon with his prisoner. Shepherd appeared before Magistrate Dumble this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

It appears that about three weeks ago, Shepherd, who had been employed in a local hotel, left the city after having passed some worthless cheques. One of them was for $10.50 and another one was for $25. They were drawn upon Mr. Wm. Snowden and endorsed by the prisoner. It is alleged that the cheques were taken to Mr. Pappas, George street, who cashed them, thinking they were alright. Shepherd soon after left the city and when Mr. Pappas learned that the cheques were forgeries he informed the police. The local authorities have been working on the case for some weeks and yesterday Shepherd was arrested while sitting in the Qu[illegible]

That same evening Mr. McClelland learned that Shepherd had left the city and that the story he told him was a fake. The matter was at once reported and a warrant sworn out for his arrest.

Shepherd appeared before His Worship at four o'clock and was remanded.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATE IN CHICAGO, WELL KNOWN HERE

In connection with the mayoralty contest in the city of Chicago, which is to take place there on the seventh of next month, it is interesting to note that one of the candidates is a Canadian and is well known in this city where he has visited on numerous occasions. The person referred to is Mr. Thos. Pringle. He is a relative of Mr. Jas. Swanston, Driscoll Terrace street, Ashburnham, and visited here not later than last summer. Mr. Pringle went to Chicago some years ago. He holds a prominent position in the Windy City and has had a very successful career. His many friends will wish him success in the contest and hope to see him mayor of Chicago.

Driver and Horses Almost Run Down by Freight Train

Yesterday afternoon a man driving a team of horses across the G. T.R. crossing at Simcoe St. had a narrow escape from being killed by a train. The gates were lowered for one freight to pass but Mr. Geo. Davidson, the gateman, did not lift them again as another train was to follow almost immediately. However some man had the audacity to raise the gates unknown to Mr. Davidson and consequently the driver proceeded across the street, just as the second train was nearing the street. Had the horses been a minute later they and their driver would have been killed. Mr. Davidson stated that the next time anyone interfered with the gates they would be reported to the police authorities.

All But Three Schools Have Now Received Their Grants

Nearly all the schools in the county have complied with the provisions of the new education Act, and have secured their Government grants. The money for three schools still remains in the county treasury as the Government at Toronto has given strict orders that the money must not be paid out until thee provisions of the act are complied with.

Many of the schools objected to putting in libraries and did without their grant for several months, but the majority of the trustees came to see the error of their ways and complied with the act. All the schools but three have now received their grants. These will get theirs as soon as they fulfill the requirements of the law.

Grace Church Held Pleasing Entertainment

Excellent Programme Was Given—Presentation of Prizes for Regular Attendance

A most pleasing and successful social tea and entertainment was given last night at Grace church Sunday School when the presentation of prizes for the attendance of 50 or more Sundays was made to the officers and teachers and a particularly good programme was presented. A very large crowd was in attendance and showed their appreciation of the splendid entertainment given. The programme was all contributed by the children of the Sunday School and was highly creditable to themselves and teachers in charge.

Mr. J. J. Hartley, superintendent of the Sunday School, made an efficient chairman. The prizes were presented by Messrs. W. Might and G. W. Powell, former superintendents of the school.

Those who were given prizes were, Officers—Norman Allison; Fred Brown, Miss Olive Allison, Miss Butcher, Mrs. Scrigley.

Scholars—Douglas Scrigley, Alma Greer, Ross Allison, Charles Elliott, Pearl Hawkins, Iris Davidson, Myrtel Greer, Roy Allison, Bella Elliott, Violia Davidson, Myra Baird, Vincent Davidson.

Largest number of verses by any girl and boy—Grace McClennan, Leo. Comp.

rice of Eggs Lower To-day

rket This Morning Largely Attended—Butter Still Thirty cents

he market this morning was a d one there being an exceedingly large number of people present. The bad condition of the roads in the country did not detain the farmers from coming to the city. The price were pretty high with the exception of eggs and they have decreased considerably since last week. To-day the prevailing figures for this household necessity was twenty-three cents, and a few were sold at twenty-five cents per dozen. Butter sold at thirty cents per pound. Fowl was very scarce today, but here was a great demand for them and good prices were realized. Chickens sold 60 cents a piece while turkeys ranged from $125 to $3.

On the outside market beef sold at five and seven cents, while pork went at eight and nine cents.

MEN'S SERVICE

An innovation will be introduced on Sunday next at St. Paul's Sabbath school in the way of a different form of service. At three o'clock the scholars will gather in the church and a service in which the scholars will take an actual part will be conducted. Responses will be said and several hymns will be sung. This will be done every Sunday previous to the teaching of the lesson after which the scholars will take their places in their classes.

HELP THE POSTOFFICE

In a history of a great advance in postal methods accomplished by Sir Rowland Hill is given this anecdote; To the post office of at that time tiny Ambleside came one day a well to do man to buy a stamp to put on the letter he was about to post. "Is this new reform going to last?" he asked the postmaster. "Certainly," was the reply. "It is quite established." "Oh, well, then," said the man resolved to give the thing generous support, "give me three stamps!"

CHASED BY WOLVES, TWO TRAPPERS TOOK REFUGE IN TREE, AND ESCAPED

Twenty Wolves Were in the Pack—Trappers Shot Nine, Collecting $135 Bounty

Port Arthur, Ont, March 14—Forced to cling to a slim tree from dusk to dawn, with the thermometer below zero while a pack of 20 ravenous timber wolves kept up a incessant chorus beneath was the experience of Tom and Patrick Murphy, two trappers in the Silver Mountains, near here, on Friday night. The men had started off into the woods and before they had gone far they heard the baying of wolves, which gradually became more distinct. They thought but little of the matter until they realized that the wolves were on their tracks, following them at a good speed. Two shots were fired to scare off the leaders. The men then got into the tree. Without food or overcoats the men were kept in the tree all night, the wolves scattering only when morning came. The men, however, managed to shoot nine of them, for which they collected $135 in bounty here today.

IRISHMEN WILL HONOR THEIR PATRON SAINT

St. Patrick a Subject for The Writers

Some Interesting Information About the Life of the Man Whose Memory is Revered

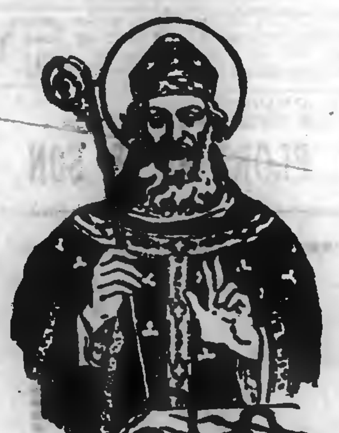
Let us see the character St. Patrick received from one rhymster:

"Oh! St. Patrick was a gentleman
Who came of decent people;
He built a church in Dublin town,
And on it put a steeple!"

If the first two lines are true—and who can contradict them—little wonder it is that his name has been handed down to posterity. Many, many years—indeed there seems no doubt as to the exact number—have gone by since St. Patrick was born. There seems also a doubt in the mind of one historian where he was born. Equalling puzzling is his correct name. Scottish writers would doubtless liked to have written that Scotland was the saint's birthplace. One historian comes out boldly with the statement that little Succeath—that was his first name. It was changed twice ere it reached Patrick—first saw the light at Dumbarton, near Glasgow; this statement, however, has been disputed. Still another is sure Cornwall can claim to be his native place.

When a young lad Succeath was stolen by freebooters and kept in slavery for several years. This happened in 381 or thereabouts. As years go by, he becomes a missionary, then bishop and was called Patrick, to be the apostle of the Irish people. Several places are being visited by the preacher, were named after him—Kirk-patrick, Innis-Patrick, Dunsel-Patrick. One of the episcopal sees founded by him was Ardagh. By a strange coincidence the Bishop of Ardagh took part in the opening ceremonies of St. Patrick's church, this city.

Hundreds of years ago travelling was not so easy as today. In these districts where St. Patrick journeyed numerous hardships were endured, but he was not deterred from propagating the Catholic faith in other countries than Ireland, having preached in Italy, France and England. In 1783, George III. instituted the Order of Knight of St. Patrick. King Edward and the Prince of Wales are both knights of the Order. A recent writer expresses the hope that—here is the correct line: "May St. Patrick's Day be duly honored this year." It will be, and for years to come, for a red letter day is accorded for March 17 in the breviary.



SAINT PATRICK

WHEN ONE IS OLD.

In these days when a man is considered "too old at forty," it is refreshing to learn that there is at Constantinople a veteran called Hadji Raouf, who is still young enough to earn his living as a saddle-maker in his 133rd year, and who has ten more years to go before he can tie his father's record of life. Even such extreme age as this would not be thought much of in Peru, where Tschudi discovered the baptismal record, 142 years before, of an Indian who was still alive; and where the church registers at Barranca revealed eleven burials in seven years, giving an average of 160 years to each individual. When Humboldt was at Lima he saw the funeral of an Indian, one Hilario Paru, whose wife had died at [illegible] years of wedlock. [illegible] few years ago, too, there was living in New Jersey, Noah Roby, son of an Indian father and a white mother, who had enjoyed his pipe [illegible] years, and was still able to [illegible] at 128; and at the same time [illegible] oldest inhabitants was a [illegible] hale and hearty," who had passed his 120th birthday.—Western [illegible].

Jos. Brabant, [illegible] street, Montreal, was terribly [illegible] by robbers, for whom he refused to sign bank cheques.

Foley Bros. and Stewart are reported to have been given the contract for constructing the G.T.R. section east of Pernot River.

Erin Go Bragh!

A SALUTE TO ERIN

J. B. NELLIGAN.

Waft gently, ye breezes, this message from me,
To Erin, sweet Erin, far over the sea.

Oh, land of my fathers, old Ireland asthore,
How proud must the waves be that troop to your shore;
Your sunburst of splendor has risen at last,
Your long night of sorrow is over and past.
To be a poor Pat is no longer a shame,
For he's covered with glory, with honor and fame
For shamrock's in fashion, the green is not bann'd,
God bless you, old Ireland, our dear fatherland.

Your gallant sons, Erin, have proven again
Our right to assert there are no braver men.
In the carnage of battle, 'mid cannons' loud roar,
They proved their descent from their fathers of yore.
On the African hilltops there rose in a blaze
The star of their genius, and oh! its bright rays
Shed a halo of glory that time can't efface
On the virtues and valor of our Irish race.

Out on the bleak veldt, in the gloom of the night,
A lone figure stands, in the moon's yellow light.
His quick ear is listening, and keen is his eye,
To guard his brave comrades who slumbering lie,
They sleep on securely, they know they well can,
For the soldier that guards is a true Irishman.
They can dream undisturbed of the meadow and glen,
And the loved ones, alas! they may ne'er see again.

Tho' we love this fair land, where the maple tree grows,
We'll honor the thistle, the shamrock and rose.
Now join with me brothers, wish Erin good cheer,
May St. Patrick's Day be duly honored this year,
May the billows break softly upon her lov'd shore;
May peace and contentment be hers evermore.
Through the break in the clouds appears Hope's smiling face—
God bless you, old Ireland that cradled our race.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

TUESDAY the little trefoil of Ireland will be green over millions of loyal hearts. The sun will shine upon it wherever there is habitable land, for the children of the Gael, one in the love of the cradle of their race, one in their devotion to its patron and saint, are scattered to the ends of the earth. The shamrock will be seen in the halls of learning, in halls of justice, on farm lands, on the seas, in war-scarred places and in ditches and mines and churches—for the children of Erin are noticeable figures in the domain of thought and endeavor, high and humble. The shamrock is the little symbol with which Patrick is said to have illustrated the doctrine of the Trinity, to the Druid taught children of Ireland. Patrick is the first and highest type of statesman and sage and saint, the national character. Christianity came to Ireland first through the tales of mariners in the first years of the third century. It was a wonder-story and it spread along the coast places. This was when the pagan island was in its golden age and they who first bore the tidings of Christ lived in the reign of Ard-Ri Cormac. This great king codified the crude laws of the island, and they endured as arranged by him, until Patrick succeeded in having an amended code promulgated. The same king founded three colleges, one for history, one for the science of war and one for jurisprudence, and directed the bards and chroniclers to record their traditions and songs, and these found expression latter in the great "Psalter of Tara," burned in the Cromwellian age.

It was not to a benighted land, therefore, that Patrick was brought a slave in the early years of the fifth century. He was a trophy led to the scene of his future labors by King Nial from one of his victorious excursions into Gaul. Patrick was a Romano-Gallic, and as such was treated by his captors. He escaped after some years of detention and returned a Christian bishop in 432 A.D., to spend his life in the service of the race he had learned to love.

A few Irish Christians had been worshipping in fear for more than a century before the coming of Patrick, who, while not the pioneer preacher, was the first to brave the anger of the Druid priests, and was the one missionary who converted a race to Christianity without bloodshed.

He labored long and faithfully, promoted education, directed law-making and lived to hear the echoes of his eloquence from the humblest homes in the little green isle. The king, a scholar, listened to him and believed. The outraged Druid, priests heard —and were wistfully conscious that the reign of the sun-god was over. The poetic Gaelic mind welcomed the master story of Christ, and the era of the new religion dawned on a prosperous and happy country.

The race he loved has seen many vicissitudes since Patrick lived and died. It has seen its ancient colleges levelled to the ground, it has seen its proud eminence depart, and has only the memory today of glory that belongs to the past. It has seen a nation, much younger in education and much later in the renunciation of paganism, bring slight upon its nationality and defeat to its arms Ireland has suffered. Blood and tears blot the pages of its history for centuries, but the faith of Patrick is its dearest treasure, the love of Patrick's doctrine, its most jealously guarded sentiment.

The Irish nation is unexcelled in the tenacity of its devotion, the pathetic endurance of its love. The Irish nation is unequalled in the intensity of its hate. That is the only thing Irish that never succumbed to the teachings of Patrick.

They will all wear the shamrock, sons and daughters of Gael and they will all talk and dream of a time, when the country that is true to the faith of Patrick, will be a nation again.

Will Honor Saint of the Green Isle

Peterboro' Irishmen Will Wear a Sprig of Shamrock on Tuesday—How the Day Will be Observed Locally

Live they at home, in Erin's green isle or in far distant lands Irishmen fail not to remember St. Patrick's day. The past has seen those of them residing in Peterborough, pay honor to the patron saint of Ireland, and this year the same spirit of loyalty to the green isle of the ocean will be much in evidence. While no parade or demonstration will be held there will be no lack of enthusiasm.

St. Patrick's Day this year will see the Celt the world over hoping for Home Rule for Ireland without any promise of its immediate realization. Some dark clouds have appeared on the country's political horizon during the past year or two, but it is felt that the sunshine of patriotism and good sense will soon dispel them.

The feature of St. Patrick's Day in Peterborough will be the presentation of the "Shaughraun," the Grand Opera House by the dramatic section of St. Peter's T.A.S. The cast is said to be an excellent one, and as many rehearsals have been held this favorite Irish play should be given a finished production.

Service will be held at St. Peter's Cathedral on Tuesday morning when a sermon in keeping with the day will be preached.

The members of the local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will receive Holy Communion in a body at St. Peter's cathedral at eight o'clock mass tomorrow. A St. Patrick's Day sermon will also be preached tomorrow evening when Hibernians will again be present in a body. It is expected that Rev. Father Hurley of Toronto will be present to preach the sermon.

AT ENNISMORE.

The dramatic section of St. Martin's T.A.S., Ennismore, will present "Arrah Na Pogue," in the Ennismore hall on Tuesday evening. The entertainment promises to be most successful.

A HARD BLOW TO DEALERS IN TOBACCO

Many are Denying Themselves the Weed During Lent

The Lenten season is putting crimps in the tobacco habit—for the time being. Dealers in the weed in its various forms declare that men are smoking pipes to-day who have hitherto accustomed themselves to the luxury of expensive cigars, and they further state that these are smokeless days for many men who confine themselves chiefly to the comforts and consolations of the pipe. That is the course the process of self-denial is taking, and the results are such that tobacco merchants are noticing it.

"One man tells me that his wife made him promise to do without tobacco during Lent, and he is keeping his word. His weekly bill in this shop amounts to something like $5." This was the story a George street tobacconist had to relate today. He told of another man who was satisfying himself with five centers where formerly he paid ten cents or got the two-for-a-quarter brand, and used cigarettes to sandwich between his long smokes.

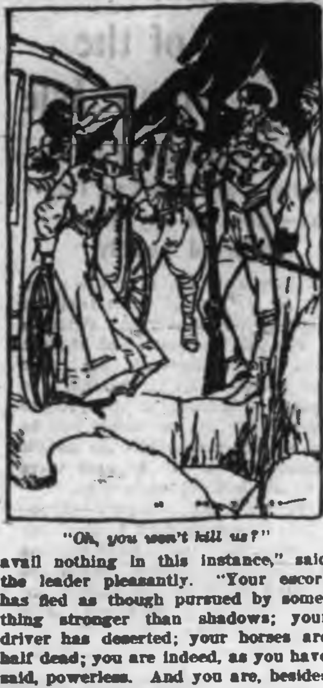
"It is the good churchman who is doing without his smoking," was the explanation offered by one dealer.

"One of the heaviest smokers I know, has cut out his tobacco completely, and his wife is saving the money for one of the relief funds," said a cigar merchant, who declared that he had noticed a considerable falling of in business during the past few days.

The effects of the Lenten season is also said to have become quite noticeable in the trade of the down-town bars, and in the patronage of the amusement parlors.

BEVERLY OF GRAUSTARK

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON, Author of "Graustark." Copyright 1904, by Dodd, Mead and Company.



"Oh, you won't kill us?"

"Your highness is said to be brave, but even your wonderful courage can avail nothing in this instance," said the leader pleasantly. "Your escort has fled as though pursued by something stronger than shadows; your driver has deserted; your horses are half dead; you are indeed, as you have said, powerless. And you are, besides all these, in the clutches of a band of merciless cutthroats."

"Oh," moaned Beverly, suddenly leaning against the fore wheel, her eyes almost starting from her head. The leader laughed quietly—yes, good naturedly. "Oh, you won't—you won't kill us?" She had time to observe that there were smiles on the faces of all the men within the circle of light.

"Rest assured, your highness," said the leader, leaning upon his rifle barrel with careless grace, "we intend no harm to you. Every man you meet in Graustark is not a brigand, I trust, for your sake. We are simple hunters, and not what we may seem. It is fortunate that you have fallen into honest hands. There is some one in the coach?" he asked, quickly alert. A prolonged groan proved to Beverly that Aunt Fanny had screwed up sufficient courage to look out of the window.

"My old servant," she half whispered. Then, as several of the men started toward the door: "But she is old and wouldn't harm a fly. Please, please don't hurt her."

"Compose yourself; she is safe," said the leader. By this time it was quite dark. At a word from him two or three men lighted lanterns. The picture was more weird than ever in the fitful glow. "May I ask, your highness, how do you intend to reach Edelweiss in your present condition? You cannot manage these horses and, besides, you do not know the way."

"Aren't you going to rob us?" demanded Beverly, hope springing to the surface with a joyful bound. The stranger laughed heartily and shook his head.

"Do we not look like honest men?" he cried, with a wave of his hand toward his companions. Beverly looked dubious. "We live the good, clean life of the wilderness. Outdoor life is necessary for our health. We could not live in the city," he went on, with grim humor. For the first time Beverly noticed that he wore a huge black patch over his left eye, held in place by a cord. He appeared more formidable than ever under the light of critical inspection.

"I am very much relieved," said Beverly, who was not at all relieved. "But why have you stopped us in this manner?"

"Stopped you?" cried the man with the patch. "I implore you to unsay that, your highness. Your coach was quite at a standstill before we knew of its presence. You do us a grave injustice."

"It's very strange," muttered Beverly, somewhat taken aback.

"Have you observed that it is quite dark?" asked the leader, putting away his brief show of indignation.

"Dear me; so it is!" cried she, now able to think more clearly.

"And you are miles from an inn or house of any kind," he went on. "Do you expect to stay here all night?"

"I'm—I'm not afraid," bravely shivered Beverly.

"It is most dangerous."

"I have a revolver," the weak little voice went on.

"Oho! What is it for?"

"To use in case of emergency."

"Such as repelling brigands who suddenly appear upon the scene?"

"Yes."

"May I ask why you did not use it this evening?"

"Because it is locked up in one of my bags—I don't know just which one—and Aunt Fanny has the key," confessed Beverly.

The chief of the "honest men" laughed again, a clear, ringing laugh that bespoke supreme confidence in his right to enjoy himself.

"And who is Aunt Fanny?" he asked, covering his patch carefully with his slouching hat.

"My servant. She's colored."

"Colored?" he asked in amazement. "What do you mean?"

"Why, she's a negress. Don't you know what a colored person is?"

"Yes, ma'am—she is a sort of black slave?"

"We don't own slaves any more." He looked more puzzled than ever—then at last, to satisfy himself, walked over and peered into the coach. Aunt Fanny set up a dismal howl. An instant later Sir Honesty was pushed aside, and Miss Calhoun was anxiously trying to comfort her old friend through the window. The man looked on in silent wonder for a minute and then strode off to where a group of his men stood talking.

"Is yo' daid yit, Miss Bev'ly—is de end came?" moaned Aunt Fanny. Beverly could not repress a smile.

"I am quite alive, auntie. These men will not hurt us. They are very nice gentlemen." She uttered the last observation in a loud voice, and it had its effect, for the leader came to her side with long strides.

"Convince your servant that we mean no harm, your highness," he said eagerly, a new deference in his voice and manner. "We have only the best of motives in mind. True, the hills are full of lawless fellows, and we are obliged to fight them almost daily, but you have fallen in with honest men—very nice gentlemen, I trust. Less than an hour ago we put a band of robbers to flight"—

"I heard the shooting," cried Beverly. "It was that which put my escort to flight."

"They could not have been soldiers of Graustark, then, your highness," quite gallantly.

"They were Cossacks, or whatever you call them. But, pray, why do you call me 'your highness?'" demanded Beverly. The tall leader swept the ground with his hat once more.

"All the outside world knows the Princess Yetive—why not the humble mountain man? You will pardon me, but every man in the hills knows that you are to pass through on the way from St. Petersburg to Ganlook. We are not so far from the world, after all, we rough people of the hills. We know that your highness left St. Petersburg by rail last Sunday and took to the highway day before yesterday because the floods had washed away the bridges north of Axphain. Even the hills have eyes and ears."

Beverly listened with increasing perplexity. It was true that she had left St. Petersburg on Sunday; that the unprecedented floods had stopped all railway traffic in the hills, compelling her to travel for many miles by stage, and that the whole country was confusing her in some strange way with the Princess Yetive. The news had evidently sped through Axphain and the hills with the swiftness of fire. It would be useless to deny the story; these men would not believe her. In a flash she decided that it would be best to pose for the time being as the ruler of Graustark. It remained only for her to impress upon Aunt Fanny the importance of this resolution.

"What wise old hills they must be," she said, with evasive enthusiasm. "You cannot expect me to admit, however, that I am the princess," she went on.

"It would not be just to your excellent reputation for tact if you did so your highness," calmly spoke the man. "It is quite as easy to say that you are not the princess as to say that you are, so what matters, after all? We reserve the right, however, to do homage to the queen who rules over these wise old hills. I offer you the humble services of myself and my companions. We are yours to command."

"I am very grateful to find that you are not brigands, believe me," said Beverly. "Pray tell me who you are, then, and you shall be sufficiently rewarded for your good intentions."

"I? Oh, your highness, I am Baldos, the goat hunter, a poor subject for reward at your hands. I may as well admit that I am a poacher and have no legal right to the prosperity of your hills. The only reward I can ask is forgiveness for trespassing upon the property of others."

"You shall receive pardon for all transgressions, but you must get me to some place of safety," said Beverly eagerly.

"And quickly, too, you might well have added," he said lightly. "The horses have rested, I think, so with your permission we may proceed. I know of a place where you may spend the night comfortably and be refreshed for the rough journey tomorrow."

"Tomorrow? How can I go on? I am alone!" she cried despairingly.

"Permit me to remind you that you are no longer alone. You have a ragged following, your highness, but it shall be a loyal one. Will you re-enter the coach? It is not far to the place I speak of, and I myself will drive you there. Come, it is getting late, and your retinue, at least, is hungry."

He flung open the coach door, and his hat swept the ground once more. The light of a lantern played fitfully upon his dark, gaunt face, with its gallant smile and ominous patch. She hesitated, fear entering her soul once more. He looked up quickly and saw the indecision in her eyes, the mute appeal.

"Trust me, your highness," he said gravely, and she allowed him to hand her into the coach.

A moment later he was upon the driver's box, reins in hand. Calling out to his companions in a language strange to Beverly, he cracked the whip, and once more they were lumbering over the wretched road. Beverly sank back into the seat with a deep sigh of resignation.

"Well, I'm in for it," she thought. "It doesn't matter whether they are thieves or angels, I reckon I'll have to take what comes. He doesn't look very much like an angel, but he looked at me just now as if he thought I were one. Dear me, I wish I were back in Washin'ton!"

CHAPTER V.

TWO of the men walked close beside the door, one of them bearing a lantern. They conversed in low tones and in a language which Beverly could not understand. After awhile she found herself analyzing the garb and manner of the men. She was saying to herself that here were her first real specimens of Graustark peasantry, and they were to mark an ineffaceable spot in her memory. They were dark, strong faced men of medium height, with fierce black eyes and long black hair. As no two were dressed alike, it was impossible to recognize characteristic styles of attire. Some were in the rude, baggy costumes of the peasant as she had imagined him; others were dressed in the tight fitting but dilapidated uniforms of the soldiery, while several were in clothes partly European and partly oriental. There were hats and fezzes and caps, some with feathers in the bands, others without. The man nearest the coach wore the dirty gray uniform of an army officer, full of holes and rents, while another strode along in a pair of baggy yellow trousers and a dusty London dinner jacket. All in all, it was the motliest band of vagabonds she had ever seen. There were at least ten or a dozen in the party. While a few carried swords, all lugged the long rifles and crooked daggers of the Tartars.

"Aunt Fanny," Beverly whispered, suddenly moving to the side of the subdued servant, "where is my revolver?" It had come to her like a flash that a subsequent emergency should not find her unprepared. Aunt Fanny's jaw dropped, and her eyes were like white rings in a black screen.

"Good Lawd, wha—what fo', Miss Bev'ly"—

"Sh! Don't call me Miss Bev'ly. Now, just you pay 'tention to me, and I'll tell you something queer. Get my revolver right away and don't let those men see what you are doing." While Aunt Fanny's trembling fingers went in search of the firearm, Beverly outlined the situation briefly, but explicitly. The old woman was not slow to understand. Her wits sharpened by fear, she grasped Beverly's instructions with astonishing avidity.

"Ve'y well, yo' highness," she said, with fine reverence, "Ah'll p'ocuah de bottle o' pepp'mint fo' yo' if yo' jes' don' mine me pullin' an' haulin' 'mongst dese boxes. Mebbe yo' all 'druther hab de gingah?" With this wonderful subterfuge as a shield she dug slyly into one of the bags and pulled forth a revolver. Under ordinary circumstances she would have been mortally afraid to touch it, but not so in this emergency. Beverly shoved the weapon into the pocket of her gray traveling jacket.

"I feel much better now, Aunt Fanny," she said, and Aunt Fanny gave a vast chuckle.

"Yaas, ma'am, indeed—yo' highness," she agreed suavely.

The coach rolled along for half an hour and then stopped with a sudden jolt. An instant later the tall driver appeared at the window, his head uncovered. A man hard by held a lantern.

"Qua vandos ar deltanet, yos sorent," said the leader, showing his white teeth in a triumphant smile. His exposed eye seemed to be glowing with pleasure and excitement.

"What?" murmured Beverly hopelessly. A puzzled expression came into his face; then his smile deepened and his eye took on a knowing gleam.

"Ah, I see," he said gayly, "your highness prefers not to speak the language of Graustark. Is it necessary for me to repeat in English?"

"I really wish you would," said Beverly, catching her breath. "Just to see how it sounds, you know."

"Your every wish shall be gratified. I beg to inform you that we have reached the Inn of the Hawk and Raven. This is where we dwelt last night. Tomorrow we, too, abandon the place, so our fortunes may run together for some hours at least. There is but little to offer you in the way of nourishment, and there is none of the comforts of a palace. Yet princesses can no more be choosers than beggars when the fare is in one pot. Come, your highness, let me conduct you to the guest chamber of the Inn of the Hawk and Raven."

Beverly took his hand and stepped to the ground, looking about in wonder and perplexity.

"I see no inn," she murmured apprehensively.

"Look aloft, your highness. That great black canopy is the roof,—we are standing upon the floor,—and the dark shadows just beyond the circle of light are the walls of the Hawk and Raven. This is the largest tavern in all Graustark. Its dimensions are as wide as the world itself."

"You mean that there is no inn at all?" the girl cried in dismay.

"Alas, I must confess it. And yet there is shelter here. Come with me. Let your servant follow." He took her by the hand and led her away from the coach, a ragged lantern bearer preceding. Beverly's little right hand was rigidly clutching the revolver in her pocket. It was a capacious pocket, and the muzzle of the weapon bored defiantly into a timid powder rag that lay on the bottom. The little leather purse from which it escaped had its silver lips opened as if in a broad grin of derision, reveling in the plight of the chamois. The guide's hand was at once firm and gentle, his stride bold, yet easy. His rakish hat, with its aggressive red feather, towered a full head above Beverly's Parisian violets.

"Have you no home at all—no house in which to sleep?" Beverly asked.

"I live in a castle of air," said he, waving his hand gracefully. "I sleep in the house of my fathers."

"You poor fellow," cried Beverly pityingly. He laughed and absently patted the hilt of his sword.

She heard the men behind them turning the coach into the glen through which they walked carefully. Her feet fell upon a soft, grassy award, and the clatter of stones was now no longer heard. They were among the shadowy trees, gaunt trunks of enormous size looming up in the light of the lanterns. Unconsciously her thoughts went over to the forest of Arden and the woodland home of Rosalind, as she had imagined it to be. Soon there came to her ears the swish of waters, as of some turbulent river hurrying by. Instinctively she drew back, and her eyes were set with alarm upon the black wall of night ahead. Yetive had spoken more than once of this wilderness. Many an unlucky traveler had been lost forever in its fastnesses.

"It is the river, your highness. There is no danger. I will not lead you into it," he said, a trifle roughly. "We are low in the valley, and there are marshes yonder when the river is in its natural bed. The floods have covered the low grounds, and there is a torrent coming down from the hills. Here we are, your highness. This is the Inn of the Hawk and Raven."

He bowed and pointed with his hat to the smoldering fire a short distance ahead. They had turned a bend in the overhanging cliff and were very close to the retreat before she saw the glow.

The fire was in the open air and directly in front of a deep cleft in the rocky background. Judging by the sound the river could not be more than 200 feet away. Men came up with lanterns and others piled brush upon the fire. In a very short time the glen was weirdly illuminated by the dancing flames. From her seat on the huge log Beverly was thus enabled to survey a portion of her surroundings. The overhanging ledge of rock formed a wide, deep canopy, underneath which was perfect shelter. The floor seemed to be rich, grassless loam, and here and there were pallets of long grass, evidently the couches of these homeless men. All about were huge trees, and in the direction of the river the grass grew higher and then gave place to reeds. The foliage above was so dense that the moon and stars were invisible. There was a deathly stillness in the air. The very loneliness was so appalling that Beverly's poor little heart was in a quiver of dread. Aunt Fanny, who sat near by, had not spoken since leaving the coach, but her eyes were expressively active.

The tall leader stood near the fire conversing with half a dozen of his followers. Miss Calhoun's eyes finally rested upon this central figure in the strange picture. He was attired in a dark gray uniform that reminded her oddly of the dragoon choruses in the comic operas at home. The garments, while torn and soiled, were well fitting. His shoulders were broad and square, his hips narrow, his legs long and straight. There was an air of impudent grace about him that went well with his life and profession.

Surely here was a careless free lance upon whom life weighed lightly, while death "stood afar off" and despaired. The light of the fire brought his gleaming face into bold relief, for his hat was off. Black and thick was his hair, rumpled and apparently uncared for. The face was lean, smooth and strong, with a devil-may-care curve at the corners of the mouth. Beverly found herself lamenting the fact that such an interesting face should be marred by an ugly black patch, covering she knew not what manner of defect. As for the rest of them, they were a grim company. Some were young and beardless, others were old and grizzly, but all were active, alert and strong. The leader appeared to be the only one in the party who could speak and understand the English language. As Beverly sat and watched his virile, mocking face and studied his graceful movements she found herself wondering how an ignorant, homeless wanderer in the hills could be so poetic and so cultured as this fellow seemed to be.

Three or four men, who were unmistakably of a lower order than their companions, set about preparing a supper. Others unhitched the tired horses and led them off toward the river. Two dashing young fellows carried the seat cushions under the rocky canopy and constructed an elaborate couch for the "princess." The chief, with his own hands, soon began the construction of a small chamber in this particular corner of the cave near the opening. The walls of the chamber were formed of carriage robes and blankets, cloaks and oak branches.

"The guest chamber, your highness," he said, approaching her with a smile at the conclusion of his work.

"It has been most interesting to watch you," she said, rising.

"And it has been a delight to interest you," he responded. "You will find seclusion there, and you need see none of us until it pleases you."

She looked him fairly in the eye for a moment and then impulsively extended her hand. He clasped it warmly, but not without some show of surprise.

"I am trusting you implicitly," she said.

"The knave is glorified," was his simple rejoinder. He conducted her to the improvised bedchamber, Aunt Fanny following with loyal but uncertain tread. "I regret, your highness, that the conveniences are so few. We have no landlady except Mother Earth, no waiters, no porters, no maids, in the Inn of the Hawk and Raven. This being a men's hotel, the baths are on the river front. I am having water brought to your apartments, however, but it is with deepest shame and sorrow that I confess we have no towels."

She laughed so heartily that his face brightened perceptibly, while the faces of his men turned in their direction as though by concert.

"It is a typical mountain resort, then," she said. "I think I can manage very well if you will fetch my bags to my room, sir."

"By the way, will you have dinner served in your room?" very good humoredly.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to eat in the public dining room," said she. A few minutes later Beverly was sitting upon one of her small trunks, and Aunt Fanny was laboriously brushing her dark hair.

"It's very jolly being a princess," murmured Miss Calhoun. She had bathed her face in one of the leather buckets from the coach, and the dust of the road had been brushed away by the vigorous lady in waiting.

"Yaas, ma'am, Miss—yo' highness, hit's monstrous fine fo' yo', but whar is Ah goin' to sleep? Out yondah wif all dose scalawags?" said Aunt Fanny rebelliously.

"You shall have a bed in here, Aunt Fanny," said Beverly.

"Dey's de queeres' lot o' tramps Ah eveh did see, an' Ah wouldn' trust 'em as fer as Ah could heave a brick house."

"But the leader is such a very courteous gentleman," remonstrated Beverly.

"Yaas, ma'am; he mussa came f'm Gawgia or Kaintuck," was Aunt Fanny's sincere compliment.

The pseudo princess dined with the vagabonds that night. She sat on the log beside the tall leader and ate heartily of the broth and broiled goat meat, the grapes and the nuts, and drank of the spring water, which took the place of wine and coffee and cordial. It was a strange supper amid strange environments, but she enjoyed it as she had never before enjoyed a meal. The air was full of romance and danger, and her imagination was enthralled. Everything was so new and unreal that she scarcely could believe herself awake. The world seemed to have gone back to the days of Robin Hood and his merry men.

"You fare well at the Inn of the Hawk and Raven," she said to him, her voice tremulous with excitement. He looked mournfully at her for a moment and then smiled naively.

"It is the first wholesome meal we have had in two days," he replied.

"You don't mean it!"

"Yes. We were lucky with the guns today. Fate was kind to us—and to you, for we are better prepared to entertain royalty today than at any time since I have been in the hills of Graustark."

"Then you have not always lived in Graustark?"

"Alas, no, your highness. I have lived elsewhere."

"But you were born in the principality?"

"I am a subject of its princess in heart from this day forth, but not by birth or condition. I am a native of the vast domain known to a few of us as Circumstance," and he smiled rather recklessly.

"You are a poet, a delicious poet," cried Beverly, forgetting herself in her enthusiasm.

"Perhaps that is why I am hungry and unshorn. It had not occurred to me in that light. When you are ready to retire, your highness," he said, abruptly rising, "we shall be pleased to consider the Inn of the Hawk and Raven closed for the night. Having feasted well, we should sleep well. We have a hard day before us. With your consent, I shall place my couch of grass near your door. I am the porter. You have but to call if anything is desired."

She was tired, but she would have sat up all night rather than miss any of the strange romance that had been thrust upon her. But Sir Redfeather's suggestion savored of a command, and she reluctantly made her way to the flapping blanket that marked the entrance to the bedchamber. He drew the curtain aside, swung his hat low and muttered a soft good night.

"May your highness' dreams be pleasant ones!" he said.

"Thank you," said she, and the curtain dropped impertinently. "That was very cool of him, I must say," she added as she looked at the wavering door.

MR. W. H. HILL,

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 18074 on my life, th dividend period having matured on the 1st inst

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprised me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on the same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

Children's Stories That Never Grow Old

THE UGLY DUCKLING

BENEATH the branches of some burdock bushes, on the bank of a winding creek, sat an old duck on her nest hatching her young ones. By and by, one egg cracked, and then another. "Chick, chick, chick." was heard as the little heads peeped out of the shells, to be greeted with the "quack, quack" of the old mother duck.

"Are you all here, my dears?" she asked, as she arose from her nest. No, there lay the largest egg of all unhatched. She sat down again on the egg just as an old duck waddled up to call on her.

"How are you getting along?" she asked.

"They are all hatched but one, and it is so big it will not break," she replied.

"Depend upon it," said her visitor, "it is a turkey egg, and you'll have trouble, for turkeys can't swim."

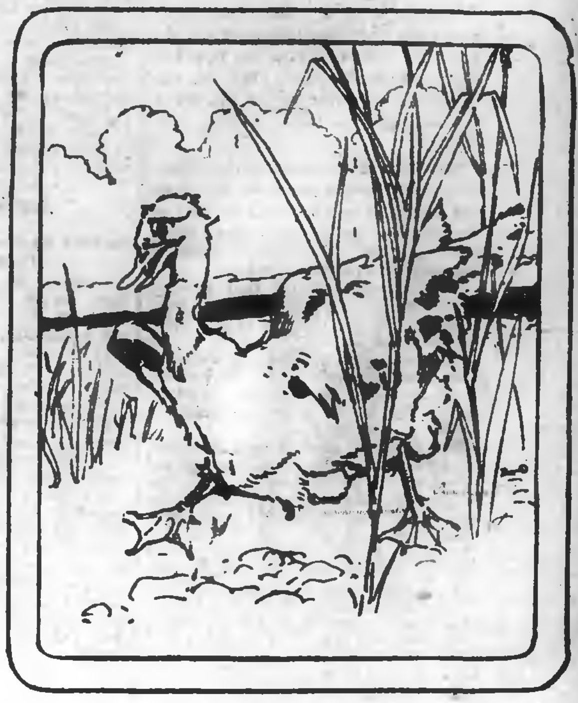
AT LAST the big egg broke. "Tweet, tweet," and out crept a young one, but so very big and ugly that the mother duck thought he must be a young turkey-cock.

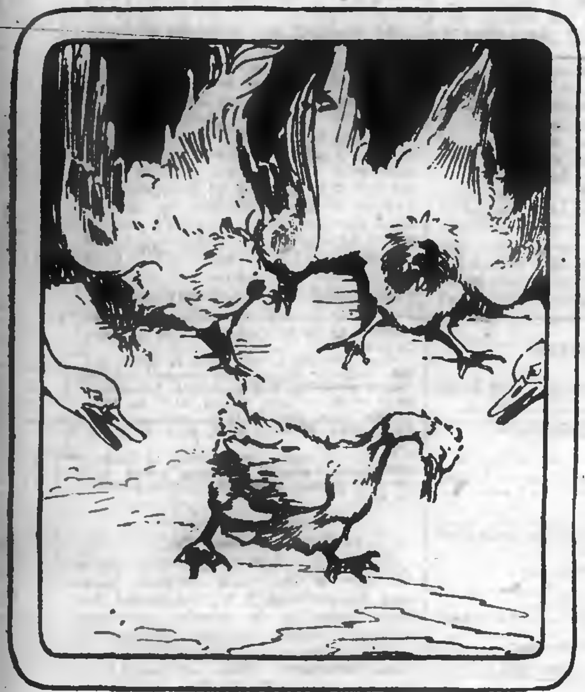
"I shall soon see," she said to herself, "whether he is or not, when he goes into the water."

The next day she sprang into the creek with a splash, and one duckling after another sprang in after her. Even the big ugly one was swimming, too, and beautifully.

"No turkey could swim like that," she thought. "Quack, quack, come with me and I will take you to the barnyard so that all the chickens, ducks and turkeys may see you."

"Look there, how ugly that one duck is," said the ducks, and one flew at him.





3.

"LET him alone," said the mother; "he is doing no harm."

The poor ugly duckling who had been the last to leave his shell was beaten and pushed and made a fool of by the hens as well as the ducks. Even the turkey-cock puffed himself up and swooped down on him, gobbling and getting red in the face. The poor duckling was very unhappy, and every day things grew worse and worse for him. He was even chased about by his sisters, who said:

"I wish the cat would catch you!"

The ducks bit him, the hens beat him, and the girl who fed the poultry kicked him away with her foot. So he ran away and flew over the hedge. Even the little birds who saw him were frightened, and he thought it was because he was so ugly. The poor duckling, however, closed his eyes and ran away faster and faster until he came to a great meadow.

HE LAY down in the reeds until morning, when three wild geese came by.

"You are ugly, but we like you. Come with us," they said to him. Just at that moment bang! bang! went a gun, and the three geese fell down dead. Bang! bang! and all the other wild geese in the meadow flew up. The huntsmen were lying all around the meadow hiding in the reeds.

What a fright the poor duckling was in, especially when a big dog ran up with his tongue hanging out of his mouth. He showed his sharp teeth, but happily, he turned away from the duckling.

"Oh, I'm glad I am so ugly, for even a dog will not bite me," said the duckling, and he lay still until the bullets of the huntsmen no more whistled through the reeds, and then hurried away as fast as he could.

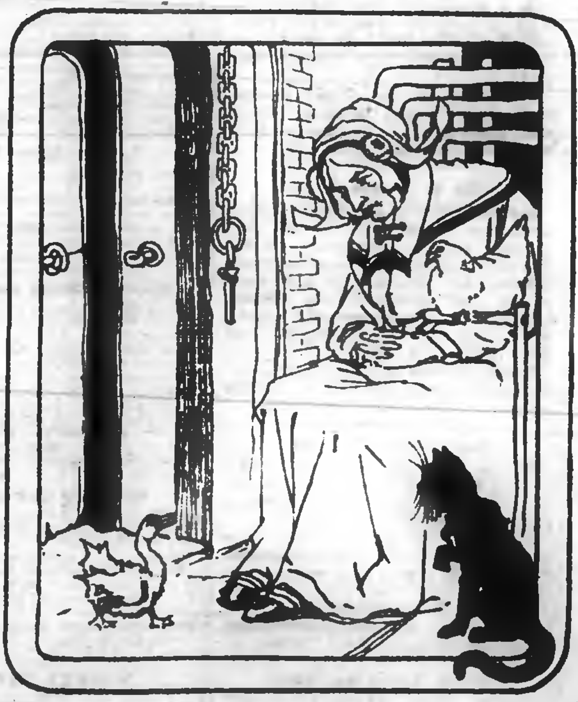
IN THE evening he reached a little hut all tumbled down and dirty. He crept through the half-open door into a dark little room where an old woman sat. She lived here alone with her tom-cat and pet hen. The cat she called her little son. He purred and put up his back if you rubbed him from his head to his tail, but sparks flew if you rubbed him the other way. The hen had short legs, so they called her "Chickling Short-legs."

In the morning when they saw the duckling Tom began to purr and the hen to cluck.

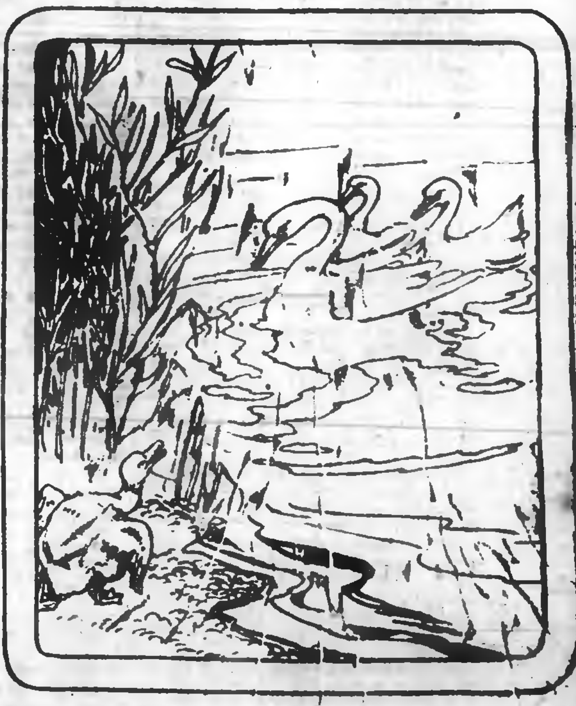
"What is the matter?" said the woman, for she could not see well, and thought the duckling was a fat duck that had lost her way.

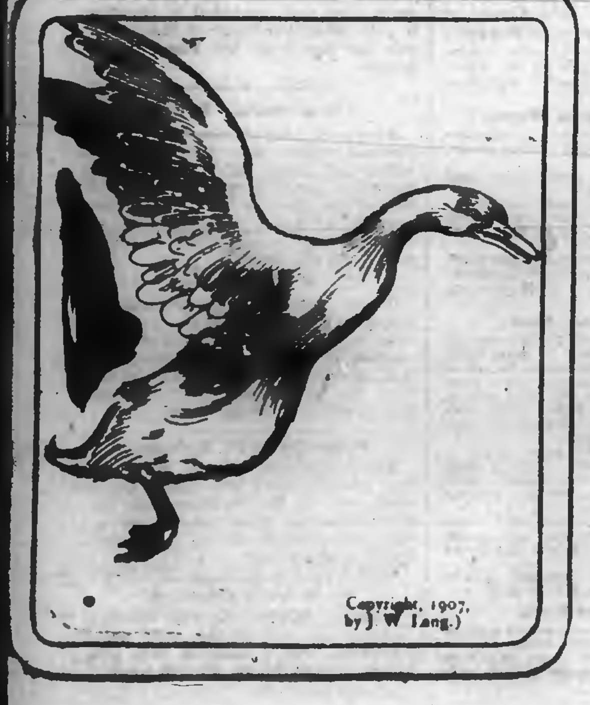
"Oh, that is a fine catch," said she when Tom told her. "Now, we can have all the duck eggs we want to eat."



6.

THE duckling, for so they thought he was, stayed all winter with the old woman and her cat and hen; but one fine day in the springtime, longing for a nice swim in the water, he went down to the brook and swam far away from the home of the old woman and her pets. But in the autumn when it grew very cold, the poor duckling had a bad time. One morning he saw a flock of beautiful swans come out of a thicket nearby, and a feeling came over the poor ugly duckling that he loved those beautiful white birds as he had never loved anything before. Ah! how he longed to go with them, but he felt ashamed even to let them see how ugly he was, and while he was thinking this away they flew without seeing him.





Copyright, 1907, by J. W Lang.)

THE winter came, and it was so cold that he had to swim about to keep from freezing. The pond froze over all except one small opening in the ice where he swam around. But this grew smaller and smaller and finally the duckling was frozen fast in the ice, and there the next morning a man found him and carried him home. The children wanted to play with him, but the duckling thought they were going to hurt him, and, in his terror, he jumped right into the milk pail. The farmer's wife clapped her hands, and the children laughed and screamed, and knocked each other down trying to catch him. The duckling flew out of the open door.

He had a bad time after that all winter long and how he lived through the cold winter nobody knows. At last the warm spring came and, much to his surprise, the duckling found that his wings were so strong that he could fly swiftly through the air with ease.

ONE day he flew into a beautiful large garden. There, swimming around on a lake, he saw the graceful white swans he had seen before, and whom he loved so much. He was very sad, though, when he saw these beautiful creatures, for he thought of himself as very ugly.

"Better be killed by them," he thought, "than be beaten by ducks, hens, women and children." So he flew into the water and swam toward the beautiful white swans.

"Only kill me," said the poor creature, and he bowed his head on a level with the water. But what did he see in the clear water? Beneath him, as if in a looking-glass, he saw his own image. No longer was he a dark gray, ugly bird. He had grown to be a beautiful white swan!

He was very glad now, for he knew that all his sufferings were over. So he shook his feathers and stretched his slender, graceful neck, and was happy ever after.

Railway Commission Will Be Strengthened in Numbers

Mr. Graham's Bill to Enlarge the Railway Board.

House of Commons Spends Much Time Discussing the Sort of Men Who Should Be Appointed — Lots of Advice Given—Scene at Night Session Over Mr. Sproule's Orange Speech.

Ottawa, March 14.—The House spent nearly all yesterday afternoon on Mr. Graham's bill to enlarge the Board of Railway Commissioners. The bill was considered in committee of the whole and will get its third reading next week.

Haughton Lennox raised the question of relative powers of the chief and assistant commissioners. One of the clauses apparently gave them equal powers. Mr. Lennox thought the chief should be supreme

Mr. Graham declared that another clause made it plain that on questions of law the opinion of the chief would prevail.

Mr. Lancaster pointed out that any two commissioners were empowered to sit on cases. In such case absolute power should be given to them to decide a point of law.

Mr. Graham said it was intended to give such powers to any group which might for the time compose the board. He amended the section to read that the assistant chief commissioner shall have all the powers of the chief, "but such powers shall not be exercised except in the absence of the chief commissioner."

Mr. Armstrong said in the United States not more than two or three commissioners may be members of the same political party. He feared that the Government would choose three new commissioners from its own party. This was the time to begin reform of the civil service.

"Has that policy been adopted at Toronto" queried Mr. Gordon of East Kent.

"The Prime Minister of Ontario," replied Mr. Armstrong, "appointed the editor of The Globe on an important commission."

Mr. Conmee would oppose any effort to take the appointment of civil servants out of the hands of the Government.

Mr. Graham claimed that the Government had appointed the best men to the Railway Board, and it hoped to appoint men to the new board whose political opinions would not be questioned in respect to their findings. As to the appointment of Conservatives a large body of independents was rising up in this country and they might have to be considered.

R. L. Borden said a great responsibility rested with the Government in respect to the chairmanship of the commission. The success of the board depended upon the calibre of men who secured the position.

Mr. Lefurgey suggested the appointment of a representative from Prince Edward Island.

E. D. Smith (Wentworth) thought one lawyer was enough. The other two commissioners should be business men or men from other professions. He feared railway men might adjudicate questions with some consideration for the interests of railways.

Mr. Haggart won the applause of the Government benches by rather combatting Mr. Armstrong's suggestion. It was all very well to talk that way when in opposition, but when you were in power and had the distribution of loaves of office and hadn't enough to go around that was a different story.

M. S. McCarthy (Calgary) favored the appointment of a practical railway man, and Mr. Borden thought this was worthy of consideration. A similar opinion was expressed by Messrs. Haughton Lennox, Lancaster, Macpherson, Galliher, Claude Macdonell.

Mr. Borden discussed the division of work that the board might have to do. It seemed to him that the questions would divide themselves into litigous and administrative matters, and with three separate boards all the questions might be apportioned between them.

The objection to that system was that different sections of the board might give decisions which would be entirely dissimilar.

Mr. Graham pointed out that this might cause inconvenience. For instance, one division of the board might be in British Columbia, and it would be inconvenient to have all questions arising in that province disposed of.

Mr. Lancaster pointed out that as the act provided that two may form a quorum there might be a deadlock on questions of fact. Mr. Graham, however, did not anticipate such a difficulty.

There was a lively incident in the House last night, arising out of Dr. Sproule's speech at Mount Forest. The doctor returned yesterday from the grand lodge and participated in the debate on the condition of some Doukhobor colonists at Fort William.

Col. Talbot of Bellechasse read to the House a report of Dr. Sproule's speech, in which he was represented as saying that the French-Canadians in Montreal were becoming atheistic. That was getting pretty close to the Beauharnois member (Mr. Bergeron).

Dr. Sproule declared that if he cared to step into the private life of Mr. Talbot he thought he could say something that would compare favorably with the speech of the member for Bellechasse.

Col. Talbot was defiant, "I defy the hon. member," he said, "to say anything about my private life, either here or outside."

"Don't defy too far," retorted Dr. Sproule.

Mr. Bergeron declared Col. Talbot had read from a report in The Globe, whose policy was in accordance with the fundamental principles of the Liberal party to foment race and religious strife. The country was getting to big for that sort of thing.

In course of debate, Dr. Chisholm (Huron) described the Doukhobors as "moral lepers."

Mr Oliver said the Doukhobors had been in the country seven years and the Province of Ontario had control of them.

The House made good progress on Marine estimates last night, about $3,500,000 being voted.

Dr. Dickey's Dismissal.

Ottawa, March 14.—In the House yesterday afternoon R. L. Borden asked Mr. Oliver for a statement with regard to the dismissal of Dr. Dickey, immigration officer at Halifax.

Mr Oliver said it was deemed inadvisable to make public confidential correspondence as to the discovery of improper practices in connection with the passage of immigrants. The Government had no knowledge as to the identity of W. Dodds. The services of Dr. Dickey had been dispensed with.

JUSTICE AT LAST.

Toronto Railway Co. Gets Kick From "Feet of Throne."

Toronto, March 14.—In December, 1904, David King, a driver for the Nasmith Co., was killed by a street car while driving across Yonge street

In January, 1906, the widow was awarded $4,500 damages against the Street Railway Co. On a technicality the company secured a new trial and the plaintiff offered to settle for $1,200, but was refused, the company going to the Supreme Court to ask that the case should be dismissed. Meanwhile the widow got the master-in chambers to reduce the verdict to $3,999, and the Supreme Court is powerless to act in sums under $4,000. The court of appeal then gave the company leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

Yesterday A. J. Russell Snow, K.C., cabled here from London that the Privy Council has restored the trial judgment (for $3,999) with costs, which may reach $7,000.

Mrs. King is at present in ill-health.

Liberals Clash Socialists.

London, March 14.—The Liberal and Socialistic parties came to a clash in the House of Commons yesterday and undoubtedly influenced to a certain extent by Lord Rosebery's speech in the House yesterday against Socialism, the Liberals threw overboard the unemployed workmen's bill of the Labor party. The majority against this bill was 149.

The measure has become known as the "right to work" bill, because a vital clause makes it the duty of the local authorities to provide work for all unemployed persons, and failing this provision to work the authorities shall provide maintenance for unemployed and their families.

Thaw Will Contest Suit.

New York, March 14.—Denying the charge of insanity and praying for dismissal of the suit, Harry K. Thaw, through his counsel, last night made answer to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's suit for an annulment of their marriage. Thaw's answer was delivered to Daniel O'Reilly, counsel for Mrs. Thaw, who, after receiving the papers, stated that the case would be put on the trial calendar in the Supreme Court next week.

The answer of Harry Thaw is brief and contains only the barest legal formalities. A. Russell Peabody, lawyer for Thaw, declared that the case would be thoroughly contested by his client.

Decline to Be "Raised."

Paris, March 14.—The French Academie yesterday decided to refuse the sum of $20,000 bequeathed to it by Mlle. Louis H. Leclerc, who died in New York Feb. 25, 1907, to be used, according to the terms of her will, in "raising the moral tone of France." The academy decided that the acceptance of this fund would be tantamount to promulgating the opinions of the testatrix, who regarded her native country as a sink of iniquity.

A Pal of Shaffer.

Stratford, March 14.—George Thomas, arrested in Toronto and brought here on charges of burglarizing Reid's Coal Yard office, Bundscho's barber shop and Scrimogorous House, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday and pleaded guilty to all the charges, and he was remanded to jail for sentence.

He is a pal of Shaffer, who was arrested in Berlin.

A Heavy Sentence.

Cambridge, Mass, March 14.—Peter Ross and Carl Norvit, who were involved in the shooting affair at Woburn, Feb. 6, during which three men and a boy were wounded, and the militia called out, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon yesterday and were sentenced to not less than 15 nor more than 25 years in state prison.

No Civil Marriages.

Halifax, March 14.—Archbishop McCarthy has issued a circular letter to clergy of the diocese of Halifax in reference to marriages. After Easter the church will require that marriage must be before parish priest or ordinary of the place, or a priest delegated by either of these, and at least two witnesses.

Chapter of Tragedies.

Kingston, N.Y., March, 14.—The death of E. J. Eanau, proprieor of the Riverside Hotel at Margaretville, Delaware County, and the destruction of the hotel by fire, causing the death of the woman cook of the hotel, and probably fatal injuries to James Sweeney, all occurred within few hours.

Fleet to Visit Australia.

Washington, March 14.—Admiral Evans' battleship fleet, after leaving San Francisco, will visit Hawaii, Samoa, Melbourne and Sydney, Australia, and the Philippines and return to New York by way of the Suez Canal.

Unionists Victors.

Cape Town, March 14.—(C.A.P.)—All the Unionist candidates to the general assembly at Cape Town were elected.

DEFENCE SCORES A POINT.

Mother of Girl Says She Doesn't Think Hitchcock Is Guilty.

New York, March 14.—Mrs. Mary Von Hagen, mother of Ellen, the chief complaining witness against Raymond Hitchcock, was called to the stand during the actor's trial yesterday and admitted that she had expressed doubt of the truth of her daughter's charges.

Counsel for Hitchcock was able to place on record a letter in which the witness sought the aid of the defendant in securing the release of Ellen from the custody of the Cerry Society, where, Mrs. Von Hagen wrote, the girl was being held as a witness against him. The letter continued:

"I have no wrong impression of the visit of you and Ellen to Great Neck. We have both lived there and we know it is all right."

Following the reading of this letter the defence asked Mrs. Von Hagen: "Do you know Mrs. Hitchcock?"

"Yes," replied witness, "I have spoken to her. I spoke to her yesterday evening, when in the corridor of the building."

"Did you tell Mrs. Hitchcock that you did not believe Mr. Hitchcock has mistreated your daughter Ellen?"

"I did not say that."

"Did you say that in substance?".

"Well, I said something like that."

DREAMED OF BURGLARS.

Man Pulls Revolver From Under His Pillow and Shoots His Wife.

Washington, March 14.—Hugh Hollis, a Treasury Department clerk, who came here from Louisville, Ky., and who served for a time as a private secretary to the commissioner of internal revenue, shot and killed his wife at their home in Newton street, in the northwest section of the city, early yesterday.

Hollis procured a revolver a day or two ago and took leave from his office Thursday to practice with the weapon. About 3 o'clock in the morning his wife arose to attend their child and as she returned to the bedside Hollis awakened, pulled the revolver from beneath his pillow and fired, instantly killing the woman. Immediately he went to sleep again and said he knew nothing of the shooting until he was afterward awakened. He declares he was dreaming of burglars.

A Mysterious Shooting.

Lacombe, Alberta, March 14.—The town is excited over the shooting of Francis E. Wilkins, president of the Blindman Electric Co. Wilkins was in his office alone for some time and later when E. J. Kett, local manager, went into the room he was surprised to find Mr. Wilkins had been shot and was in a dangerous condition. A gun had been held to his temple, but death had not been instantaneous.

Mr. Kett at once summoned medical assistance, but it was found that was unavailing. At midnight the wounded man was still alive, though not expected to survive.

There is no suspicion that the wound was not self-inflicted, but the people at Lacombe cannot understand what motive there would be for suicide.

Commissioner's Close Call.

Montreal, March 14.—A cable from Glasgow yesterday morning states that G. W. Stephens, chairman of the Montreal Board of Harbor Commissioners had a miraculous escape from death with a number of others while inspecting the harbor facilities at that port.

The party was proceeding on a small steamer, which collided with submerged hawser which rose and swept the deck clean. All on board narrowly escaped death. Mr. Stephens' injuries were slight.

Five Hundred Poisoned.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio, March 14.—Five hundred people were made ill from ptomaine poisoning here Thursday night at a social given by the ladies of the English Lutheran Church, after eating chicken and waffles.

Some stores were closed yesterday for lack of clerks.

Fire Scare on Steamer.

New York, March 14.—Fear that a small fire on the steamer Providence while coming up through Long Island Sound yesterday, might endanger the lives of his 350 passengers, caused the captain to summon the steamer Richard Peck by wireless, and within a few minutes the passengers had been transferred.

Mr. Chamberlain's Health.

Nice, March 14.—Alarmist reports concerning the health of Joseph Chamberlain, who has been here for some time past, are untrue. His health is improving and he takes the keenest interest in current events in the expectation of returning to political activity.

Labor Dispute Ended.

Ottawa, March 14.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux received a despatch yesterday from Prof. Shortt, who has been arbitrating the difficulty between the Dominion Coal Co. and its employes, that the dispute had reached a satisfactory conclusion.

"Guilty" the Verdict.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 14.—At 8.53 last night the jury in the capitol graft case rendered a verdict of guilty as to all defendants in the capitol trial. Motions for retrials were made for Sanderson, Snyder, Mathues and Shumaker at once.

Must Stay Out at Night.

Odessa, March 14.—The minister of marine has forbidden all vessels from approaching or entering any fortified harbor in the Black Sea at night. If disobeyed, the vessels will be bombarded.

Torpedo Boat Sunk.

Cuxhaven, March 14.—The German torpedo boat "S 12" was run into and sunk by an unknown steamer at the mouth of the river Elbe yesterday. The chief engineer was drowned.

Bill Passed the Senate.

Ottawa, March 14.—The Quebec battlefields bill was passed by the Senate yesterday.

MENACE TO THE EMPIRE

British Columbia Natal Act Again Knocked Out.

Mr. Justice Morrison Decides It to Be Ultra Vires—Orders Release of Eighteen Hindus—Habeas Corpus Proceedings Successful — Action Might Cause Trouble in India—Province to Appeal.

Vancouver, March 14.—The Provincial Natal Act was yesterday morning ruled by Mr. Justice Morrison ultra vires and repugnant to the B.N.A. Act. The decision was on the habeas corpus application for eighteen Hindus, convicted in the Police Court under the Natal Act. The chief points urged on behalf of the application were that the Dominion Immigration Act and order-in-council cover the whole field; sections of the Dominion Act are absolutely affirmative, making the Provincial Act absolutely conflicting, and that ships' officers obeying the Dominion Act become liable to penalty under the Provincial Act, and the latter is, therefore, repugnant.

E. P. Davis, counsel for the Hindus, strongly urged that the sentences of the Police Court were certain to have a very strong tendency to cause trouble in India. The action of one small province, and one police magistrate within that province might have terrible results in the British Empire. The Hindus were ordered to be released. The province will appeal the decision.

SIR EDWARD GREY'S REPLY.

Great Britain's Attitude Towards Railway Project One of Neutrality.

London, March 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has despatched a reply to the Russian and Italian notes regarding the railway projects in Macedonia, in which he states that Great Britain's attitude toward all such projects is one of benevolent neutrality, but that no active British support can be given to any of them until the Porte has agreed upon an effective scheme of Macedonian reform.

The Foreign Secretary's proposal for the appointment of a virtually permanent governor of Macedonia, which is submitted to the powers at the same time, is regarded here as intended to bring matters to a crisis by forcing a solution of the difficulty through some alternative proposal, since it is known beforehand that the powers do not regard this proposal with great favor.

Condemned the Gobvernment.

Kenora, March 14.—An inquest was held on an Austrian named Vizda, who died in the hospital here from wounds received through the recent dynamite explosion at Gordon Bros., camp, north of Kalmar, which killed three others instantly and injured three more. The jury bringing in a verdict of accidental death, added a rider "condemning the inaction of the Government in not controlling the use of dynamite by inexperienced persons, which has resulted in a great loss of life."

Drowned at London.

London, March 14.—Harry Baker, six years old, son of a West London resident, was drowned at Blackfriars Dam yesterday afternoon. The lad, with a companion, was watching the flood of ice and water, when Baker fell off the abutment. He went down at once and the body was not seen again.

Five years ago this winter Duncan McMartin, a young medical student, went down in the same place and the body was never recovered.

Guilty of Serious Offence.

Toronto, March 14.—Humya Kowarski was found guilty by the jury in the sessions yesterday on the charge of committing a serious offence against Lena Breslin, who is 14 years of age, and Kowarski was arrested last November as the result of a statement made by the girl after she had given birth to a child.

Kowarski had been an inmate of the Breslin home for a time. In the witness box he denied the charge.

Bahia Swept By Fire.

Bahia, March 14.—A great conflagration is raging in the business section of this city, and the firemen seem to be unable to check it.

Already thirty-three buildings have been consumed with a loss estimated at $1,000,000. There have been several fatalities.

Bahia is the prinicipal commercial city of Brazil, after Rio Janeiro, and has a population of about 200,000.

Wireless Round the World.

London, March 14.—(C.A.P.)—Marconi, lecturing at the Royal Institution, said 119,945 words had accurately and expeditiously been transmitted between Glace Bay and Clifden. By the end of February, the useful range of wireless had increased from 200 to 2,500 miles. He hoped eventually to send messages round the world.

Close Season For Bass.

Ottawa, March 14—An order in council has been passed making the close season for bass in the province of Ontario from April 15 to June 15, both days inclusive, except in that portion of the River St. Lawrence, extending from Kingston to Prescott, where the close season shall be from April 15 to June 9.

Italian General Dead.

Rome, March 14.—Gen. Giovanni Battista de Giorgis, who, for some years past, has been chief of the international gendarmerie, doing service in Macedonia, died in this city, yesterday. His end came unexpectedly.

Seven Killed in Jail Delivery.

Orle, Russia, March 14.—An attempt made by five criminals under sentence of death to escape from jail here yesterday resulted in seven men losing their lives.

What is Happening in the Ontario House at Toronto

Hislop's Amendments to Election Act Are Not Favored.

Candidates May Still Canvass—Bill Is Withdrawn — Budget Speech Next Thursday—Premier Hopes the House Will Be Through Before Easter — Other Bills Introduced—Redistribution of Seats.

Toronto, March 14.—Friday afternoon the members of the Legislature have a homesick feeling, and the result is a short session. Yesterday followed the rule, and the House adjourned till Monday after slaughtering Mr. Hislop's bill to amend the Election Act, and doing some routine business. The order paper, according to Premier Whitney's views, is in good shape. The public bills could be disposed of in half an hour if the members were present. Beyond this are the budget, the redistribution bill, Mr. Foy's law reform resolution, and then the Statute Law Amendment Act.

"Will the House be through before Easter?"

"I hope a long time before that," was the Premier's reply.

The redistribution bill committee meets on Wednesday. Very little is to be heard about the probable changes, beyond what has already been announced. Premier Whitney added Grenville, Muskoka and Parry Sound to Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, already mentioned as likely to be unchanged. It is reported that the three Bruces are to become two. North Bruce has a population of 22,000; Centre Bruce, 16,000; and, South Bruce, 19,000. These would make two fair-sized constituencies.

The budget speech will be made next Thursday. In the meantime the votes in supply are being satisfactorily disposed of. The law reform debate should not occupy more than a day or two.

A. Hislop moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Election Act. Mr. Hislop would abolish canvassing, whereby the gilt-tongued politician who is all things to all men gets ahead of the solid business man, who has to attend to his affairs. In lieu of the glad hand, Mr. Hislop seeks to establish the rule of compulsory public meetings, where the candidate or his representative would state his views, and support of the principles enunciated thereafter. If it were made illegal to solicit votes in private and to appeal publicly from the platforms, Mr. Hislop believed a better class of men would be brought out in politics. In addition to this he would make voting compulsory, or, at least, if his conscience did not permit the elector to cast his ballot he should be compelled to appear at the booth and register his name and his objection.

He found that in the County of Middlesex 17 per cent. of the votes were unpolled; in Hastings, 39; in the two Lambtons, 23; in Dundas, 26; in Grey, 34; in Hamilton, 21; in the Lanarks, 45; in the Yorks, 28; in Centre Grey, over 50. The average of unpolled votes Mr. Hislop estimated at 30 per cent. Mr Studholme thought the bill a step in the right direction.

Dr. Godfrey thought the use of the photographs of candidates in elections was a corrupt practice.

From the want of interest manifested in the bill by the House, Premier Whitney deduced that there was no crying demand for it. Mr. Whitney considered the figures given by Mr. Hislop showed a surprisingly large vote polled, considering the number of duplications and dead men on the voting list. Mr. Hislop withdrew the bill.

Eight private bills were advanced a stage and in committee the volunteers' land grant bill was reported, extending the time of application till September. Hon. Mr. Cochrane assured Hon. Mr. MacKay this would be the last extension.

Mr. McGarry will introduce a bill to amend the act respecting medicine and surgery.

Mr. Atkinson will ask: Has a fish or game privilege of any kind been granted to the Tadenac Club or to any members thereof, or to any other persons with reference to any tract of land forming a portion of the Township of Freeman? If so, when was such grant or privilege given? How many acres does the same cover? For what period does the grant or privilege extend?

Mr. McElroy will move for an order of the House for a return showing how many persons have received permanent professional certificates under authority of either sections 2, 3 or 4 of chapter 52 of the statutes of Ontario, passed in 1907. What are their names? Under which section have they qualified? How many persons have notified the Minister of Education in writing of their intention to comply with the provisions of either section 6 or 7 of chapter 52 of the statutes of Ontario, passed in 1907? What were the names and addresses of those who applied under each section?

Rural 'Phones Pay.

Brockville, March 14.—The ferry service on the river between here and Morristown, N.Y., conducted for many years by the present passenger and car transfer company, has passed into the hands of a Brockville-Morristown company, whch has purchased the steamer J. P. Bigelow.

The Rural Telephone Co. of Kitley, at its first annual meeting just held, showed that enthusiastic support had been given the enterprise. The finances of the company are in excellent shape, there being a clear surplus on the year's business of nearly $200 over all liabilities.

Starting with six, the number of 'phones have increased to 50, with applications for extensions in many directions. The trustees and directors were instructed to take the necessary steps to have the company incorporated.

No Beer—They Struck.

Glace Bay, March 14.—Dominion No. 1 Colliery has a peculiar strike, all Italians, 104 in the lot. Employed chiefly as loaders and laborers, they quit work because no beer could be obtained.

A few days ago the town license inspector seized 12 barrels belonging to an Italian interpreter, of some influence among them.

The Italians said, "No beer, no work" and quit at once, not being able to get any liquor in town.

A Thrilling Escape.

Kingston, March 14.—The Battersea stage, in an attempt to cross a street before an oncoming K.S.P. Railway train, had a narrow escape from disaster yesterday.

The engineer gave the signal for a quick stop and succeeded in effecting it only when the front of the engine was two feet from the stage, full of people.

New World's Record.

APPEARED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Wm. Fallon in Police Court This Morning—Was Remanded

Wm Fallon, a young lad of about 18 years, was arrested last night by Constables Adams and Newhall, and this morning appeared before the Magistrate on two charges, one for stealing some time during 1906, two check valves, one tea valve, one globe valve, and two brass bars from the yacht "Myrtle," the property of Mr. F. S. Clarry, and the other charge being for taking two hunting coats, one sweater and a pair of rubber boots from Mr. R. M. Roy's yacht. The prisoner elected to be tried by jury, and was remanded until Thursday next.

It is alleged that Fallon stole the above named articles and afterwards sold them to John Doig, who appeared in court on Saturday on a charge of receiving stolen goods. The articles were found in Doig's house.

MUST HAVE LICENSE TO PEDDLE HERE

Louis Florence in Police Court To-day—Several Blacksmiths Give Evidence

Louis Florence, a local junk dealer, pleaded not guilty at the police court this morning to the charge of going from place to place selling augur bits which were not his own manufacture, contrary to bylaw 1,136 of the city of Peterborough. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendant. The evidence of several local blacksmiths was taken. After hearingg the evidence His Worship reserved judgment until Saturday next.

Wm. McCall, blacksmith, was the first witness. He said that on Friday last Florence called at his shop, inquiring if he wanted to purchase some second-hand auger bits. Mr. McCall said that Florence told him he got them from the Rapid Tool Co., after the fire. They were damaged a little by water. Witness bought twenty-two from him for one dollar.

Wm. Hetherington, Aylmer street, bought six bits from the defendant for twenty-five cents. He bought them one day last week.

Mr. James Metheral was the next witness. Florence called at witness' shop on Thursday. He did not buy any of the bits.

Mr. Halpin, Hunter street, said that the defendant called at his place on Thursday trying to sell bits. Witness did not buy any of them.

City Clerk Armstrong stated that Florence had not a peddler's license.

Florence went into the box and stated that he had bought a large quantity of scrap after the fire at Rapid Tool Com. He said that he was not a peddler.

Mr. Kerr argued strongly for his client, but His Worship said that he would seriously consider the matter and give his judgment on Saturday.

SCHOOL GIRLS

Most of our ambitious young American girls work too hard at school.

Many teachers have little or no judgment about pushing a child beyond her endurance. They ought to know that girls especially have a danger period. Often, too often, utter physical collapse is the result, and it takes years and years to recover lost vitality.

Many a young girl has been helped over this critical period, and been prepared for a healthy womanhood by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Miss Elsie L. Hook, of Chelsea, Vt., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I am only sixteen years old, but I want to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and your advice cured me of sideache, periodic pains and sleeplessness, also of a nervous, irritable condition after everything else had failed, and I want to thank you for it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

300 FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Big Timber, Montana, Is Devastated by Flames—Loss $400,000.

Butte, Mont., March 16.—Fire destroyed three-fourths of Big Timber, Mont., making 300 families homeless and causing $400,000 damage. The fire raged for seven hours during a gale.

A special train with fire apparatus was hurried from Livingston, about thirty miles west of Big Timber.

The fire started in the stock yards of the Northern Pacific Co. and from there spread to a dwelling in the outskirts of the town. It was carried from house to house until the business quarter was reached. The flames cut a swarth more than a block wide through the business portion of the town. The wind then veered and the flames were driven back, destroying the buildings which had escaped the first sweep.

At one time the town was burning at three different places. Water became exhausted, handicapping the fire fighters.

Women joined in the struggle and carried food to every man while they fought the fire.

The fire fighters finally massed forces around the First National Bank, where the blaze was extinguished.

Girls Escape From Fire.

New York, March 16.—The candy factory of Arthur Essing, at 382 Pearl street, a five-storey building, was practically destroyed by fire Saturday.

One hundred girl employes, who were at work on the fourth and fifth floors, had narrow escapes, but all got out safely.

The flames consumed tons of candy.

Drops Dead In Front of Church.

Winnipeg, March 16.—Fred Hord, aged 21, dropped dead while talking to his brother in front of the Roman Catholic Church at St. Charles, a suburb of this city, Saturday.

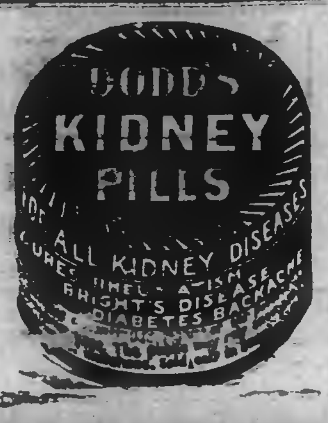
The Provincial Government has appointed L. A. Gibson dairy inspector for Manitoba.

Gift to University.

Hong Kong, March 16.—Rennie Miller has been given $150,000 with which to build a university at Hong Kong, and incorporate with it the existing College of Medicine. The Government has made a grant of land.

Decoration For Queen of Spain.

Madrid, March 16.—Prince Kiniyoshi Kuni, a cousin of the Emperor of Japan, yesterday presented to Queen Victoria, the insignia of the Order of the Crown on behalf of the Empress of Japan.



TRIES TO BREAK JAIL.

Assassin of Priest Makes a Vicious Attack on Fellow Prisoner.

Denver, Col., March 16.—With a handleless razor blade which had been left in his cell by a previous occupant, Guiseppe Alia, condemned murderer of Father Francis Leo Heinrichs, made a vicious and murderous attack on a "trusty" at the county jail Saturday, while the latter was cleaning his cell, and before he could be overpowered had cut the trusty a great gash in the neck, which bled freely, and which almost reached the jugular vein.

The last occupant of the cell was Michael Brunetti, who had traveled from New York to Denver with Alia. As the cell door was open at the time, and Alia had never before seen the trusty, the assault which almost ended in another murder could have been for but one purpose, and that escape.

The trusty grappled with his assailant, grabbed the hand which held the razor blade, and in spite of the fact that his fingers were cut somewhat succeeded not only in preventing further injury to himself but also held Alia until Deputy Warden Peter Carpenter could come to his assistance.

Even then Alia fought on like a demon. He bit, scratched, and in every way attempted to fight off the warden and trusty, and it was not until he was thoroughly beaten that he was subdued and became quiet. The sight of the open cell door, on the other side of which the murderer figured there was liberty, only maddened him the more.

The wound in the trusty's neck is about 2 1-2 inches long, and will not prove serious. The man, who refused absolutely to have his name used, lost a great deal of blood from the wound in his neck, and also from his slashed hand, but if complications do not set in he will recover

ORCHARD WANTS TO DIE.

Will Appear For Sentence on His Forty-Second Birthday.

Boise, Idaho, March 16.—On the morning of his 42nd birthday, next Wednesday, Harry Orchard, confessed murderer of former Governor Frank Steunenberg, who was killed by the explosion of a bomb at the gate to his residence in Caldwell on the morning of Dec. 30, 1905, will face Judge Fremont Wood prepared to hear the death sentence meted out to him.

Orchard, against the urgent pleadings of his attorney and others, refused, when arraigned on March 10 to let his previous plea of "not guilty" stand, or to plead to a lesser degree of murder than first degree. He said: "I am guilty and am ready to take my punishment. I have told the truth. I understand fully what must be the consequences."

There are some persons who believe that Orchard has been guaranteed immunity. This is denied by those in authority and Orchard himself. The prison officers and Orchard's spiritual advisers express the opinion that should an effort be made to commute his sentence or pardon, Orchard will refuse to accept leniency. He spends much time with books, especially the Bible and religious works.

Tatsu Maru Incident Closed.

Pekin, March 16.—The Wai Wu Pu (Chinese Foreign Office) has agreed to pay Japan 21,400 yen (about $10,500) in settlement of the Tatsu Maru incident. China will retain the arms and ammunition which were comprised in the cargo of the steamer, but will pay 10,000 taels (about $7,500) demurrage.

It is expected that the steamer will be released by the Chinese authorities on Monday. Under the agreement reached between the two countries Japan will enforce regulations to prevent the traffic in arms to China, but refuses to include Macao, which is a Portuguese possession, in this limitation.

China will enter at once into negotiations with Portugal in regard to contraband shipped to Macao.

Many Death Sentences.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A large number of death sentences were passed yesterday in various parts of Russia. Those who will suffer the death penalty include ten robbers at Krementchug, four robbers at Kiev, three men who made an attack upon the postoffice at Proskurov, three brigands at Lodz, a peasant of Karkov, and two political prisoners at Kursk. At Yekaterinburg, seven men were sentenced to be hanged and one to imprisonment for life for an attack upon the counting house connected with a mine, the property of one of the councillors of the empire.

Russ Prisons Overcrowded.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—M. Chtcheglovitoff, the Minister of Justice, has asked the Douma for $1,000,000 for the enlargement of the Russian prisons, which are overcrowded.

There has been an increase of 111 per cent. in the number of prisoners since 1906. In January, 1908, the total number was 159,587, and February 165,588, of which 13,000 were political prisoners.

Mackenzie King In London.

London, March 16.—(C.A.P.)—Mackenzie King has arrived in London, and to-day sees Lord Strathcona and subsequently will interview Lord Elgin and Winston Churchill.

Interviewed yesterday, he said Canadian feeling was against Oriental immigration and trouble was anticipated, especially in British Columbia, if it is allowed to continue.

Seized Turkish Ships.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A rumor has reached this city by way of Vienna that two Turkish steamers with arms and ammunition on board have been seized in the Black Sea by Russian warships. No confirmation of this report could be had at either the Foreign Office or the Admiralty.

Bomb at Barcelona.

Barcelona, March 16.—A bomb exploded in the central market place here yesterday, severely injuring a woman. Another bomb was found nearby. It was conveyed to a laboratory for analysis.

Neil, the 14 year old son of James Taylor, of Bradshaw, was accidentally shot while hunting and lived only a few hours.

EIGHT PERSONS KILLED

A Building in Natchez, Miss., Wrecked by Gas Explosion.

Many Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed — Wreckage Caught Fire and Flames Spread, Burning Eighteen Residences—Man Broke His Neck Running From Building.

Natchez, Miss., March 16.—Eight persons were killed, one severely injured and property valued at many thousands of dollars was wrecked yesterday as the result of an explosion of gas in the basement of a five-storey building occupied by the Natchez Drug Co. at Main and North Union streets, near the business quarter. Uriah Hoskins, one of the victims, fell and broke his neck while running from the building.

The explosion tore away the rear wall of the building, which in falling crushed an adjoining tenement building. The wreckage caught fire and a stiff wind carried huge sparks to the north and west, setting fire to eighteen residences, seven of which were destroyed.

All business has been suspended and the local companies of militia are on duty to preserve order.

Courage Keeps Him Alive.

London, March 16.—Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's condition now is such that he may die any day, or he may linger for weeks or months.

He makes no progress toward recovery, and, his reserve of strength being drained, the slightest turn for the worse might bring on a collapse. But he himself does not realize the gravity of his state. He is confident that he will be back in harness after Easter. He never even hints at resigning.

His state of mind is a peculiar psychological study. He has always been a man of quiet and undemonstrative resolution, steadfast in his opinions, extremely amiable and kindly, but courageous and unwavering.

His resoluteness now dominates all other qualities, and it is impossible to get him to discuss even the possibility of his retirement.

His doctors say it is his courage that keeps him alive. If he should lose confidence nothing could be done for him. He is in his 72nd year.

Rockefeller on Prohibition.

Augusta, Ga., March 16.—"I am an old man, and I am glad to say I never touched whisky."

John D. Rockefeller made this statement to a newspaper man. He talked freely on the subject of prohibition. He regards it "as a good thing to keep liquor away from the negroes and lower classes of whites."

"I know there are many problems to be considered in connection with this great question, but in the end I think it will be best for the state," he said, indicating his view with reference to the present situation in Georgia. "It uplifts the people, strengthens them, teaches them to save. It is best."

Mr. Rockefeller believes that the prohibition sentiment is growing not only in this country but in England as well. It is his belief that the wave of anti-liquor sentiment is steadily gaining ground throughout the United States.

Was Confession False?

Montreal, March 16.—It is now stated that the confession of Pigeon, alias Dabenais, a convict of St. Vincent de Paul, to the effect that he is the man who stole the $1,800 from the office of the Montreal police court instead of Abram Hobeika, who was sent to jail for the crime, is nothing more than a put-up job to save another from punishment.

Chief Detective Carpenter said at the time that the confession of Pigeon was false from beginning to end, and he was probably right. Pigeon now claims that he was sick in the prison infirmary and one day a man came to him, whose name he will not divulge unless he is brought into court, and who asked him to assume the responsibility of the theft for which Hobeika was sent to jail.

He was given a plan of the police court and at once proceeded to invent the story of the pretended steal.

Benefits Home Workers.

London, March 16.—Some of the big German manufacturers of aniline dyes, whose patents are in German hands, are taking steps to establish factories in England as a consequence of the new patent law introduced by David Lloyd George, President of the Board of Trade, which came into effect Jan. 1, and which empowers the revocation of patents unless the process is carried on in the United Kingdom.

The new law is expected to have great results in bringing trade to Great Britain. It is still the subject of negotiations between Great Britain and Germany, the latter of which is seeking to secure a respite from the enforcement of its provisions.

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at a banquet at Carnarvon, Wales, predicted that the new patent laws will give work to tens of thousands of British workers.

The Panama Canal.

New York, March 16.—Marked progress in the construction of the Panama Canal is reported by Capt. F. W. Kutz, U.S.A., instructor in engineering at West Point Military Academy, who returned yesterday on the steamship Panama, after a thirty days' inspection of the new waterway.

Capt. Kutz advocated an army canteen as a solution of the liquor problem on the Isthmus, where, he said, the licensed saloons were controlled by Chinese, who sold inferior liquor.

Portugal With Japan.

Lisbon, March 16.—The Foreign Minister makes the announcement that Portugal is working in entire harmony with Japan in connection with the seizure of the Tatsu Maru.

J. Cochrane, one of the visiting curlers, of Belleville, was stricken with paralysis and was sent to his home at Colborne.

INVENTS NOISELESS GUN.

Britain Has Offered $5,000,000, But U.S. to Have First Chance.

New York, March 16.—Fred Bangerter of Flatbush, N.Y., has been instructed by the United States Government to construct a large size model of his noiseless gun for testing at Sandy Hook

The gun can discharge 2,000,000 bullets an hour. No powder or other explosive or compressed air is used. No shells are required. It makes no noise, no smoke, no flash, nor report. There is no recoil. The gun never gets heated. It cannot explode. Two men can operate it. The velocity of projectiles is 3,000 feet a second. The expense of discharging 1,000,000 is $10. The cost of firing 1,000,000 bullets requiring powder and shells is $20. When mounted the gun travels sixty miles an hour. Ten guns firing 20,000,000 shots an hour would wipe out an army of 200,000 inside of 60 minutes if 1 per cent. of the missles hit men.

"I have had an extensive cable correspondence with London, in which I was offered $5,000,000 for the world's right, provided the gun will stand the British Government test," says the inventor. "A month's option was requested by cable, but out of courtesy to the chief of the United States war ordinance board I declined to give an option to the Englishman, but cabled him that I would consider the proposition."

POLICE TURN ROBBERS.

Two Men Held Up on a Street Car In New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 16.—Following the complaint of two citizens, that they had been taken off a street car at the point of a pistol, conducted to a near-by building and there robbed, a squad of police went to the building, and were surprised to find two of their brother officers in the place.

One of the officers, Supernumery Patrolman Warren E. Bofill, was identified as the man who ordered the citizens off the car after he had shown them his police badge.

The other officer, Patrolman Arthur Connell, was declared to be the man who had sat at an improvised desk and answered questions when Bofill addressed him as "sergeant." Bofill was placed under arrest and locked up on several charges. Connell was suspended from the force pending a further investigation.

The men who made the complaint are laborers, who allege that Bofill took about $1.25 from them.

Rifles Sent as Milk.

New York, March 16.—Within the past few weeks New York has become one of the most active centres of the Hindu revolutionary party outside of India. At least one large shipment of rifles has been made secretly from this port, labeled "condensed milk," and the weapons are now in the hands of natives.

So seriously does the British Government regard the insurrectionary movement among the East Indians in America that three Scotland Yard detectives are now at work in this city. They spy on the movements of the extremists among the Hindu "students," and it was declared Saturday, have employed several American assistants, one of whom is a woman.

Want Another In Cabinet.

Ottawa, March 16.—Despite a heavy downpour of rain, Ottawa Irishmen turned out in large numbers for the annual church parade yesterday. Services were held at St. Joseph's Church, Rev. Father Sherry of Ottawa University delivering the oration.

The usual resolutions in support of the Irish Parliamentary party were passed at St. Patrick's Hall afterwards.

The meeting also called upon the Dominion Government to give the Irish Catholics another representative in the Cabinet.

Norwegian Cabinet Resigns.

Christiania, March 16.—King Haakon has accepted the resignation of the Cabinet. This step on the part of the Ministry is an outcome of the reception by the Storthing of Socialist and Radical motions of lack of confidence.

Both motions were rejected by the Storthing, but the vote showed that the Government could retain office only by favor of the coalition parties, which the Ministers were unwilling to do. They have advised the King to summon the Radical leader, Gunnar Knudson, to form a new Cabinet.

Morse Will Pay.

New York, March 16.—In a statement issued last night by Eugene P. Carver, counsel for Charles W. Morse, declaration is made that the indicted banker believes that he is able to pay, and with the co-operation of his creditors, that he proposes to pay all his just debt.

Fraudulent Passports.

Tokio, March 16.—The Government has unearthed a fraudulent passport manufacturer at Omori, a seaport in northern Japan. Several arrests have been made, including two police officers, who are charged with having sold over 300 passports to America at $50 each.

Morocco's Trouble Ending.

Paris, March 16.—Gen. d'Amade has granted a safe conduct to the chief of the Chaonia tribe, who has announced that Mulai Hafid is ready for submission, to come to Settat, where the French commander is at present stationed to discuss terms.

The Kaiser to Roosevelt.

London, March 16.—A special despatch to The Daily Mail from Berlin says that the Emperor sent warm personal congratulations to President Roosevelt on the arrival of the fleet at Magdalena Bay ahead of schedule time.

Capitalist Cuts Throat.

Chattanooga, March 16.—James Johnson, capitalist and politician of this city, committed suicide by cutting his throat on an Alabama Great Southern train between this city and Birmingham.

AUSTRALIA CONSIDERS VOTING LARGE SUM FOR DEFENCE

Premier Deakin Advocates Expenditure of $9,000,000.

Says Burden on Great Britain Is Too Great—Wants an Army of Twenty Thousand Men and Fifteen Coast Defence Vessels — Will Welcome Visit of the United States Battleship Fleet.

Sydney, March 16.—There was a dramatic scene yesterday at a great gathering of citizens, when at the conclusion of an address on the subject of national defence, the Premier, Alfred Deakin, read a cablegram announcing that the American fleet of battleships would visit Sydney and Melbourne. He called for three cheers for the United States, and the audience rose en masse and responded with deafening hurrahs.

The Prime Minister said that he was sure that such a welcome as an American fleet had never known outside of its own country, would be accorded it by Australia, and the cheering that followed this statement seemed evidence of the fact that Australians, one and all, have a feeling stronger than mere friendship for the American people and their navy.

Premier Deakin, in the speech, advocated greater expenditures for national defence. He said that the burden imposed upon the people of Great Britain for the maintenance of their naval and military forces was beginning to tell, and that wealthy Australians could not expect to enjoy that privilege of protection against invasion without bearing their share of the cost. The expenditure recommended is $9,000,000 for an army of 20,000 and 15 coast defence vessels.

GUESTS ESCAPED FROM HOTEL BY JUMPING FROM THE WINDOWS

Three Hotels and a Tenement Damaged by Fire.

Guests of the King Edward Hotel at Quebec In a Panic—Woman Leaped From Upper Window With a Baby In Her Arms at St. John, N.B. — British Columbia Hotel Burned Out.

Quebec, March 16.—The cry of fire in the King Edward Hotel, a small hostelry situated on Garden street, near the City Hall, created a scene of considerable excitement yesterday morning. The fire took place in the basement, and in a few moments the entire premises were filled with dense smoke. The guests, to the number of about thirty-five, including members of the Aborn Opera Co., performing at the Auditorium, were awakened from their slumbers, and some of the women became so excited that they jumped from a second storey window into the yard, partially dressed. The firemen, in the meantime, were quickly on the spot, and very soon extinguished the flames before they reached any dangerous proportions. The damage was insignificant.

St. John, N.B., March 16.—About 3 o'clock on Sunday morning fire broke out in the upper flat of a three-storey tenement house in Chesley street, occupied by 25 people. Mrs. Dennis Kenelly, who was awakened by the fire in her rooms, had to make her way through the flames to safety. Her hair was burned and her face scorched. She aroused the other families. Mrs. James Hanley found escape by the stairs cut off by a sheet of flame. She jumped to a porch with her baby in her arms, and was rescued from there by means of a ladder. The loss is about $4,000, with light insurance.

Vancouver, March 16.—The Hotel de Gignon, at Harrison Hot Springs, owned by Ed. Lewis, Vancouver, was destroyed by fire on Thursday. The guests jumped from windows on the second floor to save their lives. The fire is supposed to have originated from an overheated hall stove on the ground floor.

Port Hope, March 16.—A small fire broke out in the Queen's Hotel at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, causing about $800 damage. Prompt arrival of the firemen prevented the spread of the flames.

BLACK HAND AGENT SHOT.

Drew Revolver on Banana Vendors But They Fired First.

New York, March 16.—A well-dressed, prosperous-looking Italian was shot to death in a street duel with two men at 114th street and First avenue yesterday. The men made their escape and have not been captured. It is believed that the dead man was a Black Hand agent, and that his death was a result of an attempt to collect tribute from the men who afterwards killed him.

The victim, a stranger in the neighborhood, asked two men who were wheeling barrows filled with bananas, whether they had "received that message."

Both men made some answer, whereupon the stranger drew a revolver from his side pocket. The two were equally quick. The stranger fired and his two adversaries closed in on him. They caught his revolver hand, and while one held it the other pressed a revolver against the back of the man's head and fired. The man fell to the sidewalk dying. His assailants fled in opposite directions.

Dunsmuir May Sell Out.

Vancouver, B.C., March 16.—Following the announcement of his early departure for a prolonged cruise in the Mediterranean comes a well authenticated report that Lieut.-Governor Dunsmuir may sell his entire Vancouver Island holdings, including valuable coal mines and coal lands, to an English syndicate.

If the deal goes through Dunsmuir and his family will take up their permanent residence in England. The latter was fully discussed with Sir Edward Vincent, the English financier during the latter's recent visit to Victoria.

His honor keenly felt the attacks made on him by organized labor, and has of late frequently expressed a desire to retire to England, where several of his married daughters reside.

If the deal is made, it is estimated that the purchase price will exceed $15,000,000.

A Bigamy Case.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 16.—There was a flutter of excitement around the gloomy corridors of the City Hall Saturday morning.

In the magistrate's office there sat a comely woman of 28 years, whose name before she married James Edward Carpenter, aged 30, of Stamford and Thorold townships, was Mary Regina of Oak Lake, Manitoba.

Downstairs in a cell was languishing James Edward, and he is charged by wife No. 1 with having on Feb. 10, 1906, at Burlington, Vermont, taken unto himself a second wife, whose name is, or was, Anna Margaret Williams of Stamford Township. Wife No. 2 did not appear on the scene but had relatives present in her interest.

Train Wreck In Newfoundland.

Halifax, March 16.—The steamer Bruce, arriving at North Sydney, had over 100 passengers, the majority of whom were suffering from injuries received on the Newfoundland Railway, in one of the worst accidents in the history of the Reid road. Many passengers were obliged to remain at Port Aux Basque, with injuries.

The accident occurred six and a half miles from Port Aux Basque, when most of the passengers were asleep. The train was moving rapidly along when the engine and forward cars rolled over and over, hurling men, women and children from their berths in the tangled wreckage.

Norse Reindeer in Far Labrador

Wilfred Grenfell's Experiment Meets With Success—The Entire Herd Was Brought Over Without Loss

The story of Mr. Wilfrid Grenfell's experiment in introducing reindeer into Labrador from Norway and Sweden reads like fiction. In an exceedingly interesting letter from St. Anthony, Mr. Grenfell, in telling of the great excitement at the post when the arrival of the Norwegian ship Anita, with its cargo of reindeer, was announced, says:—

"The ship had pushed through the ice for some distance, and as we watched she drew off and busked the harbor ice at full speed. She made little progress, however, and gave it up only after one more attempt. The procession filed down the hill, out over the ice, and aboard the steamship. She was a Norwegian vessel, the Anita, 2,000 tons.

THREE HUNDRED REINEDR.

"The deer were stored fore and aft just below the decks in temporary pens. The does, of which there are 250, seem small, about the size of yearling red deer, as nearly as one could judge in the poor light. There are 25 bucks from four to ten years, broken to harness. The latter are about the size of an average horse, but not as high. Besides these are 25 oxen or unbroken young bucks of three years old, for breeding later or breaking. All had their horns cut off before starting to prevent fighting on the crowded ship. In the hold beneath the deer was the reindeer moss, of which about a week's supply remained. We were overjoyed to confirm with our own eyes the statement that it is practically identical with the moss which covers the surface of Newfoundland and Labrador.

"The Lapps, of whom there are ten in all, three couples and a fourth couple with two boys, were, after the deer, the centre of interest. They are very short, about shoulder high to the average man, and have small, wizened faces, especially the women. The men wear moustaches, and brush them straight up, which adds to their queer appearance.

"After the necessary business had been settled, it was decided to begin landing the deer early next morning.

AN EXCITING LANDING.

"Before light next morning about 8 o'clock, the path was alive with men on komatiks drawn by dog-teams ranging from three mongrel pups to the doctor's ten big Newfoundland Eskimo dogs, on their way to help unload the reindeer. We found the cove jammed full of broken ice, and the steamship lying close inshore. The captain told us that during the night the wind had risen, causing a heavy sea in the open water, which had welled under the ice, raising and breaking it in spots and driving the vessel toward the shore in spite of all efforts. A gang-plank was built of the ship's hatches and battens, and run from the big forward port-hole to the ice. The pens were then taken down and the deer run out through the port-hole to the ice. This was an arduous task. Each deer had to be caught and forcibly hauled from the mass of bucking, charging animals to the opening, where two men, one on each side, pushed it on the gang-planks. Often a deer would balk and have to be led or pushed all the way down the plank.

"The Lapps did this trick very well by putting their arms around the deer's body just back of the shoulder, lifting its forelegs just clear of the ground, and thus Spanish walking it to the ice without resistance. One man tried to ride a big buck, but an inconvenient beam knocked him off sprawling.

"Once on the ice the majority of the deer made for the shore and followed their predecessors to the hills. A great many, however, seemed to have an irresistible desire to run around the ship's stern, and make off across the bay in exactly the opposite direction from St. Anthony.

"The Lapps, however, manifested no concern about this scattering, and seemed confident that the deer would either drift back again to the main herd if the wind was right, or be easily collected. The dogs were unused to the ice, and consequently at no use to round them up in this case. The only mistake made was caused by the eagerness of the men, who knocked down too many of the pens at once, leaving a lot of deer plunging around awaiting their turn to go ashore. This was corrected in unloading the after hold, when one pen was taken down at a time.

BROKE THROUGH ICE.

"One of the Lapps went up on the hills with the leader, a buck chosen from among the whole herd for his age, sagacity, and size, to gather in the stragglers. Every two or three minutes until he was out of sight the Lapp women on the deck would shout in a shrill voice, 'Schlug nu bel-lu!' The Lapp responded by ringing the bell, which hung from the deer's neck. In spite of this, however, four of the frightened animals no sooner reached the ice than they turned and raced madly out of the harbor straight toward the sea. The ice in this direction was more open, and the sea still hove in under it with tremendous force, so that it rose and fell with the waves, as though the whole space were open water.

For a long time the deer were seen to flounder over this heaving floe. Suddenly one disappeared, then the others vanished, and we thought they had gone down between chunks of ice. In a minute, however, all reappeared, scrambling up to another block. They are good swimmers, but we feared that they would be crushed by the pounding ice. One was seen to land on a long point, but the others kept out to sea and eventually reached an island about a mile and a half out.

AN AWFUL NIGHT.

"As the captain refused to risk his ship any longer in the region of ice by going to Loisport to fulfill his contract and land the deer for the Harmsworth Company, they had been landed with ours, with the intention of driving them up the two hundred miles in March over the land, which the Lapps said was a mere trifle. On our way back the wind freshened, and soon it was blowing a gale, as it had the previous night. At eight o'clock the Lapp who was collecting the stray deer had not yet returned, and, as one of the men said, it was 'wonderful dirty in on dem hills,' snowing and pitch dark, so that one could hardly see a thing; and as he was unfamiliar with the country, we began to be much worried for fear he should lose his way, go on and on until exhausted, and then sink down and freeze to death.

"A rescue party followed the path back to the ship, and learned that the Lapp had not returned to the ship. They returned by another path, calling continually, but failed to find him. The other Lapps did not seem all disturbed because the man had not come back, and we asked them about him, but they seemed to think that he would be all right, even if he had to sleep unsheltered, for they were accustomed to that sort of thing.

"Next morning he turned up and reported twenty odd deer added to the main herd. He seemed to think nothing of having spent the night collecting deer. He had been ten miles down the coast, and early in the morning had stopped at a fisherman's house to get something to eat.

"Every day some of the Lapps went out to round up more deer, and the main herd gradually grew in size. The deer were collected either by approaching them with the leader, whom they followed as he was led toward the main herd, or if they refused to follow in this way the whole herd was led to the stray deer and the latter were absorbed. By the middle of the week the Lapps had assembled 285 deer, and the next day reported the whole 300 safe and sound in one herd. Needless to say, this remarkable record of braving the voyage and facing new conditions without the loss of a single deer pleased us exceedingly.

"The deer were kept near the shore this side of Cremaillere, between two komatik paths which was obviously an unsafe position on account of the dog teams which would soon be passing daily. It was therefore decided to move the herd farther back into the country to what are called the White Hills. Mr. Lindsay went in to show the Lapps the land, taking a guide and the interpreter. At first they seemed dissatisfied and said that the deer could never live there on account of the ice on the moss, which is thicker than usual this year, owing to several periods of thaw, with rain which froze as soon as it fell. The trip did not produce any results.

MAKING A CAMP

"The day following the first expedition a second was made farther into the country, where moss was found in less exposed places and the Lapps were perfectly satisfied to move the deer; in fact, they were anxious to get into the country to camp. They said that a civilized house was too draughty for them. Accordingly the next Monday a week after the landing they lassoed five deer, hitched them to their loaded polkas and started inland. All the women, except one and the two boys were left there until the camp was settled. The tent, made of blanketing was pitched about eight miles inland. It is wigwam shape, with a fire in the centre, and just room enough for a Lapp to lie down with his feet at the fire and his head against the side of the tent. Preparations for this second camp were more or less absorbing. The camp itself consists of two canvas tents, one for cooking, and a larger wall tent to sleep in."

Excitement In Canton.

Hong Kong, March 16.—At a meeting in Canton over the Tatsu Maru matter Saturday night, indignation was shown to be very strong, and if diplomacy fails a boycott will be organized soon.

During the excitement the Viceroy of Canton resigned rather than release the vessel.

Must Pay For the Rebellion.

Caracas, Venezuela, March 16.—The Supreme Court of Venezuela on Saturday handed down a verdict confirming the judgment of the lower court, which condemned the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Co. to pay a fine of $5,000,000 to the Venezuelan Government for having extended assistance to the Matos revolution, which was directed against President Castro. This sum is the estimated cost of putting down the revolution. The company will appeal to the Court of Cessation.

Masked Men Burn Barns.

Versailles, Ky., March 16.—Three barns in Woodford County, and one just across the line in Scott, were burned early yesterday by masked men. The men were on horseback and in buggies, the party numbering not more than 50. A number of shots were fired.

They cut all telephone wires, and the amount of damage is not yet known.

A Prince Dies.

Cannes, March 16.—Prince Stephen, the five-year-old son of Prince Mirko of Montenegro, died here yesterday.

Usefullness of the Snow Plough

We all agree as to the necessity for and usefulness of the snow plough. While it does not do all it should, it accomplishes something. The system is made that in soft weather if the plough were run over the walks it would crowd to each side the slush, leaving the pavement free from the lumps and hollows that remain when the freeze-up comes and comfort for those wearing corns, bunions and other infirmities of the foot.

THE BLIND TROOPER

Invitations to contribute to the support of Trooper Mulloy at Oxford are now being sent out to the newspapers for publication from the Governor-General and Sir Sandford Fleming. He lost his sight, as the public will remember, in South Africa by being shot across and through the eyes. Those wishing to subscribe may do so to the Governor-General, who will see that subscriptions are duly forwarded.

Rousing Time at Club Rooms Saturday Night

Splendid Programme Given by Talented Artists—Many in Attendance

There never was such a crowd and certainly never a more enthusiastic crowd in this spacious and comfortable rooms of the Young Conservative Club than on Saturday evening. Mr. Thomas Wilson was in the chair and right well did he perform his duties. The programme opened with a short explanation by Mr. Burnham of the power policy of the Whitney government and of how far Mr. Whitney had succeeded in his endeavors to protect the interests both of the people and of those who had acquired rights before Mr. Whitney came into power. Vast interests that should have been conserserved for manufacturers had been given over by the Ross government to be monopolized by speculators and foreign financiers. This, alone, stood in the way at the present time of the most advanced and comprehensive scheme for the furnishing of power at fair prices to those who wished to use it yet devised in any country. The speaker said that Mr. Whitney might be trusted to work out a sate and satisfactory solution of the difficulty for he was the greatest statesman and most capable administrator by far yet produced by the Province of Ontario.

Mr. John Burns, provincial organizer of the AOUW, dressed in his Highland garb was easily the star of the evening. Of a splendid physique, he was able to give this Scottish songs all the fire or pathos that the occasion might require. From his opening number, "Robbie Burns" to "Auld Lang Syne" by the entire audience all was interest and enthusiasm. Mr. George Mackenzie gave a spirited and convincing address upon the 'Development of Canada under Scottish auspices.' The bagpipes under the control of Mr. McKay created a sensation. The "Cock o' the North,' and various inspiring airs, stirred the hearts of all present. Captain Stalker of West Durham and Mr. Duncan Campbell, vocalist, contributed greatly to the success of the evening.

God Save the King brought to a conclusion one of the most popular and enjoyable smoking concerts in the whole list of Saturday night festivities

The programme was as follows:—

Captain Stalker—Address.

Mr. J Burns, songs—"Star of Robbie Burns" and "Three Jollie Britons."

Mr. Duncan Campbell, songs—"Highlanders' Toast" and "Scots Wa 'Hae."

Mr. McKay, song—"Scotland Yet" and bagpipe selections.

Mr. John McKenzie—Vocal Solos.

YOUR GLASSES AND HOW TO TAKE CARE OF THEM

This little take may not appeal to you at first but really now do you know how best to take care of your glasses? My experience for the last three years has shown me that 90 out of every 100 do not know the right way of putting on or taking off a pair of glasses. They don't know how to clean them or how to hold them when cleaning or rubbing them. They don't know how to put them in the cases or take them out right. We take the greatest pleasure in showing you how to do those things. It does not matter if you bought your glasses elsewhere, you will receive the most courteous treatment at our hands, and we will straighten your frames free.

Another Orange Lodge to Be Organized in the City

Will be Known as "Duke of Manchester" Lodge and Will Start With Membership of Nearly Fifty.

The Orange order is growing steadily in Peterborough. Less than a year ago a new lodge was formed in Peterborough, and the announcement is now made that another lodge is to be added to those in existence at present. It will be organized next Monday night and will start off with a membership of about fifty. Arrangements for organization have about been completed and the persons instrumental in starting the new lodge are optimistic regarding its success.

It is understood that the new addition to the local Orange ranks will be known as "Duke of Manchester Lodge." As stated above, the organization of the lodge will take place next Monday night.

Never Wore Underclothing And Never Slept in a Bed

Shocking Conditions Existed at the Lindsay Home Near Tweed—Children are Taken Away.

Toronto, March 14.—A boy 8 years old, who had never worn underclothing, or slept in a bed until the other day, was brought to the city today by Rev. R. Burns, of Tweed, who will preach in the Gerrard street Methodist church tomorrow.

This boy is one of the Lindsay family, of Tweed, whose mother died recently while giving birth to a child in the absence of the father, who, on being sent for a doctor, spent his time otherwise. This little lad had been accustomed to sleep in a hole in the ground under the house, although he sometimes enjoyed the luxury of a snooze under the stove. He donned his first suit of undeerwear the other day, when the Children's Aid Society of Tweed, came to his assistance.

This boy, with another boy and girl, who had been deserted by their mother, were handed over to Mr. J. J. Kelso, by Mr. Burns. Mr. J. Binney, of Tweed, will arrive on Monday with a boy of fourteen years. Mr. Kelso reports that nearly a thousand volunteer workers of this sort are helping in the rescue of children throughout the province.

P.C. Newhall Found Horse in Helpless State and Shot It

Late Saturday night, P. C. Newhall received a message from Doctor Rankin, inspector at Geo. Matthews' Company's plant, stating that a horse was lying south of the C.P.R. tracks, and near the station, in a helpless condition. The officer answered the call and upon arriving found the animal moaning and unable to get up. It had apparently been left there by some one who was anxious to get rid of it.

He drew his revolver and despatched the animal to put it out of its suffering.

Former Douro Resident Prospering in the West

Mr. T. J. Sedgwick, of Winnipeg, Man., who has been visiting his parents at Mount View, Douro, has returned to his home in the West. He has not been home for fourteen years. He sees a great many changes in Peterborough and its surroundings, but not so many in the people of his acquaintance. He thinks they all stand the times pretty well, and speaks very highly of the West, where he has been very prosperous in all his undertakings. His home is one hundred and twenty-five miles from Winnipeg and twenty-five from Brandon. The land is the very best; the frost never strikes it till the crops are all harvested. He own shalf a section of the best improved land and never had a poor crop yet. He is also local agent for the Confederation Life Insurance Company. His wife and family accompanied him on his visit to the East. They were pleased with their trip, but thought we had rather a severe winter. Mr. Sedgwick is also salesman for the Lipton Lumber Company at Bounthwaite. He and his family spent last winter in Vancouver City, where he bought considerable property, and make his home there where he as yet many friends.

How Young Thieves got Away; Lifted the Grating and Flew

Just as they were about to have been put behind grates they lifted the grate and escaped. That is the aly method of getting away that was adopted by some juvenile thieves on Saturday night.

They were detected in the act of shoplifting by the proprietor of a local store and he locked them down cellar for safe keeping while he telephoned for the police.

The boys managed to make their escape through a coal grating, however and when the three policemen who had been summoned to take them into custody arrived the young offenders were nowhere to be seen.

INFANT PRODIGIES

India lays claim to two boys who, if the report be true, are real prodigies. A Benares native newspaper says: "When the elder was two years o fage, he acquired the alphabets of several languages almost unaided and by his fifth year got by heart the whole of the great grammar of Painini, together with several English, Sanskrit, Hindoo and Bengali books. By his sixth year he was able to write a round hand and solve problems of arithmetic. Now, in his sevent year, he has taken up the vow of an ancient Brahmarcharin, after being invested with the staff, zone, urn, threads and black antelope skin and is studying the Vedas. The other boy, his younger brother, now about four years old, is able to read books in Sankrit, Bengali and Hindi with ease and can commit to memory any passage on hearing it once or twice."

AMUSEMENTS

AMELIA BINGHAM

With all the magnificence of scenic splendor, costumic perfection and excellence of cast that she is noted for, Miss Amerlia Bingham comes to the Grand next Saturday, matinee and evening. Than Clyde Fitch's "The Climbers," which is the evening bill, no better American comedy-drama has been written. In "The Climbers," Mr. Fitch conceived one of the boldest central ideas and elaborated it with the most telling points that have come from his fluent and caustic pen. Mr. Fitch knows American society and its failings, as well as its virtues, and in "The Climbers" he neither spares the former nor overlooks the latter.

"A Modern Magdelen," the play which Miss Bingham will present Saturday matinee, was written by Mr. Haddon Chambers. It is of direct contemporary interest, the scenes being laid in America at the present day, and the personages being of the type familiar in modern social and commercial life. Miss Bingham's role is said to be the strongest and most fascinating she has ever had. Miss Bingham will be supported by Byron Douglas, Gordon Edwards, Jane Gordon, Jane Wheatley, Angela McCaull and other well known players. Plan opens Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Wind Plays Havoc With Signboards

The high wind yesterday played havoc with the signs and bill boards around town. Bills and lithographs were whisked away by the gale and scattered around the streets. Many of the smaller sign boards were stripped of their gaudy coverings and look as lonely as a vacant house today.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

IMMIGRATION

Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir.—I have seen a considerable amount of discussion in recent issues of our Canadian papers about the influx of undesirable immigrants What is the government doing to prevent criminals from coming into Canada. Numerous convictions have been recorded in England and sentence passed have been similar to the following;

PRISON OR CANADA

London, March 7.—Keith Miller Hendy aged 17, charged with the theft of £39 for betting purposes, was discharged by the Lord Mayor today on the understanding that he go to Canada for "a new start in life.'

At Liverpool, Samuel Davies, cook, and Albert Korff, steward, were sentenced to six months in connection with the attempt to introduce diseased aliens into Canada in August per Canadian Pacific Steamer. —Toronto Globe.

Then again, what about the labor agitators, socialists, anarchists and many other classes of individuals, which do no good to any country, but on the contrary injure it. The proposal to do away with the system of subsidizing companies to bring out immigrants will in a measure remedy a good deal of the evil. What right has the people of Canada to be made the dumping ground of any country? So long as Canadian stateaman work, more for the almighty dollar instead of the welfare of her artisans, farmers and commercial classes, so long will we be cursed with the undesirable class with which all cities have been thronged this last winter, so long will cities like Toronto, Montreal, and Peterborough have to maintain soup kitchens in winter, to allow the undesirable to enjoy life in the summer. The Canadian artisan is as a rule regular at his bench and his machine, but the above class. are periodically tired and want a day or two to "tog" himself out and walk up and down George street or play pool. or go down the river and spend a week camping, while his Canadian brother workman works steadily and strenuously on to prepare for the coming winter. Of course, there are exceptions to all rules, and there are to this one as well. We have some new comers who are a very desirable class, but while we have one of a desirable class we have five who are not.

Yours, &c.,
"CANADIAN."

AN AGREEABLE SHOCK

an agreeable shock

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Not having been in any church for quite a lengthened period of time, I happened to drop into one of the mission services now being held at St. John's church, and received an agreeable shock.

I must say I enjoyed every minute of it and from my observations, and from the remarks made by others, came to the conclusion that that also was generally the case with the audiience.

The addresses, earnest, dignified, able, manly and to the point every time, accompanied, as they were, by the hearty singing of the audience, (and it was hearty) furnished a service that was bright, cheery, attractive and uplifting, and very far from what the non-church goer would picture it to be.

So much was I taken with that service that I have attended all since, and the same remarks apply to them all.

In fact, as the boys say, "There isn't a dull moment."

One thing that struck me was the remarkable absence of pessimism in the speakers—a refreshing thing in these times.

I am writing, Mr. Editor, on the principle that when you strike a good thing pass it around, and, having enjoyed the services myself so much, and knowing that others also would like to enjoy them if they knew the nature of them, but did not care to risk being bored, have written you my impression of them. To put it on no higher plane, those who attend will have at least an evening's intellectual and musical enjoyment.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,
NON-CHURCH GOER.

ANOTHER KIND OF HOUSE TO HOUSE VISIT

Woman Selling Laces Demands Meals at Many Residences—A Troublesome Visitor

A house visitation of a somewhat troublesome character is being pursued in the city by a woman selling lace of various kinds.

The woman in question is large and sturdy looking and has been in the habit of demanding meals at different places she had visited.

The other day she called at a residence and asked for something to eat, saying she would like some meat. The lady of the house told her she had none cooked, but the tenacious stranger noticed some uncooked beefsteak on a plate and demanded that it be prepared for her. The housewife was so terrorized by her forebodying presence that she complied with the unwelcome caller's request.

The woman has demanded and obtained something to eat at more than one house. She is sometimes the worse of liquor.

WEDDING BELLS

SEABROOK—ELLIOTT

A very pretty event was solemnized last Wednesday at the home of Mr. James Elliott, Smith, when his daughter, Miss Mabel. A. was united in marriage to Mr. Benjamin F. Seabrook, Gravel road. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Manning, of Charlotte street Methodist church in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Edith Elliott, while the groom was supported by Mr. G. E. Seabrook, of Fraserville.

Mr. and Mrs. Seabrook will reside on the 5th line of Smith.

Vancouver, March 16—It is expected in railway circles that the summer time tables of the C.P.R. will provide three daily transcontinental trains in and out of Vancouver.

MR. W. H. HILL,

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 18074 on my life, th dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprised me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on the same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,
GEO. A. HAMBLIN,
School Teacher, Norwood, Ont.

Dr. Walmsley's New Offices

Local Doctor of Osteopathy Has Now Offices Formerly Occupied by Great West Life

Dr. Walmsley, Peterborough's osteopathic physician, has moved into the offices in the Bank of Commerce building, formerly occupied by the Great Western Life Co., having found his former office too small to meet the requirements of his increasing practice.

The apartments now occupied by Dr. Walmsley are commodious and bright and afford a splendid reception room as well as excellent surgical rooms. The Hunter street entrance to the building is now the more convenient by which to visit

To Regulate the Walking Delegate

Some Proposed Legislation Aspecting Some Matters in New Zealand

In New Zealand labor legislation and the regulation of industrial disputes has been carried further than in any other country on the globe. It now seems that a view of matters so far as they have gone, point out the need for further legislation with an object in view, which is endorsed by a section of the labor unions, though the bill, in charge of a member of the Government, has been held over. A correspondent of one of the trade papers, writing from Wellington, N. S., says:—

The bill is considered, by impartial critics, a big improvement, and the objection of the Labor Council seems to be principally directed against clause 53—1 and 2, reading:

53—1. No person shall be qualified to be a member of the committee of management of any industrial union or industrial association, or an officer of any such union, unless he has been or is actually and bona fide engaged or employed in the industry in respect of which such union or association is established.

2. Any person who acts as an officer or a member of a committee of management while disqualified under this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, to be imposed and recovered in the same manner as if such person had committed a breach of an award.

If this clause became operative it would mean the death knell of the political agitator who is ever busy to form new unions, and then gets appointed as secretary at a fixed salary. There are some of these men who act a secretary for a number of unions and whose combined salaries allow them to lead a life of comparative ease and idleness. They do not do a day's work in any of the trades represented by them.

No man knows better than Mr. Millar how baneful for the worker is the influence of the professional agitator, and he has been credited with the conception of this clause with the purpose of getting rid o fthese objectionabl egentlemen.

The bill will be one of the first items to be brought before the House next session and though some think that the bill will never come to life again, I am of opinion that Mr. Millar is determined to get the bill on the Statute Book.

Shortt May go to the Commission

And if so Will Resign From Queen's University

Halifax, March 14.—In conversation regarding the despatch announcing the probability of his appointment to the Railway Commission, Prof. Adam Shortt, who is in Sydney, stated that he had not received any official notification but he understood that the matter had been under consideration for some time and that it was not improbable that he would be offered the appointment. Asked if his dutie sat the university would interfere with his work he said he thought it would very materially, and that he would in case of receiving appointment be obliged to resign his professional duties.

BADLY JOINED

Mr. Russell, in his "Collections and Recollections," tells this story of an inappropriate quotation; The leading citizen of a seaside town erected some iron benches on the sea front and, with a view to combine the commemoration of his own benificence with the giving a profitable return to the thoughts of the public, inscribed on the backs: "These seats were presented to the town of Shingleton by Joseph Buggins, EEsq., J.P. for this borough—"The sea is his, God he made it."

WARSHIP AS TARGET.

"Hero" Riddled With Shot and Shell to Test Modern Guns.

The once powerful battleship Hero now lies "a sheer old hulk," indeed, on the Kentish Knock shoal near the mouth of the Thames. She is a sorry spectacle, almost submerged at high water, her hull riddled with shot and shell. His Majesty's battleships Dominion and Hibernia, two of the finest vessels in the navy, used the obsolete Hero for a target, and naval experts are just beginning to realize the fierce destruction these ships effected. The Hero is admittedly a thoroughly-antiquated craft, but her armor was considerable. From the ram to 20 feet from the stern ran an armor belt of from 8 inches to 12 inches in thickness. Her one turret was of 12-inch compound armor, as was her conning tower and redoubt. As a guide to the marksmen the Hero's sides were marked off with thick white bands into lettered sections, and after the first few shots, when the range had been found, the gunners of the two modern ships sent shell after shell with relentless accuracy into the iron sides of the old ship.

The testing of the utility of certain delicate electrical instruments aboard a ship subjected to battle fire was one of the many services the Hero had to serve. The results of this experiment rightly remains an Admiralty secret, but the effects of the fire on the old ship's armor remains for any passing fisherman to see. At low water the old Hero, but for a strong list, appears to be floating. But her funnel is gone, as is her fighting top, though her one mast survived the fire. Forward the Hero escaped the worst part of the fire, though one of the first shots found the base of the turret, and would, by blowing off their muzzles, have successfully put out of action the two 12-inch guns it contained.

The turret suffered severely, its 12-inch armor being torn about in places like so much tinfoil. Amidships projectiles have torn through the plates, in many cases the hole of one overlapping that of another. The battered ship soon sank. She could not well have done otherwise, for her sides were like a couple of sieves. Her top-hamper went the way of the funnel—overboard. The upper deck was swept practically clean. The Hero was shot at on three separate occasions. She can be of no further service to the navy, and her end will probably be to serve once more as a target—then for torpedoes.

Warrant Served on Randall Of the Lindsay Intermediates

The Lindsay Post says;

This morning a warrant for arrest was served on Ken. Randal, of the Intermediates, on a charge that he wilfully injured Ed. Switzer, of the Midland Intermediates, in their game here a month or so ago. He obtained bail in the sum of $400, and the Lindsay boys are rallying around him and going to stand by him, no matter what happens. They all believe in him, and besides, the management have the very best of evidence from nothing but reliable sources, that the Midland boys have nothing on which to base their charges. A large number who saw the accident at close range, and were in fact right at the spot where the accident happened, say that it was not Randal's fault at all, but Switzer fell into the boards and his own stick hit him in the eye when it rebounded off the boards. The two were skating nearly in the same direction and tripped, and Switzer hit the boards with something, as even those who were not close enough to see could hear. If he had been pulled back by Randal's stick in th eeye, as it is charged, he would not have struck the boards at all.

The evidence for Randal is not all Lindsay evidence by a long shot, for good outside evidence of Ken's guiltlessness has also been obtained. The boys all felt sorry, of course, for Switzer, and putting all questions of right or wrong from the case, have been willing to do anything they could to help him out. There has been some talk on the street of a benefit game, but it is doubtful that, if the Midland team push the useless matter, they would be able to get a decent sized house. Randal's trial comes off next Friday.

Edmonton Will Challenge For the Stanley Silverware

Edmonton, Alta. March 11.—The Edmonton hockey team have announced that they will challenge for the Stanley Cup. They defeated Portage tonight by the score of 8-6. The ice was hard and the game was exciting and fast from first to laste and was characterized by brilliant dashes and excellent combination. Portage's great weakness was in her goal, and here Edmonton towered in strength. The score on this account does not indicate the merits of the game, as the teams were about even. The game for the home team was played by Deeton, Crowlry, Miller, Whitcroft and Parn. For the visitors the principal work was by H. Ross, Taylor, Charlton and Fraser. The Portage team have asked for another game, six a side, and this will other game, six a side, and this will probably be arranged for Friday evening.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR WALKING RACE

Brock St. Rink Secured for Week Commencing April 20 for 36 Hour Contest

Hoagland, Slater, Hartley and Blake Will be Among the Competitors

Arrangements have practically been completed for the big 36 hours walking contest to be held in the Brock street rink commencing on Monday, April 20th and continuing, until Saturday night. The schedule for the race is as follows:

Monday, 4 hours, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Tuesday, 4 hours, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Wednesday, 10 hours, 1 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Thursday, 4 hours, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Friday, 4 hours, 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Saturday, 10 hours, 1 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Total—36 hours.

Wednesday and Saturday are market days and it is expected that there will be a big attendance in the afternoon. The General Electric works are also closed on Saturday afternoon and a good number of spectators will lickly come from that source.

Entries for the race are now being received at the newspaper offices in the city. Among those who have sent word that they will be contestants are Hoagland, champion walker of the world, Slater, who finished second at the Kansas City walk; Blake, the colored walker who made such a plucky fight at Kansas City and David Hartley, the Peterborough walker who is as good as the best of them. Several entries are expected from Toronto and other cities and towns will be represented. Jimmy Reynolds will likely be a contestant. Peterborough will have a big bunch of entries. The list will include several Englishmen now residing in the city, who have reputations made in walking contests in the Old Country.

Tickets for the entire week of the race are now being sold for $1.00. The general admission will be 25 cents. Five cash prizes have been hung up. The winner will get 50 per cent. of the gate receipts, the second man 25 per cent, third, 15 per cent, fourth and fifth, five per cent.

Any contestant not averaging 4 1-2 miles per hour for the 36 hours will not be entitled to any prize money.

The promoters of the race have secured the rink and have put up the necessary guarantee.

Mr Archie Moore will act as announcer and the other officials are now being arranged for.

Mr. George Stevens, who is identified with the contest, today received the following letter from Tom Slater of Buffalo;

Dear Sir—I have been informed by Mr. Hoagland that you are to hold a six day heel and toe walking match in Peterborough sometime next month. I would be pleased to enter your race for I know a race in Peterborough would be a big success if handled in the proper way.

I finished second in the Kansas City race a few days ago. Now, if you do not hold the six day race, can you get me on a match with someone. I will walk any man in Canada any distance from fifty miles up. I would be pleased to hear from you at once in regard to a race.

Yours truly,
TOM SLATER.

P.S.—Anything you can do will suit me. I will leave it to you.

THE RING

New York, March 13.—Tom Sharkey is sending some suggestions to his friends in Ireland that may prove of vast benefit to Jem Roache in his coming fight with Tommy Burns for the championship.

In Sharkey's opinion the only way for Roche to beat Burns is to continually pound him with left jabs and a strong left hook. In this way, he says, a good fighter can keep Burns off and finally land him.

"I have watched th epictures of the fight between Burns and Gunner Moir very carefully," says Sharkey, "and I don't see where Burns comes in to beat any good man. Without taking any credit away from him, I regard Burns as a third-rate fighter compared with our well-known heavyweights.

"Anybody could have beaten Moir the way he went after Burns in the pictures. He never did try to use his left hand, and evidently had little knowledge of the art of fighting. When you catch one of these fellows like Burns, who keep boring in, the only way to handle him is with left jabs and left hooks. I believe I could have beaten Burns by using the left hand alone.

KNOWS LITTLE ABOUT ROCHE.

"I have never seen Roche fight, and know nothing about him, but I have studied Burns. If Roche is any kind of a good fighter he should stand an excellent chance. His friends, though should train him in the use of his left. It will take a left to beat Burns and if it is used properly, nothing else will be needed.

"For the sake of the old country I would like to see Roche hold Burns off. Of course, I do not want to see the heavyweihgt championship leave America, but nobody ever seriously looked upon Burns as a real champion. He gets on with a lot of lemons and gets away with it clean.

"You've got to give it to Burns, though, for being game as well as shrewd. He has taken those fellows in one at a time, and has always held them safe. He knows something about fighting, but if he ever expects to be a real champion he must learn a whole lot.

"When a man like Richard Croker is willing to back Jem Roche there must be something in him. Mr. Croker was never regarded as a sucker and he isn't. He knows something about fighting, too. That makes me think that Roche must have something, or there wouldn't be so much money to back him. It is very difficult—in fact, impossible—for me to offer an opinion as to the outcome of the fight, as I only know one of the fighters.

"You can tell my friends in Dublin that if Roche knows how to use his left hand he is going to have a mighty good chance. If he doesn't, then Burns will beat him. Another thing you must take into consideration is that if Burns didn't know something about the ability of Roche he would not have agreed to fight him. That Burns is a foxy fellow. He does not go into matches blindfolded. As he said in a letter to one of the sporting editors, he is not signing any papers until he knows just where he is at.

"In conclusion, I wish to repeat what I said in the beginning. Tell Roche's trainers to study the Moir and Burns fights carefully. They will see that Burns won because his opponents did not know how to use their left hands. Teach this fellow Roche how to keep jabbing away and slicing in a left hook every chance he gets. If Roche starts to swing wildly at Tommy, then Burns will beat him to it. Burns is game and a hard hitter. Don't try to beat him at his own game. Try science on him and wear him out with the left hand.

"I wish I could be over there to see the fight, as I would like to see old Ireland make a show; but I can't and I send my best wishes."

A Surprise for the Wanderers

Toronto Pros. Gave Stanley Cup Holders a Bad Scare

Montreal, March 12.—That old Stanley Cup wabbled around on its base for three hours tonight while the champions of the two fastest leagues in Canada, Torontos and Wanderers respectively battled for its possession in one of the hardest, fastest and most exciting games ever played for the historic trophy. Wanderers managed to squeeze out a victory by the two goals, one of which was a "fluke," at a stage when the contest threatened to go into overtime. The score was 6 to 4, but these figures did not serve to indicate to the satisfaction of the crowd which team was the better. The score at half-time was 1—1. The Torontos are a decidedly better team than the Maple Leafs, and on their showing here tonight, as good an aggregation of puck-chasers as can be found in the Eastern Canada League. The game was the biggest surprise sprung on the Montreal hockey public in many seasons.

Referee, Frank Patrick, Victoria; judge of play, Russell Bowie, Victorias; penalty timer, C. Y. Foster.

Summary;—Ridpath, 3.00; Russell, 1.00; Glass, .30; Lalonde, 2.00; Young 1.00; Glass, 2.00; Blachford, 10.00; Lalonde, .10; Johnson, 2.30; Stuart, 10.00.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL In Your Spare Time at Home

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together, any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 7,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

The Daily Review

MONDAY, MARCH 16, 1908.

A REPLY TO THE EXAMINER

The Examiner of Friday, March 13th, contains a trenchant editorial on an alleged "blunder" upon the part of the Review anent the putting of an "export duty" on logs by the late Ontario Government. We said moreover, that Mr. Stratton, then M.P.P., was opposed and violently opposed to an export duty and to any interference with the limit-owners' right to sell the privilege of cutting logs to American lumber-merchants who rafted the logs across to the U. S., where they were cut, while the great sawmills of the Georgian Bay district remained idle and forlorn. We repeat "the blunder." The only part of the Examiner's statement which has some foundation in fact is that which refers to the technical meaning of the words "export duty" as applied to the Ontario Government as a "blunder." The words were so used by the Review because they were so used in all discussions of the question at the time. We well remember that a distinguished politician of that day said that "the only export-duty that was possible was that which could be put on by the Provincial governments in their future timber-licenses." This provision had not been made up to the time under discussion and as a consequence the mills of Georgian Bay had been compelled to shut down. As this provision respecting the cutting of logs in Ontario had the effect of an export duty it was so considered at the time and it is so considered now.

Now that that journal has been fit to deny that Mr. Stratton acted in the interests of the limit-owners to the disadvantage of the workingmen, we join issue and restate the case. A Board of Trade meeting at which we were present had been called to consider how the vast number of men thrown out of employment by the sinister policy of the Liberal Government of Ontario, which "stood in" with the limit-owners, could again be provided with work. Mr. Stratton as many remember who were there and as the daily press of that date testifies attended this meeting with a large number of his friends and henchmen who did their best to terrify the officers of the Board into silence by asserting that it was a political question and therefore not to be discussed by the Board. Mr. Stratton on that pretence vehemently denounced any attempt to discuss it at all. The consequence was that a resolution to the effect that it was desirable that some form of export duty should be placed on logs for the protection of labor was voted down thanks to Mr. Stratton, who engineered the opposition and had no substitute suggestion to offer. He never so much as mentioned "workingmen."

But the Board which had been caught napping in numbers that time was not caught the next time and Mr. Stratton got the fall which he was riding for. If this stupendous "blunder" of Mr. Stratton's is one of the achievements of the late Ontario Government which the Examiner is so proud of it is welcome to it. As for ourselves we remember thinking at the time that it might then pay to stand in with the limit-owners who were growing rich without risk and without worry, but that a day of reckoning would come for those who so illadvisedly and so strenuously opposed our reasonable and patriotic endeavors. But "the friends" saw the error of their ways if Mr. Stratton did not. Their hearts and minds went out to our own people driven from their work here, to a foreign country, by a selfish not to say mean policy. A policy which might have been adopted long before and which would have saved a vast sum to the working men of this Province, was not adopted by the Liberal Government until the outcry became so general that it simply had to be listened to. The deserted mills presented a sickening contrast to the limits. The limits operated chiefly by American workingmen who rafted logs thirty and forty thousand at a time across the lake were alive with industry. The Canadian limit-owner sold readily to his American buyer and laughed in his sleeve as Ontario was being stripped with all haste. Public opinion arose suddenly and angrily like a storm in the night. The Liberal Government was forced to do then what a government with a conscience would have done long before. No cavilling about words, Dingley acts, duties and the like by the part of the Examiner can obscure the issue. Our Provincial limits were being stripped, our logs were being rafted to American mills there to be cut by the American workingmen while ours were idle. This policy was fattening the limit-owner, but destroying Ontario. The Examiner cares nothing for this so long as the limit-sellers were protected. Mr. Stratton worked like a Trojan to continue the limit-owners' privilege while sneering at the claim of Canadian workingmen for a chance in their own country to earn a living wage. Since the Examiner wants to discuss the question we will do our best to help it. But we would recommend it next time to fall back as it did before on "retirement from public life." A resurrection is sometimes attended with disastrous results.

PARTY SPIRIT

How far does party spirit carry the electorate? This question is often asked. Its answer can be found in the appeals of each party to the electors. These appeals contain, firstly, a profession of good faith, and secondly, a charge of bad faith. These indicate the keen appreciation of both parties of the fact that the "silent" or non-partisan vote is a large one, and one not to be cajoled by trickery above all things. After all then it comes down to this: Is the electorate going to allow parties to play the game at its expense? We may safely answer in the negative. That this conclusion is correct is manifest from the provincial holocaust of Jan. 25th, 1905, when so many "passed away." New Brunswick's silent vote also broke its silence and the hearts of the heelers and hangers-on by speaking in a loud and effectual voice. Notwithstanding caucuses and crookedness, sensible people of the different ridings cannot be hoodwinked. Why should either party even depart from the straight course? The answer is, we submit, that political tricksters having no record but a bad one, must rely on something else. Not being able to win by fair means they must try to gain control of the party and to win by foul means. The result may be postponed for a time, but it must eventually come. It is inevitable. No people mindful of its interests, spiritual or material, can or will afford to be playthings of political schemers. What business enterprise could long exist with dishonest officials at the head of it? Would flattery and the glad hand make up to the shareholders what they had lost by theft? The nation is not different in this regard. What is gained by the crooks is lost by the electoral shareholder. Carelessness and connivance breed crime. Self-protection is a law of nature and the silent vote is its exemplification.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Borden's statement of the Japanese immigration question and the official correspondence of the Laurier administration with the Home Government regarding it will be found in the Hansard column. It is especially worthy of perusal.

It is learned on reliable authority that Hon. J. R. Stratton intends to try his fortunes before the Liberal convention at Norwood on March 25th for the House of Commons. It is also reported, on the same authority, that ex-Warden McNulty will be a candidate for selection for the Legislature at the same time and place. He is a good man and it is a pity that he should have to be put out of business.

Over $86,000,000 worth of minerals was produced in Canada last year. But for the financial crisis the amount would have been larger. The outlook for the mining industry at the beginning of the year was particularly promising. For the first few months the optimistic predictions were justified. So great was the production and so great the demand for labour, that the railway companies were severely taxed to cope with the traffic and wages advanced to a higher figure; the price of metals also reached a level seldom before attained.

In one short month, to quote from the pages of the preliminary Government return, exactly the reverse conditions were in evidence. Railway cars became idle for want of freight, laboring men were glad to accept reductions in pay and keep their jobs and the prices of the metals fell with rapidity.—Monetary Times.

Look on this picture and then on that! Here we have the sudden transition from the hum of industry to the silence of decay. The suddenness could be due to no ordinary cause. Money had been withdrawn from circulation to the tune of eighteen millions of dollars by the Laurier Government. Such is the price we have to pay for inefficiency.

FROM HANSARD

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION.

Mr. Borden, continuing,

"On the 30th July, 1897, the question of Japanese immigration into British Columbia had apparently become a somewhat serious one, because on that date the British Columbia Government and Legislature sent a memorial to the Governor General in which they respectfully requested that if the Dominion Government did decide to become a party to a treaty with Japan, they would secure such stipulations as would prevent the unrestricted immigration of Japanese into Canada. And in the year 1900, there was a petition of more than 3,000 residents of British Columbia to his Excellency the Governor-General, in which it was set out that between the 1st January, 1900, and the 30th April, 1900, 4,669 Japanese had landed in Victoria and Vancouver and the province was being flooded with them.

So the matter stood until the 7th of June, 1905, nearly ten years afterwards, when by an order in council passed by the present administration, it was declared that the previous obstacles to the accession of Canada, to the treaty had been removed and his Excellency the Governor-General was moved to ascertain whether or not the Japanese Government was prepared to admit Canada to participation in the treaty. The Colonial Secretary had before him the attitude of the Canadian Government in 1895. He had before him the express declaration made by Canada in 1895 that Canada would not accede to this treaty, except with stipulations which would enable Canada to restrict Japanese immigration if necessary. And he had before him, no doubt, the consent of the Japanese Government to the protocol which I have already read—the protocol containing express proviso and stipulations with regard to the control of immigration. So he addressed to the Governor-General of Canada the despatch which I have under my hand and which is as follows:

London, July 14, 1905.

Referring to your confidential despatch of 7th June, should Japanese Government be informed that your Government wishes to adhere to the treaty of 1894 and supplementary convention of 1895 under same terms and conditions as Queensland in 1897 which Japanese Government then agreed to extend to any other colonies adhering within prescribed period, namely: 1. That stipulations contained in first and any way affect laws, ordinances and regulations with regard to trade, immigration of laborers, artizans, police and public security, which are in force or hereafter may be enacted in Japan or in colony. 2. That treaty shall cease to be binding as between Japan and colony at expiration of twelve months after notice has been given on either side of desire to terminate same.

Or are your government prepared to adhere absolutely and without reserve as would appear to be the case from the speech of Minister of Agriculture in Canadian Parliament, June 22nd? Please telegraph reply.

LYTTLETON.

The speech of the Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Fisher) delivered in this House on the 22nd June, 1905, is to be found at page 7912 of "Hansard." It declares in effect that the government have absolutely abandoned an intention of discriminating in any way against Japanese laborers coming to Canada and that consequently Canada was prepared to accede absolutely to the treaty without obtaining control of the immigration from Japan. I am not giving the hon. gentleman's exact words, but effect, and the hon. gentleman will correct me if I am wrong.

Therefore the government of this country had their attention directed by this despatch from the Colonial Secretary, Lord Lyttleton, to the attitude which their predecessors, the Conservative Government had taken in 1895—an attitude which eventually had commanded the assent and approval of Japan. Therefore this Government had before them the exact situation. They had before them, on the one hand, the question of absolute and undeserved adhesion, and on the other hand the question of acceding to that treaty upon the terms already consented to by Japan, which would enable the government of this country at all times to control the immigration of artizans and laborers from Japan into Canada. But hon. gentlemen opposite paid so little attention to the subject, they had this most important feature of the question so little in mind, that apparently they forgot all about the despatch of the Colonial Secretary. So that on the 5th September, 1905, nearly eight weeks afterwards, they sent a despatch through the Governor-General to the Colonial Secretary to this effect:—

My Prime Minister earnestly hopes that you will press the immediate entry of Canada into the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

Without deigning one word of reply to the warning addressed to them by the Colonial Secretary in respect of the attitude they should assume as to the control of immigration, they apparently forgot the subject absolutely, and some seven or eight weeks afterwards sent this further despatch through the Governor General requesting that the British Government would press the immediate entry of Canada into the Anglo-Japanese treaty. Well, if they were forgetful, if they were not more diligent in the case, the Colonial Secretary had these matter in mind; for, the following day, September 6th, he sent in reply, the following telegram to the Governor General:—

London, September 6th, 1905.

In reply to your telegram received to-day, please inform your Prime Minister that before taking steps as regards adhesion of your government to commercial treaty with Japan his Majesty's government awaiting reply to telegram of July 14th.

LYTTLETON.

A great deal is said sometimes—I think, on occasions, even by the Prime Minister himself—as to the disregard by the imperial government of Canadian interests in the negotiation of treaties with foreign powers. Here was a case in which the British government were trying to preserve the interests of the Canadian people in the control of immigration, and these gentlemen upon the treasury benches had so little regard to this subject of such transcendent importance though it be, that they even forgot within six or seven weeks, the warning which had been addressed to them on the subject by the imperial government. They called their cabinet together and took the subject into earnest consideration. And this is the result of their deliberations as embodied in the order in council of September 25th, 1905:"

Ottawa, September 25, 1905.

The undersigned, the Secretary of State, has had under consideration the minutes of council, approved on June 7, last, advising, on the recommendation of the Minister of Trade and Commerce, that His Excellency be moved to ascertain whether the Japanese government would be prepared to admit Canada to a participation in the existing treaty between Great Britain and Japan, adopted in the year 1894 and supplementary convention 1895 and has had also under consideration the cable despatch from Mr. Lyttleton to Earl Grey of July 14 last, enquiring whether the government of Canada was prepared to adhere absolutely and without reserve to the treaty of 1894, and 1895, or whether Canada desired to limit the terms of the treaty to the conditions made on behalf of Queensland when accepting the Japanese treaty, which provided that the stipulations contained in the first and 3rd articles of the treaty should not in any way affect the laws, ordinances and regulations with regard to trade, immigration of laborers, artizans, police and public security which are in force or might hereafter be enacted in Japan or Queensland; 2, limiting the treaty to a period of 12 months after notice given on either side.

When the minute of council dated June 7, 1905, was approved the judgment of the Privy Council as expressed in that minute was that Canada was willing to become a party to the treaty of 1894 and supplementary convention of 1895 without any reserve. Since those dates Japan has enacted a law limiting immigration to foreign countries thus removing one of the objections that influenced the government of Canada in declining to become a party to the treaty with Japan in 1897. It is doubtful whether Japan would now agree to a treaty on any other basis than the proposals contained in the original treaty.

The undersigned therefore recommends that a cable despatch be sent to Mr. Lyttleton advising him that the government of Canada is prepared to adhere absolutely and without reserve to the treaty of commerce and navigation made between Great Britain and Japan in 1894, and supplementary convention signed at Tokio in July 1895.

All of which is respectfully submitted

R. W. SCOTT,
Secretary of State

On the following day, September 26, 1905, the deputy of the Governor-General, Hon. H. E. Taschereau, addressed the following despatch to the Colonial Secretary:

From Governor-General to Mr. Lyttleton,

Government House,
Ottawa, September 26, 1905.

The Right Honourable,
Alfred Lyttleton, P.C., &c.

Sir,—The Governor-General had the honor to send you today a telegraphic message in code of which the following is a translation.

Referring to your telegram July 14, responsible ministers prepared to adhere to Japanese treaty 1894, and supplementary convention of 1895, absolutely and without reserve. Minute of council and despatch follow by mail.

I now have the honor to enclose herewith copy of the minute of council referred to, upon which that message was founded.

H. E. TASCHEREAU,
Deputy of the Governor General

We observe an entire absence from this order in council of any mention of the assurances that have been referred to so copiously, by my hon. friend, the Postmaster General and Minister of Labour, —Mr. Lemieux. There is no assurance referred to in this order in council which forms the basis upon which Canada acceded to this treaty of 1906. The reasons set forth in this order in council are two; First, that Japan has enacted a law limiting immigration to foreign countries. Now, Japan could enact a law one day and repeal it the next, just as the parliament of Canada is at liberty to repeal or alter or modify any enactment of this parliament, and the mere enactment of a provision by the parliament of Japan subject to alteration or appeal the next day, surely, was but insufficient ground for putting to one side all considerations of that protocol which had been assented to by Japan and which would have reserved to Canada that control which Canada ought to have over immigration into our country. The second reason assigned is as follows;

It is doubtful whether Japan would now agree to a treaty on any other basis than the proposals contained in the original treaty.

What was the ground for that doubt? Japan has assented to a protocol in October, 1896, and this government had it open to them at all times between October, 1896, and September, 25, 1907, to accede to that treaty with a stipulation ensuring that. For what reason is it to be to Canada the control over immigration said that there is any doubt?"

Discovers New Use for Gloves

No Accounting for the Whimsical Ways of Women

There's no accounting for the whims of young ladies. Many a young man has found that out and puzzled his gray matter as a result of the discovery. Lest some hot-headed member of the gentler sex may dispute the above statement an example of the whimsical way of women, the veracity for which is vouched for, will be given. The other night a young man called on a lady friend in the north end of the city and found her playing with a kitten. She wore a pair of long black gloves and, upon being asked why she wore the kids in the house, explained that she had got her arms badly scratched by the cat, and as she did not wish to give up the sport of playing with the kitten, she hit upon the scheme of wearing the gloves.

Wonderful woman!

HINDOO CASTE MARKS

The caste marks worn by women in India are confined to the forehead and are more uniform than those affected by the men.

The orthodox mark invariably worn on religious and ceremonial occasions is a small saffron spot in the centre of the forehead. But the more popular and fashionable mark is a tiny one made with a gluelike substance, usually jet black in color, which is obtained by frying sago till it gets charred and then boiling it in water.

Women who have not reached their twenties are sometimes partial to the use of small tinsel disks, purchasable in the bazaar at the rate of about half a dozen for a pie. To attach these to the skin the commonest material used is the gum of the jack fruit, quantities of which will be found sticking to a wall or pillar in the house, ready for immediate use.

In the more orthodox families it is considered objectionable that the forehead of a woman should remain blank even for a moment, and accordingly it is permanently marked with a tatooed vertical line. The blister takes sometimes a fortnight to heal, but the Hindoo woman, who is nothing if not a martyr by temperament and training, suffers the pain uncomplainingly.—Madras Mail.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Mr. Alex. Edmonds, a gentleman of upwards of 89 years of age, shows a good example to younger and stronger men in his praiseworthy efforts to clean the sidewalk in front of his property on Rogers street, where he has about 200 feet of sidewalk to keep clean. This he has done all winter, although he has about a mile to walk from his residence on Stewart street. Persons going to St. Luke's church and to St. Joseph's Hospital appreciate Mr. Edmonds' thoughtfulness and consideration for the comfort of pedestrians and would very much like to see his example followed generally.

Backache is the Danger Signal

This Simple Home Mixture Said to Prevent Serious Kidney Trouble

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than any other cause. The slightest form of kidney derangement often develops into Bright's kidney disease, diabetes or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspected the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good, first-class physician, leave patent medicines alone.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home is stated by a well-known authority. For some of these such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder, frequency, (especially at night) painful scalding and other urinary troubles, try the following simple home remedy; Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is not a better general remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism either, because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood. It cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys so they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter which if not eliminated remain in the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys," is now the physican's advice to his patients.

OLD AGE ANNUITIES

The bill introduced by Mr. Fielding to provide for old age annuities may prove to be an opening wedge for Government industrial insurance, old age pensions or something of that kind, but, standing alone, it is unlikely to attract attention. The proposed annuitant is supposed to make a small weekly or monthly payment from the time that he is twenty until he reaches the age of fifty-five or sixty. The result seems rather disappointing. After thirty-five years of thrift he only earns an annuity of $87.25. True, the man who is willing to pay $2 per month for 390 months from the age of twenty to the age of fifty-five,—and then to wait fifteen years longer, may, for his few remaining years after seventy draw the handsome allowance of $552 per annum.

Should he begin to draw his annuity when his payments—$2 a month cease, at the age of fifty-five, he will only be entitled to $161.47 per annum. Should the annuitant die, before attaining fifty-five, his heirs may receive the actual money he has paid it, with interest.

There was some objection to the bill upon the ground that it amounted to the Government invading the domain of the insurance companies, but the annuitant gets no benefit at all corresponding to the protection afforded by an insurance policy.

Few Young men at twenty are inclined to provide for old age except in so far as they may be willing to work, and also to save, with the purpose of getting some capital and making some investment. It is the man of forty who begins to figure on old age as a possible rock ahead, and for him this measure seems to offer little unless he can invest a lump sum in an annuity.—Monetary Times.

SOUL STIRRING ADDRESSES; URGED TO ACCEPT CHRIST

Mr. N. F. Davidson and Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe Make Strong Appeals at St. John's Mission Services—Hon. A. B. Morine Unable to be Present—A Large and Responsive Congregation.

Two very earnest and powerful addresses were delivered at St. John's mission last night by Mr. R. S. Davidson a Toronto lawyer, and brother of Canon Davidson and Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe. The usual large congregation was in attendance and a great interest was shown in the services the responses being in a whole hearted manner. The congregation also joined heartily in the singing of the hymns.

Hon. A. B. Morine was to have delivered an address but was unfortunately unable to be present.

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT

Mr Davidson in opening his remarks expressed his regrets at the absence of Hon. Mr. Morine and referred to him as a vigorous churchman.

This was a time of great movement in the church of God, said the speaker, exemplified by the wonderful laymen's missionary movement. A matter of the greatest importance which we had to consider was the fact of Jesus Christ and what influence that had on our lives.

"WHAT THINK YE IF CHRIST"

The basis of the address was 'What think ye of Christ?' It seemed to the speaker that that challenge which had rung through his mind, went forth to the whole world. It was the compelling question to which there could be no half hearted answer. We should try and see to what extent He was the compelling factor to us.

TWO PICTURES

Two pictures were presented to us. On the one side we saw in our country, our cities and to a limited extent in our churches the world with its alluring powers. But on the other side there stood God revealed in the form of the Blessed Trinity able, ready, aye and anxious to give the power to meet those temptations which came to us in our daily life and in our everyday avocation. We set aside the privilege of living for Christ because on the imaginary sacrifice entailed but yet we knew all in life that was worth while came from doing what could in this life for Christ. Despite this we refused Him and neglected Him.

HEATHENDOM AT OUR VERY DOOR.

Christ demanded a personal sacrifice through which and by which man alone could serve Him. And yet this sacrifice gave the reward which no other service could give. Surely the time was at hand when there was a call for spiritual work.

"Heathendom is at our very door," said the speaker.

There were men who thought so very little of religion that they refused to go to church and support in any way the gospel of Jesus Christ. What answer was that to the question. "What think ye of Christ."

Men engaged on the mission of Christ were turned away from different places in Peterborough with the statement that the people called upon were too busy to consider the message delivered. What a revelation might be wrought in this city by allegiance to Christ.

In conclusion the speaker stated he hoped that there would be a great practical conversion in Peterborough through the mission at St. John's.

REV C. ENSOR SHARPE'S ADDRESS

Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe, who spoke after Mr. Davidson's address made a feeling plea for a closer fellowship with Jesus Christ. He referred to the remarks of the preceding speaker and of their convincing character. In earnest terms he spoke of the shameful treatment of Christ by mankind.

God had brought those present to church almost unknown to themselves.

CONCERNING THE MISSION

For a whole week different sermons on Christ had been heard in St. John's church. The speakers had come to the mission, not simply because they had wanted to come, not because they were any better speakers than anybody else but because they could not but respond to the call of God. The speaker dwelt on the good work being done by the mission and how it was the mind of God that had decreed that it should be held.

Much sacrifice was required all through Lent. We should observe the sacred season in spite of the attractions of amusements and parties and attractive worldly functions.

MUST BE PREPARED.

Could we not give God what is the best we could offer Him—a broken and contrite heart? We knew not how soon we would be called for souls were passing away at the very moment he was speaking.

The speaker graphically described the significance of death and the awfulness of being too late to accept the gift of redemption offered to man.

We had to make our minds up one way or the other. Some day either on earth or in Heaven we would have to answer the question, "Why did ye cast me away from you?"

TO LIVE FOR CHRIST.

To live for Christ meant a discipline of the mind and body and to carry the cross on earth. It meant pain and sorrow. Pain we all had to bear, but there was a pain that had a strange underlying sweetness. Christ's own life was one of intense poverty and great suffering.

No man knew the joy of the cross but the man who had carried it. Not one soul could be brought to God until one's own had accepted the Master. The congregation were urged to quietly and passionately think of the great victory to be achieved in the acknowledgment and acceptance of Christ.

HISTORY OF IRELAND REVIEWED IN ST. PATRICK'S DAY SERMON

By Rev. Father Carr, of St. Michael's College, Toronto—Members of Ancient Order of Hibernians Attend Service.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians attended Vespers at St. Peter's Cathedral in a body last night on the occasion of a special sermon preached to them by Rev. Father Carr, of St. Michael's College, Toronto. The subject was one that is ever old, but ever welcome to Irishmen—St. Patrick and what he accomplished for the Irish people.

The Cathedral congregation was unusually large and the music by the choir was of a special nature.

Rev. Father Carr chose as his text the first two verses of the twelfth chapter of Genesis:—

"Now the Lord has said unto Abraham; Get thee out of thy country and and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee."

"And I will make of thee a great nation; and I will bless thee and make thy name great."

Rev. Father Carr said in his opening remarks that no other nation honors, as does the Irish, its patron saint. His feast day is their national holiday. Irishmen the world over will wear a sprig of Shamrock on Tuesday next, and many hearts will be thrilled by the music which is so dear to them. In referring to his text Rev. Father Carr spoke of the relation which exists between Abraham and St. Patrick in the work which each undertook and accomplished.

The world might laugh at the statement that St. Patrick had fostered a great nation, but the fact was nevertheless true. Irishmen are scattered in every clime and wherever they are found they have been successful in every walk of life.

EARLY CULTURE.

Rev. Father Carr briefly outlined St. Patrick's history and stated that Ireland was the only nation converted to Christianity without martyr's blood being shed. At the beginning of the fifth century of the Christian era she was a prosperous country. The Roman Empire was dissolving, crushed and broken by the waves of barbarians who swept down from the north. The civilized world was in the throes of war in which Ireland was the only country left undisturbed. At the time she led the nations in literature, art and all the peaceful sciences. She was the educational centre and the seminary of Europe. For three centuries she continued thus until finally the hordes landed on her shores and the lamp of civilization and Christianity was almost quenched.

Rev. Father Carr said that Athens had been supreme for seventy years; Rome for 500 years and England during the past two centuries. Ireland therefore justly claimed a position among these nations for from the 5th to the 8th century she had held sway.

LIKE THE LIFE OF JOB.

The speaker touched lightly upon the succeeding pages of Irish history. As a nation she had suffered and endured every trial, but her children to-day should look rather at her wrongs than her sufferings. Rev. Father Carr said that he considered the history of Ireland similar to that of the holy man, Job, who was so tormented and tempted by the devil, but to no avail. Her patience and faith have stemmed every suffering but have remained firm. Foreign invasion, persecution, famine and fever all in turn have done their worst, could break their hearts, but not their faith.

Continuing, Father Carr said, that the great failing in the Irish character had to a great extent, provided her own undoing. There was a lack of unity among the people which enabled the Danes in the 11th century to ravage the country when a united stand would have held them off. In conclusion Rev. Father Carr urged the Hibernians and all Irishmen to cultivate the virtues of their forefathers but to remember their weakness and weed it out. The lack of unity in the past is manifest to-day in petty jealousies and every one should feel glad in the success of his neighbor and not try to pull him down. The unity that should have existed in the past should show itself by a love for one another to-day and thus the Irish people will add to their strength and continue in its position among the world's greatest races.

Was Unable to Come to the City

Hon. A. B. Morine Did Not Speak at St. John's Church Last Evening

Owing to illness, Hon. A. B. Morine of Toronto, was unable to come to Peterborough on Saturday evening. He was to have addressed the congregation of St. Luke's church yesterday morning and last evening was to have spoken at St. John's church. His absence was much regretted as Mr. Morine is a forceful and eloquent speaker and his addresses are always looked forward to with great interest.

MEETING WAS INTERESTING

Large Attendance at the Y.M.C.A. Yesterday Afternoon

The special committee, who arranged for the members' banquet, will meet tonight at eight o'clock to receive reports. A full attendance is urged.

The Personal Workers' Study Club meet tonight to continue their studies. Some new members will be present.

SAD CASE OF PETERBORO' GIRL WHO DIED IN TORONTO

Doctor and Young Man Arrested Charged With Murder of Jessie Ellen Gould Whose Death is Alleged to Have Been the Result of a Criminal Operation.

Toronto, March 16.—About 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning, Dr. A. G. Ashton Fletcher, 1,215 College street, was arrested on the charge of the murder of an hotel waitress, Jessie Ellen Gould, while Henry Saunderson, aged 21 years, is also under arrest on a like indictment as an accessory before the fact. The police had been actively working on the case for several days before, but on Friday discovered the residence of Saunderson, and the case was quickly completed after that.

The dead girl, Jessie Ellen Gould, aged twenty, came from Peterborough, where her father is foreman in the C.G.E. works, to Toronto some years ago, and has held several positions in the city. Prior to three weeks ago she was a waitress in the Cadillac House on Teraulay street. Three weeks ago she had to leave the hotel, and Saunderson has made the statement to the police that he made arrangements for her to room at a house on Mutual street. She went there, but was afterwards removed to 75 Shuter street.

IMPLICATED THE DOCTOR.

In his statement Saunders implicated Dr. Ashton Fletcher. Saunderson's statement went into details of the alleged operation, which, he claimed, took place at the Shuter street residence, even to the price to be paid.

On Tuesday, March 10, Dr. Ashton Fletcher called up Dr. J. H. Todd and asked him if he could go down to 75 Shuter street to administer an anaesthetic in a case he had there. Dr. Todd went down and found Dr. Ashton Fletcher at the house with Miss Gould and three other women. Dr. Fletcher said to him, pointing out the girl. "A pretty sick woman, isn't she? Do you think it safe to administer an anaesthetic?" Dr. Todd felt her pulse and found it scarcely stirring, but the heart-beat was better, and he thought it safe to administer ether. Dr. Fletcher suggested that the girl would be better in a hospital, and Dr. Todd concurring, she was sent to the Western Hospital, where she died on Tuesday at about midnight. Dr. Todd went up to the hospital on Tuesday night and found Dr. Ashton Fletcher there. The girl had just died.

SAID HE WAS CALLED IN.

In a statement made to the press last night Dr. Todd, jr., stated that the facts given above in reference to his connection with the case were correct. He added that Dr. Ashton Fletcher had first called upon another physician, but, the latter being out of town, he had requested the assistance of Dr. Todd. The father of the girl was notified of her death and came to the city and arranged with A. W. Miles, undertaker, College street, to prepare the body for burial and ship it to Peterborough. The body was shipped to Peterborough on Wednesday and was buried on Friday. The father and those at Shuter street were informed that death was due to appendicitis accompanied by a sharp attack of pneumonia. Dr. Todd, against whom there is no charge, says that the girl certainly did not have pneumonia. The death notice on file at the City Hall states the cause of death as acute septic peritonitis, with rupture of the pus tube, and the report is signed by Dr. Ashton Fletcher.

Dr. Ashton Fletcher was arrested at his residence on College street by Detectives Sockett and Archibald at about half-past one yesterday morning. He was takent o the City Hall first and afterwards to Court street station, where he stayed until yesterday morning, when he was removed to the goal. He has engaged J. W. Curry, K.C., as counsel. As thech arge is one of murder bail cannot be granted without application to a higher court.

Henry Saunderson is a young electrician, but has been out of work for some weeks now, but previously held a position with a city firm. He was arrested at half-past eight on Saturday night by Detectives Mackie and Sockett at an address on Yonge street. He was taken to Esther street station, and detained there. He admits in the fullest possible manner that he made arrangements with Dr. Ashton Fletcher with regard to the girl. He says that the girl threatened to poison him and then poison herself. He suggested marriage, he says, but the offer was refused.

The body will be exhumed, probably today, and brought back to Toronto, where a post-mortem and inquest will be held.

THEY PLEAD "NOT GUILTY"

Dr. Ashton and Harry Saunders in Police Court This Morning—Body to be Taken Back

Special to The Review

Toronto, March 16.—Dr. Ashton Fletcher and Harry Saunders appeared in the police court this morning charged with murder in connection with the death of Jessie Ellen Gould, who came to Toronto from Peterborough and who it is alleged died on Tuesday last from the effects of an operation. Both prisoners pleaded not guilty. No evidence was taken, the Crown not being ready to go on and an adjournment was made for a week.

The Attorney General's department this morning granted an order for took place and the exhumation will the exhumation of the body of Jessie Gould. Detective Mackie left for Peterborough where the interment be this afternoon and the body brought to Toronto tonight.

JUDGMENT GIVEN IN CASE OF INTEREST

McWilliams Versus Dickson Co. is Settled at Last—Claim Partially Allowed

To-day's Osgoode Hall reports contain the following:—

McWilliams v. Dickson.—Judgment (G) on appeal by defendants from report of local Master at Peterborough. Action for recovery of value of a large number of logs which he had cut during the winter of 1903-4 upon the lands in the 3rd and 4th concessions of the township of Cavendish. Judgment was given for plaintiff, and a reference directed to ascertain the value of the timber. The Master found the value to be $2,572.08. Appeal allowed to the extent of reducing the amount to $2,319.77. Otherwise appeal dismissed. No costs. G. H. Watson, K.C., and G. M. Rogers, Peterborough, for defendants. R. F. McWilliams, Peterborough; and A. R. Clute for plaintiff.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Death of Mr. Wm. Stewart—Funeral To-morrow

An old resident of Otonabee passed away last evening at his residence on Lansdowne street in the person of Mr. Wm. Stewart, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was 73 years of age and was born in Ireland. He came to this country when quite young, settling in Otonabee, where he resided until three years ago, when he retired from the farm and moved to this city. He was widely known and highly esteemed for his many excellent traits of character. He was for many years prominently identified with Centreville Presbyterian church and during his residence in Peterborough, attended St. Andrew's church. He was a staunch Conservative. He was unmarried. Two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Smithson and Miss Margaret Stewart, of this city, are left to mourn his loss.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE STORY OF A STATUE

The Review is indebted to a friend for a copy of a huge edition of the London Free Press of date March 14th, which contains a full page account of Miss Wallis's statue of "Mercury" and its ill-fated journey to Toronto. Mr. David Boyle, of Toronto, will go down to history, not as the gatherer of dry bones and the receiver of honorary degrees (see daily papers) but as the despoiler of a work of art. It will be recalled that the statue of Mercury received a coat of common white paint after its arrival in Toronto. Since then every effort has been made to secure compensation and the Ontario Government is now holding an investigation. The Free Press's account is, as we have said, a full-page one with a beautiful photograph of Miss Wallis and large cuts of no less than five of her works. The author having visited her studio found every item at first hand. It is not only too long, but too ambitious an article for the Review to attempt, except at considerable expense, which we regret.

Took the Body of the Late Jessie Gould Back to Toronto This Morning

The body of the late Jessie Gould who passed away last Tuesday in the Western Hospital, Toronto, under such peculiar circumstances and who was brought here for burial, was taken back to Toronto this morning on the early C.P.R. train. A post-mortem examination was performed on the body today and it will be returned to Peterborough on the local this evening. Detective Mackie and A. W. Miles, undertaker, of Toronto, came to the city last evening and were in charge of the remains back to Toronto.

Rev. Sharpe on Prayer

Powerful Addresses at St. John's Mission Last Night—Another Large Congregation

A splendid congregation marked last night's mission service at St. John's. The attendance was nearly as large as on Sundays and delighted the hearts of the workers. The hymns and and prayers were entered into with great fervor, the orchestra being present, as usual, and accompanying the singers in a systematic manner.

The address was delivered by Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe, and was on, "Prayer." The missioner took his stand by the side of men and examined the nature and power of prayer. He spoke of its sacramental side and illustrated this point from nature by the inner life and outward development of a tree and other forms of animal and vegetable life.

He said that the scientific objections often urged against prayer were not the real obstacles to men using this great means of grace, but rather it was sloth and that independent pride and self justification which made men think he was even independent of God Himself.

He said it could not be expected that purely selfish prayer could be given an adequate answer for prayer if its essence meant unselfishness. For prayer should not be for our own needs alone, but for others also and for the glory of God.

After the singing of an appropriate hymn another address was given by Mr Sharpe on "The Message of Prayer,," outlining the ways in which a busy man should address himself to God. Ten minutes at least should be set aside each morning and night for the great work of prayer.

The addresses were most attentively listened to and made a deep impression on the congregation.

Mission service will be held this evening at eight o'clock and the last one to-morrow evening at the same time.

The services at 4.15 each afternoon are especially for women and they are also held for children at the guild room of the Sunday school at the same hour.

TOO TIRED TO STIR!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE

WEAK WOMEN

To Become Bright, Happy and Healthy?—Use Ferrozone.

Modern life makes demands on every woman's strength that seem impossible to meet. Only the robust and strong can stand the strain. The weak, with their delicately balanced organisms, must fail. Blood gets thin, it's innutritions. Nerves go to smash, vitality declines, and then follows misery and suffering caused by interference with certain functions upon which the very existence of every female depends.

Don't let your condition grow worse. Check the decline of vital force before it is too late! The one sure remedy is Ferrozone—not a temporary stimulant—but an uplifting nutritive tonic that contains the kind of building material a weak body requires.

• FERROZONE revitalizes the system by putting new life into the blood. Not only does it nourish the ordinary blood supply—it does more, it makes new blood, the rich, red kind that denotes health.

Energy is reinforced, strength is steadily and surely rebuilt. Keen appetite, strong nerves, more restful sleep, buoyant feelings, all tell of the enormous good Ferrozone invariably accomplishes. For restoring the weak, the pale, the despondent, there is no treatment so instant and permanent in effect as Ferrozone. A trial proves this. Won't you use Ferrozone yourself? It will surely make you well—its effect is instant.

BUILT UP HER STRENGTH

Mrs. M. E. Etherington, a well known merchant's wife, of Troy, writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferrozone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last Spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferrozone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and, in fact, I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferrozone."

Ferrozone Assures Good Health!

WARNING! Beware of the substitutor who urges you to accept something "just as good." Only FERROZONE can cure satisfactorily—see you get it, and nothing else. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ontario.

In the Commons at Ottawa; To Stamp Out Cigarette Evil

"Burning" Question Introduced in the House of Commons.

Mr. Richard Blain Denounces Smoking Habit—Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway Bill Passed—Disposal of Indian Lands—Amounts Expended on C.A.P. Service—Request Renewal.

Ottawa, March 17.—Mr. Blain made his annual attempt last night to grapple with the cigarette evil by submitting a resolution declaring among other things that smoking of cigarettes has been proved to be productive of serious physical and moral injury to young people, impairing health, arresting development, weakening intellectual power, and thus constituting a social and national evil; that legislation licensing and restricting the sale of cigarettes has not proven sufficient to prevent these evils, which will continue while public sale of the cause of the mischief is permitted to go on; that the most effectual remedy for these evils is to be found in the enactment of the law prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes and it is expedient to bring in a bill for this purpose.

There was no objection to the resolution, but Mr. Fisher advised Mr. Blain to introduce a bill. He would vote for it. Still, Dr. Sproule pointed out that measures effecting the revenues of the country could only be introduced by the Government.

Mr. Blain traced the history of the anti-cigarette movement in the House of Commons. In 1903 the House agreed to a resolution introduced by Mr. Bickerdike (Montreal), the vote being 103 for 46 against. Then in the season of 1904 the House voted in favor of a similar resolution introduced by Mr. McLaren (Huntingdon), and in the same season a bill was brought in, the second reading being passed by a vote of 41 to 32. This, however, was as far as the bill got.

There was a rapid increase in consumption of cigarettes in Canada. In 1896 over 87 millions were consumed, and this had increased to 227 millions in 1906, and to over $275,000,000 for 9 months of the last fiscal year. The Ontario Legislature had passed a statute prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors, but that did not seem to have materially lessened the evil.

Mr. Blain appealed especially to the Minister of Agriculture (Mr Fisher), who was very strong on moral questions when he was a member of the Opposition. Mr. Ellson (Middlesex), Dr. Barr, Messrs. Martin, Telford, Miller and Wright (Muskoka) also spoke in support of the resolution, Dr. Barr seriously informing the House that it was a "burning" question.

Mr. Fisher, who was leading the House, expressed full sympathy with the resolution, but feared that the law would not overcome the tendency to bad habits. This was not a party question and he thought that Mr. Blain should introduce the bill.

Dr. Sproule, however, pointed out that as such legislation would effect the revenues of the country, it was the business of the Government to initiate action.

The bill of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway passed its third reading yesterday afternoon.

Messrs. Bristol and Foster continued their opposition and after some discussion Mr. Graham accepted an amendment suggested by Samuel Barker (Hamilton) that the road shall not be operated as a street railway, and that the company shall not pass over or along any street or public place except with the consent of the municipality expressed by bylaw.

Mr. Bristol submitted an amendment that the company shall not be permitted to cross any street on the level except with the consent of the municipality, but this was declared lost on division.

Mr. Graham said objections taken to the bill in committee were two: that it did not take into account the wishes of the Cities of Hamilton and Toronto and that it did not protect centres of population in respect to whether this was to be a steam or electric road.

It seemed to be a question whether the railway board had power to compel the railway to elevate its tracks, and he (Mr. Graham) consented, in order that there might be no dispute to an amendment proposed by Mr. Macdonell (Toronto) to make it clear that the railway board had such a power.

Mr. Graham had always taken the ground that the electric railways should not be allowed to run on streets of a municipality without the consent of that municipality. But he held that the people of Toronto or any other city had no right to prevent people from outside getting in. And he thought it could safely be left to the Railway Commission to see that the rights of municipalities should be respected. Would it be fair to compel this railway to elevate its tracks while two other roads were allowed to come in on the level?

Mr. Armstrong was informed that on March 31, 1907, there were 229,928 acres of Indian lands not disposed of by the Dominion Government. The Indians own 2,369 unsold islands, irrespective of those contiguous to the Manitoulin Islands, which have been surveyed.

In reply to Dr. Roche, the Finance Minister said the following amounts had been paid to the Canadian Associated Press during the year ended June 30, 1904: $12,500; 1905, $11,582; 1906, $10,765; 1907, $10,080; seven months ended March 31, 1908, $2,916. The subsidy expires June 30, 1908.

A request for renewal had been made. No proposal had been made for a Government subsidy to a domestic (Canadian) news service, nor was the Government aware of a proposal to confine the cable news subsidy to papers subscribing to a domestic service.

Mr. Herron was informed that from March 1, 1907, to July 1, 1907, the Government had expended $274,150 on immigration, and for the months ended March 1, 1908, $447,500. For the first-named period $36,047 was paid in bonus and for the latter period $91,095.

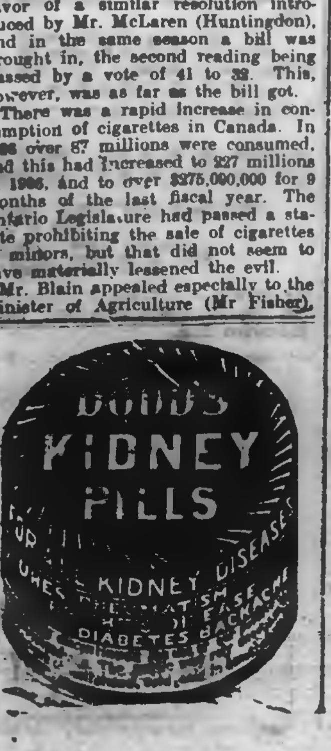
Mr. Wilson of Lennox was informed that in eight years the Government had expended $175,787, and from July 1 to March 1, 1907, there had been expended $32,433 on immigrant hospitals.

During the same period Dr. Schaffner was told $60,000 and $130,000 had been expended on emigration from the United States.

Late last night Mr. Fielding brought down supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1908, amounting to $5,325,633, of which $4,689,876 is chargeable to consolidated funds, $596,608 to capital and $40,148 unprovided.

For printing and engraving Dominion notes, $36,000 is provided, while for civil government the amount is $24,105; administration of justice, $5,304; Dominion police, $1,983; penitentiaries, $50,000; legislation, $106,150; arts, agriculture and statistics, $15,000; quarantine, $35,208; immigration, $126,603; militia and defence, $702,950; Intercolonial Railway, $335,477; Lachine Canal, $128,000; Soulanges Canal, $14,271; Galops Canal, $31,900; Cornwall Canal, $6,000; Welland Canal, $27,460; Rideau Canal, $24,000; Trent Canal, $4,062; public buildings, $21,000.

In militia and defence, $155,000 is to be voted for pay of the permanent force, and $19,447 for the further amount required to repay the British Government for the cost of Imperial troops retained at Halifax after July 1, 1905.



Put Duty an Pork.

Ottawa, March 17.—A deputation from Western Ontario waited on the Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Customs, asking that the customs duty on fresh pork and hog products be increased one cent a pound, so as to keep out American competition. The increased rate of duty would bring the duty rates up to three and four cents a pound on fresh pork and hog products respectively.

Among those who took part in the deputation were: Hon. John Dryden, John Tolmie, M.P.; V. Ratz, M.P.; H. H. Miller, M.P.; John Telford, M.P.; G. H. McIntyre, M.P.; E. D. Smith, M.P.; Mr. Koehler, M.P.P., Haldimand, and W. O. Sealey of Hamilton.

It is well known that during this winter the Canadian dealers have been importing cheap pork products from Chicago. This has kept our Canadian pork low in price.

To Probe Jerome.

Albany, March 17.—Governor Hughes has appointed former Chief Judge Charles Andrews of the Court of Appeals as commissioner in connection with the charges recently preferred against District Attorney Jerome.

Shot Woman, Drank Poison.

New York, March 17.—Frank Kito, a Japanese cook, yesterday fired five bullets into the body of Mrs. Lizzie Hulz, aged 25, who had spurned his love, and then drank carbolic acid. Mrs. Hulz will recover.

HITCHCOCK GOES FREE.

Girl Says Story She Told Was False—Arrested For Perjury.

New York, March 17.—A sensational development occurred yesterday in the trial of Raymond Hitchcock, when Justice Blanchard ordered the comedian's acquittal on the indictment against him growing out of the charges of Ellen Von Hagen, a young girl.

The action of the justice was taken upon motion of Assistant District Attorney Garvan, after Flora Whiston, the prosecution's chief corroborating witness, had testified that the story she told before the grand jury, was false. Several other indictments on similar charges are still pending against Hitchcock.

Flora Whiston, swore on the witness stand that she had been frightened into making the charges against Hitchcock by an agent of the Gerry Society.

"He threatened to take me away from my home—to separate me from my mother if I did not tell that storey," said the girl in a sobbing voice when asked why she had made the charges against Hitchcock before the grand jury.

"And you were afraid of this agent, afraid to tell the truth even in the grand jury room?"

"Yes. He told me that if I did not tell the story he had told me to tell, he would put me in an institution and keep me there away from my mother."

The girl said the only person to whom she had told the truth concerning her relations with Hitchcock was her stepfather.

It was after the stepfather had been called to the witness stand and testified that the girl had assured him that Hitchcock never had ill-treated her that Mr. Garvan moved for the dismissal of the case.

In directing the jury to return a verdict acquitting Hitchcock on the Von Hagen indictment, Justice Blanchard said he regarded the testimony of the Whiston girl as of the most startling nature. He suggested that it be made the subject of thorough investigation by the district attorney's office.

Flora Whiston was arrested on a charge of perjury as she was leaving the court room.

It has not yet been determined what action will be taken on the remaining indictments against Hitchcock.

CRASHED INTO FREIGHT.

Open Switch Causes Wreck on C.P.R. at Eagle River.

Kenora, March 17.—No. 96, traveling eastward at two-thirty Sunday afternoon, ran into a stationary freight engine which had backed into the siding at Eagle River, leaving the switch open.

Fortunately the passenger train was not going fast at the time. The engine kept on the line, but two colonist cars were precipitated down a 20-foot embankment, toppling over on each other. Those badly hurt are Geo. Pretions, Winnipeg, brakeman, with fractured ribs and bruises, and Henry [illegible]dd, car porter, with broken wrists.

Albert Spaner, Kenora, sustained facial cuts, and 14 other passengers bruises, cuts and shock.

The line was blocked eight hours. The wrecking crew left Kenora within fifteen minutes after receiving the warning.

Dead Man Sat Up.

Winnipeg, March 17.—Fred Hood was pronounced dead Saturday morning by his brother and friends, and yesterday he was in possession of full health and none the worse for his novel experience. He is a well-known citizen.

On Saturday morning, while talking with his brother on the street, he suddenly collapsed. He was picked up hurriedly and taken home. Though life was apparently extinct, a physician was sent for.

Before the doctor arrived, however, a faint pulse beat was observed, and a few minutes later the supposed dead man opened his eyes and sat up. The report of his death was widely circulated.

A South African Dominion.

London, March 17.—At Cape Town Sir W. Hely Hutchinson, unveiling the war memorial, said just as Franco-British Canada is uniting to obtain her battlefields as a national park, thus commemorating the complete acceptance of the results of the struggle of 150 years ago, so South Africa might unite in dedicating their lives to the building up under the British flag of a great dominion, which would be the best and most enduring memorial to the dead.

Despondency Causes Suicide.

Washington, March 17.—Despondent because of his transfer from one substation to another in this city, William A. Ridgely, for 20 years assistant superintendent of carriers in the Washington postoffice, jumped to his death from the fourth storey of his home. He had not fully recovered from the inhalation of illuminating gas a fortnight ago. Ridgely was 60 years old.

Countess Loses.

Washington, March 17.—The claim of the Countess of Buena Vista against Major-General Brooke for $250,000 damages on account of his revocation while military governor of Cuba of her license to slaughter all the cattle for Havana was decided yesterday by the Supreme Court of the United States against the countess.

Bribery Cases Dismissed.

Moncton, March 17.—Two election bribery cases brought by the Purity League were yesterday dismissed. Magistrate Kay decided he had no jurisdiction to try them.

An Arrest at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, March 17.—Dr. Oscar Margolese was yesterday placed on trial for causing the death of Bertha Edwards during an illegal operation.

MAY MASSACRE WHITES

French Refugees Not Allowed to Leave Island of Hayti.

Wholesale Executions on Charges of Conspiracy — State Minister's Pledge Broken—Warships of Three Nations Despatched to the Scene—Britain Acting With Germany—Europeans Said to Be In Danger.

Paris, March 17.—The situation between the Haitien Government and France has become acute and critical. The French legation at Port Au Prince is menaced, and a general massacre of the white residents of the island is feared. This information was conveyed in an official despatch to the Foreign Office from M. Carteron, the French Minister to Hayti.

Last week M. Borno, the Haitien Minister of State, assured M. Carteron, that Hayti would agree to allow the refugees who had taken asylum in the French consulates at Gonaives and St. Marie to leave the island. Yesterday morning there came the news of the execution at Port Au Prince on Sunday of between 10 and 12 prominent persons on the charge of conspiracy against the Government, together with a cablegram from M. Carteron announcing that Gen. Nord Alexis, the President of Hayti, had not only refused to confirm the assurances given by M. Borno, but had flatly declined to permit the refugees in the consulates to depart. Eleven additional persons have taken asylum at the French legation.

The French cruiser D'Estrees is expected soon at Gonaives, where she will act in co-operation with the British and German ships of war now on their way to Hayti.

It is understood here that France, Germany and Great Britain are acting in accord in this situation.

Berlin, March 17.—The German Admiralty, upon the request of the Foreign Office, has ordered the cruiser Bremen, which is at present at Curacoa to go to Port Au Prince, Hayti, where he is to be at the disposition of the German Minister for the protection of German subjects or other foreigners.

The Foreign Office has been in correspondence with the French Government with regard to the political arrests made recently in Hayti and the general situation of unrest that has existed in the island during the past few weeks, and on March 14, the two Government agreed upon a course of action. A French cruiser also, it was learned here yesterday, has been ordered to Port Au Prince.

A telegram received here by the German Cable Co. from Port Au Prince, March 15, says that the safety of foreigners there was seriously threatened, and that the arrival of a cruiser was awaited anxiously.

It is believed here that the Haitien Government is meditating forcible measures against the right of asylum afforded by foreign consulates in Hayti to Haitien revolutionists.

London, March 17.—The Admiralty yesterday sent orders by cable to the British cruisers Indefatigable and Cressy, which are both in West Indian waters, to proceed forthwith to Hayti for the protection of British interests.

Big Railway Strike.

Denver, March 17.—At 10 o'clock yesterday, 1,500 machinists, boilermakers and members of kindred trades working in the Denver and Rio Grande Railway shops, went on a strike, in response to an order issued by W. J. McQueeney, representing the machinists organization after a final conference at which A. C. Ridgeway of the railroad refused any concessions.

"The strike will ultimately spread to every road in the Gould system and affect roads all over the United States," said McQueeney. "There is every indication that the struggle will be a long one and fought hard by both sides."

The strike is the result of an order posted by the roads a month ago, abrogating all contracts with the unions.

Catholics Must Obey.

Kingston, March 17.—There is quite a strong feeling among the Roman Catholics of this city over a mandate read in St. Mary's Cathedral on Sunday ordering that the faithful refrain from attending the local theatres during the Lenten season.

A like instruction was given at the opening of Lent, but it was not taken seriously, the Catholics attending the amusement houses as usual. The archbishop's attention was drawn to the matter and his grace declares to his people that his former order on the subject was meant to be followed.

Merchant Charged With Theft.

New York, March 17.—Daniel Lacey Dresser, who was president of the Trust Co. of the Republic, which went into liquidation several years ago, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with misappropriation of $4,000. Mr. Dresser was prominent in the drygoods trade of this city.

Turned Back 65,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 17.—Secretary of Labor Oscar S. Straus says that more than 65,000 applications for passage to the United States were rejected by the agencies of the several steamship lines in European cities during the last fiscal year because of the character of the applicants.

"TIMES" NOT SOLD.

Pearson Defeated In His Attempt to Get the "Thunderer."

London, March 17.—The litigation over the disposal of The London Times was ended yesterday afternoon by a court order sanctioning the agreement under which a company will be formed privately to take over the newspaper and the business connected with it.

Under this arrangement the board of directors will consist solely of the members of the existing staff of the paper. Consequently the provisional agreement of sale made with C. Arthur Pearson has been defeated by the opposition led by C. F. Moberly Bell, manager of the paper, who becomes managing director of the new company.

No shares are to be offered to the public, and there is to be no change in the political or editorial direction of the paper.

FLOODS CAUSE DAMAGE

Railways Suffer Heavy Losses Through Phenomenal Rains.

Miles of Tracks Submerged In Pacific States—Bridges Washed Out—Traffic Suspended In Many Places—Heavy Landslides—The Supply of Drinking Water For Cities Cut Off—Gas Works Put Out of Business.

Portland, Ore., March 17.—Not in many a year have so many points in the Pacific northwest, all at the same time, faced such serious damage from flood as they do to-day. From last Friday until now, heavy rains have fallen over the whole of the northwest, and ever rivulet is a roaring torrent, and every river a lake. Bridges have been washed out or dynamited, railroad tracks are under water, and when traffic is not delayed by these disasters, huge landslides block the way.

The most serious reports come from Walla Walla.

In the Lewiston, Idaho, country railroad tracks are deep under water, bridges washed out, and fears are entertained that the waterworks which supply that city will be flooded, and the supply of drinking water shut off. Many families have been driven from the lowlands.

The Touchet and Patit Rivers have washed out the city dyke, at Dayton, Washington.

In western Washington the rivers around Seattle and Tacoma are still rising, but little damage has resulted so far.

The Williamette River and its tributaries are running like a mill race above Salem, but no damage has resulted.

As is usual during the flood conditions, the railroads are numbered among the principal sufferers. The worst of these is the Oregon Railroad and navigation, which has not been able to send a train through for the past 36 hours. This road is blocked principally by heavy land slides east and west of Pendleton.

Train service in the neighborhood of Walla Walla and from Lewiston north is at a standstill.

The prospects are bad. According to the last forecast a new storm is now moving across the Pacific northwest.

Walla Walla, Wash., March 17.—Not for years has this city faced so serious a situation as it does to-day from the floods which have come down from the Blue Mountains and made Mill Creek a roaring torrent. The Fourth Street bridge has been washed out, part of the Third Street bridge has been blasted out; the gas works have been flooded and closed down; Main Street for several blocks above Sixth Street is reported to be under water. In the business district the water is rapidly filling basements. Flood conditions are apparent in all parts of the Walla Walla Valley.

Saw Deep Laid Plot.

Haileybury, March 17.—A. W. Patterson, who was sent to the junction of the T. & N. O. Railway and the G.T.P., with the view of establishing a post there, was recalled by wire. He gathered up his blankets and other impedimenta that he had brought up with him and headed south.

At Englehart he was informed that he was under suspicion of taking out contraband furs. The local constabulary saw a deep-laid plot on the part of the Hudson Bay Co. to slip out of the country. Mr. Patterson became enigmatical in his replies to queries. They punched the bags and squeezed them and demanded that they be opened. They were opened and found to contain good old Hudson Bay blankets, some the worse for wear socks, moccasins and other necessities for the comparative comfort of a Hudson Bay Co. man.

Mr. Patterson naturally laughed, and the limbs of the law looked very sheepish.

Famous Nurse Honored.

London, March 17.—The freedom of the City of London was yesterday bestowed upon Florence Nightingale, the organizer of the nursing in the Crimean war.

The ceremony took place in the Guild Hall, in the presence of a large gathering, which included many doctors and nurses. The aged nurse, Miss Nightingale, is in her 87th year, was too infirm to attend, and was represented by her nephew.

Sir Joseph Dimsdale, the city chamberlain, in making the presentation, explained that the city regretted, by the unexplained omission of a former generation, that Miss Nightingale had not been honored in this way half a century ago.

Visiting Nickel Country.

Montreal, March 17.—Sir W. Armstrong passed through here yesterday en route for Sudbury and the district between there and the Soo to investigate the nickel deposits as to their value for armor of warships. Sir T. Eardly Willmott is with him, looking into the pulp situation.

Both represent large interests in Great Britain, and it is expected that large investments will follow.

Federal Restrictions Remain.

Washington, D.C., March 17.—By the vote of 3 to 2 the sub-committee of the Senate committee on the judiciary yesterday declared unconstitutional all of the bills intended to remove federal barriers against states exercising control of their police powers for the regulation of the liquor traffic.

Brakeman Hurt.

Wiarton, March 17.—Frank Heppenstall, a G.T.R. brakeman, was riding on the front of the engine yesterday morning when a car struck him, knocking him down and the engine passed over his right arm, severing it between the elbow and the shoulder.

Thirty men engaged in a tug of war with a elephant at Olympia for £50. The [illegible] won.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Yesterday's Session Lasted But a Few Minutes—Definition of Club.

Toronto, March 17.—A bill respecting the City of Peterboro was introduced by Mr. Fisher in the Legislature yesterday, and Hon. W. J. Hanna presented the report of the superintendent of neglected children. This, with the formality of prayers, was all that was done in the brief session.

The Lake Superior, Long Lake & Albany River Railway wants an extension of three years in which to start building, and seven years for completion.

The Morrisburg Electric Railway seeks incorporation with power to run to Russell Village.

To enable cities and towns to have elections in December, J. J. Preston, Durham, has a bill to provide for nominations on the last Monday in November.

The board of control principle is so popular that J. P. Downey has a bill to extend its operation.

G. S. May wants to define a club so that a "'club' shall mean and include not only a proprietary club owned by an individual or with a share capital or club carried on with the idea of profit, but also a members' club, whether incorporated or not, carried on for the social purposes and convenience of its members without any idea of profit or gain." The point was raised in connection with the enforcement of the business tax a short time ago.

W. K. McNaught's bread bill will be up for second reading to-day.

A College In Mexico Wrecked.

Mexico City, March 17.—One-half of the large Viscayan College here has sunk three feet into the ground as a result of last year's earthquake, and the Government has ordered the building demolished. It will require $200,000 to replace it.

Asleep Forty Days.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—This is the fortieth day on which Mrs. Beulah Hawkins, the young woman who has been in a trance at the County Hospital, has been asleep.

Boy's Release Ordered.

St. Catharines, March 17.—Louis Karr, the Beamsville youth, was recently sentenced to six months in the Central Prison, for, as a joke, doping a chocolate drop with a drug known as spanish fly, which he gave to another boy to eat.

Lawyer W. A. Marquis yesterday received a communication from the Governor-General, ordering the prisoner's release on ticket-of-leave.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs Are Lower at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, March 16.—London cables are steady at 10¾c to 12¾c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, March 16.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 55 carloads, composed of 906 cattle, 188 sheep and lambs, 11 calves and 219 horses.

Exporters.

Export steers sold at $4.85 to $5.25, the bulk of the best going at $5 to $5.15; export bulls, $3.75 to $4.25, with a few extra quality at a little more money.

Butchers.

A few picked cattle sold at $4.75 to $4.90, and one or two very choice, it was said, sold at $5 per cwt.; loads of good, $4.40 to $4.65; medium, $4 to $4.25; common, $3.65 to $4; cows, $3 to $4.25 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

A few milkers and springers were reported as selling at $35 to $50 each.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at $4 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

There was an active market for sheep and lambs at following prices: Sheep, $4.75 to $5 per cwt.; lambs at $7.25 to $7.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Hog prices were quoted by Gunns as follows: Selects, $5.40, fed and watered at the market, and $5.15, f.o.b. cars to drovers at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 16.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending March 14 were 1200 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 2082 hogs and 600 calves. The offerings to-day were 800 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 100 calves.

Choice cattle sold at 5c to 5¼c; good, 4½c to 4¾c; fair at 3¾c to 4c; common at 3¼c to 3½c, and inferior at 2¾c to 3c per lb. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade in cattle slow, but noted no change in prices from a week ago. Owing to the continued small supplies of sheep coming forward a much stronger feeling has developed in the market and prices have advanced fully ½c per lb. The demand from local and outside buyers is fairly good, and sales were made at 5c to 5½c per lb. There is no actual change in lambs, but prices rule very firm under a steady demand for local consumption, and sales of choice stock were made at 6½c to 6¾c; good at 6c to 6¼c, and fair at 5¾c per lb.

A few spring lambs are coming forward, for which the demand is good at prices ranging from $7 to $10 each. Supplies of calves are now coming forward freely and an active trade is doing at from $2 to $6 each, as to quality. A strong feeling prevailed in the market for hogs and prices advanced 15c to 20c per 100 lbs. since last Wednesday. This was principally attributed to the shortage in supplies, as, altho advices from European sources on Canadian bacon were firmer, there was nothing in them to warrant higher prices for hogs here; but, as the local demand for dressed stock is good, the competition between buyers for live hogs was keener than usual and an active trade was done, with sales of selected lots at $5.90 to $6, and one carload was sold for shipment to Quebec at $6.10 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

Swain Begs the Sheriff's Aid in Dodging Fair Suitor

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 15.—Miss Ella Ginniss returned home today, having in vain laid siege to the heart of John Rowe at his home in Wheaton. She says she has not given up hope of winning him. But her parents threaten to have her sanity tested unless she desists.

Rowe has invoked the assistance of Sheriff Smith and District Attorney Crager. If they do not put a stop to the woman's proposing, he will apply for a court injunction.

Miss Ginniss says, although she had never met Rowe before Monday night, she loves him and that her love will win in the end. For over a year she has written to him, she alleges, and has received endearing replies. Rowe denies having written to Miss Ginniss or having received letters from her.

It is believed that some one carried on correspondence with Miss Ginniss in Rowe's name, and intercepted her answers.

When the woman appeared at Rowe's home she asked his parents for John. He came and she exclaimed: "I will take you for my husband." She started to throw herself into Rowe's arms, but he dodged. He refused to listen to her, and hurriedly hitched up a team and came here to seek the protection of the county officers.

Heavy Fine for Assault on Young Boy

Large Docket in Police Court This Morning—Complainant Had to Pay Costs in a Case

There was a big docket at the police court this morning and Magistrate Dumble had one of the busiest times that he has experienced for some time. The first case was one of assault. A well known citizen was charged with assaulting Robt. B. Hunter, a young lad of about 15 years. The defendant pleaded not guilty, but after hearing the evidence His Worship imposed a fine of five dollars and costs, amounting to [illegible].

The evidence of several witnesses was taken and from it, it appears that young Hunter, who drives his father's grocery sleigh, was coming up George street last Saturday afternoon. Near the C.P.R. station the defendant with another man was doing some repairing work. The gates were down and the complainant drove right up to the defendant before the latter saw him. He became so angered that lifting his shovel, he struck the boy on the grocery sleigh on the back. Hunter claimed that he was stunned with a blow on the head, but this was denied.

There was direct testimony that the boy had been struck with the shovel and two men who witnessed the assault stated in court, that they were aroused so, by the treatment of the man to the boy that they came very nearly going at the defendant and giving him a whipping.

His Worship then imposed the above fine which was paid forthwith.

ANOTHER ASSAULT CASE

A resident of North Monaghan was charged with assaulting Samuel Innes on Saturday evening last. The complainant got the worst of the deal and had to pay the costs, amounting to $4.10.

Innes had no evidence save his own testimony and he was unable to prove the charge.

He went into the box and stated that he met the Monaghan man as he came out of the Cavanagh house and he struck at him. They then proceeded to the New Oxford hotel yard where the two fought and Innes received a bad cut in the lip.

Several witnesses proved that Innes was the aggressor in the fracas and the defendant stated that the row grew out of Inne's continued visits to his house, after having been told to keep away.

His Worship said that if people persisted in coming to the court with cases they were unable to prove, they would have to pay the costs.

GUILTY OF THEFT

In connection with the charge of stealing several articles from the yachts "Myrtle" and "Rob Roy" against Wm. Fallon, another arrest was made yesterday. Stanley McCabe appeared before the Magistrate this morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for him and pleaded guilty to taking two hunting coats, oar locks, some brass, a pair of trousers, and a saw eater, the property of Mr. R. M. Roy. Mr. Gordon stated that McCabe was present when the goods were stolen but did not take them.

Rev. Canon Davidson was present, and spoke as to the previous good character of the boy. The boy got into bad company and thus was led to do wrong. He was sure it would not occur again.

His Worship allowed him to go on condition that he appear on Thursday morning.

Trouble Due to Anchor Ice

Reason Why Water Was Turned off—Blocked Service at 4 This Morning

The water being turned off today in the city waterworks was due to anchor ice at the pump house. The anchor ice was caused by the sudden change in temperature and blocked the service at 4 o'clock this morning. The water was turned off for several hours.

The city of St. John has decided in favor of free school books.

YOUR GLASSES AND HOW TO TAKE CARE OF THEM

This little take may not appeal to you at first but really now do you know how best to take care of your glasses? My experience for the last three years has shown me that 90 out of every 100 do not know the right way of putting on or taking off a pair of glasses. They don't know how to clean them or how to hold them when cleaning or rubbing them. They don't know how to put them in the cases or take them out right. We take the greatest pleasure in showing you how to do those things. It does not matter if you bought your glasses elsewhere, you will receive the most courteous treatment at our hands, and we will straighten your frames free.

History of a Case That Has Been of Much Local Interest

An Account of the Proceedings in the Suit of Theodore McWilliams Versus the Dickson Co.—Judgement in Favor of the Plaintiff.

Much interest has been taken locally in the case of Theodore McWilliams vs. the Dickson Company, in which judgment was given at Osgoode Hall on Saturday for $2,344.77, which represents the amount that was allowed by Judge Weller—$2,572.08—before the defendants made the appeal. Full particulars of the judgment were published in yesterday's issue of the Review.

Some information regarding the history of the case might prove of interest.

The plaintiff as assignee of several veterans, located a block of land in the township of Cavendish, which had formally been included in the Dickson Company's timber license. He proceeded to erect buildings and fences and to take off the timber, for purpose of turning the property into a cattle ranch. While the timber was being cut the Dickson Company lodged a complaint in the Crown Lands Department to the effect tha the cutting of the timber was an infringement on their rights as timber licencees.

After a long argument the Commissioner of Crown Lands cancelled two of the plaintiff's four locations ad gave the timber on the cancelled locations to the defendants on condition that they paid the plaintiff the reasonable loss of taking out the timber.

The parties agreed to the sale of all the timber to the defendants, but were unable to agree as to the reasonable cost. The defendants paid the plaintiff the amount they admitted, about $6,000, and the plaintiff entered action for the further sum of $3,000.

Judge Street gave judgment that the plaintiff was entitled to be paid and confirmed the award of the Crown Lands Department, and directed a reference to ascertain the exact amount which should be paid. The defendants appeal to the Court of Appeals but were unsuccessful.

The parties then agreed upon Judge Weller as referee and after a prolonged hearing he awarded the plaintiff $2,577.08. From this award the defendants appealed and the case was argued before Mr. Justice Britton on February 12th, and he handed out judgment for the above stated amount on Saturday last.

Rumor of the Retirement Of Archbishop O'Connor

Toronto, March 17.—It is rumored that His Grace, Rev. D. O'Connor, C.S.B., D.D., has decided to resign his office as Archbishop of the Province of Ontario.

The decision, so it is reported, has been arrived at after careful consideration, and proceeds from a desire for a less arduous life than the onerous duties of his office allow. His Grace is something of a recluse, and prefers meditation. He has as far as possible refrained from participating in public functions.

A representative of The Star called to see His Grace this morning, and was accorded a brief interview. The Archbishop smiled a little when the representative unfolded his mission.

"I have nothing whatever to say in the matter," he said, and wished to knowe where the report originated.

Shoul d Archbishop O'Connor retire, Bishop Scollard, of Sault Ste. Marie, is mentioned as a possible successor.

Stole Their Neighbors' Wood And Got One Month in Gaol

Jacob Ferman and Wm. Parcels Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Theft in Police Court To-day—Have Been Stealing Wood to Keep From Freezing.

For stealing their neighbor's wood to keep warm and doing no work to support themselves, Jacob Ferman and Wm. Parcels were arrested yesterday afternoon by P. C. Newhall in their rooms over the Chinese restaurant at the corner of George and King streets. They appeared before the Magistrate this morning and pleaded guilty to stealing sixteen feet of scantling from Mr. Robt. Lynn. Parcels also pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. They were each given a month in the county gaol.

Both prisoners came here from Havelock, Ferman with his wife and family came shortly after Christmas, while Parcels has only been here a week. Neither of them have done any kind of work and it is only a short time ago tha he Children's Aid Society took Feman's children away from his wife. They have been stealing wood for some time, and a few days ago certain scantling were marked and left in Mr. Lynn's shed, from where they had been carrying off the wood. Yesterday the same marked scantling was found in Ferman's house. It is also said that Parcels before coming here was going around Havelock as a police constable. He wore a coat to-day with brass buttons on it, and it is alleged that he was arresting immigrants in Havelock and taking them as far as the town hall would let them go, if they would give him two dollars.

Ferman has not supported his wife and his Worship said that she would have one month less to feed if her husband was sent to gaol.

They will sojourn at Castle Nesbitt for the next month.

Spring Display of Millinery

(Thursday) March (19th.)

FOR the past two weeks our Millinery Department has had many visitors in quest of the new Spring styles. To them and others we say—come, the Spring Millinery has arrived and will be on display THURSDAY, for your viewing and enlightment.

Happily the Millinery styles are widely diversified. One can choose either a large, medium or small Hat and gain Madam Fashion's favor. Turbans high and low promise to be very popular. A decided innovation is the large and high crowned effect—these are usually very becoming. You should see them.

But we will not try to describe the numerous new style ideas evolved for Spring. The task would be hopeless-herculean. Better that you should come and spend a pleasant hour among the new Hats. You may have a different way of looking at them than we—but you'll agree that the showing is beautiful and interesting.

The showing deserves your attention. We hope it will have it and we trust you will feel at perfect liberty to come and try on as many Hats as you please even though you have no buying motive.

Bold Hold-Up Last Night on C. P. R. Tracks

Last night about ten o'clock a Lindsay resident, who is at present in the city, was walking along the C.P.R. track, near the diamond and toward the C.P.R. station, when two men jumped out from behind a freight car and shouted, "Up with them!" "Up with them!"

"Up with what?" asked the man they accosted.

"Up with your hands," was the reply, "and d—— quick about it at that."

The Lindsay man attempted to parley with the men, but two uplifted clubs persuaded him to adopt another course. He put his hands in his pocket and took out the $3 he had. In handing it over, and while the attention of the robbers was attracted towards the money, he whirled around and was away like a shot. He was pursued some distance, but was too fleet of foot for his pursuers to catch him. By this promptness he saved a valuable gold watch.

One of the highwaymen was tall and the other was short and of medium build. They were heavy caps and had turned up collars. Many suspicious characters are hanging around the outskirts, being driven there by hard times to gratify their desire fo plunder. From their speech they were clearly Canadians.

OBITUARY

MRS. EPHRAIM BRUMWELL.

The death occurred early this morning of Jane Stewart, relict of the late Ephraim Brumwell, of Smith. The deceased passed away at the residence of her nephew, Mr. Jas. D. Fowler. She was 75 years of age and was born in County Monaghan, Ireland, but had resided in this country for over fifty years. Her husband predeceased her 30 years ago. She leaves no family.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2.30 o'clock from lot 16, concession 3, Smith, and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

A call was sounded but the fire was extinguished with a few pails of water.

It is fortunate that the blaze was not a large one as there was no water supply at the time it broke out owing to anchor ice at the pump house.

Letters to The Editor

The Review Does Not Hold Itself Responsible for Opinions Expressed by Correspondents

A MERCHANTS' QUERY

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Why hasn't the city gone on with its programme of buying out the Peterborough Light and Power Co? Mayor McWilliams blocked that but now that we have a hustling council in let us hear from them. I pay more than twice as much as I used to pay for lighting my shop just because there is not the competition there used to be. Its rising all the time too. There is a great field for saving money here.

Yours truly,
MERCHANT.

QUESTION OF THE HOUR

Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—One of the most serious questions of the day for the present, occupying the attention of citizens and newspaper men in protection against fire for the lives of our children, the saving of the schools. It will most likely end in talk. If another accident such as the Cleveland one, takes place, it is to be hoped that the men responsible will be severely punished if every precaution, that can reasonably be taken is overlooked or left unconsidered. Men should not, for the purpose of ambition or private ends, place them selves in positions of great responsibility thoughtlessly. Now drill is good enough in its way. It is, however, only a discipline which may or may not save the lives of many of the children, but what we want, in our Peterborough schools, and at once, as soon as same can be placed there are three inch stand pipes through every flat with fifty feet of inch hose attached. Any boy or girl of ten years or over, can, if called upon, handle this most useful system of fire protection. It should be in all public buildings—compulsorily so. Three boys would take a pride in being attached and known as firemen to each line of hose numbered consecutively and would do remarkable work if necessary. From garret to cellar hose should be placed in readiness. It is generally coiled on swinging brackets. All one has to do is run off the hose and turn a small wheel. Hose should be of the very best material and tested once a month.

Now, this system should not cost the schools one cent except for the placing of the necessary material. This is providing the citizens own the water system, which is more or less doubtful. If we can save the schools or even hold the fire for the Brigade we will likely also save the children. With hundreds of thousands of dollars invested in our schools and owning the water system, it certainly seems childish if not criminal not to take the ordinary precautions taken by hotel propiretors, warehouse men and in many private houses. Ratepayers should place that responsibility where it belongs.

China Came in for Attention

At Meeting of St. Andrew's C. E. Society Last Night

An enthusiastic meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, was held in St. Andrew's church last night. Rev. Mr. Potter occupied the chair, and Miss Ella Mathieson had the leadership of the meeting. "The Wise Use of Money" was the topic considered, and was presented in a concise and interesting manner by the leader. A large number of the members took part with short references to the subject.

The society listened with much appreciation to the address by the Rev. Ng Man Hing, missionary to the Chinese in Toronto, and Mr. George Thomas, of the Chinese Cafe in Peterborough. Both addresses referred to the great advances being made among the Chinese in this land, as well as in their own country, and referred with thankfulness to the work that had been done by the Christian churches.

POPULAR SCHOOL

A school that grows steadily in public favor, must have genuine merit. We understand that Mr. Spotton now trains more young people than any other management in Ontario. The Peterborough Business College, whose new advertisement appears on page one, is certainly a worthy link in this chain of colleges. The spring term opens April 1st.

The Largest Jack Manufacturer in the World Writes about

Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

SPORTING NEWS

For the Intermediate Championship of the City

The game between the Rough Riders and Karnots on Wednesday next should be one of the most interesting and closely contested matches of the season. It will be for the intermediate city championship and it is well known that the quality of hockey supplied by the competing teams is of the very best.

The Rough Riders have been in the limelight to quite an extent this season and have played very fast hockey. The Karnots have not figured so conspicuously but nevertheless play splendid hockey and tied the Rough Riders in the early part of the season. On the form shown it is impossible to pick a winner and the game is certain to be a particularly good one.

Both teams have many friends and admirers and these together with the enthusiasts who wish to see a good game should form a big crowd of spectators.

AMATEUR BALL IN TORONTO

The following comment from the Toronto News on the amateur baseball situation in that city will be read with interest here;

The amateur baseball player, like his professional brother, is beginning to get particularly active these balmy spring-like days. Maybe the weather is responsible for the activity, though more likely the amateur player has got a touch of his old complaint—the baseball fever. Anyway, at this season of the year, the player can feel the desire in his bones to play ball.

"How do, Bill; how's your arm feeling?" is the usual form of salutation when members of the fraternity meet. "Fine, Pat," replies the aforesaid Bill, gently rubbing his throwing wing. "I'll bet you two bits I can shoot 'em over to second like greased lightning. There's not many of those dubs in our league who'll be able to steal on me this year." "What team are you going to play with this season?" queries the inquisitive Pat. "I don't know yet, Pat," says Bill. "I think, though, it will be the Wellingtons."

MICKEY'S NEW CURVE.

"Have you seen Fred Mickey lately, Bill?" questions Pat; "I hear he's got a new curve ball, which is a 'bobby dazzler'." "Gee, what next," replies Bill. "I'll tell you what, these dratted pitchers are getting the business down too fine. There'll be soon nothing for a batsman to do but stand up to the plate and let the pitcher one-two-three him. Pitchers are getting too blinking scientific." "Well, so long, Pat." "So long, Bill."

MANAGERS ARE HUSTLERS.

The amateur ball team manager too is a very aggressive, hustling young man these days. He's got the ticklish job of licking the team into shape, and it's a job which requires a tremendous amount of tact and diplomacy. The amateur ball player must be handled gently and with care. His feelings are extremely sensitive on the question if whether he is as good a pitcher as the other fellow. Should the amateur manager even presume to hint that he thinks otherwise, well the player goes and signs a contract with a rival team. The amateur player adopts all the wily methods of the professional player.

THE AMATEUR SITUATION.

Reviewing the Toronto amateur situation, it looks likely that the teams and leagues will boom strong this season. Already the City Amateur League, which is the premier organization in the city, have settled down to the season's business. They anticipate a good season, the clubs which compose the league being stronger, in the matter of players, than they usually are. The four teams will be the Wellingtons, St. Mary's Royal Oaks and the Park Nine. The Royal Oaks replace the I.C.B.U. team.

WILLIAMS WITH WELLINGTONS.

The Wellington team, who won the pennant for the last two seasons, though hardly so strong from a playing point of view this season, are sure to be strong contenders in the pennant race again. Manager Carley has been unable to sign a few of last year's players. He expects, however, to be able to fill up the holes in the team with players equally as good. Rumor says that Manager Carley has secured Harvey Williams. If this is so, there will be record strike-outs against some of the other teams, for Williams is a rare good pitcher.

THE ST. MARY'S ALL O.K.

One always looks for a good, evenly balanced team to do battle for the Saints. This season they will have the benefit of the services of "Dinny" Maguire as playing manager. Dinny is a host in himself, and with Baldwin, Englert, Phelan, Byrne, Murphy, Weekes and others they are sure to be a good "do-or-die" team.

ROYAL OAKS HAVE EXPERIENCE.

The Royal Oak team are the new arrivals to the company of this league. Last season they played in the West End Senior League, so that they are not altogether lacking in experience. Manager Langley has hustled and got together many good players, the choice of the I.C.B.U. and Sellars-Gough teams, so the rumor says. They should do well in the new company.

PARK NINE WILL BE IN IT.

The Park Nine have a fairly good team, of which Tommy Benson is the manager. They expect to make them all hustle this year.

Ottawa's Opinion of the Toronto-Wanderer Game

Ottawa, March 16.—In the opinion of a large number of Ottawans who saw Toronto loosen up the fastenings of the Stanley Cup in Montreal Saturday night, the Ontario pro. champions should have won out, and would have done so had they not committed the fatal tactical error of allowing Wanderers under the supposed pretext of Russell's injury, to put a fresh player into the game—and he such a dangerous man as Bruce Stuart.

ROUGHEST EVER PLAYED.

Referring to the struggle, the Ottawa Citizen, which had a staff representative present, says, in part;

"The Stanley Cup was nearer to Toronto Saturday than it ever has been when the Toronto Professionals and Montreal Wanderers clashed in a sudden death game for its possession, at the Arena. Wanderers eventually won out by a score of 6 goals to 4, but the heretofore despised puck-chasers from the Queen City made the famous wearers of the red and white step the limit. Wanderers started out with Ernie Russell at centre instead of Bruce Stuart, but Toronto bested the holders of the trophy while Russell was in the game, and Stuart jumped into the centre position after the half-time rest, stiffening up the Wanderer line, assisting in scoring the game which broke the tie and tallying the points that clinched the victory for the home team. Down into history Saturday's match will go as one of the roughest and most exciting that has ever been battled for the famous hockey eblem. The Torontos, on soft slushy ice, proved the biggest surprise of the year, and hundreds of dollars put up on Wanderers doubling the score, were taken away by the few faithful who came down from Toronto to see the game."

CALLED RUSSELL "FAKIR."

Of the Russell affair, the Citizen says;

"Russell had been playing listless hockey. His checking was weak, and his passing poor, the only good feature of the much-talked-of centre's work being his shooting. Russell seemed unable to stand the pace, and as he climbed into the box there was a confab amongst the Wanderer officials. Only a few minutes remained of the first half, and as Russell returned to play he ran right into the thick of the fray. Ernie had not been on the ice ten seconds before he went down holding his right knee. Russell was assisted from the ice amidst cries of "fake," and "quitter."

STUART TURNED THE TIDE.

"When they reappeared Stuart was again in line. Torontos refused once more, but Bowie and Russell decided that Wanderers could play the Ottawa man. Still Torontos kicked, and then as a compromise, they were allowed to swing a new man into play. Jack Marks, the Brockville boy, who has been playing at Brantford, taking Walter Mercer's place at right wing. In the first half the Wanderer defence had done the bulk of the work, the forwards failing to play together.

RIDPATH FASTEST ON ICE.

"The good showing of the Westerners was the talk of Montreal after the match. An easy Wanderer victory was predicted, but the Torontos made them sit up and think. Undoubtedly the ice favored the challengers, for they were able to nurse the rubber along with greater success and free movement than the Wanderers. They are a first-class seven, from goal to left wing, nevertheless, and Eastern Canada teams must respect the Ontario champions in future. Chuck Tyner was decidedly good in the nets, and Corbeau and Young made a great defence. Morrison was the pick of the forwards, with Lalonde and Ridpath close seconds. Ridpath being the fastest man on the ice. When he was injured the Toronto system of attack was completely broken.

Hockey on the Blink Here

So Says the Belleville Intelligencer—A Pro. League in This District

Belleville Intelligencer:—Hockey in Peterborough this winter has been very much in the blink, and instead of a good profit there is a deficit of $100. This simply comes that the people who cough up the change to see the games want to see hockey properly played, whether by amateur or pros. makes no difference. A winning hockey team is a good ad. for any town, and people as a rule, don't care whether the players get paid openly or on the side, a la O.H.A. A scheme, it is said, is on foot to form a pro. league in this district, next winter, with Peterborough, Port Hope, Belleville and Picton in. It should prove a success, if proper methods are used. Belleville has very little sport in summer time, the best is none too good for us in winter, especially as the people are quite willing to pay for it.

Hamilton Will Get Marathon Trial

C. A. A. U. Committee Comes to This Decision

Hamilton will get the trial Marathon race, providing a suitable enclosed track is secured for the finish. This was decided at a meeting of the CAAU sub-committee held on Saturday night. Nothing was done in the matter of dates for the final Olympic trials, which will be held respectively in Montreal and Toronto, track events here and field events at the former place. Preliminary meetings will be held in every province. The English committee has not yet replied to the request of the CAAU getting a later date for the closing of entries.

Basketball at the "Y" To-night

At the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium tonight at 9.15 teams 5 and 8 will play off as scheduled. The teams will line up as follows;—

Both Fighters are Confident

Burns Backs Himself at 2 to 1—Squires to Challenge Winner

London, March 17.—Both Burns and Roche are very confident of winning the big fight to-day for the world's heavyweight championship. Burns to-day laid £400 to £200 on himself with a prominent bookmaker. "Bill" Squires, the Australian heavyweight, who is advising Roche, announces his intention of challenging to-day's winner.

Underground Men Won the Bowling Game

Defeated the Northern Electric Team by Score of 2369-1984—An Interesting Contest

Last night at the Majestic bowling alleys a friendly game was played between the Underground Department of the Bell Telephone Company and the Northern Electric Company of Montreal.

The game was for a silver cup donated by Mr. Jos Gereau of Montreal and was won by the locals by a majority of 385 points. About 50 spectators witnessed the game which was a decidedly interesting one, the Peterborough outfit showing up well against the men from the East..

The score;

SPORTING COMMENT

The game to-morrow night between the Rough Riders and Karnots is worthy of the most liberal patronage. Both teams play the best of hockey and the match will be a decidedly good one.

Not much betting is being done locally on the Burns-Roche fight, although a few bets have been laid that Roche won't last six rounds.

WALKING

Mr. James Reynolds has arranged for another big walk. This time he will wager $300 against $900 that he can walk to Toronto and return in thirty-three hours. James will undertake the almost impossible task on Monday, May 18th. What he failed to accomplish last year in thirty-six hours he will now undertake to perform in thirty-three. Hardly looks reasonable. —Port Hope Guide.

Reynolds seems determined to get there, but it really looks ill advised for him to attempt to do the distance referred to above in thirty-three hours. He is a good walker, but he will have to show much better form than he has yet done to accomplish the herculean feat, which, according to the Guide, he will try. Three hours makes a big difference and especially when it's three hours less.

THE RING

The winning of the pugilistic championship of the world in hollow fashion by Tommy Burns demonstrates the fact that skill after all is "every thing." High or low, tall or short it matters not if the fighter can get in and get away. A very little of that will decide a battle. Moir proved that strength does not count, as strength, Marvin Hart proved that height and reach were merely secondary. Burns has proved that "knowing how" is the whole show and the box receipts included. Brutality no one likes or admires. Why? Because of having been taught to do so and by no other means more than in the limited fight contest, from which many learn fairplay who would never have heard the word "fairplay" otherwise.

Bulletins of the Burns-Roche fight will be received and announced to-night at the Oriental.

BASEBALL

The annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League will be held at Cobourg on Good Friday. It is expected that Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa, Bowmanville and Lindsay will have teams in the league.

TENNIS

Mr. F. D. Kerr has been elected to the committee of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

BASKETBALL

A four team basketball league will probably be formed at the Y.M.C.A. at an early date. The teams of the league in case it is formed, will be formed at the Y.M.C.A. at an early date. The teams in the league, in case it is formed, will be the Arrows, Harriers, Strathconas and Athletics.

FENCING

Tomorroew night the fencing class will meet from 7.30 to 8.30. All senior men are requested to be present tomorrow night at 9.15 to practice pyramid work for the closing exhibition.

Pugsley's Posters Still Adorn The Walls; a Fervent Appeal

This and Other Death-Notices the Examiner Will Please Copy—A Partizan Request—A Heavy Blow to the Laurier Administration.

The following extract from the Montreal Star to which the Review's attention was called by a well-known citizen and friend of pure government is well worth reading, especially in view of the denials of the Globe and other strenuous advocates of "reform" including the Examiner, the latter going even so far as to charge the Review with giving Mr. Hazen the "lie direct" with respect to the very point here cleared up.

St. John, N.B., March 14—While the press of other parts of Canada is still discussing and disputing about the significance of the result of the recent provincial elections, the citizens of St. John have settled down contentedly under the new order of things, with only a ripple on the surface here and there, caused by rumors concerning the filling of certain offices which were vacant at the time the Government suffered defeat. As a matter of historic interest, it is perhaps worth while to set down in cold type for future reference the appeals which still present themselves to the gaze of unregenerate electors on the various bill-boards about the city. These posters were put up by the Government party a couple of days before the elections for the purpose of influencing the passing voter and concentrating attention upon the personality and the achievements not of the Provincian Government, but of the Minister of Public works. Here are three of them;

Two Year Term for Aldermen

Bill to Provide for This is Being Introduced by Mr. T. E. Bradburn

Toronto, March 17.—Several important amendments respecting municipal elections are being proposed at the present session.

Another attempt is to be made, to change the date of the elections. J. J. Preston of Durham has a bill to enable cities and towns to hold nominations on the last Monday in November and the elections in the first Monday in December. This bill, however, is merely permissive, and is open to the objection that some municipalities would take advantage of it and others wouldn't thus causing a lack of uniformity. This objection will probably be fatal.

Then T. E. Bradburn of Peterborough is moving to extend the term of aldermen to two years, half retiring at the end of each year. Joseph P. Downey also has a bill to extend the principle of a Mayor and Board of Control as it is in use in Toronto and Ottawa to all cities.

COMING LECTURER

Miss Robertson, the distinguished lecturer, is expected in Peterborough shortly. An effort has been made to get Miss Robertson to give her well-known lecture "Westward, the Course of Empire takes it Way," in the city. In Toronto, Montreal and in the large cities of the U.S. this lecture has had great success, and has done much to familiarize the public with current events.

A policeman and two spectators were killed at the motor races in Cairo yesterday.

MR. W. H. HILL,

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 10074 on my life, the dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprised me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on the same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

SAVE THE CHILDREN
Insure Them Good Health.

Ninety per cent. of children, under twelve years of age, are being poisoned and parents don't realize it.

Irregular bowels are the chief cause. You parents know that your bowels should move every day. You know you must be as regular as clock-work, or the blood will become tainted.

Don't you realize that the children must be as orderly in getting rid of the waste matter of their system?

Then, if you find that any of the little ones go two or three days without action of the bowels, don't run to castor oil, senna tea, calomel, cascara or harsh "liver pills." Those simply purge the child—strain the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children. They are fruit juices and tonics in the form of a pleasant tasting tablet. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulate the liver, causing more bile to flow. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which moves the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" regulate the liver and bowels, and thus completely cure constipation. They sweeten the stomach, and are the finest tonic in the world to build up the system and make children plump and rosy. 50c a box—six for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

THE CIGARETTE, ETC.?

The W.C.T.U. has done a great work in lessening the sale of cigarttees to boys. No man, if he be a tobacco-user himself or not, would like to see his young son smoking cigarettes or indeed anything. It may be well enough for older people to smoke or to provide a hobby or plaything for themselves, for that is all it is. but for young men it is a different thing. Excessivesmoking interferes with the action of the heart.

Hudibras in that well-known couplet in which some people are depicted as compounding the sins they are inclined to, by damning those they have no mind to, points the moral and adorns the tale. We have known women glory in cheap tea that was playing hob with their kidneys, while in agonies of apprehension over a boy and a cigar. Coffee is killing half the people, so it is said, and whiskey or tea the other half. This leaves no room for patent medicines and doctors, to say nothing of dietists and herbalists. Now, it must be borne in mind that weak food and drink are killing the inhabitants of the slums. Strong food and strong drink again are doing the same elsewhere. Too strong or inappropriate food brings on Bright's disease and various disorders. Strong drink is all right in moderation, but there's the difficulty. A strong character rules and learns to rule from trial and temptation. Nevertheless, those incapable of learning, such as minors, inebriates, deviates or degenerates, must be taken care of and those who do that work are doing well, not ill. How far have we the right to compel people to be self-sacrificing and charitable? Would prohibition prohibit a man from making his own whiskey? These matters are not to be treated in a lightsome way. They lie at the very root of human liberty and the plan of divine salvation.

CANADA GOING BACK

"My own opinion, founded on a long study of the question, is that a chief and fundamental reason why Spaniards should emigrate is the wide-spread and abject poverty of the people. The black horrors of poverty, hunger, ill housing, poor clothing, and scarcity of employment should suggest the fact that such a lot would find alleviation in another country."

The article from which this portion is taken is contained in the "Espana Moderna" (Madrid) and was written by Mareil a leading and moderate-minded Spanish patriot This analysis of the condition of decay into which Spain has fallen is applicable though in a lesser degree to the present condition of Canada. It is true that we are not yet in the last stages of our disease but beyond all peradventure we are in the first stages and that is the time to take warning. In conversation with a lady recently returned from a tour of Spain we gathered that except in Catalonia that once great country was not only dying but dead. Her account and that contained in the magazine to which we refer practically agree. First and foremost the spirit of the people has been crushed by an unwise policy. The government has not preserved Spain for the Spaniards but has allowed them to get out of touch with their native country and her possible future. Therein lies the rub. There is no unmortgaged future. Spain is living on her historic past. Her statesmen are not abreast of the times. They are the real cause of the present state of decay. A capable American in five years would rejuvenate and revivify that fertile but decadent country. Mareil speaks of wholesale emigration to South America. Here at once arises the question, How is it that people of one country can and do emigrate to another and change their condition from poverty to prosperity even where similar customs prevail. It is not the soil. It is not the avenues of commerce such as railways and canals which are much more plentiful in the old countries than in the new. It is the maladministration of the older countries' affairs that furnishes the reason. Extravagance and the high taxation consequent thereupon are the first and chief cause. That is admitted on all sides—when too late. Prosperity and abundance cease to be either when the money-lender, the foreign financier and the alien appropriate and take out of the country the bulk of the earnings of the people. Enormous national expenditures beyond the means of a people supplemented by the stealing of resources such as lands, timber, water-power privileges and the like which belong to the people and would serve to pay or go a long way to pay their debts, contracts for which we pay in cash and get no adequate returns —these are what ruin nations. Bridges that were contracted for in, at least the part interest of a private company but which like the Quebec bridge fall to the sole debt of the country at large are symptoms of decay. All this is burning the candle at both ends. The seeds of disintegration if not decay are already sown and when the policy of inducing the worst instead of the best to come from abroad and enter our country is pursued and paid for what can we expect but failure. The fatuous system of allowing immigrants to go into whole sections and block out for themselves large districts where they may settle down to their former course of life and all that accompanied it is evil in the extreme. These people do not become Canadians. They simply displace the sons and daughters of Canadians in the future and deprive our own people of their legitimate opportunities. It is quite true that the policy of wisdom and justice which Mr. Borden advocated is not good either, for the speculator or the peculator. Progress to such as these means money and nothing but or beyond money—neither popular rights nor religion nor morality nor civilization. What are the sweetness and comfort of national or family life to the grafter and financier? While capital is necessary for all development the capitalist is not. The manufacturer the operative, the farmer, the artisan, the laborer, all forms of actual industrial workers, are necessary, vitally necessary, but the "rich man," the class known as the monied class, the money-lender, pure and simple, who having once amassed money, exacts a usurious return —this class is not necessary. Bookkeepers at a moderate salary would be infinitely better for the country at large. Depend upon it there is a cause for everything. Failure is not the will of Providence in the industrial or moral well-being of any nation. It is the wages of industrial or moral sin. There is but one remedy — a change of doctors and to keep changing until an improvement is apparent. The splendid opportunities and favorable climatic conditions of this Canada of ours, fairly and fully started on its way as a young and strong nation by the wise policy of protection at once national patriotic and effective have all been steered into channels of failure and despair. A nation like a railway must have the right man at the head of it. The man is everything. The few rich should not inflame the many poor.

'Ill fares the land to hastening ills
a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men
decay.
Princes and peers may flourish or may fade,
A breath can make them as a breath has made,
But a bold 'pe'ople' once a country's pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied."

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Our evening contemporary, the Review, has the following:—

> "Not long ago the Examiner advised the Executive of the East Riding Liberal Association to call two seperate conventions for nominations for the Commons and the Legislature. The journal's arguments were so convincing, the prestige and power behind it so great that the committee went right to work at once and did the opposite."

It is singular, or rather plural, that when our contemporary makes a statement on political matters it falls short of, or overshoots the truth. It knows very well that the above quoted statement is false in both fact and inference and that the twaddle based upon it is without foundation. If it were worth while it may be pointed out that the committee had met, a decision was arrived at and the posters announcing the convention printed before the Examiner tendered the advice referred to above. The rest of the twaddle contained in the article referred to should "lose his job" to the most callow cub reporter if he were guilty of it and it is not any mitigation of the offence of the editor of the Review that he concludes his twaddle with a gratuitously insulting dragging in of the Irish in an attempt to point a pointless paragraph.—The Examiner.

We republish the above editorial of the Examiner and the "joke"

"When a man or a paper dies he or it ought to remain dead and not be like Paddy, with his foot on the headless but flopping chicken, explaining that the poor thing was dead, but didn't know it."

With a view to showing that there was no "gratuitously insulting dragging in of the Irish" for one thing, and how easily a little bit of journalistic pleasantry may turn sour if the receiver's liver is not in good order. We wouldn't hurt a fly, Mr. Examiner. Several real Irishmen enjoyed the reference immensely.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The more vanity a man has and the less self-respect, the better his chance to get into politics.—Exchange.

It may be true as to his chances to get in, but it is also true of his chances to get out.

A Liberal convention to select a candidate for the Legislature in the West Riding is being called for April 2nd. It is not known who will be the nominee but if some of the men mentioned will stand they will at least be a credit to the great party which they may some day represent. Amongst those mentioned are Messrs. D. O'Connell and F. D. Kerr.

Ottawa, March 13.—It is fairly common rumor in the lobbies here that Parliament will be dissolved at the end of May and that the elections will take place in June or July. No official denial or confirmation can be secured.—The British Whig.

Some colour is lent to this report of the Whig's correspondent at Ottawa by the silence of the Government, which seems anxious to close the session. The Whig is in the confidence of the Laurier Administration and could have no object in unnecessarily warning its opponents to be ready.

Mr. Bryon E. Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was the guest of the Halifax, N.S., Board of Trade at a banquet last week. Mr. Walker made an informal address, touching upon several subjects. He paid Nova Scotia a compliment in remarking that one of the greatest parts that the province had played in the national development had been in the producing of men. The largest share of men who are worth the name nationally, has been produced by Nova Scotia.—Monetary Times.

Is this quite fair to the members of the late administration at Toronto?

"Fire-escapes and fire drills are wise precautions, with which the children are protected, so far as they go, but the Cleveland calamity proves the wisdom of the present Philadelphia rule, to make all new school houses fire-proof. A fire-proof schoolhouse need cost no more than a combustible one, while it is stronger, will last longer, and would make impossible the awful sacrifice of children reported from Cleveland."—Philadelphia Press.

The idea seems to prevail in some quarters that fire is the only destructive agent to be feated. Photographs of the Cleveland horror show that smoke had pervaded the building and blinded the pupils long before fire reached them. Fire-proofing that is fire-proof is the only solution of these difficulties.

"Hon. R. Lemieux (Minister of Labour).—I had a visit this morning from the Consul General of Japan in Ottawa, and I called his attention to the statement which had been made in the press. I presume the Asiatic Exclusion League meant the Japanese press of British Columbia, because there are two or three newspapers published in the Japanese language in Vancouver. The Consul General for Japan has authorized me to say that he has been instructed—as I have already stated in the House when I came back from Japan—that in future no contract labourers would be admitted into Canada unless the Canadian Government would approve of their importation."—Hansard.

This extract from Hansard of March 5, 1908, is the last word, it may be said, regarding the Laurier Government's treatment of the momentous question. Has that government from first to last given evidence of any further desire than to flood Canada with cheap Oriental labour? No honest man can say "No." The Minister of Labour, even in his answer as appears in this authentic extract, although he might easily have added, "and this government will not aprove, but will protect our own market." never for a moment gives a sign of doing so.

Ladies' Aid Held Tea and Concert

Enjoyable Time at Knox Church Last Evening — Large Attendance

The tea and concert given last evening at Knox church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid was a grand success, the hall being crowded to the doors. Tea was served by the ladies from six to eight o'clock, and they are to be congratulated on the sumptuous repast provided. After the people had partaken of the excellent supper, Rev. H. J. Keith called the audience to order and with a few brief remarks in which he welcomed those present, introduced the following programme:

Selection—By orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. W. Common.
Vocal solo—Mr. Wright.
Vocal duet—Messrs. Campbell and Greenslade.
Recitation—Mrs. Patterson-Mowry.
Vocal solo—Mr. Greenslade.

INTERMISSION.

Selection—By the orchestra.
Vocal solo—Mr. and Mrs. Greenslade.
Instrumental duet—Misses Sisson and Chiles.
Recitation—Mr. Johns.
Solo—Miss Robson.
God Save the King.

The receipts of the entertainment amounted to considerably over fifty dollars. The ladies are to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

Charlotte Street Epworth League

An "Evening With Longfellow" Was Very Enjoyable

"An Evening with Longfellow," was spent at the meeting of the Charlotte street Epworth League last night. Miss N. Dawe read an essay on Longfellow's life and selections from his works were given by Miss K. Manning, Miss G. Christman and Miss F. Manning.

Two very sweetly rendered solos were given by Miss Sperry and Mr. J. Brown. The chair was taken by Mr. G. F. Horsley.

The league is preparing for a concert to be held on April 2nd. Some first-class vocalists are coming, a gold medalist in elocution and several other prominent persons.

HAND TERRIBLY MANGLED

While employed in a Steam Laundry, the left hand of Mr. Ab. Wheeler, Marine and Stationary Engineer, of 15 Front street, Belleville, Ont., became caught and was accidently drawn into a hot mangle. He says:—"As soon as possible the machinery was stopped and my hand was extricated, but not before the flesh on the palm of the hand was literally cooked to the bone and the fingers flattened out of shape. My hand and arm became frightfully swollen to the elbow and the hand presented a shocking sight. No one can imagine what I now suffer and endure. Not only was it hard to bear on account of the cruel pains, but it was a great shock to my nervous system. It was some time after the injury before the cooked flesh could be removed from the palm and then only a very little at a time. As soon as it had been well removed healing balms were applied, but as the improvement was so slow I obtained permission from the doctor for Zam-buk to be used exclusively, as several of my men friends, (having previously used it for severe injuries) spoke in the highest terms of its unusual healing qualities and urged me to give it a trial. From the commencement Zam-buk soothed and relieved the pains and drew out the soreness. I now began to enjoy a good night's rest and sleep, as up to this time I had not had much rest or sleep either day or night. In about three weeks the palm of my hand was nicely healed over though daily application of this wonderful remedy Zam-buk, and all inflammation and swelling was thoroughly banished from both hand and arm.

Many medical men to-day freely extol the merits of Zam-buk. It possesses a wide range of usefulness, being especially recommended for eczema, bad legs, piles, running sores, ulcers, pimples, boils, raw chapped hands, scalp diseases, barber's rash, cold sores, festered sores, poisoned wounds, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, and all diseases, injured and inflamed or irritated conditions of the skin. Of all druggists and stores, fifty cents box or from the Zam-buk Co, Toronto.

IMPORTANT AMENDMENT TO SCHOOL TRUSTEE ACT

2. Section 20 of the said Act is amended by adding thereto the following words, "Regular meetings of the Trustees may be held at such place, and upon such day, and at such hour, in each month as may be fixed by general resolution of the Trustees made and entered in their minutes. Notice of special meetings shall be given by the Chairman of the Board, or by the Secretary, to the Trustees, in reasonable time and shall be in writing, and specify the place, day and hour of holding the meeting and the business to be transacted but whenever all the Trustees are present and agree to hold a meeting they may do so without notice, but in such case no resolution shall be passed except with the unanimous consent of the Trustees."

LONDON TIMES

If William of the Fatherland should chance to stub his toe,
Or if some day he should decide to let his whiskers grow
The London Times would be convinced right off, without a doubt,
That he was scheming cunningly to knock old England out.

If William should get up some day and lace his left shoe first,
Or if he favored buttermilk for quenching of his thirst,
The London Times would thunder that it was a sign that he Had formed some cunning plan to drive Great Britain from the sea.

When William blows his nose the Times discovers a new plot.
Through which some cunning, grievous wront to England shall be wrought,
When William sneezes there is much
ado in London town,
The Times reports the German fleet as swiftly swooping down.

FROM HANSARD

"Mr. Patterson; Then there will be a profitable return by and and by; but in the meantime the returns show an adverse balance of trade. But in the case of the settlers' effects brought in there is $9,000,000 more wealth in the country.

Mr. Taylor; I suppose that $20 soup tureen for the 'Montcalm' was included in that.

Mr. Paterson; I am discussing the large principle involved. If money is wasted by buying something that is not needed, that is another matter; but I am givingth is case to illustrate the idea that if you merely take the trade returns and build an argument on them without analysing them, you will arrive at a fallacious conclusion.

Mr. Taylor; When the hon. gentleman sat on this side of the House and the Conservative Government had a small adverse balance of trade, did he not 'whoop her up' and say that was the reason the country was going tothe dogs!

Mr. Paterson; I cannot remember all that I did. On a great many occasion, I know, I said things that were necessary to be said, sometimes in subdued tones, sometimes in tones not so subdued, according to the enormity of the offense. I do not remember arguing that because there was a balance of trade against the country therefore it was going to ruin.

Mr. Taylor; I will try and refresh his memory some of these days by reading one of Sir Richard Cartwright's speeches and one of his own on this very subject."

MANY ORIENTALS LAND AT VANCOUVER

Two Hundred and Twenty are Released From Quarantine—Few Will be Excluded.

Vancouver, B.C., March 16.—Two hundred and twenty Orientals, two-thirds of the number being Hindus, of the steamer Monteagle's passengers, who have been for two weeks in quarantine, arrived in Vancouver yesterday. Practically all will be admitted to Canada through the Dominion immigration officials at first expected that fully one-third of the immigrants would be denied landing. The Provincial Government did not attempt to interfere with their landing, because Attorney-General Bowser has decided that no further attempt will be made to enforce the law until an appeal has been taken to the Privy Council.

Dr. Munro, for the Federal Government, detained thirty early in the day, many of these being Japanese afflicted with trachoma. but they will probably recover sufficiently to pass the examination. One Frenchman Russian, both wealthy and well-bred men, are temporarily detained under the federal order prohibiting immigrants entering except from their naGtive lands. Exceptions will probably be made in their cases, though they came from Japan.

THE ALL-RED SCHEME

"Did you have an opportunity while in England, of ascertaining public opinion in regard to the All-Red project?" Sir William was next asked.

"I heard nothing about it," was his reply, "but it may nevertheless be a live question. I only feel a very strong negative interest in the question and I made no inquiries about it. To me, speaking only as an individual any suggestion towards the use of an enormous amount or any amount of public money in furtherance of such a scheme against the C.P.R is too outrageous to be calmly discussed, and since I never swear, I can say nothing. The C.P. took a heavy risk on both the Atlantic and the Pacific at a time when few people believed in the possibility of success in the building up of a large ocean trade, and at a time when its efforts were decried by many of those interested in this All-Red scheme. It has at all times kept pace with and even gone beyond the requirements of the traffic, and I need not point out to anybody in Canada what it has succeeded in doing.

"It is, of course, within the power of the two governments," he added, "to inflict heavy damages on the C.P.R. through its ocean services, and to destroy its plans for the future in that regard, but I cannot believe that publi cmoneys will be used for any such purpose."

Sir William's attention was directed to the interview published in yesterday's "Witness," in which Mr. Rodolphe Forget pleaded for a settlement of the Steel-Coal dispute, and said that it was only personal animosities which kept the two companies apart—animosities which would exist if the Steel Company insisted upon its "pound of flesh" from the Coal Company.

"I am a director in the Steel Company," said Sir William, "but I don't care to say anything on the matter. I will say however, that the judgment of the Courts so far shows that personal animosities in the matter are not the only thing."—Sir W. Van Horne in Montreal Witness.

Sunday is a Busy Day With Local Salvation Army

Services Commence at 7 a. m. and Continue Until 9 30 p. m—Good Work is Being Accomplished.

The Review the other day asked one of the officers of the local Salvation Army to write an outline which would show briefly the work of the local corps on an average Sunday. He has complied and the most casual glance will convince the reader that from 7 in the morning until 9.30 at night the moments are replete with service in the cause of the Master. The outline, as he wrote it, follows;

The following is a short account of the work the Salvation Army is accomplishing in Peterborough which should certainly be interesting to every Christian and right-thinking person in this beautiful and industrious city. The writer, who is only a working man, hopes that it will prove a blessing to many who read these lines in your valuable and influential paper.

The Salvation Army on Sunday, commences operations at 7 am. with a knee drill. The service consists of prayer, songs and testimony from those present, who realise that Christ has saved them from sin. This service concludes at 8 a.m.

At 10 a.m. the band and soldiers conduct open-air services, and the junior soldiers have indoor service until 11 a.m., when a holiness meeting is held until 12.30 p.m.

About 2.30 p.m. the band and soldiers are again holding open-air services. Much good is being done by open air work as people who do not go to church are taken hold of and many get soundly converted and make good soldiers.

At 3 pm. a free-and-easy meeting is held in the Barracks, when every one is free to speak or sing as well as to pray. Great blessing results from the playing of this efficient and well-organized band under the able direction of Bandmaster Greene, a musician of repute. The ear is also charmed by the sweet singing of the Songster Brigade, the various parts blending together very sweetly.

In the evening the band is out again and an open air meeting is held. Afterwards a meeting is held in the Barracks, where there is always a large attendance. The day's services conclude about 9.30 o'clock.

Spring Assizes of the High Court, Open on Monday Next

Mr. Justice Mulock, of Toronto, Will Preside—One Jury Case and Two Non Jury Cases Will be Tried.

The Spring Assizes of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough will open on Monday, March 23, at one o'clock. Chief Justice Mulock, of Toronto, will be the presiding judge. Up to the present there is only one jury case and two non-jury cases. However, the time for filing non-jury cases does not expire until Thursday of this week.

JURY CASE.

The only jury case is that of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Co., Limited, of which Mr. Robert W. Smart is treasurer, against Wm. Moffat and Irvine A. Jackson, of Belleville. Moffat is a liveryman, and Jackson is a hotelman in Belleville. On May 11th, 1906, the defendants subscribed five shares of $100 each, to be paid as follows;—Five per cent. of the amount of said shares to be paid on the 11th day of January, and the remainder to be paid in five monthly instalments. Seventy-five dollars was paid, but the defendants neglected to pay the shares. The plaintiffs claim the balance of $425 and the monthly interest on nine instalments from the day the same became due, the amount being $20.30. They also ask for the costs in the case. O'Connell & Gordon, solicitors for the plaintiffs, and Porter & Carnew for the defendants.

NON-JURY CASES.

The first non-jury case is that of Ada Hill of Dummer, against Francis Kavanagh, also of Dummer. Mrs. Hill bought a piece of land from Kavanagh for $225. She paid him ten dollars on the property, but later he refused to carry out the agreement. O'Connell & Gordon, solicitors for the plaintiffs and George J. Sherry of Norwood, for the defdndant.

The other non-jury case is that of J. D. Clarke against the Union Stock Co., The facts of the case have been published before. Hall, Medd & Davidson, solicitors for the plaintiff and Mr. D. W. Dumble for the defendants.

Girls' Auxiliary Annual Meeting

Held Last Evening at St. Luke's Church—Officers Elected

The annual meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. Luke's church which was most gratifying in attendance and enthusiasm, was held last night at the rectory. The President, Mrs. Langfeldt and the 1st Vice-President, Miss Mary Pratley, opened the meeting with devotional exercises. After the reading of the minutes the various reports were presented.

From the Secretary's report the following items of interest were noticed;: The membership for the year was 36 with an average attendance of 21, as compared with a membership of 32 and an average attendance of 100 last year. Five business meetings and 24 sewing meetings were held. A complete outfit for an Indian girl in Emmanuel College, Prince Albert, was sent. Misses Lucy Baxter, Lizzie Stewart and Clara Mitchell attended 28 meetings out of a possible 29, and were rewarded for their loyal attendance, with a six months' subscription to the Ladies Home Journal, for Misses Mitchell and Stewart, and a silver thimble for Miss Baxter. Miss Mary Pratley received a silver brooch for obtaining the most members during the year.

The Treasurer's report was very satisfactory and showed a balance of about $50 on hand.

The election of officers resulted as follows;

Hon.-Pres.—Mrs. W. Boswell.
Pres.—Mrs. Langfeldt.
1st Vice-Pres.—Miss Mary Pratley.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Miss Clara Mitchell.
Treas.—Miss Lizzie Stewart.
Cor.-Sec.—Miss Alice Dawson.
Rec.-Sec.—Miss Isabel Hay.
Dorcas Sec.—Miss Edith Beatty.
P.M.C. Convenor—Miss M. Rogers.
Organist—Miss Florence Butcher.
Delegates to annual meeting—Mrs. Beauclere, Misses C. Mitchell and R. Quartermaine.
Substitutes—Misses Carrie Whittaker and Electa Strong.
Members of Executive—Miss Hazel Hickey and Mrs. Beauclere.
Assistant Dorcas—Misses Carrie Whittaker and M. Rogers.

After the close of the meeting refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was spent.

The Ceremony Was Performed

Wedding in Lent in Roman Catholic Church Owing to Exceptional Circumstances

Lent is a prohibited time for a wedding to be solemnized in the Roman Catholic church, but this afternoon Mr. Omar Bubruiel of Duluth, and formerly of Peterborough, and Miss Evelyn M. Desautel, daughter of Mr. Zotique Desautel, George St. south, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Galvin. The groom came here from Duluth for the ceremony, and owing to the fact that he lived such a distance from Peterborough and was forced to return at once, the ceremony was performed.

The bride was given away by her father, and Miss Hermia Desautel sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid. Mr. Jos. Laudry was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Bubruiel leave this evening for Duluth, where they will reside.

Railway Commission in Session Here Secures Evidence in Cases

Applications of the City and of the Railway Companics Are Heard But no Judgement Pronounced—Legal Talent Having a Field Day—Hon. M. E. Bernier is President.

railway commission

The Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada is in session in Peterborough today dealing with several matters of local importance. The commissioners as constituted at the present sitting is composed of Hon. M. E. Bernier and Hon. Dr. Mills, Hon. Mr. Bernier acting as chairman. The sitting opened at ten o'clock in the City Council chamber, and those in attendance included representatives of the city, the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways, and other parties interested in the matters under consideration. The commission adjourned at one o'clock and commenced again at 2.30. All the matters on the order paper will be disposed of this afternoon. No decisions were given and it is not likely that any of the questions will be settled while the commission is here. Judgment on the various matters will be pronounced later.

The application of the city to to extend George street across the Grand Trunk at Romaine street, the request of the Grand Trunk to build a siding into the Matthews' Company's plant, the application of the Grand Trunk to construct two sidings east of Bethune street and the city's application for gates at the C.P.R. crossing via Aylmer street, were considered this morning.

EXTENSION OF GEORGE ST.

The first matter taken up was the application of the City of Peterborough for leave to construct a highway as a continuation of George street to cross the line of Grand Junction Division of the Grand Trunk Railway. The crossing will be at Romaine street. Mr. E. H. D. Hall, city solicitor, appeared for the corporation, and City Engineer Hay was first called. Mr. Hay said that the continuation of the street was demanded by the public as the part of the city which the continuation of the street would reach had poor street accommodation owing to the distance between Park and Lock streets.

Mr. M. K. Cowan of Ottawa, appeared for the Grand Trunk in the matter and cross-examined the witness. Mr. Cowan maintained that the crossing would be a dangerous one if the locality was built up. He considered a crossing where there were two roads crossing at right angles and a railroad running obliquely through was exceedingly dangerous.

Mr. Hay admitted that the crossing would be dangerous if the locality was built up.

City Treasurer Adams was called and stated that $4,375 had been spent in purchasing land for a right of way for George street. If the crossing was not granted this money would be wasted.

Mr. Cowan wanted to know if the locality was built up and protection was needed at the crossing would the city bear half of the cost of such protection.

Mr. Hall said the commission take note of this matter and leave it in abeyance until conditions required that the crossing be protected.

Mayor Rush said that if protection was required within the next five years, the city would be willing to bear it all. After five years had elapsed he was not in a position to say what would be done.

Mr Hall said it would be necessary for the City Council to meet before a definite answer could be given to Mr. Cowan's proposition.

In view of this, the commission suspended judgment until the city had dealt with the question.

SIDING TO MATTHEW'S CO.

Next taken up was the application of the Grand Trunk to construct a branch line extending from a point on the applicant's line, south of Rink street, northerly across Rink street, lots. Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12, 6, 7 and 8, north of Rink street, and south of Townsend street, Aylmer street and Townsend streets, lots Nos. 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1, south of Wolfe street and George street, to the plant of the Geo. Matthews Co.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams representing the Matthews Co., said that last year the Matthews Company, had spent over $1,800.00 in inter-switching taxes. In bringing cars in and out from and to the Grand Trunk there was a large amount of delay which was exceedingly injurious to a firm dealing in such products as the Matthews Co. handled. This was especially so as regards live stock. The C.P.R. lines passing the Matthews Company's plant were constantly busy owing to the large traffic of the Quaker Oats Co. When the Quaker Oats Co., plant was busy about forty cars per day were handled on the switch into the plant.

Mr. McWilliams, in answer to a question from Mr. Mills, said that the intention was to have the proposed siding join the C.P.R. immediately west of George street, and to utilize the C.P.R. track across George street.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall said that the crossing on Aylmer street where the C. P.R. crossed was dangerous enough now. The proposed siding would cross Aylmer street at nearly the same point and would increase the danger at that section of the street.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co., and number of property holders on Aylmer street, south of the point where the C.P.R. crosses it. The construction of the proposed branch would result in the depreciation of would result in the depreciation in the value of this property and would be a hinderance to the Peterborough Fuel & Cartage Co., passing as it would very close to their premises. It was, said Mr. Kerr a case of a strong company against a weaker one, and he asked that the application of the Grand Trunk be not granted as it was not a matter of necessity but of convenience. He asked the commissioners not to injure a large number of private citizens and the Fuel & Cartage Co., in order to grant a convenience to the Matthews Co.

Mr. Hall, city solicitor, again pointed out the danger existing at the C.P.R. crossing on Aylmer street, This danger would be increased if the proposed branch was put in.

Mr. Armour appeared for the C. P.R., and asked Mr. McWilliams if the C.P.R. put in another branch along the Matthews Company's plant would it eradicate the delay in getting cars in and out from the Grand Trunk and relieve the congestion complained of.

Mr. McWilliams said it would do so to some extent but would not do away with the delay and cost of inter-switching.

Mr. J. C. Elliott, a property owner adjacent to the line of the proposed branch, objected to the siding on the ground that the lot north of his house would be filled with switches and that carloads of hogs would be left there all night.

After the matter had been gone into further by the lawyers and others interested the commission reserved judgment.

GTR. SIDINGS

The next matter taken up was the application of the Grand Trunk to construct, maintain and operate two branch lines, or spurs, from a point on the Grand Trunk on Bethune St. one crossing Bethune street to lot No. 9, north of Dalhousie street and No 2 crossing Bethune street to lot No 9 north of Wolfe street.

The Grand Trunk's case was presented by Mr. Cowan and Mr. Tiffin while Mr. Hall appeared for the city. Mr. Cowan pointed out that the Grand Trunk needed the switches in order to provide for their business in Peterborough.

Mr. Hall objected on the ground that Bethune street was being used too largely for railway purposes, and that there would be an extra track across Wolfe street. This would increase the danger.

Mr. G. M. Roger appeared for Mr. W H. Hamilton who owns a house adjacent to one of the lots purchased by the Grand Trunk for switching purposes. If the railway was allowed to construct the siding it would cut off the entrance to Mr Hamilton's property and depreciate its value. Mr. Roger wanted an agreement with the Grand Trunk that if a warehouse was built on the property the company would give Mr. Hamilton siding accommodation.

Evidence was also given by Mr. Tiffin and several others.

Next on the list was the city's application for gates at the C.P.R. crossing on Aylmer street.

Mr Hall appeared for the city.

Mr. Armour said that the C.P.R. admitted the necessity of protection at that point and said that the company would be willing to construct the gates if the city would maintain them

Mr Hall said that the city could not agree to this.

Mr George Ball was called and stated that he had prepared a record of the traffic over the street.

Mr Ball's report was read and showed that on February 25th, 209 vehicles had passed at the crossing in question in five hours; on February 29th, in 2 1-2 hours, 110; and on March 13th, 120 vehicles in 2 1-2 hours. On the last mentioned date the number of pedestrians in the time specified was 202. Mr Hall, examined by Mr. Hall, said that the crossing was a dangerous one in some respects.

To Mr. Armour witness said that he did not know exactly the number of trains that passed while he was making his observations regarding the traffic at the crossing.

Mr. J. N. White, who lives near the crossing, said he considered the crossing an exceedingly dangerous one as the view of approaching trains was poor and there was a lot of shunting over the crossing. Witness had frequently warned persons of the approach of trains when they were not able to see them.

There should be gates or a flagman at the crossing. Crossing the street are two sidings and the main line.

Lt.-Col. Stevenson said he lived at the corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie streets, about a block and a half north of the crossing in question. He considered the crossing a more dangerous one than the majority of those in the city. The view of approaching trains was shut off on the west side coming from the south.

Mr A. Peters, who runs a store on Aylmer street south of the crossing, said the understood the crossing thoroughly and it was a dangerous one. The view of approaching trains was obscured in some directions. Witness had seen several narrow escapes at the crossing and knew of one incident where a rig was badly smashed.

Harry Lush said he found the crossing a very dangerous one. He had had several narrow escapes there, and he was not a reckless driver, nor had reckless horses.

Supt. Oborne said he did not think the crossing a dangerous one. All crossings were dangerous, but this one was not unusually so. If gates were necessary on this crossing they were needed on every railway crossing in Canada Mr. Oborne pointed out that there had been no fatalities at the crossing and that there was a good view of approaching trains. He gave figures to show that the danger was not great and that gates were not necessary.

Adjournment took place at one o'clock.

AHEAD OF LINDSAY

Peterborough School Board is taking immediate steps to see that the schools are safe in case of fire. A special committee appointed to look after the work, has found a couple of schools in a very dangerous state. Young People Had Social Evening

Pleasant Time at St. Andrew's Church Last Night

It was an enjoyable time that was spent last evening by the Young People of St. Andrew's church. The members of the Young Men's Guild, the Young People's Society, the Young Ladies' Mission Band and the Daughters of Erin, met together and had a social time. The first part of the evening's programme was spent in social intercourse, after which Mr. Ernie Reid, president of the Young Men's Guild, who acted as chairman, conducted the devotional exercises. Rev. Robt. A. Pogue, of St. Paul's church, was present and gave a brief address, congratulating the Men's Guild on the splendid gathering which they had been instrumental in holding.

A few words of welcome by Rev. J. G. Potter on behalf of the Men's Guild was extended to the different societies present. He was glad to see so many and hoped that a profitable and enjoyable evening would be spent.

Mr. F. C. Freeland sang in excellent voice "The Young Bugler," and a well rendered instrumental duet was given by Misses Currie and Louise Mather. An instructive and interesting paper was read by Mr. Neil Rutherford on "The Origin of Presbyterianism."

At the conclusion, dainty refreshments were served by the Daughters of Erin and the meeting was closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Increase in Rates Will be Ratified in June

When the Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters meets in June it will ratify the increase in rates and re-scaling of charges to members dating to 1899, that will materially affect the great bulk of the 200,000 members of the order. New members will be put on scale of charges of the national congress fraternal table, but by far the most striking change will be that affecting present charges to order members who came into the order prior to 1898. Their dues will be re-scaled, and in every case those of old age will be asked to pay either in a lump sum or in another way enough to bring them up to date in comparison with what the rates are charged for at that age by the order now, if not able to pay the higher rate the face value of the policy will be materially decreased.

Napanee People Greatly Delighted

With Lecture Given There Monday Evening by Rev. Dr. Marsh

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, preached in the Western Methodist church at Napanee on Sunday and was listened to by large congregations. On Monday night he gave the popular lecture "A Night in the Skies" at the same church. Over a thousand people were in attendance and were charmed with the lecture. It was illustrated with lantern slides and so pleased were those in attendance that they insisted on Dr. Marsh paying a return visit.

Dr. Marsh was accompanied by Mr. H. B. Collier, who is a former resident of Napanee. Mr. Collier was given a warm welcome as he is exceedingly popular in his old town.

Mr. Bell, M.P., the railway men's leader, handed to the secretary of the Rhymney Railway notice from 1,500 employees to cease work in fourteen days.

Cheap School Books Are Discussed in Leigislature

Educational Estimates Under Review in Ontario Legislature.

Hon Dr. Pyne Says New Readers Will Be of Patriotic Nature — Model Schools to Be Continued This Year —Progress Along Lines of Industrial Education—Improved Truancy Laws.

Toronto, March 18.—One book for each subject, and a cheap and good book, was the school text book program enunciated by Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, while the Legislature was in committee on the educational estimates yesterday. The subject matter was being carefully selected for the readers and would be as largely as possible from Canadian and British authors.

Hon. Dr. Pyne further intimated that the majority of the model schools would be continued this year and that important progress would be made along the lines of industrial education.

Before the orders of the day were called, Mr. A. B. McCoig (West Kent) drew the Government's attention to a report of an attempt by the Canada Land Co., to close the Ferris road in Colchester. He trusted that the Government was pressing its case against this company and using efforts to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Hon. Mr. Foy asked Mr. McCoig to put him in possession of the facts and he would have them looked into.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, the educational estimates being first taken up.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, referred to the system of new school books that the Department had in view, the subject matter would be chosen, he assured the House, with great care. The authors, as far as possible, would be British and eminent Canadians would be represented. Patriotism was to be inculcated to a greater extent and such features of an ethical character as commended themselves were to be included.

"We have found the school book question fraught with many difficulties," declared the Minister "To my mind, all that is required in each subject is one book, a cheap book and a good one. School libraries should be well equipped for supplementary reading."

Mr. Studholme wanted to know about technical training. Hamilton was looking for a technical college.

Dr. Pyne said the whole subject of technical education was under consideration. It was a view he had long held that the Dominion Government should make special grants to all the Provinces for technical education.

Mr. Preston (Brant) maintained that there should be an industrial department in every high school.

Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) wanted to know the policy of the Government towards bi-lingual schools.

The Minister said the desire was to enable the French child to have equal chance with the English child.

Hon. Mr. MacKay drew attention to the fact that the amount for estimates for model schools was $10,000 as against $11,000 last year. Yet he had been led to understand that the model schools were going to be abolished.

They would disappear by degrees, said Dr. Pyne, but not for some time. They were going on for the present year, but the work of the model schools had not been satisfactory. There was no uniformity of standard.

Mr. Preston (Brant) reminded the Minister of the necessity of improved truancy laws.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt urged not only literary readers, but also geographical and historical readers.

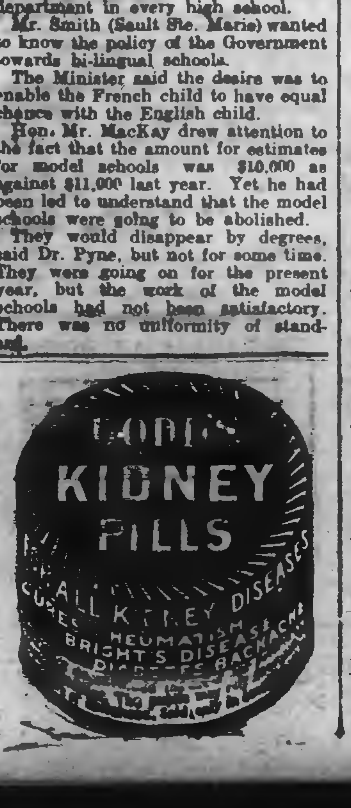
Mr. McDougal (Ottawa) noted the increased grant to Queen's University. He had no desire to criticize, but asked why other similar institutions were not aided.

The Premier said the grant did not go to ordinary university purposes. The Government had taken the ground that no public moneys should be granted to sectarian institutions.

Col. Atkinson (Norfolk) commended the Government proposal to make the new readers strongly Canadian. The work of the late Dr. Drummond were suggested.

Mr. MacKay asked how the committee on text books was paid.

Dr. Pyne, said Dr. Goggin was paid a salary of $3,000, the others only being paid when they were called together.



Tested Submarine.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 18.—A special test of the submarine boat Lake was held in Long Island Sound, three miles off the mouth of the Blackrock harbor yesterday, under the direction of a special naval board, the object of the test being to demonstrate the ability of the craft to maintain an even keel.

The boat was submerged and driven ahead in 30 feet of water for 30 minutes. The boat returned here early in the afternoon and the naval board returned to Washington to report to the secretary of the navy.

Sneezed Herself to Death.

Peterboro, March 18.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Ephraim Brumwell of Smith Township died as the result of a sneeze. At night she sneezed violently just once.

Though she had the moment before been in robust health, symptoms of serious illness developed, and a doctor was summoned, but death ensued through the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain.

Pills Kill Child.

Montreal, March 18.—A three-year-old girl, Jermaine Dagnels, residing with her parents at 186 Lasalle avenue, Maisonneuve, was playing in a cupboard and came across a box containing about 50 purgative pills. Thinking they were candies on account of the sugar coating, she swallowed the lot of them and died.

GOVERNMENT DEPORTS HINDUS.

Vancouver, March 18.—The Dominion Government furnished a sensation yesterday in the immigration situation and the testing of several regulations in the courts is likely to follow.

One hundred and eighty-four Hindus, who arrived from Hong Kong by C.P.R. steamer Mount Eagle, and who have been in quarantine two weeks, were at noon yesterday ordered to be deported to the Orient. They had all been practically passed on Sunday afternoon by Dr. Monroe, Federal inspector, but were held Sunday temporarily in the Federal detention sheds, awaiting positive instructions from Ottawa.

Yesterday the Hindus and Federal and steamship officials were greatly surprised to receive an order for their deportation. All are sent back because they fail to meet the requirements of the Federal order, which denies admission to all immigrants except they arrive by continuous passage from the land of birth or adoption.

Eight of the Hindus were rejected because they could not get direct passage from Calcutta to Vancouver, but were compelled to wait months in Hong Kong. The remainder were unable to show that they were persons to whom tickets were originally issued in Calcutta, they not being identified on the tickets in any way. The steamer Empress of Japan will sail for Hong Kong to-day and the Federal officials are attempting to enforce deportation by this steamer and will likely succeed, unless stopped by habeas corpus proceedings before the Supreme Court.

STUDENTS ON RAMPAGE

Wrecked Theatre at Ann Arbor After Dispute With Proprietor.

Twenty-Two Arrested and Put In Cells —Act of Reprisal For Alleged Assault by Policeman—Two Thousand In Line—Militia Called Out—Police and Firemen Were Helpless —Quiet Is Restored.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 18.—Twenty-two University of Michigan students spent Tuesday night in jail and the Star Theatre was completely wrecked as the result of a riot of students Tuesday evening which lasted until nearly one o'clock in the morning. The moving picture machine and the theatre piano were broken to pieces. Trouble started Saturday night in a dispute between a forestry student named Kamm, from Kentucky, and Reynolds, the proprietor of the theatre. Some one whistled while the performance was in progress, and Kamm was ordered to leave the playhouse. He got up at once to leave, but it is said that at the door he slapped Manager Reynolds in the face. At this point Special Policeman Schlimmer, in the employ of the theatre, took Mr. Reynolds' part, and is said to have inflicted a scalp wound on the student by a blow with his billy.

News of the affair circulated among the students Sunday and Monday, with the result that some of the bolder spirits among the students planned to make reprisals against the theatre management. Tuesday night a procession was formed, that went through the district of the student boarding-houses shouting, "All out for the Star Theatre." College men poured out to join the marchers at every block, and when the procession reached the theatre, fully 2,000 men were in line.

Crashing glass announced the opening of the attack as one of the collegians hurled a brick through a front window of the theatre, and from that time pandemonium reigned. Windows, not only of the Star Theatre, but of adjoining buildings, were shattered by fusilades of rocks, and the students finally attacked the building in "rush" formation, and practically tore out the front. The police were powerless, the students jeering at the officers and stealing their helmets for souvenirs, and when the fire department was summoned to drench the crowd with water, the boys ran away with 100 feet of hose.

When the hose was recovered Chairman Millard, of the Board of Fire Commissioners, ordered the firemen to return to their station, declaring no one had any right to call out the firemen for such duty.

President Angell, the venerable head of the university, vainly pleaded with the young men and asked them to disperse, but his words could not be heard twenty feet away in the turmoil.

A bugle call, sounded at the local armory, indicating that the state militia were preparing to turn out, calmed the rioting students at last, and about midnight the mob began to disperse. It was not until one o'clock in the morning, however, that quiet was restored. Some of the police and several students were slightly hurt, but luckily no serious injuries resulted.

Not Through With Hitchcock.

New York, March 18.—Flora Whiston, the young girl who, in court on Monday, declared she had perjured herself before the grand jury, and that her allegations against Raymond Hitchcock were untrue, was released yesterday on $5,000 bail.

Mr. Garvin will present the case to the grand jury at once. He believes the story told on the witness stand Monday is untrue and that the girl had been induced to tell another story than the one to which she testified before the grand jury. He is particularly anxious to find out who induced her to change her story.

There are five other indictments against Hitchcock, and Mr. Garvan says he will try him on one of the others in the next two weeks.

In Celebrative Mood.

Halifax, N.S., March 18.—Halifax may be the scene of a celebration this summer which in historical interest will rival even the tercentenary of Quebec, if the movement for a fitting commemoration of the 150th anniversary of Nova Scotia securing representative Government which was launched in the Legislative Council by Hon. J. N. Armstrong on Monday afternoon is carried out.

Many of those whose presence will add so much interest to the Quebec celebration will be invited to participate here, for the event to be honored —the granting of the first constitution to a British colony—is of scarcely less importance than the voyage of Champlain.

Drunk, Stole Razors.

Stratford, March 18.—Oliver Barry, a young Grand Trunk brakeman, was arrested on a charge of breaking into O. Sebastians barber shop and stealing 11 razors. He pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

He comes from Parkhead, and had been out of work and drinking.

Mother Pleads For Son's Life.

Albany, N.Y., March 18.—The mother of Chester Gillette, under sentence of death, saw Governor Hughes for almost an hour yesterday morning and went away apparently heartbroken, with the conviction that her pilgrimage had been in vain.

3,500 Brewery Workers Strike.

St Louis, March 18.—The 3,500 union employes in the St. Louis breweries were notified yesterday to strike as a result of a factional quarrel in Beer Drivers' Local No. 43.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

Three Alleged to Have Made Confession of the Crime.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 18.—Charles Cook, 17 years old, his wife Lila, 20 years, and Joseph White, 21 years, were arrested yesterday in connection with the death of Charles Bennett, 20 years old, of New Kensington, Pa., whose body was found in the river at Weges, five miles south of here, Sept. 24.

The three persons arrested are all of this city, and it is alleged have confessed to the murder, which they say occurred on the night of Sept. 21, 1907.

According to the alleged confession, Mrs. Cook, who was Miss Lila Zane, a member of a prominent family, enticed Bennett, who was a book agent, to a park, where he was to be robbed. When the couple reached the lonely spot on the Ohio River shore, Cook and White, who had been informed of the proposed robbery by the girl, set upon Bennett, and it is said killed him. Then it is alleged Cook and Miss Zane took a trip on $35 taken from Bennett.

When Bennett's body was recovered from the river a verdict of suicide was rendered, but the police suspected foul play. All are being held without bail.

PRISONERS IN SUBWAY.

Passengers Locked In Cars While a Fire Was In Progress.

New York, March 18.—For nearly one hour yesterday a train half filled with passengers was stalled in the tunnel under the East River while a fire raged in the Fulton street station under Lower Broadway. The fire started from a short circuit in the third rail and within a minute the wooden box which encloses the rail was in flames. The grease soaked wood burned freely and threw off an immense quantity of smoke.

It was not until the current in the whole system south of 96th street had been cut off that firemen were able to make any progress.

The guards kept the doors of the cars locked in order to prevent the passengers from leaving the train and being electrocuted on the third rail.

STOESSEL CONDEMNED.

Emperor Nicholas Refuses Pardon—Confirms Ten-Year Sentence.

St. Petersburg, March 18.—The Emperor yesterday confirmed the death sentence passed upon Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, and also the court's recommendation for commutation of the sentence to ten years' imprisonment in a fortress. The former commander of Port Arthur ineffectually petitioned for a full pardon.

Will Stop "Undesirables."

Toronto, March 18.—"In most respects I think that the Salvation Army has done better than any other organization. I'm afraid it is the only one that has made an effort to do its whole duty. In the future, however, neither the Salvation Army or any other institution will be allowed to bring men here who are not needed and not wanted. We shall require the immigrant to have some means or to be qualified to engaged in farm work."

This was the statement made by Premier Whitney to H. B. Dickson, James Cooper, I. Shephard and J. Simpson yesterday, who were introduced to him as a deputation of the unemployed, representing, it was said, 2,000.

Mr. Whitney undertook to consult the Minister of Public Works at once and see what could be done for immediate relief.

Should Remain In the Pacific.

Berlin, March 18.—Count Ernst Reventlew, the naval specialist, has published an appreciation of the voyage made by the American battleship fleet around America in The Taglische Rundschau.

The writer doubts very much, however, that the naval strategists at Washington will advise the fleet to return to the Atlantic by the Suez Canal after it has visited Australia and the Philippines.

Count Reventlew, who is rather closely in touch with the German Admiralty, considers that the political effect of the American naval demonstration will be largely lost unless the fleet remains in the Pacific until the Panama Canal is completed.

He commends, however, the wisdom of Washington in sending the fleet to Australia, saying the British alliance with Japan is hated in that country.

A Prince Degraded.

Berlin, March 18.—Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, son of the late regent of Brunswick, and a second cousin of Emperor William, has resigned from the army, where he had the rank of major, and will not again be permitted to wear the German uniform.

The resignation of the prince, it is declared, was requested by Emperor William. According to The Mittag Zeitung, Emperor William has been extemely dissatisfied with the prince because of his continued relations with the Baroness Liebenberg, formerly an actress.

Fighting Bob to Retire.

San Francisco, March 18.—A despatch fom San Diego contains news of an announcement yesterday by Rear-Admiral Evans, commander of the Atlantic fleet, that upon its arrival at San Francisco he will retire from command because of ill-health.

Lawyer Dies In Court.

New York, March 18.—John Maguire, 45 years, election commissioner of Brooklyn and a well-known lawyer, died suddenly in the county court while making a plea for a client on trial for larceny.

Buried Under Sawdust.

New York, N.Y., March 18.—Collapse of the ceiling and walls of a refrigerating room under repair at the Pabst West Side Bottling Works, buried five men under tons of sawdust, killing two.

The Lord Mayor of London attended the Congo reform demonstration at the Queen's Hall on February 28 in state.

Laurier Government Knows How to Make the Money Fly

Twelve Millions Added to Nation's Debt During Past Year.

Mr. Fielding's Budget In the House of Commons—Government Obliged to Borrow From Europe—Finance Minister Wants to Apply Brakes—Loaned Money to Banks to Help Move the Crops.

Ottawa, March 18.—A vaster deficit than has been is the outlook for the year, as drawn from the annual budget statement of Finance Minister Fielding yesterday afternoon.

For the current year ending March 31, 1908, the increase in the national debt will be $12,000,000, the surplus of expenditures over revenue being $14,000,000, which the sinking fund of $2,000,000 will reduce to that figure.

It is next year's prospect, however, that is the most discouraging, the estimated deficit being over $30,000,000. Mr. Fielding intimated that in 1908-9 the revenue will fall below $90,000,000.

Mr. Fielding presented the financial statement in such a way that the most untutored would not fail to recognize that the Government is up against a serious condition of affairs. He, however, struck an optimistic note and while freely admitting the prospect of a considerable reduction in revenue and a prodigious increase in outlay he felt that the position of the country was strong and that the financial storm, which had upset conditions in the United States, would be weathered.

Briefly the Finance Minister tabulated the revenue and expenditure for the fiscal years 1906-7, 1907-8, and probable conditions in 1908-9.

In the year ending March 31, 1907, there was a surplus of $16,427,167, and a decrease in net debt of $3,371,117; while in 10 1-2 years the net increase in debt had been only $5,174,427.

For the current year the estimated revenue was $96,500,000; ordinary expenditure, $77,500,000; surplus over ordinary expenditures, $19,000,000. On capital account the expenditure was $33,000,000, which, added to ordinary, made a total of $110,500,000, a deficit of $14,000,000. From this sinking fund $2,000,000 is taken, leaivng net increase of debt $12,000,000.

For the next year, 1908-9, there will probably be a decrease of imports, and Mr. Fielding believed the revenue would fall below $90,000,000.

The main estimates now before the House call for the expenditure of $119,237,000, made up of $76,871,471 on consolidated revenue account, and $[illegible]375,620 on capital account. Then the supplementary estimates will swell the figures to probably $125,000,000, though Mr. Fielding did not give a hint as to the amount of these. Allowing for amounts that will not be spent, it seems safe to assume that the total expenditures will exceed the revenue by over $30,000,000.

Turning to next fiscal year Mr. Fielding said the general feeling of business men was one of hopeful confidence united with much caution.

"We are just emerging," he said, "from a period of world wide financial stringency. Financial systems and institutions of all countries have been severely tried. It should be gratification to us all that none have stood the test better than those of Canada. In a single case in which one of our banks became embarrassed sister institutions promptly took over its affairs and its business went on without the slightest hitch.

"Conditions should improve in the early summer, and if we are blessed with a season of good crops confidence will be fully restored.

"On the part of the Government it is time for caution and yet a time for courage on large new enterprises, which would call for great outlay, may well be laid aside for a little while, but works which we already have in hand and perhaps other works not calling for heavy outlay must not be neglected. Particularly we must not fail to push forward the great enterprise of the Transcontinental Railway."

As to probable revenue he would speak with caution. The monetary stringency was producing a curtailment of imports. He anticipated a falling off in revenue in the early part of the year, but was hopeful that later on the loss would be made up. He estimated the revenue at $96,500,000 for the year soon to close. For the coming year, it would likely fall below $90,000,000, but such a revenue would enable us to retain our strong financial position. For capital expenditure they would have to add to the public debt.

Mr. Fielding then plunged into the statement of the financial position of the country. The fiscal period ending March 31 last was for nine months, the broken period being made necessary by the change in the fiscal year, and it was a difficult matter to make comparisons with the 12 months previous. In the last fiscal year (nine months) the estimated revenue was $65,000,000; the actual revenue $67,969,328; balance $2,969,328. Expenditures were $51,542,161; estimated expenditures $52,000,000; less than the estimate $457,838.

The surplus of revenue above expenditures was $16,427,167. The surplus for nine months, said Mr. Fielding, was larger than for any fiscal year since Confederation. The main sources of income were as follows: Customs, $39,760,172; excise, $11,805,413; postoffice, $5,061,728; Dominion lands, $1,448,638; railways, $6,509,099. Miscellaneous, $3,389,262; total, $67,969,328.

The customs revenue for the year had been very buoyant and in the past years the postoffice had been put on a paying basis. There was a balance of $1,062,171 in the postoffice revenue, being $5,061,728, and expenditures $,979,557.

It was to be remembered, said the Finance Minister, that the change from deficits to surpluses was coincident with a material reduction in postal rates. The expansion in business of the postoffice had grown in the same period as follows: 236 postoffices, 355 postal note offices, 115 money order offices, 32 savings banks.

The revenue of the Intercolonial Railway for the last fiscal period was $8,248,251; ordinary expenditures, $8,031,171, and surplus $218,079. On the P. E. I. Railway there had been a deficit of $67,713.

Amended Architect's Bill.

Ottawa, March 18.—The private bills committee yesterday morning reported Mr. J. Walsh's bill to incorporate the Institute of Architects of Canada in an amended form.

There was opposition from Mr. Gervais, M.P., and from Mr. L. J. Lorangen of Montreal, representing the Province of Quebec Architects' Association

The clauses giving the institute power to hold examinations, to grant certificates of efficiency, and to establish clauses of membership were struck out.

SPORTING NEWS

Will Settle the Intermediate Championship This Evening

The intermediate hockey championship of the city will be settled at Brock street rink tonight when the Rough Riders hook up with the Karnots. Both teams have a long string of victories to their credit. and as the ice is in good condition the game should be rattling fast. A glance at the lineup which follows shows that there is not a poor player in the bunch, and it will be nip and tuck all the way. Many of the boys now playing with the Rough Riders and Karnots are regarded as "comers" by the hockey fans and everyone should turn out and see the lively pace at which the youngsters will step. The game will start sharp at eight o'clock, and there will be an hour's skating after the match. It is certainly a lot for the money, and there should be a bumper house.

The teams will face each other as follows;

Rough Riders.		Karnots.

New Bowling Alleys Will be Formally Opened This Evening

The new alleys of the Peterborough Bowling Club located in the old opera house will be formally opened tonight and the occasion will be marked by a visit from a picked team from Toronto who will be matched against five of Peterborough's most expert bowlers, the local team comprising, Charlie Frost, Wm. McIlroy, Thomas Boyd and Messrs. Waram, Connor or Hemstead. This is one of the strongest combinations that ever performed in Peterborough and it is safe to wager that they will make the Toronto experts go every minute of the way to win. The Toronto team will comprise Wm. and Bert Adams, C. E. Fletcher, Bert Whaley and Jack Chantler. They are entered as the Brunswick Balke Collender team in the recently established Commerical League in Toronto and last night on the new tournament alleys they set up a mark of 2650 for three games, the second highest figure yet reached on the alleys in question. Bert Adams rolled 211, 210 and 212, and expects to repeat the performance tonight here and in a letter to J. B. Hay, Secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Club he says "We promise to set a five man team mark on Wednesday night that will take some time to beat in Peterborough." Shown the the letter this morning Charlie Frost said, "Well, perhaps they will, but this here Peterborough outfit will have something to say about that record that will be set up tonight."

The Toronto team will arrive at 7.25 tonight and they will be ready to play at 8.30 at which hour the alleys will be formally opened. The visitors will play on the two outside alleys where the public will be able to see every ball that goes down the alley and witness at close range the beauties of the old established game of bowling. The Review-Examiner game will be played on the next two alleys while the other two will be thrown open to a couple of picked teams who have asked that they be given an opportunity of playing the first games at the new club.

The alleys are brilliantly lighted by six arc lamps of two thousand candle power each, more light than any other bowling alley in Canada boasts. The alleys themselves are of the most up-to-date construction and include an ingenious contrivance known as the loop-the-loop return, of which there are only a couple outside of Peterborough in use on this side of the international boundary line.

Seats will be provided on the ground floor, for male admirers of the game, while the gallery, from which a magnificent view of the alleys can be obtained, will be reserved exclusively for ladies and their escorts.

Mayor Rush and five other prominent citizens have been asked to honor the new club by throwing the first balls down the alleys, thus inaugurating the new club, which in every way should be a credit to the city.

Sudbury, March 18.—Walter Hanon, aged 56, an Englishman, who has been four years out, wants to be a starter in Dave Hartley's Peterborough 30-hour walking race. He says he has won 72 out of 80 walking races, and claims the London, England, championship.

Great Shooting at Hiawatha

Hiawatha Gun Club Held Pigeon Shoot Yesterday—High Scores

The Hiawatha Gun Club held a most successful pigeon shoot at Hiawatha yesterday, in which sixteen took part. Twenty-five rounds of ammunition were fired and some crack shooting was done.

Mr. Bert Anderson led in the shooting, making 23. Messrs. George Paudash, "Billy" Anderson and Alfred Crowe were next with 22 each. All the others taking part made over 15.

The showing made was a remarkably good one and speaks well for the marksmanship of the members of the club.

The Hiawatha Gun Club is a flourishing sporting organization and takes a live interest in shooting. Mr. Herb Kylie is the president.

Exciting Basketball Match at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night

In a league game of basketball at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night, team No. 5 defeated No. 8 by the score of 18 points to 15. The game was marked by close checking, but the combination was rather ragged at times. A large number of spectators witnessed the game. The teams lined up as follows:—

Team No. 5		Team No. 8.
	Centre
Austin		Chas. Frowde
	Defence
Loomis		Campbell
Dinsdale		Stabler
	Forward
Fife		E. Best
F. Turner		Fred Haft

W. Metheral, time-keeper; Ed. Daly, scorer; E. A. Frowde, referee.

The senior gym. class turned out 30 strong last evening. Coffee and buns were served after class.

Senior men are reminded of the special drill this evening at 8.30 o'clock for pyramid work.

THE RING

Dublin, March 17—Tommy Burns, the Canadian heavyweight champion, made short work of Jem Roche, the Irish champion in their contest this evening at the Theatre Royal for the world's championship. Practically only one blow was struck, Burns knocking Roche out when hardly more than a minute of the first round had been completed, by a short hook to the jaw. So quickly did the end come that the great crowd which filled the theatre in the expectation of seeing the Irishman put up a good fight for the title, hardly realized what had happened.

When the men entered the ring it was evident that the sluggish Roche was no match for the more experienced Burns. They sparred for less than a minute, the Irishman acting altogether on the defensive, and the Canadian endeavoring to find an opening. Then Burns feinted and quickly put a short, sharp right to the jaw, and Roche went down. He was badly dazed and, although he struggled to regain his feet, was unable to do so before the fatal ten was counted.

Immediately after the count Roche got to his feet but staggered about the stage. When he had recovered himself he went over and smilingly congratulated the winner.

The fight tonight was for a purse of $7,500 which was put up by a syndicate, of which Richard Croker, the former Tammany Hall leader, was a member, and a side bet of $2,500. In addition Burns had $7,000 on himself at odds of 3 to 1. The ringside betting was 7 to 2 on Burns.

The blow which decided the fight was the only one of any consequence during the minute and thirty-eight seconds the men were in the ring.

BOWLING

Peterborough lovers of ten pins will to-morrow have a firstclass outfit on which to dispose of themselves. The Peterborough Bowling Club, Ltd., the opens up its palatial premises, and the secretary-treasurer, Joe Hay, late sporting editor of the News, will entertain a large party from Toronto. The B. B C. Co., team, consisting of Bert Whaley, Bert Adams, Jack Chantler, Roy Booth, and C. E. Fletcher, play the Peterborough merchants. The club have installed six up-todatem noiseless alleys and the location is the old Opera House on George st. The party leave on the C.P.R. at five o'clock returning next morning.—Toronto News.

BRITISH PREMIER'S ILLNESS.

Royalty Has Called Expressive of General Anxiety.

London, March 18.—The general anxiety aroused by the news filtering out from the sick room of Premier Henry Campbell-Bannerman, is evidence by the constant stream of enquiries at his house in Downing street.

The fact that Queen Alexandra and the Dowager Empress of Russia called personally yesterday afternoon at the Premier's residence to enquire as to his condition, shows that the illness of the patient is more critical than the bulletins given to the public indicate.

Up to the present time the Queen has sent an equerry to enquire concerning Sir Henry's condition.

Was Shot, Now Missing.

Peterboro, March 18.—Thomas Newell of Peterboro, a man employed by Lynch & Ryan at Gilchrist's Bay, Stony Lake, has been missing a couple of weeks.

It is reported that the missing man was paying too frequent visits to a house in the neighborhood, and that the husband resented this. At any rate Newell was one night two weeks ago shot, a charge of buckshot taking effect in his legs. Since then he has been missing, though diligent search has been made.

It is supposed that Newell tried to make his way through the woods to a camp about two miles away and succumbed to his wounds.

Two Collisions at Once.

Port Arthur, March 18.—Sunday's wreck on the C.P.R. at Eagle, Ont., was peculiar. A passenger train from Winnipeg was carelessly switched into a standing work train which had its locomotive detached.

The engine of the passenger burrowed right inside a box car and was completely enveloped. Almost at the same moment the engine of the work train dashed into the passenger train, hurling several cars down a 30-foot embankment.

The latter engine once fell through a bridge and was eleven months under water. It has a bad reputation as a man-killer.

Lilan Mary Spearik, aged one and half years, died at Wadgeath, supposedly from diphtheria, and was found to have had a bone lodged in her throat.

New Equipment for a Local Optician

Mr. A. A. Fowler's Parlors Refitted After the Style of Leading Opticians in Large American Cities

One of the interesting spots to visit among the George street business establishments is the optical parlors of A. A. Fowler, in the Nugent Drug Co's. store. These beautifully fitted parlors are modelled after the best of those in use in the largest American cities and are a credit to the proprietor and to Peterborough. Extensive improvements have lately been inaugurated, necessitated by the rapidly increasing business of Mr. Fowler, which in the three years he has been in business has grown to large proportions. The extent of the business done, is shown by the large cabinet full of records, where full particulars of every case treated are kept by the improved card system.

One of the finest instruments lately installed, is called a Phoroptometer, a muscular testing instrument, for testing the power of the eye and investigating any muscular deficiency. This instrument does away with the old trial frame and is of the very latest improved style. Another instrument is a combined Geneva Opthalmoscope and Retinoscope, which is used for looking into the eye and correcting astigmatism.

A complete dark room is in use where the hand retinoscope can be used, but in all the rooms only artificial light is depended on, both electric and gas, while ventilation is secured by an electric fan. By the use of prismatic shades the light can be thrown to any part where it is wanted thus giving the operator perfect control of it.

A very large and complete stock of glasses and frames of the best makes only, are kept in stock, comprising nearly every style of frame that is made. A workshop, where all kinds of repairs are made is immediately adjoining the parlors, and fitted with all conveniences.

It is now under consideration to install a grinding plant for lens work with which addition the establishment would be on a par with the best to be found anywhere.

YOUR GLASSES AND HOW TO TAKE CARE OF THEM

This little talk may not appeal to you at first but really now do you know how best to take care of your glasses? My experience for the last three years has shown me that 90 out of every 100 do not know the right way of putting on or taking off a pair of glasses. They don't know how to clean them or how to hold them when cleaning or rubbing them. They don't know how to put them in the cases or take them out right. We take the greatest pleasure in showing you how to do those things. It does not matter if you bought your glasses elsewhere, you will receive the most courteous treatment at our hands, and we will straighten your frames free.

PROPERTY OWNERS WOULD LIKE TO SEE GRAIN ROUTE SETTLED

Claim That They Cannot Sell Lots on the Western Outskirts of the City as People Are Afraid That Railway May Pass That Way.

Owners of property located on the western outskirts of the city are not at all pleased with the absence of any news as to where and when the proposed grain route of the C.P.R. from Victoria Harbor is to be built. It will be remembered that about two years ago a survey for the road was made and according to the surveyors' lines, the railway would run through Jackson Park and along the western boundary of the city. This information became generally known and now the owners of property there find it impossible to sell lots. People are afraid to buy them as they do not like the idea of a railway running like the idea of having a railway running through their back yard or cutting their parlor into halves. It can easily be seen why the people are leary about buying property in that locality. The property owners claim that if it were not for the possibility of the railway coming along, there would be a good demand for town lots in that quarter. They would like to know something definite as to where the proposed line will be located.

Engine Overtook Handcar and Three Men Met Their Death

Bad Accident on the C. P. R. at Kaladar, Seventeen Miles East of Tweed—Three Victims Were Married Men.

THE KILLED

Alex Fleming, section foreman, Kaladar.

John Anderson, son-in-law of Fleming, Kaladar.

James Woodcock, Tweed.

All three were married men.

Tweed, March 17—A light engine, No 890 running ahead of a passenger train, this afternoon about 3 o'clock overtook a handcar on which were five men, at a point a mile east of Kaladar, Station, and killed three of them. Kaladar is 17 miles east of Tweed.

The five men on the handcar were all section men, and included Alex. Fleming, foreman; John Anderson, his son-in-law; Jas. Woodcock; and two other men who jumped, all three named being killed. They were all married men and leave families. Mrs. J. Anderson lost both her husband and her father by the tragedy. The two men who survived escaped by jumping.

There is a sharp curve at the scene of the accident and although the survivors say a lookout was being kept both ways, sufficient notice of the approach of the engine was not received. It is supposed that the light engine did not make enough noise to attract attention as a heavy train would have done, until it was too late.

The bodies of the three victims are now in the freight shed at Kaladar.

Local Camps of Sons of Scotland to be Revived

The local camp of the Sons of Scotland is to be re-organized. It has been out of existence for several years but will shortly take on a new lease of life. Mr. Greaves, of Toronto the organizer of the society is in the city and is hard at work re-organizing the camp. He states that he is meeting with much encouragement and that before he leaves Peterborough he will have established a camp with a big membership. He is staying at the Munro House and will be here for several days.

The Sons of Scotland is an exceedingly strong society and its sound insurance policy and meritorious objects are resulting in its steady growth. A camp was organised in Peterborough several years ago but after flourishing for a time it was allowed to drop and has practically been out of existence. Peterborough has a large number of loyal sons of the heather and Scotsmen of Canadian birth and there is no reason why the Sons of Scotland should not have a strong camp here.

Shepherd Pleaded Guilty To Charges of Forgery and Obtaining Watch Falsely

George Shepherd pleaded guilty at the police court this morning to the charge of forgery, and also to obtaining a watch under false pretences. His Worship reserved judgment for one week.

It will be remembered that Shepherd was brought back from Port Hope on Saturday last by P. C. McGinty, where he had been arrested by Chief Bond. About three weeks ago he forged the name of Wm. Snowden to two cheques and cashed them at the tobacco store of Mr. M. Pappas. He also went to the jewellery store of Mr. C. McClelland and obtained a gold watch stating that Mr. Snowden had instructed him to get it. He paid six dollars on it, and was to pay the balance in about two weeks.

His counsel, Mr. F. D. Kerr was out of the city this morning and the prisoner asked to have the case enlarged until Saturday, whereupon His Worship remanded him until next Wednesday. A few minutes later Shepherd changed his mind and said that he would elect to be tried summarily, and would plead guilty to both charges, but would like to make a statement regarding the watch. His Worship reserved judgment until next week when he will allow the prisoner to give his statement.

Shepherd sold the watch and all the money found on him was two dollars and ten cents.

Machine Telephone Company To Increase System Here

It is learned that the Canadian Machine Telephone Company will make a big addition to their system in Peterborough in the near future. Arrangements with this end in view are now being made and it is expected to commence active operations at an early date. Three or four hundred new telephones will be put in, which will necessitate an enlargement of the plant at the office on Charlotte street. Several alterations will be made at the building to give more room for the increased plant. The subscribers in Peterborough are well satisfied with the machine 'phone and there are constant requests for new ones. The company has now a firm footing in this city and there is no doubt of its success.

Mr. Thomas Left for Liverpool To Claim Fortune Left Him

Mr. Fred Thomas, a porter at the C.P.R. freight sheds, left for Liverpool, England, today where he has had a considerable fortune left him by his father and mother, who expired on the same day a few weeks ago. The death of both his father and mother on the same day was a remarkable occurrence and at the time it happened it was noted at some length in the columns of the Review.

Mr. Thomas' home is in Liverpool, and it was there the death of his parents took place. He will sail on the SS. Empress of Britain. It is stated that the fortune amounts to $15,000.

Conductor Well Known Here Meets Tragic Death at Orillia

H. J. Mooney Instantly Killed While Shunting a Car—Has Relatives in Peterborough.

Relatives in the city received word at noon today of the accidental death at Orillia this morning of Conductor H. J. Mooney of the Grand Trunk. The young man was a resident of Lindsay, and was well known here, being a cousin of the family of Mr. A. Comstock, and of Miss B. Martin and Mrs. F. C. Dobbin. He was employed as a freight conductor on the G.T.R., and met instantaneous death while shunting a car at Orillia this morning. The brakesman being away, Mr. Mooney was taking his duties and was putting a car into the yard of the Canadian Wood Company. He was hanging on the side of the car as it was being backed into the yard and when near the switch jumped off and attempted to run across behind the car to reach the switch. He slipped and fell, and the car passed over him before he could arise. His head was badly crushed and his hands were also run over. He died within a few minutes. The coroner after hearing the details of the accident decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The remains will be brought to Lindsay for interment.

Conductor Mooney was 29 years of age and leaves a wife and young child. He was highly respected and his tragic death is greatly regretted.

INQUEST WAS ADJOURNED TILL THURSDAY

In the Gould Case at Toronto—Post Mortem Performed This Morning

A Toronto despatch says;

Yesterday a jury was empanelled to hold an enquiry as to the death of Jessie Ellen Gould, the girl upon whom Dr. Ashton Fletcher, is charged with performing an illegal operation. It met at A. W. Miles' undertaking parlors, and Chief Coroner Johnson merely took sufficient evidence for identification, and adjourned the inquiry until Thursday night at the City Hall. Dr. Johnson himself will conduct the inquest.

This morning at 11 o'clock Drs. Silverthorne and J. M. Cotton will make the post-mortem examination. Mr. James W. Curry, KC. counsel for Dr Ashton Fletcher, will be represented by Dr. R. J. Dwyer.

Wolf Hunt in North Hastings

Spring Display of Millinery

(Thursday) March (19th.)

FOR the past two weeks our Millinery Department has had many visitors in quest of the new Spring styles. To them and others we say—come, the Spring Millinery has arrived and will be on display THURSDAY, for your viewing and enlightment.

Happily the Millinery styles are widely diversified. One can choose either a large, medium or small Hat and gain Madam Fashion's favor. Turbans high and low promise to be very popular. A decided innovation is the large and high crowned effect—these are usually very becoming. You should see them.

But we will not try to describe the numerous new style ideas evolved for Spring. The task would be hopleess. herculean. Better that you should come and spend a pleasant hour among the new Hats. You may have a different way of looking at them than we—but you'll agree that the showing is beautiful and interesting.

The showing deserves your attention, We hope it will have it and we trust you will feel at perfect liberty to come and try on as many Hats as you please even though you have no buying motive.

Want Larger Grants From Government

Deputation Waited on Government—Local Hospitals Sent Up Representatives

(Special to the Review.)

Toronto, March 18.—A deputation of over one hundred representing the general hospitals of the province, waited upon the Government this morning, asking for greater assistance. It was shown that the percentage contributed by the Government had decreased from 36 per cent. in 1882 to 13 per cent. in 1907 per patient. Similar municipal contributions had increased, but the cost of maintenance had more than doubled. Among the places represented in the deputation were Sudbury, Kingston, Owen Sound, St. Thomas, Peterborough Hamilton, Ottawa, Barrie, and Walkerton. No definite promise was made by the Government.

Peterborough's representatives are, Dr. Dr. McNulty, St. Joseph's Hospital, and Messrs. John Crane and W. H. Hill, Nicholls Hospital.

GRAND LODGE AT PORT HOPE

Town Will Present an Address of Welcome—Peterboro' Represented

Port Hope, March 17.—The delegates to the Grand Orange Lodge are arriving on every train today, and by tomorrow we may look for a large crowd of King William's loyal sons. A meeting of the Grand Black Preceptory was held this afternoon, and tomorrow morning the Grand Orange Lodge goes into session.

Tomorrow afternoon the Mayor and Council will wait upon the delegates in the lodge room, and His Worship will present them with an address of welcome. In the evening a large public meeting will be held in the Opera House. The old familiar air which makes every loyal Orangeman sit up and take notice will be rendered by the bandsmen.

As this meeting of the Grand Lodge is private, we have to depend on the delegates for the report of the proceedings of the different meetings. Peterborough is represented.

Will Find the Girl a Home

Mr. George Cochrane yesterday took to Toronto Clara Ross, a 10 year old girl, who has been at the local Children's Aid Shelter for some time. Mr. J. E. Kelso, of Toronto, superintendent of neglected and dependent children for the province, will secure a home for the girl.

THE CITY AND VICINITY

ST. LUKE'S LENTEN SERVICE.

The usual Wednesday evening Lenten service, will be held at St. Luke's church tonight. Rev. Wm. Burns of Hastings will be the special preacher.

LADIES' LITERARY SOCIETY.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A. S. will be held on Friday evening, March 20th, when a very interesting essay on "Kinilworth" will be read by Miss Margaret Ward. A musical programme will also be presented.

MISTAKE IN NAME

In the report of the annual meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, in last evening's issue of the Review, it gave Miss Edith Beattie as Dorcas Secretary. This was a mistake and should have read, Miss Lucy Baxter.

A BUSY WINTER.

Jos. McPhadden, who has been in Johnston's camp, in the township of Snowden, for Baker & Co., returned home on Friday evening, after a three months' sojourn. He reports the camp to have got out over 26,000 pieces, which gave employment to thirty men and four teams during the winter. The great depth of snow, however, did not interfere very much with the operations, as the brush was thick and the haul short.—Lindsay Post.

We have several good second-hand organs at prices away down to clear out to make room for new. instruments arriving. Peterborough Music Co. Old stand. 3d1w

"Amelia Bingham" and her company of select actors come to the "Grand" Saturday, Matinee and night. They carry a sixty foot car of scenery and costumes.

Work of Lord's Day Alliance

Rev. Mr. Hanna, of Toronto, Provincial Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, will be in Peterborough next Sunday. He will speak at Mark street church in the morning and at Knox church at 7 p.m. At eight o'clock he will address a mass meeting at St. Paul's church. Mr. Hanna will speak on the work of the Lord's Day Alliance and is being brought here by the churches of the city.

The plan for the "Amelia Bingham Co." opens tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. This will be one of the season's treats. Don't miss it.

KATHRYN OSTERMAN

The first presentation here of Kathryn Osterman's new play, "The Girl Who Looks Like Me," will occur at the Grand Opera House, Monday, March 23rd, and a night of good hearty laughter is promised by the management for the theatre patrons. The comedy boasts of a distinct novelty in the fact that nearly all the fun is furnished by the feminine portion of the cast. Most of the action of the play revolves about two women, Kathryn Osterman as Erma Desmond, and Anna Belmont as Phyllis Burnham. They are the pivots and become involved in more complications than can be imagined. The plot is sustained throughout the three acts, the solution of all the difficulties coming about two minutes before the last curtain. Some splendid costumes are promised by Miss Osterman and the ladies of the organization. One in which the popular actress takes exceptional pride is an evening gown of pink taffeta, covered with pink crepe de chine, trimmed with lace and fringe of peal beads.

TO GO OUT AS LAMBS

The low prices which we have made to clear out our remnants of WALL PAPERS, during this March, eclipse any previous year. If price has anything to do with it, we are bound that not one roll of last season's goods will be carried into April month, and to help the sale we have made an unusual price reduction in Window Shades, Room Mouldings, Plate and Chair Rail Picture Mouldings, etc. We, also, are overstocked in Dinner and Tea Sets, Chamber Sets and they are quoted lower than ever you heard of. A visit from those requiring any of the above lines of goods will be amply repaid.

The Shaugraun Presented Before a Capacity House

Irish Comedy Drama Receives Artistic Treatment at Hands of Capable Cast—Great Credit Due Those Taking Part—Singing Was Excellent—An Ideal Entertainment for the "17th. of Ireland"

To say that it was, taken altogether, probably the most successful presentation ever conducted under the auspices of the Dramatic Section of St. Peter's T.A.S., is the highest possible praise that can be bestowed upon the presentation of "Con the Shaugraun," by the talented cast of amateurs at the Grand Opera house last night. The audience was the largest that has been in the opera house this year, and was a thoroughly interested and appreciative one, being most generous in its applause and encores. Over four hundred and fifty dollars were taken in box office receipts, so it will be seen that from every viewpoint the entertainment was an unusually successful one.

The work of the company was uniformily good and showed a thorough knowledge of the lines of the piece and of the expression required in its interpretation, The play itself was a fortunate choice. It contained many humourous situations, a happy vein of sparkling comedy running throughout while there was a story of strong heart interest told during the unfolding of the plot and the audience was always kept interested.

During the play and between the acts several songs were rendered in good style by Miss Hallihan and Messrs. George Lynch and T. Begley. The illustrated songs were excellent and formed one of the most entertaining features of the evening. The slides were appropriate and colored in the best of taste while the the vocalists acquitted themselves in a very praiseworthy manner. In fact the singing was much better than that heard in the large majority of professional troupes that visit the city.

Robt. Desmond, a young Irish Exile—Mr. Fred Derocher.

Mr. Dolan, Robert's Guardian — Mr. J. Gorham.

Corry Kinchella, a Squireen—Mr. Jas. O'Brien.

Harvey Duff, a Police Agent—Mr. T. J. Begley.

CON, the Shaugraun — Mr. George Lynch.

Molly Dolan (in love with Con)—Miss Lavina Hallihan.

Nora O'Neil, Robert's Sweetheart—Miss Margaret Deorcher.

Claire Desmond, (a Sligo lady)—Miss Fanny Holmes.

Mrs. O'Kelly, Con's Mother—Miss Mary O'Brien.

Sergeant Jones, of the 41st—Mr. Jas. Henry.

Mrs. Madigan, of Suilabeg —Miss Helen Kane.

Mrs. Malone, of Suilabeg — Miss Mabel Tangney.

Geraldine O'Moore, Molly's friend —Miss Irene Doris.

Darby Sullivan a peasant—Mr. Frank O'Connor.

Bat Reilly, a peasant—Mr. John Mulligan.

Peasants, soldiers, etc.

Miss Maggie McCabe, musical director.

The synopsis of the play is as follows;

ACT. I.

Scene I.—Suilabeg, the Cottage of Norah O'Neill.

Scene II.—Road to Suilabeg.

Scene III.—Interior of Mr. Dolan's Cottage,

ACT. II.

Scene I.—Road to Ballyragget Barracks.

Scene II.—Parlor in Mr. Dolan's Home.

Scene III.—The Barracks.

Scene IV.—Exterior of Mrs. O'Kelly's Cabin.

Scene V.—The Prison.

Scene VI.—The Road to Coot's Nest.

Scene VII.—Rathgarren Head and St. Bridget's Abbey.

Scene VIII.—The Coot's Nest,

ACT. III.

Scene I.—Mrs. O'Kelly's Cottage.

Scene II.—The Smuggler's Retreat,

Shaugraun is a delightful comedy drama of Erin. It is clean and refreshing, and while always very interesting and at times exciting, is never too melodramic. There is plenty of action in the picture and it is decidedly picturesque in theme and costuming.

Robert Desmond, a young Irishman, is exiled because "he loved his country" and Corry Kinchella, who wants to marry his sweetheart, Norah O'Neil, cherishes the bitterest enmity towards him. Robert escapes from the penal colony in Australia and returns to Ireland. He is taken into custody on his return to Ireland, by Captain Molineaux, a young English officer, and the lover of his sister. He surrenders voluntarily when he knows the officer and his men want him. His arrest by Capt. Molineaux places the latter in a somewhat embarrassing position regarding his attention to Robert's sister. Robert is eventually pardoned after escaping from the prison in which he was placed, after his arrest in Ireland. His escape and salvation from a trap into which the treacherous Kinchella attempted to lure him, is effected largely through the good agency of Con., the Shaugraun. After his pardon his sister marries Captain Molineaux, he marries his true love and the droll Con. also gets his own little colleen. There are many other important features in the plot which is brim full of incident. One of the most amusing being the wake scene, in which Con. plays the part of a dead man.

The "Shaugraun" made an ideal play for the annual St. Patrick's Day entertainment of the dramatic section of the T.A.S. Every commendation is due Messrs. T. J. Begley and George Lynch, who superintended the production of the drama.

It is almost unfair to specialize concerning the ability or opportunities of any individual member of the cast, as all did their work in a highly satisfactory way.

The bulk of the comedy work fell on the versatile shoulders of Mr. Geo. Lynch, as Con. He was clever and original in the part and caused much laughter and applause by his excellent acting. In fact he was inimitably good and the comedy stage seems his natural place. His singing was also much appreciated.

Miss Lavina Hallihan was very pleasing and vivacious as his sweetheart, Mary Dolan, and met with the unanimous favor of the audience. She excelled herself in her vocal selections and her beautiful soprano voice was heard to the best advantage.

Miss Fannie Holmes was capital as Claire Desmond and Mr. Jack McCabe was admirable as her affectionate admirer, Captain Molineaux. Mr. Fred Derocher had a difficult role to interpret in the part of Robert Desmond, and did it in a creditable way. Mr. Jas. O'Brien was about as mean as he could be as Cory Kinchella and and considering the nature of the character he portrayed, that is the highest commendation. As the contemptible police agent Harvey Duff, Mr. Begley had a role which fitted him like a glove. Special mention should be made of the natural and intelligent manner in which Miss Mary O'Brien enacted the part of Mrs. O'Kelly, Con's mother. Miss Margaret Derocher was very pleasing as Norah O'Neil, and every other member of the cast did splendid work. The scenic investure was appropriate and in good taste.

As before mentioned, the musical programme was one of the most attractive features of the entertainment. Every number was of decided merit and received one or more recalls.

The musical programme was as follows:—

"Everyone is in Slumberland But You and Me," duet, by Miss Hallihan and Mr. Lynch; "Last Rose of Summer," Miss Hallihan; "Mavourneen," Miss Hallihan; "Michael McGinnity," Mr. Begley; "Where the River Shannon Flows," illustrated, Mr. George Lynch; "Songs that Mother Used to Sing," illustrated, Miss Hallihan; "Love Me and the World is Mine," illustrated, Miss Hallihan.

During the evening bouquets were received by some of those taking part.

In connection with the securing of the slides for the illustrated songs those in charge of the entertainment wish to express their thanks to Mr. Edwards, of the Crystal.

Remembered by the Ladies' Aid

Presentation to Mrs. A. Waterman at Mrs. R. B. Rogers' Residence This Afternoon

A very pleasing event took place this afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. R. B. Rogers, Hunter street, east, when Mrs. A. Waterman was presented by the Rector and members of the Ladies' Aid Society with a cloak and an enlarged photograph of St. Luke's church, previous to her leaving for Saskatoon, Sask. Mrs. R. B. Rogers, the president of the Ladies' Aid, made the presentation, and Mrs. Wm. Gibbs, secretary, read the address. The rector added his tribute to the good qualities of heart and mind of Mrs. Waterman and the good influence she had exerted. He regretted her and her family's leaving very much.

The address read as follows:—

St. Luke's Church,
Ashburnham.
March 18th, 1908.

Dear Mrs. Waterman,—We have learnt of your approaching removal to Saskatoon with much regret, because it means the severence of the ties of fellowship and co-operation in church work, in which you have taken a zealous part.

Before we leave we ask you to allow us to give you some tangible expression of our high esteem for you, and to accept the accompanying gift of a clock and a picture of St. Luke's church, the latter of constant reminder of the scene where you did such earnest work in building up and promoting spiritual influences.

We hope and pray that God's richest blessings will ever follow you and your family, and that the dear Lord will watch between you and us while we are absent one from another.

On behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, of which you have been such a valued member, we bid you an affectionate farewell, and sincerely trust that our associations together in the work of the Church will ever keep alive in your memory St. Luke's church and her members.

We remain,
Very sincerely yours,
M. ROGERS,
President.
A. GIBBS,
Secretary.

Florence the Beautiful Was Very Interesting

Large Number Enjoyed Mr. Kenner's Lecture at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night

The entertainment held at the Y.M.C.A. last night was most successful the musical part of the programme was excellent, each artist doing his work admirably. The lecture was a beautiful description of the famous and magnificent city of Florence, and was illustrated by about 50 fine views showing famous buildings and statues for which the city is noted. Mr. Kenner, delivered the lecture in a clear, and interesting manner. The lantern was excellently handled by Mr E C Shrigley. The musical part was as follows;

Piano Solo —The Tournament; Nevin; Miss Sisson.

Violin Solo — Berceuse; Jocelyn; Miss Irwin.;

Vocal Solo —Miss Sanderson.

Piano Solo —Miss McCaw.

Cello Solo —Traumei Mr. Louis Mendel.

Vocal Solo —A Dream; Bartlett; Miss Sanderson.

Mr. J. A. Lillie acted as chairman.

Mr. T. F. Best will speak at the YMCA on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock to men and older boys on 'Heroes of the Veldt.' In St. Catharines, where Mr. Best spoke recently, the Welland Ave. Methodist church was crowded to the doors, with men and the closest attention was paid to his address as he thrillingly described the scenes during the war in South Africa. The gymnasium will be used at this 'Y' here for the meeting and it is expected there will be an unusually large crowd present.

All Should be Communicants

Rev Sharpe's Address on Sacrament of Holy Communion at St. John's Mission

The parochial mission at St. John's church is fast drawing to a close and tonight will see the farewell service. Last night saw another large congregation with a gratifying zeal and earnestness that was most encouraging. The hymns were sung in a hearty manner, as has marked the whole course of meetings.

Rev. C. Ensor Sharpe delivered the address, a simple statement of the beauty of the sacrament of Holy Communion, and an appeal to all the members to become regular communicants. He referred to his remarks of last Monday night, that in this sacrament God had given to mankind a means by which the copying of this life is made possible. Rev. Mr. Sharpe said that He gives us His own nature, joining us in this actual commixture of His blood with ours to understand Him and to become literally and truly one with Him.

Rev. Mr. Sharpe spoke from the consecration prayer. "Who in the same night that He was betrayed took bread, etc." Judas had betrayed him for thirty pieces of silver. He had been one of Christ's chosen twelve, had eaten with Him and in every way was a religious man, yet he had been a betrayer.

Men today are guilty of this crime by the many sins which they commit in their daily lives.

Judas realized afterwards the terrible nature of his crime, but it was too late. Sinners of the present day who refuse to repent are the most lonely of men and they are left with a consciousness of their guilt which ceaselessly torments them.

Rev. Mr. Sharpe concluded by a stirring appeal to accept the gift which God offers for our own happiness and he described in beautiful terms the content and joy which come to those who join with God in this sacrament of His body and blood.

Dog Case Has Not Yet Been Settled

A few days ago Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment in the case of Mr. F. Larone against Robert Biggs. It will be remembered that Biggs' dog bit the little girl of Mr. Larone. The animal was sent away to the country and His Worship deferred judgment to give Biggs an opportunity to pay the doctor's bill. Mr. Poussette was in court on behalf of Mr. Biggs. He said that he did not think that under the Municipal Act, Biggs should have to make any compensation whatever. His Worship thought that as a matter of personal obligation he should pay it, but, however, he would let it stand over for a few days.

Relatives Residing in This City

A Victim of Kaladar Accident Brother-in-law of Mr. Peter Wanner, Brock St.

Alexander Fleming, one of the three men who was killed in the railway accident near Kaladar yesterday afternoon was well-known here and has relatives residing in this city. The late Mr. Fleming was a brother-in-law of Mr. Peter Warner, Brock street. Mr. Warner received word about an hour after the accident. Mr. Fleming was a resident of Alnwick and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. The funeral arrangements have not yet yet been made and Mr. Warner did not know whether interment would take place here or in Alnwick.

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 10074 on my life, the dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprised me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on the same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL In Your Spare Time at Home

We want our course to be in every home in Ontario where there are ladies, so have decided to give, direct to the public our improved $15 course in dressmaking, including our Ladies' Tailor System for wholesale price, $5.00

As there are a large number of people, especially dressmakers say you cannot learn by mail we will send system and first lesson (which teaches how to make a perfect fitting waist) registered to any address in Ontario. After you are satisfied you can learn, send $5.00 and we will forward full course of lessons. Please do not send unless you wish to learn dressmaking; we are so sure anyone can learn that we guarantee to give $500 to anyone we cannot teach.

These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together, any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. This is the only course in Canada that the whole family can learn by one member taking it up. We have been in business for ten years, have taught over 1,000. Beware of imitations, as some have been known to copy our advs. and even claimed where they were not known to be the inventor of this course. No adv. is genuine without our $500.00 guarantee.

Write for particulars.

THE EAST RIDING

This fine old riding is shortly to have a Liberal convention for the selection of candidates, both for the Commons and the Legislature, to oppose Messrs. Sexsmith and Thompson. The possible nominees are Hon. J. R. Stratton and Messrs. Thomas Johnston of Otonabee, and Buck of Norwood.

At the time of writing we are informed that Mr. Stratton will likely win. He has a powerful left and is quick on his feet. The Examiner says he is in private life and that it is a shame to discuss him. If he will engage to run in the West Riding we will say nothing against him—in the meanwhile. Here is his home and—it will likely remain so. Mr. Buck is a man of a different type—perhaps equally good. Mr. Johnston has the misfortune of living in the riding which he seeks to represent and this will probably be against him. We have had an idea that candidates should stay in their own ridings, but then we have often been mistaken and are ready to learn. Gamey it is said is booked for the seat whether or no. In that case the other side will probably sign Chief Justice Sir John Boyd. Whichever way it goes the nation and the nation's cause will be served—right. A man should have a chance to clear himself—of what?

WOOLLEN FAILURES

Montreal, March 16.—As a result of the recent trade depression, the Montreal Woollen Manufacturing Company today went into voluntary liquidation. The company, which is capitalized at $210,000, has offices at Montreal and mills at Beauharnois, Que., which, in times of prosperity employ about 200 hands, manufacturing blankets, overcoatings and friezes. Ever since the preferential tariff went into force, they like other Canadian woollen concerns, have been hard hit, and when on top of this came trade depression of the past winter, their business dropped off so much that it became a question of whether to shut down their mills or go into liquidation.

Although the trade debts of the company are comparatively insignificant, they concluded that the latter was the better course. It is, however, expected that after the meeting of creditors, which will be held on the 23rd inst., some compromise will be arranged, which will permit of a reorganization of the company and a resumption of business.

Once again we have to record a further slump in the woollen trade. The British preference, unlike the British embargo on Canadian cattle, cuts both ways. It cuts the Canadian woollen business to pieces. Out of 145 mills in operation when it came into force more than 140 have been compelled to go out of business or in other words have failed. The case of the Montreal Woollen Manufacturing Company is only one more.

It would seem as if the Laurier Government were determined to wipe out the whole woollen industry. An immense number of employees have been thrown out of employment. One of the great factors in building up the country is being slowly strangled and destroyed. If the preference is fatal to one branch of industry it will in the end be fatal to all. No one in Great Britain thinks well of the preference for us. It has nothing to recommend it. The answer to it is the British cattle embargo. Let us be loyal but sensible. No old countryman thinks the more of a man for being a fool.

THE UNEMPLOYED

The assemblage of a thousand unemployed people at the City Hall yesterday, while it need not be taken too seriously by either the citizens of Toronto or those of other parts of Canada is not without its instructiveness for our civic administrators. The most satisfactory feature of the incident was the persistently reiterated assertion of those who interviewed the Mayor that they neither requested nor desired aid given as charity; their wish was to secure an opportunity to work in order that they might have a chance to earn their own living, and thus avoid becoming a burden on an already overtaxed community.—The Globe.

This attempt of the Globe, as in the above extract from one of its leading editorials, to minimize the lack of employment and the misery in Toronto is a shame. It is nothing less or more than common bluffing to come up to a disagreeable subject as the Globe habitually does and then to turn away to some side-issue on the pretence that it is the real subject under discussion. There have been this winter several processions to the City Hall in Toronto of the unemployed in search of work. Not only that but every charitable organization in the city has been taxed to its utmost to meet even the most pressing demands. The writer knows from personal experience that the lack of employment and the starving want in Toronto this winter have been bitter in the extreme. Shacktown is a memorable monument of hard times. The News's statement of the large number of children who have died from starvation is only too true. Far be it from us to wish to make political capital out of the want and misery in this formerly happy land but not the less should a leading journal like the Globe beware of sacrificing the truth to party exigencies. As testimony of the condition of the Dominion and of Toronto particularly it is undoubtedly damning but the fact should be admitted not minimized. Soup-kitchens have not existed in Peterborough since the Mackenzie regime, nor were they introduced a moment too soon. An average attendance of 70 a day of well authenticated cases of hunger is a living witness of what lack of employment can do when long kept up backed by an insensate immigration policy towards the ruining of the people of an otherwise exceptionally fortunate land. Bad government and bad administration will check the growth and prosperity of any country and when we have reached the condition of Spain, loaded with debt and taxes, we will, like it, sink to rise no more.

BEATEN AGAIN

Lately, Hon. G. W. Ross emerged from the seclusion of the Senate to attack Mr. Whitney and his power policy. Whenever these two have met hitherto Mr. Ross has invariably got the worst of it, and this is no exception. The Telegram's account shows the very superficial character of Mr. Ross' objections. Prior to 1899 contracts with the Legislature required the consent of that body. During 1899 Mr. Ross, in spite of Mr. Whitney's protest, hurried through a bill enabling the Cabinet in such cases to dispense with the Legislature's consent. It was then that the Cabinet made the contract with the Electrical Development Company, or Messrs. Pellatt, Nicholls & Co.

Four years after, when the damage was all done, a bill restoring the Legislature's consent, was put through. Thus were created the vested interests which Mr. Whitney now respects, and is bound to respect But let us never forget that the very auspicious (to speak mildly) action of Mr. Ross and his advisors, created the vested interests and all the other difficulties which have cropped up to retard the development and enjoyment by the people of that which belongs to them. It looks very like the uncovering of a huge swindle. Seeing it coming, Mr Ross has tried to bluff it off. The province may thank its good fortune that a not less astute body of men are at the head of its affairs, or otherwise like the Great West, Ontario would be in the hands of the despoilers.

> "When I endeavor to treat this story of Senator Ross' seriously the words of that ancient mariner, 'Cap' Sullivan, recur to me: 'My, ain't the old man a corker.'"

Thus does Premier Whitney conclude a lengthy statement in reply to the remarks of Senator G. W. Ross on the power question in his interview of Saturday.

"Previous to the 1st of April, 1899," began Mr. Whitney, "the assent and ratification of the Legislature was required to any agreement between the Government and individuals or companies relating to the water-power at Niagara Falls. And the agreements made with the Ontario Power Company and the Toronto and Niagara Power Company received such assent or ratification.

In the closing hours of the session of 1899, at two o'clock in the morning, at a time of inattention and disorder, the then Government of which the Senator was a member, hurried through the House against my protest section 36 of the Statute Law Amendment Act, which section provides that the Park Commissioners and the Cabinet might enter into such agreement without the assent or ratification of the Legislature.

WHAT DID THEY FEAR?

Perhaps the Senator will tell us what the Cabinet had to fear from the Legislature? What action was in contemplation which it would be dangerous to have come under the notice of the Legislature? Whatever may be the answer to the above queries I suspect we will not get them from the Senator.

At any rate, on Jan. 29th, 1903, the Ross Government entered into their agreement with Messrs Mackenzie Pellatt and Nicholls, granting them the power now held by the Electrical Development Company, and on the following day, January 30th, an order-in-council was passed by the Cabinet approving of the agreement, in pursuance of the Act of the Legislature of Ontario, 62 Victoria, chap. II., sec., 36.

Observe the section 36 I have alluded to. It will be seen that under the change in the law I have referred to the effect of this order-in-council was the same as the approval of the Legislature under the law before it was amended, and the rights and franchises of Messrs. Mackenzie, Pellatt and Nicholls became, and were, and are, vested rights—and all without any assent of the legislature being necessary.

CUNNING, BUT NOT WISDOM.

Now, in the face of this, the Senator, speaking of the above agreement with Messrs. Mackenzie & Company, says:—"But the Administration went out of office before the agreement was submitted to the Legislature for ratification," and he goes on to say "In the following year, 1905, Mr. Whitney himself introduced a bill into the Legislature to ratify the agreement, etc., etc." This shows the ancient cunning of Mr. Ross, but I am afraid it does not smack of wisdom. No one knows better than Senator Ross that the first of his statements quoted above was intended to mislead. I repeat that under the law as manipulated but the Senator and his friends, the ratification and the assessment of the Legislature was rendered unnecessary, and, so far as his second statement quoted above is concerned, a bill was not "introduced by Mr. Whitney in the following year, 1905, to ratify, etc."

STAND BY VESTED INTERESTS.

More than two years after the deal between the Government and Messrs. Mackenzie, et al., the latter represented to the new Government that their operations had been going on for some time adn that they had assigned and transferred all their interests in the agreement—the agreement which became valid on the passing of the order-in-council above noted—and asked that the Legislature ratify the assignment. This was done, and incidentally the agreement was ratified also. The reasons for this request will at once suggest themselves to every person who has had any acquaintance with the requirements of large financial enterprises. This action would be repeated if occasion called for it, and the present Government, notwithstanding what some of Mr. Mackenzie's friends may say to the contrary, will at all times stand by and defend vested rights in property.

WHAT HAPPENED IN 4 YEARS.

I had almost passed over the fact that in the session of 1903 the Government again changed the law—put it back to what it was previous to 1st of April, 1899—making it necessary to the validity of agreements respecting Niagara Falls power that they should be approved by the Legislature! Who is able to discuss or suggest the secret history of the four years during which the Government held fast to the sole power to deal with this great provincial asset free from an inquisitive Legislature! And who shall say that they gave up this absolute power after exercising it for four years solely because there was little or nothing left to deal with?

Further, so far as he can be understood, the Senator suggests that the Electrical Development Company could have waived the clause binding the Government not to generate power, "thus allowing the Government to step in." Senator Ross is a lawyer. Will he repeat this statement in face of the fact that a similar prohibition exists in the agreements with each of the other companies."

EDITORIAL NOTES

It would be better to build all schools of one storey and with French windows than that there should ever be such frightful sacrifices as those of Montreal and Cleveland.

The T.A.S. dramatic section's entertainments are an annual feature, of great acceptance. The house was sold out this year with phenomenal rapidity. We know of a large number who would have liked to attend but for the impossibility of getting seats. The entertainment was well worthy of the splendid patronage.

The Irish flag was both suitable and decorative last evening at the St. Patrick's concert. It is perhaps as not everybody knows similar to the Canadian flag in that the Union Jack is supplemented by the Irish harp. The Canadian flag has the Canadian coat-of-arms in the corresponding position, the field being blue instead of emerald green. Each part of the Empire has a similar distinctive device the emblem of union, the Union Jack being the same in each case.
